GENERAL REVIEW

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated under the laws of Kentucky April 10, 1914, with $250,000 authorized capital, divided into 25,000 shares, par value $10 each. It began business July 30, 1914, on which date it had a paid-in capital of $51,750 and $44,409.20 surplus. Its stock was sold at $20 a share prior to March 15, 1916, and later, until March, 1917, at $21 per share. On March 15, 1917, the price was increased to $22 per share, and on March 15, 1918, to $23 per share. The company's charter provides that no stock can be sold at less than $20 per share. A large portion of the company's stock was sold by its officers without commission. Up to the time the company began business the organization expenses were only $4,065.25, which is commendable. In May, 1917, the authorized capital was reduced to $150,000.

At the close of 1914 $70,000 capital had been paid in. During 1915 the capital was increased to $100,000, and $30,000 was added to surplus. In 1916 $10,000 additional capital and $10,369 surplus were paid in. In 1917 $13,110 capital and $15,368 surplus were paid in.

In 1918, $16,890 capital and $21,969.20 surplus were paid in, making the paid-up capital on December 31, 1918, $140,000. During 1919 it increased the capital to $150,000, and in 1921 the paid-in capital was increased to $180,000.

On April 1, 1921, the authorized capital was increased to $200,000, and during the remaining portion of that year $30,000 par value additional capital was paid in. This stock was sold at $25 per share (par value $10) at a selling cost of 12½%, thus adding $35,750 to surplus.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company, though small, has reputable backing.

Its president, Frank M. Fisher, was the most active in the organization of the company. During 1917 Mr. Auber Smith resigned as secretary and managing underwriter, and was succeeded by Gordon E. Head, a local agent of Paducah, who has had many years' experience in the local agency business. He was for several years a special agent of the Henry Clay Fire Insurance Company of Lexington. He resigned that position early in 1917. R. G. Fisher is now secretary and manager of the company.

At the close of 1921 the directors owned $32,207, par value, of the company's capital stock then outstanding.

The company writes a conservative volume of business, but its underwriting had not been profitable prior to 1919, when it made a gain from underwriting of $15,541.55 In 1917 and 1918 the loss ratios were high, due chiefly to the marine business. The company states that it has discontinued writing that class. In 1920 its loss ratio was fairly high, and its increased writings increased the unearned premium reserve. Its surplus decreased $17,834.89. In 1921 the loss ratio was very high, and the expenses moderate. There was a heavy rate of underwriting loss in that year.

The expenses are normal.

The company's general loss paying reputation is good.

The company's assets are principally first mortgages on property in Ballard, McCracken and Graves Counties, Kentucky, valued at over twice the amounts loaned. The real estate is their equity in the company's Home Office building and two farms, worth about $35,000.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts and received its license to commence business February 28, 1919.

It began with a paid-in capital of $200.000, and a paid-in surplus of $440,000.

On March 15, 1919, the name of this company was changed to the Old Bay State Insurance Company.

MANAGEMENT.—The company was organized by interests closely identified with the Middlesex Mutual Fire Insurance Company, of Concord, a mutual institution which has been in successful operation since 1826, and which bears an excellent reputation. The president of this company holds a similar position in the mutual company.

It wrote during 1919 a very conservative volume of reinsurance business with a very low loss ratio and a moderate expense for a new company. In 1920 it considerably increased its business, necessitating a largely increased unearned premium reserve, and showed an underwriting loss of $84,383.09. The surplus reduced $92,184.98. In 1921 the volume was also increased considerably, necessitating corresponding increase in unearned premiums. The expense ratio was low but the loss ratio high resulting in a comparatively heavy underwriting loss.

Its investments are of high character, and the valuations are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—Fire reinsurance business.

TERRITORY.—It is licensed in Ark., Colo., Del., Ill., Ind., Ia., La., Mass., Mich., Miss., Mont., Nev., N. H., N. J., N. C., Ohio, Pa., Texas and W. Va.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was organized under the laws of Nebraska, and received its license to commence business March 20, 1919.

It was organized as a mutual company under the name, Liberty Fire Insurance Company, but on June 3, 1919, before writing any direct business it filed amended articles of incorporation changing to a stock company with an authorized capital of $500,000, of which $200,000 was paid up, and $98,250 was contributed to surplus. The expense of promotion was $51,976.50. During 1920 the stockholders contributed $357,900, of which $50,000 was applied to capital, $13,600 to promotion expense, and the balance to surplus. Stock has a par value of $50 per share.

Late in 1919 it changed to the present title.

The stock was sold at $150 per share, $50 to apply to capital, $50 to reserve fund and $50 to surplus fund, organization, promotion and establishing the company in business. As of December 31, 1920, the Nebraska Insurance Department examined the company, and finding that in addition to certificates of stock the company had issued receipts in the form of certificates for the "Reserve Fund," and "Surplus Fund," and treated the entire amount ($706,150) as capital. On this basis the capital would, of course, be impaired. The company met the situation by calling in the "Reserve Fund" and "Surplus Fund" certificates.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The president of the company is P. F. Zimmer, also managing underwriter of the Nebraska National Insurance Company, Omaha, Nebraska (formerly of Lincoln, Neb.), who has had many years' experience in the insurance business and is considered a capable underwriter.

Mr. Zimmer at first conducted the company as managing underwriter on a commission basis, but that arrangement was discontinued in 1921 and the compensation changed to a salary basis.

The company for a time wrote profit sharing policies, but has discontinued that plan, and advises that it writes only non-participating insurance.

It wrote a moderate volume of business in 1919 with a low expense ratio for a new company.

The company very greatly increased its writings in 1920, and necessarily added considerably to unearned premium reserve, and this with a high expense ratio caused an underwriting loss of $154,530.20. In 1921 the expense ratio was very high, and there was an underwriting loss of $140,949.50.

It has substantial backing. The directors as of December 31, 1921, owned, at par value, $52,375 of the $250,000 capital stock.

No complaints have come to us concerning treatment of loss claimants. Its investments are of good character.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.— It writes fire, tornado, hail, sprinkler leakage and automobile insurance.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was incorporated under the laws of Connecticut June 28, 1867, with an authorized capital of $2,000,000. It began business in January, 1872, with $500,000 capital paid in. In April, 1881, its capital was increased to $1,000,000. During 1893 it incurred and paid very heavy losses, and its capital was reduced from $1,000,000 to $500,000.

In July, 1900, control of the company was secured by the London and Lancashire Insurance Company, Ltd., of London, a large and responsible company. During 1909, $200,000 was paid into surplus account by the stockholders.

In 1913 the capital was increased from $500,000 to $1,000,000 by a stock dividend.

The par value of the stock is $100 per share.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The company is operated by, and is under the same management as, the United States Branch of the London and Lancashire Insurance Company, Ltd., and is in excellent repute.

On December 31, 1921 the directors owned $4,500 of the par value of its capital stock.

The volume of business written is conservative in proportion to the company's net resources. The company's average loss and expense ratios are normal, but in 1921 both ratios were above normal. Its underwriting since the change in ownership has been profitable.

The company's general loss paying record is excellent.

Its investments are high grade. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The real estate consists of property at 20 and 22 Trinity street, Hartford, on which is built a fire-proof building, occupied as the Home Office of the company.

General Review.

History.— This company was incorporated under the laws of Oregon, in November, 1909, with $250,000 authorized capital (par value of shares, $100), with power to increase it to $1,000,000. It began business January 1, 1911, with $100,000 capital paid in. The stock of the company was sold to the public through stock salesmen, who received a commission of 10%. The par value of the shares is now $10.

The company was examined by the Insurance Departments of Oregon and Washington in May, 1916. The examiners ascertained that on March 31, 1916, the total number of shares subscribed amounted to 7,204; shares issued, fully paid, 3,455; subscriptions cancelled, 841; leaving subscriptions for 2,908 shares partially paid. Of the shares fully paid 1,112 were sold at $125 a share, 947 shares were sold at $150 per share, 3 shares were sold at $165 per share, and 1,393 shares were sold at $200 per share, making the total capital paid in $345,500 and collections on surplus account, $214,645. The net commission paid for the sale of stock was $121,733.26.

There was a further increase during 1917, and on December 31, 1917, the paid-in capital amounted to $405,000; the surplus was $151,001.67.

Between January 1 and March 31, 1918, $4,700 was paid into capital account, making the paid-in capital $409,700 on the latter date. On March 31, 1918, the capital was reduced to $286,790, and the difference, $122,910, was added to surplus, the par value of the shares being changed from $100 to $10, the stockholders receiving seven of the new shares for one of the old. On December 31, 1918, the paid-up capital stood at $292,690, $5,900 additional having been paid in since April 1, 1918. The surplus on December 31, 1918, amounted to $295,731.80. During 1919 it made a further increase in capital, so that on December 31, 1919, the paid-up capital was $299,510. In 1921, $27,190 was paid in, of which $9,710 applied to capital, making the paid-in capital $309,220, and the balance, $21,480, was applied to surplus.

The company was examined by the insurance departments of Washington, Idaho, and Oregon as of December 31, 1920. The report covered the ground of the company's history, and recommended changes in the treatment of the accounts of the T. H. Williams General Agency, conducted by the president of the company, that it should be conducted in separate offices and by a separate force. Also that a clear contract as to the relations between the general agency and the company should be made and entered on the company's books.

The company guarantees policies issued under the title "Oregon Underwriters."

Management and Reputation.— This company was promoted mainly through the efforts of its former president, F. E. Beach, of F. E. Beach & Co., Portland, Ore., who resigned in 1916.

On December 1, 1916, T. H. Williams, formerly of San Francisco, was appointed secretary and underwriting manager. Mr. Williams is an experienced and capable underwriter and is in excellent repute.

The company has arrangements with several other companies by which it cedes to them a large amount of business; in consequence of which its income and disbursement schedules are somewhat out of the ordinary.

In the past, the expenses have been very heavy, but improvement has been shown in recent years. The average loss ratio has been low since 1916.

The company's premium income increased greatly in 1918, and the underwriting loss in that year was due to the corresponding increase in unearned premium liability. In 1919 the volume of business transacted was again increased and reserves for unearned premiums were considerably strengthened, but nevertheless it made a gain of $20,519.06 from underwriting and paid dividends of $17,834.40. In 1920 its writings again required a considerable addition to unearned premium reserve, and the surplus was reduced $36,445.54. In 1921 the volume reduced somewhat and the expenses increased, the loss ratio being a little above normal. There was an underwriting loss of $28,392.80.

The company has been making progress in recent years.

At the end of 1921 the directors owned $33,120, par value, of the capital stock.

The company bears an excellent reputation as regards loss settlements.

The securities owned are of good character. The mortgages are secured by Washington and Oregon properties.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated under the laws of South Carolina on June 9, 1912, and began business August 13, 1912, with $25,000 capital paid in, together with a surplus of $6,250. In May, 1916, the paid-in capital was increased to $50,000, and in January, 1917, to $100,000. The stock was subscribed for by the original stockholders in proportion to their holdings, and was paid in at par, $10 per share.

In July, 1918, the capital was increased to $200,000, the new stock, par value $10, being sold at $12.50 per share, so that $25,000 was collected for surplus. The entire subscription was taken up by the then stockholders.

During 1919 the capital was increased from $200,000 to $400,000, and $62,500 added to surplus account.

In 1919, a stock dividend of $75,000 and a cash dividend of $10,000 were paid to its stockholders. In 1920 a cash dividend of 10% was paid.

The company was organized by Perry Moses, its vice-president, secretary and manager, who has been in the local fire and life insurance business for a number of years.

The Fidelity Fire Insurance Company, of Sumter, is under the same management.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company transacted a very limited business in Sumter county until April, 1916, when its field of operation was extended throughout the State. It is now licensed in thirteen States. It has written a large volume of business in proportion to its capital and surplus, but as of December 31, 1921 it reinsured its outstanding risks in the Globe and Rutgers Fire Insurance Company, and the net volume in 1921 was moderate.

It is backed by prominent business men of Sumter. On December 31, 1921, the directors owned $277,280, par value, of the capital stock then outstanding.

Its expense of management has been moderate and its loss ratio is low. A good underwriting profit was made in 1918 and 1919. In 1920 both its loss ratio and expense ratio were higher, and the company had an underwriting loss of $21,748. Owing to the reinsurance of a large part of its business in 1921 the loss and expense ratios are out of proportion to premiums written, but on the earned basis an underwriting profit was made.

It bears a good reputation for loss settlements.

The mortgage loans are upon South Carolina properties valued at more than twice the amount loaned. The real estate owned is occupied by the company as an office, and is carried at the market value. The securities owned are high class, and the valuations are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

PENINSULAR FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA,

Houseman Bldg., Grand Rapids, Mich.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company, which started with the name of Commonwealth Fire Insurance Company, has been in process of organization since 1917. In July, 1917, it changed its name to the Peninsular Fire Insurance Company of America.

It first had an authorized capital of $250,000, being incorporated May 19, 1917. On the 20th of September, 1919, permission was granted by the Michigan Securities Commission to increase the capitalization to $1,000,000.

It was licensed by the Insurance Department of the State of Michigan on January 20, 1920. The company was examined by the Insurance Department of the State of Michigan, the report dated April 5, 1920, showed 31,559 shares fully paid and 8,441 shares partially paid. On December 31, 1920, the paid-up capital was increased to $895,700. The promotion was handled under contract and we are advised the cost of promotion was 21%, which is heavy.

The par value of the stock is $25.

The company had its offices originally in Saginaw, Mich., removing to Grand Rapids late in 1919.

Policies issued under the style "Empire Underwriters" were guaranteed by this company and the Pittsburgh Fire Insurance Company, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

This company was examined by the Michigan State Insurance Department as of October 31, 1921. The examiners' report showed that the company's capital, which at that time stood $922,100, was impaired in the amount of $351,014.33. Efforts were made to reinsure the outstanding liability of the company, these efforts at first being without success.

A special meeting of the stockholders was held at the offices of the company December 31, 1921. At this meeting a resolution was passed requesting the Insurance Commissioner of the State of Michigan to take charge of and handle the affairs of the company temporarily. This action was taken and as of January 31, 1922, the fire insurance risks of the company were reinsured in the Globe & Rutgers Fire Insurance Company of New York. The other classes of insurance, principally automobile insurance, were not reinsured. At the time of going to press with this section of our reports, reorganization of the company was being effected and it is proposed to reduce the capital of the company. The company was turned over to a new board of directors and officers about June 1, 1922, and they advise that statements will be made as soon as they can be prepared.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—Under the former management of the company all of the officers having been interested in its promotion, its operations were very unprofitable. In less than two years' operations the amount subscribed to surplus was wiped out and the capital became impaired to the extent stated above.

The former officers of the company were as follows:

President, Colon C. Lillie; secretary, J. Floyd Irish; vice-president, Francis F. McGinnis.

As indicated above, it is reported at the time of going to press with these reports that the company is being reorganized under new management, but confirmation with full particulars has not at this time been received.

which $350,000 was used to increase the capital from $400,000 to $750,000, and $1,050,000 was contributed to surplus.

In February, 1917, interests identified with the North British and Mercantile Insurance Co., Ltd., of London and Edinburgh, purchased control of this company. The Pennsylvania Fire continues as a separate institution.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The company has been well and conservatively managed, and has made good progress.

The company is in excellent repute concerning its general treatment of loss claims, and in settling conflagration losses has made a good record. The company writes a full volume of business.

Its expenses of operation are moderate, and its average loss ratio is about normal. In 1919 it had a low loss ratio and made an underwriting gain of $260,250.62. In 1920 its loss ratio was favorable and it had a small underwriting profit after providing a large increase in unearned premium reserve. In 1921 it made a substantial gain in surplus, principally from the investment account.

Its investments are of good character.

The real estate is a four-story white marble and brick building at 508-510 Walnut street, Philadelphia, Pa., occupied as the Home Office of the company, carried at $150,000. The mortgage loans are well secured by improved property in Kansas City, Mo.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated under the laws of the State of Pennsylvania August 6, 1919, and received its license to commence business August 17, 1919, with an authorized and paid-in capital of $100,000. Stock, par value $100, was not sold at a premium, so that the company started without surplus. There was no expense of promotion, which is very commendable.

The company operates on a participating plan.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—It was organized by interests identified with the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association Casualty Insurance Company, Philadelphia, Pa., which was incorporated in 1915 to write automobile and teams property damage, liability and workmen's compensation insurance.

The officers of this company are also officers of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association Casualty Insurance Company, and the directors, prominent in Pennsylvania business affairs, are substantially the same for both.

On December 31, 1921, the directors owned $11,300 of the $100,000 capital stock of the company.

In its operations thus far the company has had a very low expense ratio, and a favorable loss ratio, showing good underwriting gains. No complaints have been received in regard to treatment of loss claimants.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated under the laws of Delaware, April 29, 1908, with an authorized capital of $1,000,000. It began business January 2, 1909, with $712,200 paid-in capital and $316,871.32 surplus. The balance of the capital, with half a million dollars additional surplus, was paid in during 1909.

On February 27, 1920, this company reinsured all business of the Pittsburgh Fire Insurance Company written for western territory over which Herrick & Auerbach had charge.

The par value of the stock is $25 per share.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The officers and directorate includes prominent financiers and business men in Philadelphia and other eastern cities. The stock of the company is widely scattered and is held by representative and responsible business men. On December 31, 1921, the directors owned only $75,325, par value of the $1,000,000 capital stock.

Its loss ratio has been about the average in recent years.

The company's business increased greatly in 1918, and the loss on underwriting in that year was due to the corresponding increase in unearned premium liability. In 1919 it added about $67,000 to the unearned premium liability, with only a nominal loss on underwriting. In 1920 it added, owing to increased business, $155,722 to unearned premium reserve, and the surplus was reduced $91,616.13. In 1921 operating on a reduced income, there was a moderate underwriting loss, but a gain in surplus from the investment account after paying a substantial dividend.

The company's loss paying reputation is excellent.

Its investments are of good character. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

Its mortgage loans are well secured by improved property, mostly in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and Illinois.

The real estate owned is a three-story stone building at the corner of Third and Walnut streets, Philadelphia, Pa., which has since been sold at a profit.

GENERAL REVIEW

HISTORY.—The Petersburg Savings and Insurance Company began business June 1, 1860. It transacted a banking and insurance business, the former being much the more important branch.

The banking and insurance department of the company separated on June 30, 1918, and a new company was chartered under the title "Petersburg Insurance Company, Inc.," with a capital of $200,000 and a net surplus of $100,000.

The insurance business of the Petersburg Savings and Insurance Company was transferred to the Petersburg Insurance Company, Inc., June 30, 1918. There was no expense to the new company in the way of commissions or otherwise.

The loss and expense ratios were high in 1921.

The par value of the company's stock is $100 per share.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is under reputable and experienced management and its insurance business has been profitable. The officers and directors hold the same positions in the banking institution, which has been in successful and honorable operation for many years.

On December 31, 1921, the directors owned $2,000, at par, of the company's capital stock of $200,000.

The volume of business written is conservative and the expense of management has been moderate. The average loss ratio is below normal. In the last two years the expense ratio has increased, and the loss ratio also higher, resulting in a moderate underwriting loss in both years.

The company's loss paying reputation is excellent.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated in 1919 with an authorized capital of 1,000,000 francs, all of which has been paid in. The interests operating this company are also operating a company with a similar title which writes life insurance.

It regularly entered the United States in 1910, but no business was transacted here until 1911. It formerly wrote some business in the United States as an unadmitted company through its present United States managers.

HOME OFFICE RESOURCES.—All assets of the company are liable for the payment of losses incurred here. We therefore present the following information from the Home Office balance sheet, which includes all its assets and liabilities: Total assets, December 31, 1920, $12,786,048.52; capital paid in, $800,000; surplus over all liabilities, $4,827,834.30. (An arbitrary rate of exchange has been used; see note, page vii).

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is in excellent repute and has made steady progress. Its United States managers are in high standing, and represent also as United States managers L'Abeille Fire Insurance Company, the National Fire Insurance Company, and the Union Fire Insurance Company, all of Paris, France.

The same interests control and operate the Rhode Island Insurance Company, of Providence, Rhode Island.

The business written is conservative. The losses and expenses have been moderate. The premium income increased considerably in 1919, but only slightly in 1920. The loss ratio was very low in 1919, and it made an underwriting gain of $59,264.82, besides adding considerably to reserve for unearned premium liability. In 1920 its unearned premiums increased considerably, and it showed an underwriting loss of $57,126.09. In 1921 its loss ratio was high and it had an underwriting loss of $104,443.93.

Its loss paying reputation is excellent.

The company's investments are of excellent character. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

A separate department is maintained at Montreal, Canada.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was incorporated under the laws of Connecticut in May, 1854, with $200,000 authorized capital, since increased to $10,000,000. It began business in June, 1854. Its paid-in capital has been increased as follows: June, 1859, to $400,000; April, 1864, to $600,000; July, 1876, to $1,000,000; July, 1881, to $2,000,000, and October, 1913, to $3,000,000.

In 1912 this company secured control of the Equitable Fire and Marine Insurance Company of Providence, R. I., and organized the Equitable Securities Company as a holding company. In 1913 it secured control of the Connecticut Fire Insurance Company (capital $1,000,000), and organized the Phœnix Securities Company as a holding company. In October, 1915, the two securities companies were combined, the Phœnix Securities Co. taking the assets of the Equitable Securities Co., the latter being dissolved. Both of the fire insurance companies mentioned are operated as separate institutions. The stock of the Phœnix Securities Company is carried in the above statement of assets.

This company issues and guarantees an underwriters' policy entitled "Protector Underwriters," issued only on the Pacific coast and in Canada. It also issues and guarantees an underwriters policy under the title "Equitable Insurance Alliance" used principally on the Pacific coast.

Its loss paying record is excellent, under all conditions. The volume of business written is conservative in proportion to the company's net resources.

Its expenses of operation are moderate and its loss ratio low.

In 1919 it had a very low loss ratio, gain from underwriting $1,172,159.50; and increased its surplus $1,234,058.28. In 1920 it had a good year, the underwriting profit being $350,846.97, and increase in surplus $233,949.96. In 1921 it had a small underwriting loss but made a very substantial increase to surplus from investment earnings.

Its investments are of excellent character. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

General Review.

History.— This company began business early in 1895 as the Southern Stock Mutual Insurance Company, but early in 1906 changed its title to the Southern Stock Fire Insurance Company. During 1919 the name was again changed and the present title adopted. It at first operated on the plan of charging tariff rates, paying dividends to policyholders out of its profits. In December, 1901, rates having been reduced, it decided to charge the reduced rates and pay no dividends.

On January 1, 1906, the company increased its capital from $100,000, represented by stockholders' notes, to $200,000. This was done by converting the surplus of $70,000 into cash capital and by an additional payment of $30,000 by the stockholders, the notes of the guarantors remaining $100,000 as before. During 1909, $20,000 additional capital was paid in. During 1918, $120,000 of the surplus was distributed to the stockholders, retiring the guarantee capital of $100,000. The stockholders were given the option of taking cash or stock. In this way the capital was reduced in 1918 from $220,000 to $179,700, and in 1919 to $175,000.

The par value of the stock is $100 per share.

Management and Reputation.—The company is well managed and has made good progress. It is under the same management as the Greensboro Fire Insurance Company (formerly the Underwriters of Greensboro), and George Washington Fire Insurance Company (formerly the Southern Underwriters) of that city. Its president is also president of the Southern Life and Trust Company of Greensboro. All three companies have established good reputations.

In March, 1920, this company, together with the Underwriters of Greensboro and the Southern Underwriters, formed a special department through which policies are issued under the title of "McAlister Underwriters," which are guaranteed by these three companies.

Its expenses of operation are slightly above normal, but are not unreasonable considering the volume of business transacted. In recent years the loss ratios were very low, but in 1921 considerably above the average.

On December 31, 1921, the directors owned $24,500, par value, of the company's capital stock.

The volume of business transacted is conservative, and the company's loss paying record is excellent.

The securities owned consist mainly of local bank and industrial stocks, and United States Liberty Loan bonds. The company carries among its securities 162 shares of Southern Underwriters stock. The collateral loans are well secured.

Kinds of Insurance Written.—Fire, and automobile fire and theft insurance.

Territorm.—It is licensed and operates in North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia.

Dividends.—It has paid dividends of 7% each year. In 1918 and 1919 a special stock and cash dividend was paid. See above under "History."

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This is a stock company which was incorporated under the laws of Illinois, November 22, 1915, and began business February 8, 1918.

The paid-in capital is $100,000. The stock, par value $20 per share, was sold at $40 per share, so that a premium of $100,000 was collected. The stock was not sold through the services of any stock selling organization, and yet an examination of the company made in 1918 revealed that the commissions on the sale of stock amounted to $30,161.53, and the entire cost of selling this stock, as shown by the company's records, was $48,760.92. This was a heavy drain upon the surplus of $100,000 contributed by the stockholders, and at the end of 1918 only $18,656.87 surplus remained.

The stockholders have authorized an increase of capital to $200,000, but no additional capital had been paid in to January 1, 1922.

The active promoters of the company were Peter Czaja, the former president of the company, and J. M. Justus, the former secretary. The stock was placed almost entirely among Lithuanian and Polish people of Chicago.

PIONEER FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA—Continued.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The underwriting, until early in 1919, was in charge of J. T. Harrop, who is no longer connected with the company. The underwriting at present is in charge of V. W. Rutkanskas, treasurer of the company. So far as we are advised, he had no underwriting experience prior to his connection with this company.

The president of the company, Frank J. Palt, is chairman of Board of Directors of the Central Manufacturing District Bank of Chicago.

The report of an examination by the Illinois Department, under date of September 22, 1919, however, among other comments stated:

"A large portion of risks formerly assumed were not very desirable risks, being accepted through agents and surplus line agencies without being properly inspected, but the company advises us that this has been discontinued.

"The losses and expenses for the entire period since beginning business shows an excess of $36,689.38 over income, which, together with $45,499.93 paid out for organization expenses, leaves a balance of $17,810.69 surplus out of the $100,000 contributed by the stockholders."

The company's loss and expense ratios on the incurred basis were very high in 1918, resulting in a large underwriting loss, and in 1919, while there was improvement in loss ratio, the expenses were still high.

In 1921, operating on a small volume, the losses were about normal and the expenses were very high. The company advises that steps have been taken to reduce expenses.

The company bears a good general reputation in the matter of loss settlements.

On December 31, 1919, the directors owned $10,640, par value, of the company's $100,000 capital stock.

PITTSBURGH FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY — Continued.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania February 10, 1851, with $100,000 authorized capital (par value of shares $50 each). It began business in May, 1851, under the title "Pittsburgh Life Insurance Company." Its charter was afterwards amended and its title was changed to "Pittsburgh Life, Fire and Marine Insurance Company." Later its charter was again amended, and the title changed to "Pittsburgh Insurance Company."

In March, 1910, its charter was again amended, and the title was changed to "Pittsburgh Fire Insurance Company," and its authorized capital was increased to $200,000. The new stock was issued during that year, and $50,000 premium was added to surplus account. Prior to 1909 it operated only in Pennsylvania, and its business was mainly local.

In January, 1918, control of this company was secured by John G. Sell, president of the North Branch Fire Insurance Company, Sunbury, Pa., and of the City Insurance Company of Pittsburgh, and associates, and in April, 1920, it passed into the control of Edson T. Wood, president of the Firemen and Mechanics' Insurance Company of Indianapolis and interests identified with that company. Mr. Wood, following reorganization, became its president.

Early in 1921 interests identified with the Marquette National Insurance Company, of Chicago, Ill., secured control of this company, and Anthony Matre, the president of that company, became chairman of the board, and Francis J. Matre, a director of that company, its president.

This company, together with the North Branch Fire Insurance Company and the City Insurance Company, issued and guaranteed a separate set of policies under the title "Pennsylvania Underwriters," but ceased doing so in the latter part of 1920.

This company, together with the Peninsular Fire Insurance Company, of Grand Rapids, Mich., formerly issued and guaranteed a separate set of policies under the title of "Empire Underwriters."

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is now under the same general control as the Marquette National Fire, and Great Western Fire Insurance Companies, of Chicago, Ill., and the Firemen and Mechanics' Insurance Company, of Indianapolis, Ind.

The company has increased its business considerably since 1917; and now transacts a large volume in proportion to its net resources. Its management expenses have been above the average, but its average loss ratio about normal. In 1919 it had a loss ratio above normal and lost from underwriting $37,346.21. In 1920 it had an underwriting loss of $9,582.26, the expense ratio still being above the average. In 1921, the expense ratio was slightly above normal, and the loss ratio considerably above normal, resulting in an underwriting loss of $32,854.73.

In April, 1921, this company reinsured the outstanding risks of the Mid-West Fire Insurance Company of Quincy, Illinois.

The stock of the company is rather closely held. At the end of 1921, the directors owned $91,500 at par of the capital stock of $200,000.

It is in excellent repute in the matter of loss settlements.

Its investments are of good character. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners. The mortgage loans are secured by property in Allegheny county.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was chartered by a special Act of Congress in 1831, and until 1899 operated only in the District of Columbia. During that year it absorbed the Lincoln Fire Insurance Company of Washington, and its capital was increased from $75,500 to $200,000. It then branched out and transacted business in twelve States.

The company was very heavily involved in the Baltimore conflagration of February 7 and 8, 1904, its losses being estimated at $230,000. This resulted in an impairment of capital, and on February 26, 1904, all its outstanding risks were reinsured in the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company at a large profit. This transaction enabled the company to show its $200,000 capital intact and a surplus of $19,077.09 on December 31, 1904. It then withdrew from outside territory.

Early in 1900 control of the company was secured by John A. Kelly, of Kelly & Fuller prominent New York local agents, and it branched out once more to do a general business. Its operations were again unprofitable, and on December 1, 1910, it reinsured all of its outstanding liability, with the exception of that in the States of Ohio, Massachusetts and in the District of Columbia, with the Sovereign Fire Assurance Company of Toronto, Ont.

In 1911 control of the company was purchased by the General Accident, Fire and Life Assurance Corporation of Perth, Scotland, Mr. Kelly retaining the general agency, except for the District of Columbia. Its operations were unprofitable in 1911 and 1912 and on February 25, 1913, it reinsured all its outstanding liability, except that in the District of Columbia, in the Globe and Rutgers Fire Insurance Company of New York, and the Kelly general agency was definitely terminated.

During the year 1913 the General Accident, Fire and Life Assurance Corporation of Perth, Scotland, contributed $89,130 to surplus account giving the company a net surplus on December 31, 1913, of $100,000. In 1914 it again branched out and now operates in the States mentioned below.

The par value of the stock is $25 per share.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The business of the company outside of the District of Columbia is handled by Crum & Forster, New York, as general agents, which firm also acts as general agents of the North River Insurance Company, the Richmond Fire Insurance Company, the United States Fire Insurance Company, the Union Fire Insurance Company of Buffalo, N. Y., New York State Fire Insurance Company, of Albany, N. Y., and the Potomac Insurance Company, of Washington, D. C. Mr. Thos. C. Moore, vice-president of the company, was superintendent of agencies in Canada for the Great American Insurance Company of New York, and previous to that was identified with the United States Branch of the Aachen and Munich Fire Insurance Company.

In recent years the volume of business has greatly increased. In 1921 the loss ratio was above the average, and it had a small underwriting loss. In 1918 and 1919 it made good profits on its underwriting. In 1920 it increased its premium income, and unearned premium reserve, and had a small underwriting loss. It now writes a full volume of business.

The loss and expense ratios have been moderate.

The company's loss paying reputation is good.

Its investments are of good character. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The mortgage loans are secured by District of Columbia property worth over twice the amount loaned.

PROVINCIAL INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED,

Bolton (Kendal), England.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was established in 1903 with an authorized capital of £250,000, of which £180,000 has been subscribed and £140,000 ($700,000) paid in. It writes fire, loss of profit, employers' liability, burglary, fidelity guarantee, plate glass, public liability, personal accident and health insurance. It maintains a branch office in Canada, where it has a deposit of $100,000 for the protection of policyholders.

It writes some "surplus line" business in the United States through the O'Brien Insurance Agency, Chicago, Ill., who are in good repute. This agency has informed us that it acts as United States manager and keeps on deposit with the Continental Commercial Bank, Chicago, Ill., at all times, an amount equal to the maximum liability assumed under any one policy. The agency further declares that it is the practice to maintain on deposit at least $25,000 for the payment of losses, and that in the event of this being exhausted it has authority to withhold premiums due the Home Office. The company is not regularly licensed to do business in this country, and in case of dispute over a loss, suit would have to be brought at its home.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is in good standing, and has substantial backing. It is practically controlled by the cotton spinning industries in Bolton.

The company transacts a fair volume of business and has made progress.

HOME OFFICE RESOURCES.—The assets at its Home Office are liable for the payment of losses here. The Home Office sheet as of December 31, 1920, shows the following items: Assets, £358,245 ($1,791,225); capital paid in, £140,000 ($700,000); surplus, £131,677 ($658,385). (An arbitrary rate of exchange has been used; see note, page vii.)

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was established in 1875. Its subscribed capital is Fr. C,000,000 and its paid-in capital, Fr. 1,500,000, or approximately $300,000.

The company is controlled by the Swiss Reinsurance Company, of Zurich, and is operated from the same Home Office, being under the same management and having the same board of directors. To a large extent, the shareholders are also the same.

It was regularly admitted to the United States in 1918, receiving its license from the New York Insurance Department July 16, 1918.

HOME OFFICE RESOURCES.—All assets of the company (other than life insurance funds) are liable for the payment of losses incurred here. The Home Office balance sheet, which includes all its assets and liabilities, showed the following as of December 31, 1920: Total assets, $11,235,850.99; capital paid in, $300,000; surplus, $590,631.65. (An arbitrary rate of exchange has been used; see note, page vii.)

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—As stated above, the company is under the same management as the Swiss Reinsurance Company, of Zurich, Switzerland. The United States manager is Rodney Davis, who is in excellent standing, and who has many years experience in the insurance business. He was, for several years general agent in western territory for the Camden Fire Insurance Association, of Camden, N. J., and previously held field positions with prominent companies.

The business of the company has grown rapidly, and it now writes a large volume compared to its resources. Its loss ratio is somewhat above normal, but its expense ratio is low. The heavy additions to unearned premium reserve, have contributed to the showing of an underwriting loss each year. In 1921, the unearned premiums increased, while the premiums written were reduced quite materially, and there was an underwriting loss from its operations.

The securities owned by the United States Branch are high grade. The valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

Its loss paying reputation is excellent.

UNITED STATES MANAGER.—Rodney Davis, 110 William street, New York.

UNITED STATES TRUSTEE.—New York Life Insurance and Trust Co., New York City.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—The company at its Home Office writes fire, marine, accident, liability, burglary, fidelity, surety and life reinsurance. In the United States it writes automobile, fire, sprinkler leakage, windstorm, war risk and explosion reinsurance.

TERRITORY.—The United States branch is licensed in Ark., Colo., Ill., Iowa, La., Mass., Mich., Mont., Nev., N. H., N. J., N. Y., N. C., Ohio, Pa., Tex. and W. Va.

General Review.

History.—This company was incorporated March 23, 1905, and began business April 1, 1905. Its organizers previously operated the Equitable Mutual Fire Insurance Company and the Agricultural Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Sioux Falls, which companies were successful, being considered the best of their class in South Dakota.

It began business with $200,000 paid-in capital and $20,000 surplus. In December, 1905, $100,000 additional capital and $15,000 additional surplus were paid in. On October 11, 1906 (some months after the San Francisco fire), the stockholders voted to reduce the capital from $300,000 to $200,000, and then increased it to $500,000, at the discretion of the directors. The capital on December 31, 1906, was $389,616.67. Early in 1907 $10,383.33 additional stock was sold, making the paid-in capital $400,000. In April, 1907, the capital was reduced to $200,000, and on November 21, 1918, it was reduced to $100,000, the difference being transferred to surplus.

The par value of the stock is $100 per share.

The company formerly operated in about twenty-eight States, but is now licensed only in North Dakota and South Dakota.

Management and Reputation.—The company's underwriting operations prior to 1916 were very unprofitable. Its expense of management was high and its average loss ratio was also high. The company has been more conservatively managed in recent years.

It reinsured all of its outstanding liability with the American Central Insurance Company, of St. Louis, as of May 24, 1916. In lieu of commission the American Central agreed to pay all of the Queen City's expenses and losses. As of that date it entered into a continuing contract to reinsure with the American Central all policies as written, such contract to continue for three years. It was the idea of the company to improve the conditions of the assets during the three-year contract and thus place itself in a healthy condition to pursue the insurance business along independent lines.

In 1919, after the termination of this reinsurance arrangement, it wrote $159,497.13 in gross premiums, retaining but $19,167.21 net, an amount equal to this being set up as a reserve for unearned premiums, which accounts largely for the decrease in surplus of $3,954.06.

In 1919 the expense ratio was high, as is necessarily the case because of small net premium volume.

In 1920 it wrote gross premiums of $203,458.06 and retained $31,059.32 net, and had a low loss ratio to premiums written. No dividend was paid and the surplus increased $6,691.66.

D. P. Lemen, formerly associated with the Northwestern Fire & Marine Insurance Company, at its Home Office was appointed secretary and manager of this company early in 1915. The directors are bankers and business men of Sioux Falls and are in good repute. On December 31 1921, the directors owned $35,955, par value, of the $100,000 capital stock. It will be noted that the Company now reinsures its entire liability, therefore no unearned premium is set up in the statement. This reinsurance is placed with the Hartford Group through the Northwestern Fire and Marine Insurance Company. The company's general loss paying reputation is excellent.

The greater part of the company's investments are in the form of mortgage loans, not exceeding 50% of the value of the property securing them. The loans are mainly on farm property in North and South Dakota.

The real estate owned is the company's Home Office building, which cost $42,000 some years ago, exclusive of the land on which it stands. The company bought it for $25.000 at a foreclosure sale, and has made some improvements.

In 1918 it reduced the valuation of the Home Office building from $60,000 to $40,000. During 1918 the company marked off all questionable assets, and states that its assets are now on a rock-bottom basis.

Kinds of Insurance Written.—Fire, tornado, automobile, thresher bonds, and hail insurance.

Territory.—It is licensed in N. D. and S. D.

Dividends.—1905, 4%; 1906, 3%; 1907, 1%; and none since.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was incorporated under the laws of New York with $500,000 authorized capital, par value of shares $100 each. It began business September 11, 1891, with $500,000 capital and $1,000,000 surplus, continuing the business of the Queen Insurance Company of Liverpool, England, which was absorbed by the Royal of Liverpool in 1891. A majority of the capital stock is held by the Home Office of the Royal Insurance Company, Ltd., of Liverpool, England.

In February, 1904, its capital was increased by stock dividend from $500,000 to $1,000,000. In December, 1917, the capital was increased to $2,000,000 by a stock dividend.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The company is under excellent management and has built up a large surplus. It is one of the leading companies of the country.

On December 31, 1921, the directors of this company owned $13,000, par value, of the capital stock.

Its underwriting policy is such that its stability could not be vitally affected by any conflagration, or any succession of smaller disasters. It increased its writings considerably in 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920, and although the unearned premium reserve increased accordingly, the company made a large underwriting profit each year, until 1920, when it had an underwriting loss of $98.514.21. It had a small underwriting loss in 1921.

Its loss paying record is excellent, both under ordinary conditions and in settling claims which have arisen in conflagrations. Its average expense of management and loss ratios are low.

Its investments are of excellent character. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

Its mortgage loans, of which there are only three, are upon improved property in New York City.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was established in April, 1918, as a subsidiary of the Salamandra Insurance Company, of Petrograd, Russia, with a paid-in capital of Kr. 4,000,000. It was licensed by the New York Insurance Department, August 15, 1919, to transact the business of fire reinsurance.

HOME OFFICE RESOURCES.—Its Home Office funds are invested very largely in high-grade United States securities. The assets of its Home Office are liable for losses here. Its balance sheet as of June 30, 1921, shows the following items:

Assets, Kr. 51,565,449 ($13,819,540); capital paid in, Kr. 4,000,000 ($1,072,000); profit and loss account,

Kr. 540,004 ($144,721). (An arbitrary rate of exchange has been used. See note, page vii.)

The board of directors of this company consists of: N. Belotsvetov, president; Th. Weinert, Fr. L. Hey, M. A. Langberg, Hans Steensen, James Sheakston and W. Witzke. And general managers: G. D. Talbot and Edw. Preisler.

This company, as of June 30, 1921, took over the entire portfolio of the Salamandra Insurance Company, of Petrograd, Russia, and subsequently on the same date the latter company reinsured 40% of the portfolio of the Reinsurance Company Salamandra, Ltd.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The United States managers, Meinel & Wemple, Inc., 469 Fifth avenue, New York City, are experienced and in high standing, and also represent as United States managers the fire departments of the Salamandra Insurance Compnay, of Petrograd, Russia.

The United States trustee is the New York Life Insurance and Trust Company.

In accordance with the insurance law requirements the company has deposited with the Superintendent of Insurance of New York State, United States Government Third Liberty Loan 4¼% bonds to the amount of $125,000 and United States Victory Loan notes, 4¾%, to the amount of $100,000, and with the Insurance Department of the State of Ohio, United States Government Third Liberty Loan 4¼% bonds to the amount of $100,000.

The expense ratio is low. For the three years of its operation the company has shown an underwriting loss principally on account of the large amounts set aside to unearned premiums. The volume has grown rapidly and is now very large compared to its net resources at its United States Branch. In 1921 the loss ratio was high. On account of the reinsurance, referred to above, the general results of this company and the parent company, the Salamandra Insurance Company, might well be considered together.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.— Fire, tornado, motor vehicles, hail, sprinkler leakage, explosion and war risk.

TERRITORY.— It is licensed in Ark., Colo., Del., Ill., Ia., La., Mass., Mich., Mont., Neb., Nev., N. H., N. J., N. Y., N. C., Ohio, Pa., Tex., Utah and W. Va.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated April 21, 1841, and began business August 9, 1844, with $100,000 authorized capital (par value of shares $50 each). From 1841 to 1862 small annual increases in the amount of capital were made by the conversion of scrip certificates. In 1862 the capital was increased from $250,000 to $300,000. In January, 1910, it was increased from $300,000 to $400,000. The additional stock was sold at 150%, adding $50,000 to the surplus account.

About midyear in 1921 control of this company passed to interests identified with the Fire Association, and the Victory Insurance Company, both of Philadelphia, Pa.

In making the policy of this company conform to the underwriting practices of the parent company the business of this company written through what is known as "Bureau" agencies in western states was reinsured in the Security Insurance Company, of New Haven, Conn., and the remaining portion of its risks in the Fire Association, both as of July 1, 1921. Policies are guaranteed by this company under the title "Reliance Underwriters Agency".

The stockholders on February 17, 1922, authorized increase of capital to one million dollars, to be sold at the discretion of the directors. No additional stock will be sold at the present time.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is now under the same general control and management as the Fire Association, of Philadelphia, Pa., which is an old successful company in excellent repute.

The Victory Insurance Company of Philadelphia is also under the same control and management.

The directors owned at the end of 1921 $9,500, par value, of the company's $400,000 capital stock.

The company is in excellent repute concerning its general treatment of loss claims.

The company's underwriting operations in recent years, under the former management, have not been profitable. It wrote rather a large volume of business in proportion to its capital and surplus. Its expenses of operation were high, but its average loss ratio about normal. Owing to the reinsurances effected, as above referred to, the premium income was reduced to a small amount and the ratios of losses and expenses to premiums written are out of proportion.

Its investments are high grade. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The item of real estate is the company's Home Office at 429 Walnut street, a very good location. It is a five-story brick and stone building which is carried at cost, $80,017.42. This building was sold in February, 1922, for $105,000.

The shares have a par value of $100.

The company does not write any policies in Texas under the title Republic Insurance Company, but the agents of the Austin, Commonwealth and International write independent lines, as heretofore, issuing policies respectively in the "Austin Underwriters," "Commonwealth Underwriters," and "International Underwriters" of the Republic Insurance Company, its entire assets being behind each policy contract. It also issues and guarantees the "Republic Underwriters" in Pacific coast territory, and together with the Merchants Union Insurance Company issues and guarantees the "Merchants Union Underwriters" in Mississippi.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania and began business July 18, 1871, with a paid-in capital of $10,000. Assessments were made at regular periods until July, 1873, when $62,500 had been paid in. The capital was later gradually increased to $125,000, by stock dividends. In 1905 its capital stock was increased from $125,000 to $200,000, and $39,260 surplus was paid in. In the same year the title was changed from Teutonia Insurance Company to Teutonia Fire Insurance Company. During 1918 the present title was adopted.

Policies issued under the title "Pittsburgh Underwriters" are guaranteed by this company, and the Allemania, Superior Fire (formerly Humboldt Fire) and National Ben Franklin Insurance companies of Pittsburgh.

The par value of the stock is $50 per share.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company bears a good reputation.

It writes a large volume of business in proportion to its capital and surplus. Its expenses of operation have been above the average, but its loss ratio in recent years has been favorable.

The company's directors are substantial and of high business standing. At the end of 1921 the directors owned $60,000, par value, of the $200,000 capital stock then outstanding.

The securities owned are of high grade and are carried at the prices fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The largest item of real estate is the company's Home Office building. The mortgage loans are upon dwellings and mercantile property in Pittsburgh, and other Pennsylvania cities, valued at over twice the amount loaned.

General Review.

History.— This company was incorporated under the laws of Oklahoma in August, 1910, and began business in September, 1911. It was organized under the auspices of the Oklahoma Retailers' Association. Its authorized capital is $250,000, of which $50,000 was paid in when the company began business. Its stock ($10 par value) was sold at $20 per share, $5 of which was used for organization expenses.

In July, 1912, the company was completely reorganized and new officers elected. The officers connected with the company during its promotion period were eliminated and all stock-selling contracts canceled. All stock disposed of in the future will be sold by the company.

During 1914 the paid-in capital was increased to $50,800. During 1915 the paid-in capital was increased to $72.230, and $17,475 was added to surplus account. In 1916 the capital was increased to $121,200, and $22,741.67 surplus was collected. During 1917 the capital was reduced to $104,560 by the cancellation of $16,640 of the capital stock, the company exchanging therefor certain securities which it considered not altogether desirable to retain. It states that this transaction reduced the surplus $11,145. In 1918 the capital was increased to $104,790. In 1920 a stock dividend of $95,210 was declared, thus increasing the capital to $200,000.

Management and Reputation.—The company has grown steadily, and its business in recent years has been profitable. Its loss ratio has been very low, and the expense ratio slightly above normal.

On December 31, 1921, the directors owned $95,400 par value of the capital stock of $200,000.

The company has explained to us that the reason for the high expense ratio is that it issues participating policies, charging the returns on policies to the expense account, and that in 1920 such returns to policyholders were 25% on expired policies.

Kinds of Insurance Written.— Fire and tornado.

Territory.— Its operations are confined to Oklahoma, Nebraska and Kansas.

Officers.— President, A. M. Greiner; first vice-president, Louis Berlowitz; second vice-president, J. S. Peter; secretary, W. E. Hitchcock; treasurer, T. T. Eason; manager, W. E. Hitchcock; assistant manager, P. J. Slater.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was incorporated under the laws of Montana August 16, 1911, and began business January 6, 1913, with $250,000 paid-in capital. The par value of the stock is $100 per share, and the stock was sold at $200 per share. The stock subscription form provided for organization expenses of 20%. The stock was sold by P. H. Sexton and George Lloyd, as fiscal agents.

During 1915 the paid-in capital was increased to $265,-200; in 1916 to $271,800, and in 1917 to $278,531. In 1918 the capital was increased to $280,296.20, and $2,362.75 was paid into surplus account. At the end of 1919 the company showed a stock liability of $279,885.45 and contributed during the year $623.75 to surplus. Through a misunderstanding $685.45, partial payments on stock subscriptions, was carried into the capital account. This was corrected in 1920, reducing the capital paid up to $279,200, as shown in this statement.

This company guarantees policies entitled "Rocky Mountain Fire Underwriters" issued in Montana.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— A change in management took place early in 1917. The new management requested the Montana Insurance Department to make a thorough examination and investigation of the company's affairs from the beginning, which was done, the report of examination being dated May 7, 1917. The examiners found much to criticise, and stated that under the former management the company was apparently run to the advantage of the promoters, who were also general agents and directors, one becoming vice-president, and the other president, of the company.

The company was again examined by the Montana Insurance Department in 1918, the report showing the company's condition as of June 30, 1918. This examination was made chiefly for the purpose of ascertaining if the recommendations made in the previous report of examination, in 1917. had been carried out.

The statement of the company as of June 30, 1918, was verified. The real estate is carried at book value, and provides for the reduction of $13,594.81, stipulated in the report of examination dated May 7, 1917.

The real estate owned is a building in Great Falls used as the Home Office of the company. The examiners stated in 1917 that it was not a proper investment for the company and recommended that efforts be made to dispose of the property. The company advised us in February, 1918 that it intended to comply with the requirements of the department as soon as it could do so without resulting in financial loss to the stockholders. This building is still owned by the company, the value being reduced to the amount shown in the above statement.

An inspection was made of the mortgage loans files, which were found to be complete and in good order as to necessary papers and documents. The cash in banks and office was verified by the examiners in the usual way, and was found to be correct as shown. The unearned premium reserve was found to be correctly computed.

It was again examined by the Montana State Insurance Department as of June 30. 1920. The examiner reported that he found the accounts and records in excellent condition. The examination showed that the present management, which is composed of successful and reputable business men, was making every effort to carry out the recommendations of the department, and run the company along proper lines.

On December 31, 1921 the directors owned $28,950 of the capital stock of the company.

No dividend was paid in 1918, in accordance with the recommendations of the examiners, but in 1919 $22,336 was paid to stockholders. No dividend was paid in 1920, but $22,336 was paid in 1921.

The company is in good repute in the matter of loss settlements.

The underwriting of the company is in charge of the secretary, Leo P. McMeel, who was for eight years a local insurance agent in Kansas. In 1915 it began writing hail insurance, and a reinsurance contract was entered into with a large stock company whereby all liability under hail policies is reinsured. It reinsured all hail business written.

The company transacts a conservative volume of business, and its loss ratio has so far been low. The expense ratio in 1918, 1919 and 1920 was moderate, with a downward tendency. In 1921 the expense ratio was under the average, but the loss ratio high, and there was a considerable underwriting loss.

GENERAL REVIEW

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated under the laws of North Carolina on January 21, 1919, and was licensed and began business April 13, 1919, with an authorized, subscribed and paid-in capital of $50,000 and without a surplus. Shares have a par value of $100 There was no expense incurred in promoting this company, which is very commendable. On January 22, 1920, the stockholders authorized $50,000 additional capital, to be sold at $110 per share, of which $100 is to apply to capital and $10 to surplus. On April 22, 1920, the directors authorized the sale of this stock, and during 1920 $16,600 par value of this stock was paid in, and $1,660 was contributed to surplus.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—J. W. Norman, secretary and manager, has been manager of the insurance Department of the Leaksville Spray Insurance and Reality Company for a great many years.

The directors owned as of December 31, 1921, $31,500, par value, of the capital stock of $66,000.

The expenses of the company were low for a new company with a small premium income in 1919, but high in 1920. It had no losses in 1920. In 1921 the loss ratio was low and the expense ratio not high considering the very small volume transacted.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This is one of the oldest companies in existence. It began writing marine insurance in 1696, and the charter under which it now writes fire insurance was granted in 1720. Its capital is £689,219, all of which has been paid in.

It entered the United States in 1891, with headquarters at San Francisco, and confined its operations to a limited territory up to 1898, when the headquarters of the United States Branch was moved to New York. It then commenced doing a general agency business. In 1910 it began writing marine insurance in the United States.

In 1917 this company purchased control of the Car and General Insurance Corporation, Ltd., of London.

Policies issued under the title "Exchange Underwriters" in the United States are guaranteed by this company.

HOME OFFICE RESOURCES.— All assets of the company (other than life insurance funds) are liable for the payment of losses, wherever incurred. The Home Office balance sheet, which includes all its assets and liabilities, showed the following as of December 31, 1920: Assets, $56,724,518; capital paid in, $3,446,095; surplus funds, $4,147,926. (An arbitrary rate of exchange has been used; see note, page vii.)

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The company is in excellent repute, and has made good progress in the United States. The United States manager, Mr. Everard C. Stokes, was formerly, for seven years, manager in the Levant section of the Near East, and is in excellent repute. The associate manager, Gayle T. Forbush, has been with the company for many years, and is in excellent repute. It bears an excellent reputation in the matter of loss settlements.

The expense of management of the United States Branch is moderate, and its average loss ratio is normal. In 1921 it considerably reduced its writings, resulting in an increased expense and loss ratio on the written basis. There was a large profit on investments in 1921.

The securities owned are of excellent character. The valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The marine branch is in charge of Appleton & Cox, attorneys, New York City, who are in excellent standing.

UNITED STATES MANAGER.— Everard C. Stokes; associate manager, Gayle T. Forbush, New York.

UNITED STATES TRUSTEE.— Bankers Trust Company, 16 Wall street, New York.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was established in 1896. Its authorized capital is 3,000,000 roubles, all of which has been paid in. It entered the United States early in 1907.

HOME OFFICE RESOURCES.—No late Home Office balance sheet is available.

Owing to the chaotic state of affairs in Russia it would be difficult, if not impossible, to secure additional funds from the Home Office if needed, and on December 1, 1918, the Soviet Government of Russia decreed the dissolution of all private insurance companies and the confiscation of their assets by the State on April 11, 1919. This action, if sustained, would apparently terminate the authority of their United States representatives; but the assets in this country can be used only to liquidate obligations incurred here.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company has always been in excellent repute at its home, and its United States management is in high standing. Its United States manager also acts in the same capacity for the Moscow Insurance Company, the First Russian Insurance Company and the Nordisk Reinsurance Company of Copenhagen, Denmark (reported upon elsewhere in this volume) which are writing reinsurance in the United States.

The volume of business written in the United States is large in proportion to the net resources of that branch. The expenses of the United States Branch have been moderate, and the average loss ratio is somewhat above normal. In 1921 the loss ratio was high.

UNITED STATES MANAGER.—Paul E. Rasor, New York.

UNITED STATES TRUSTEE.—Bankers Trust Company, New York.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—Fire, motor vehicle, sprinkler leakage, explosion and tornado reinsurance.

TERRITORY.—The United States Branch was licensed, at last advices, in Ark., Colo., Del., Ill., Iowa, La., Mass., Mich., Mont., Nev., N. H., N. Y., N. C., Ohio, Pa., Tex. and W. Va.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was organized March 5, 1853, as the St. Paul Mutual Insurance Company, to write fire insurance and to insure against the perils of marine and inland navigation. In March, 1865, it was changed to a stock company, with the present title, and its authorized capital was increased to $500,000, with authority to increase the same to $800,000. It then had a paid-in capital of $75,000. In 1872 the paid-in capital was increased to $400,000.

In March, 1869, authority was given to increase its capital to $2,000,000, and in 1873 another amendment of its charter provided that the business of the company could be carried on upon a capital paid in of not less than $400,000. In 1883 its paid-in capital was increased to $500,000, and on July 1, 1914, to $1,000,000 by a stock dividend of $500,000.

The stockholders having authorized the directors to issue $1,000,000 additional stock, this additional capital was paid in at par during 1920, making the paid-up capital $2,000,000.

The par value of the stock is $100 per share.

The company has set aside a special conflagration reserve fund of $1,000,000, and a special reserve of $603,585.56.

Besides its own policies, this company issues policies under the title "Minnesota Underwriters Agency."

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The company has been successfully managed, and has made excellent progress. It is backed by very substantial interests, and its directors are men of high standing in business and financial circles.

The control of the company is not closely held. The directors owned, on December 31, 1921, $329,900, par value, of the company's stock.

It writes a full volume of business well distributed, In recent years it has greatly increased the volume of business transacted, especially fire and allied lines. Its expenses of operation are very moderate, and its average loss ratio is normal. In 1919 it had a very low ratio on fire business and a normal loss ratio on marine, making a gain from underwriting of $1,391,970.96. In 1920 the loss and expense ratios to premiums written were below the average, but the unearned premiums increased heavily and a small underwriting loss resulted. In 1921 the volume decreased considerably, and with the loss ratio above normal there was a small underwriting loss. A very substantial gain in surplus was made from the investment account.

Its loss paying record is excellent, under all conditions.

The largest item of real estate is the company's Home Office building, at the northwest corner of Fifth and Washington streets, St. Paul, Minn., improved with a new addition.

The mortgage loans are largely upon improved property in Minnesota, Montana, North and South Dakota, Washington, New Mexico, Colorado, Oregon and Manitoba, worth over three times the amount loaned.

The securities owned are of excellent character. The security valuations in the statement are those of actual market values.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was established in 1846. Its authorized capital is 5,000,000 roubles, all paid in. It entered the United States in 1899 to transact a reinsurance business.

In April, 1918, this company established a new company in Copenhagen, Denmark, named the Reinsurance Company Salamandra, to handle its business outside of Russia, and transferred to that company its foreign reinsurance portfolio.

The Salamandra of Copenhagen holds funds of the parent company as a guarantee for the proper execution by the parent company of its obligations towards its ceding companies.

The statement of the Reinsurance Company Salamandra as of June 30, 1921, showed the following: Total assets, Kr. 51,565,449; capital paid in, Kr. 4,000,000; premium reserve, Kr 9,705,921; loss reserve, Kr.5,100,304; reserves held for account of reinsurers, Kr.21,055,051; creditors, Kr.8,887,592; deposits of the Salamandra Insurance Company of Petrograd, Kr.1,114,712; profit and loss account, Kr.540,005.

The Board of Directors of the Copenhagen company is as follows: President, N. Belotsvetov, Fr. R. Hey, M. A. Langberg, Hans Steensen, James Theakston, and W. Witzke; general managers, G. D. Talbot and Edward Preisler.

Owing to the chaotic state of affairs in Russia it would be very difficult to secure additional funds from the Home Office if needed, and on December 1, 1918, the Soviet Government of Russia decreed the dissolution of all private insurance companies and the confiscation of their assets by the State, April 11, 1919. This action, if sustained, would apparently terminate the authority of their United States representatives; but the assets in this country can be used only to liquidate obligations incurred here.

The Reinsurance Company Salamandra, Ltd., as of June 30, 1921, took over the entire portfolio of this company, and later, on the same date, this company reinsured 40% of the portfolio of the Reinsurance Company Salamandra, Ltd.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company has always been considered one of the strongest of the Russian companies. Its United States managers are experienced and in high standing. They act also as United States managers of the fire branch of the Reinsurance Company Salamandra, Copenhagen, Denmark.

The volume of business written in the United States has been very large in proportion to the net resources of that Branch. In 1921 the volume was greatly reduced, but is still a full volume compared to its net resources at the Branch. The loss ratio in 1919 and 1920 was normal and the expense about normal. In 1921 the results on an earned premium basis were profitable and a substantial underwriting gain was made. The loss and expense ratios on the written basis are out of proportion on account of the very great reduction in volume written. On account of the reinsurance, referred to above, the general results of this company and the Reinsurance Company Salamandra, Ltd., might well be considered together.

In 1921 there was $943,096.17 transferred from this Branch to the Home Office of the Reinsurance Company Salamandra, of Copenhagen, and $536,749.92 was transferred from the Home Office of that company to this Branch.

The securities owned by the United States Branch of this company are of excellent character.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY. — This company was incorporated under the laws of Georgia on September 13, 1911, with an authorized capital of $100,000, all of which was paid in, with a surplus of $50,000, when the company began business. Its stock, par value $100, was sold at $150 per share. It began business in October, 1911.

On April 5, 1920, the company increased its capital stock from $100,000 to $200,000. This new issue was allotted to the then stockholders, in amounts equal to their holdings, on a basis of $70 per share, and a stock dividend of $30,000 was declared to all subscribed stock on this basis.

The entire new issue was subscribed and paid for on April 5th except 14 shares, which were sold April 6, 1920, at $150 per share, and thus a little over $1,000 was contributed to surplus.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The underwriting management of the company is in the hands of its secretary, who has had many years experience in the local agency business.

On December 31, 1921, $168,000, par value, of the capital stock was owned by directors of the company.

Its expense of management has been moderate, and its loss ratio low. Until 1920 the company operated in Georgia only, writing a small volume of business. It has now entered eighteen other States and considerably increased its writings. In 1920 it paid a dividend of $30,000, and had an underwriting loss of $13,007.11, and reduced its surplus $31,118.98. In 1921 it further increased its volume with a loss ratio above normal and an increased expense ratio, there being an underwriting loss of $33,007.84 for the year.

The company's loss paying record is excellent.

The real estate owned by the company consists of a five-story fireproof office building in the center of the business section of Savannah.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was organized June 17, 1916, with a paid-in capital of $348,189.41 (Kr. 1,250,000), and is backed by ten of the leading Norwegian insurance companies each owning from 10% to 16% of its capital stock. It writes both direct and reinsurance business.

HOME OFFICE RESOURCES.— Statement made by the Home Office of the company as of December 31, 1920, shows the following items: Assets, $3,228,730.30; capital paid in, $400,000; surplus, $547,646.99. (An arbitrary rate of exchange has been used; see note on page vii.)

During 1917 the paid-in capital, which originally was $348,189.41, was increased by the sum of $700,000, which was all sent over to the United States Branch, and placed in trust with the Guaranty Trust Co. In 1918 the U. S. Branch received $663,382.48 net from the Home Office. In 1920 the United States Branch remitted to the Home Office $940,198.79, and received from the Home Office, $1,321,-198.31.

It entered the United States during the latter part of 1916 to write marine and automobile risks. On January 16, 1919, it was licensed by the New York Insurance Department to transact a fire insurance business, the necessary additional statutory deposit having been made.

The United States Branch was previously under the management of O. G. Orr & Co. It later passed to F. H. & C. R. Osborn, and was changed to the present management in 1921.

An examination of the United States Branch of the company, made by the New York Insurance Department as of February 28, 1921, showed, at that time an impairment of its capital deposit of $148,475, which was made good by remittances of $261,388.60.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The United States manager, J. M. Wennstrom, is in good repute and also acts as United States manager of the Svea Fire and Life Insurance Company, of Gothenburg, Sweden, the Christiania General Insurance Company, of Christiania, Norway, and is president of the Hudson Insurance Company, of New York. The manager of the marine department is Charles R. Page, 72 Beaver street, New York.

The expenses have been low, but the marine losses have been high. Owing principally to the heavy marine losses, the company's United States Branch had an underwriting loss in 1920 of $734,385.38. In 1921 the company very greatly reduced its writings, showing a very high loss ratio on the written basis, and a high loss ratio on the earned basis. The expenses were low and a moderate underwriting loss resulted.

The investments owned by the U. S. Branch are of excellent character, but a considerable portion consists of Norwegian securities. The valuations are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The names of the ten companies which furnished the capital for this company are:

GENERAL REVIEW.

This company was established in 1876 and is owned and controlled by the London & Lancashire Life & General Assurance Association, Ltd., of London, now the London and Scottish Assurance Corporation, Ltd., having changed its name during 1919, which was established in 1862.

Its life business effected since 1912 has also been reinsured. The larger portion of the company's assets applies to its life business effected before 1912.

On December 17, 1918, the Scottish-Metropolitan was licensed in Canada to transact fire, accident, automobile, burglary, guarantee and sickness insurance. The chief agency of the company in Canada is in Montreal, and Mr. Alexander Bissett, manager of the London and Scottish Assurance Corporation, Ltd., in Canada, 164 St. James street, is chief agent. GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was incorporated as a mutual company August 20, 1907, and commenced business January 2, 1908. On February 8, 1910, it was reincorporated, the word "mutual" being eliminated from its title, and its surplus was capitalized to the extent of $50,000. On January 1, 1910, the cash surplus and earnings of the company amounted to $52,351.57. From time to time $50,000 in scrip was issued for this surplus, and later the scrip was redeemed for $50,000 in stock, par value $100.

On March 12, 1919, the company filed with the Insurance Department of New Jersey a certificate providing for an increase of the capital stock from $50,000 to $100,000.

The company advised us on April 3, 1919, that control of the company had been secured by the directors of the Chelsea National Bank, of Atlantic City, the paid-in capital of the company was increased to $100,000, and $17,000 was contributed to surplus.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— As stated above, control of this company was changed early in 1919. The company for a time wrote surplus line business, but in October, 1920, August F. Bolte was elected secretary, and the surplus line writing was discontinued, cancelling nearly all surplus line risks, and it now confines its business to its home state. The company advises that Mr. Bolte has been connected in an official capacity with one of the local banks for twenty-two years; that he knows the local conditions and has made considerable study of the insurance business.

A considerable portion of the business written consists of risks of frame construction in Atlantic City which are subject to the conflagration hazard. The premium volume is very small. It had a low loss ratio in 1919, but its operations in 1920 were very unprofitable. In 1921 its loss ratio was low and it made a small underwriting profit, although its expense ratio is high.

The directors of the company contributed in 1918 $7,831.43, which made good an impairment of capital and left a surplus of $3,133.44 at the close of that year.

As of December 31, 1921, the directors owned, at par value, $48,800 of the $100,000 capital stock.

The investments are of good character.

The company's loss paying reputation is good.

KIND OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—Fire insurance.

TERRITORY.— It is licensed in New Jersey only.

DIVIDENDS.— It has paid dividends of 6% from 1912 to 1918, inc.; 1919, none; 1920, none; 1921, none.

OFFICERS.— President, J. B. Thompson; vice-president, Frank Walsh; treasurer, H. H. Deakyne; secretary, August F. Bolte.

SEA INSURANCE COMPANY LIMITED — Continued.

General Review.

History.— This company was established in 1875. Its authorized capital is £500,000 ($2,500,000) all paid in. It entered the United States soon after it began business.

Home Office Resources.— All assets of the company are liable for the payment of losses incurred here. The Home Office balance sheet, which includes all its assets and liabilities, showed the following: Total assets, December 31, 1921, $8,951,465; capital paid in, $2,500,000; reserve fund, $2,950,000; underwriting suspense and reinsurance accounts, $976,575; balance of underwriting account, $1,597,309; profit and loss account, $272,168. (An arbitrary rate of exchange has been used; see note, page vii.)

Management and Reputation.— The company is in excellent repute. Its United States Management also directs the United States business of the Marine Insurance Company and the Alliance Assurance Company, both of London; also the marine branch of the London Assurance Corporation and the marine department of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company. They also manage the Federal Insurance Company of Jersey City, N. J., of which company Mr. Percy Chubb is president.

The expense of management of the United States Branch has been moderate. The loss ratio in 1919 and 1920 was normal. In 1921 the company greatly reduced its writings, which accounts largely for the high loss and expense ratios to premiums written. A moderate underwriting loss resulted from its operations.

The company's loss paying reputation is excellent.

Its investments are of excellent character.

The security valuations are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

United States Managers.—Chubb & Son, New York.

United States Trustee.—Bankers Trust Company of New York.

Kinds of Insurance Written.— Marine, inland transportation, floaters, tourists' baggage, war risk and automobile insurance.

Territory.— The United States Branch is licensed in Ala., Ark., Cal., Colo, Ill., Ia., La., Mich., Minn., N. J., N. Y., Ohio, Ore., Pa., Tex. and Wash.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was established in 1835. Its paid-in capital is 2,500,000 roubles. It entered the United States in 1913 to transact a fire reinsurance business. In November, 1916, it was licensed in New York to transact a marine business.

HOME OFFICE RESOURCES.—No recent Home Office balance sheet is available.

Owing to the present chaotic state of affairs in Russia, it would be difficult, if not impossible, to secure additional funds from the Home Office if needed, and on December 1, 1918, the Soviet Government of Russia decreed the dissolution of all private insurance companies and the confiscation of their assets by the State, on April 11, 1919. This action, if sustained, would apparently terminate the authority of their United States representatives; but the assets in this country can be used only to liquidate obligations incurred here.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—Meinel & Wemple, Inc., United States managers for the fire branch, are experienced, and in high standing, and also represent as United States managers the Salamandra Insurance Company, Petrograd, Russia, and the Reinsurance Company Salamandra, Denmark.

The United States manager of the marine department is John M. Grant, 82 Beaver street, New York, who is in excellent repute.

The volume of business written in the United States is large in proportion to the net resources of that branch.

The company's business in the United States was very profitable in 1918, 1919 and 1920, but it had a bad year in 1921, the loss ratio being very high, and the underwriting loss $518,233.64.

On the basis of a capital deposit of $552,000, $452,000 of which is on deposit with the New York State Insurance Department, and $100,000 on deposit with the Ohio Insurance Department, the deposit capital was impaired on December 31, 1921, in the amount of $37,776.23.

The securities owned by the U. S. Branch are of excellent character. The security valuations are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

UNITED STATES FIRE MANAGER.—Meinel & Wemple, Inc., 469 Fifth avenue, New York.

UNITED STATES TRUSTEE.—New York Life Insurance and Trust Company, New York.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—In the United States it writes fire, marine, war risk, automobile, registered mail, explosion, tornado, hail and sprinkler leakage reinsurance.

TERRITORY.—It writes reinsurance in all the States and is licensed in the following: Ark., Colo., Del., Ill., Iowa, La., Mass., Mich., Mont., Neb., Nev., N. H., N. J., N. Y., N. C., Ohio, Pa., Texas and W. Va.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated in 1841 under the laws of Connecticut with $100,000 authorized capital (par values of shares $40 each, reduced to $25 in 1906).

It began business in 1844 with a paid-in capital of $100,000, $10,000 in cash and $90,000 in notes. In 1873 and 1874 its paid-in capital was increased to $150,000 by stock dividends of 25,000 each year. Additional capital was paid in as follows: 1874, $50,000; 1887, $50,000; 1899, $100,000; 1903, $100,000; 1905, $100,000; 1906 $187,500; 1910, $200,000, and 1911, $300,000, making the total capital paid in $1,237,500.

In 1893 the capital was reduced by $50,000 and in 1906 by $187,500, which accounts for the present capital of $1,000,000.

Additional surplus was paid in as follows: 1893, $50,000; 1906, $300,000; 1910, $200,000, and 1911, $300,000, a total of $850,000.

This company issues and guarantees a separate series of policies, entitled "New Haven Underwriters Agency."

The figures in this statement are as filed with the Connecticut Insurance Department.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is under experienced management. In recent years its underwriting operations have not shown a net profit (except in 1919 when it had a very low loss ratio and made a gain from underwriting of $363,269.80); this is mainly due to the increase in the volume of business written and a corresponding increase in the unearned premium liability. In 1921 the losses were above normal and the expenses slightly higher than the average.

It is backed by substantial interests, and its directorate includes prominent business men and financiers. The control of the company is not closely held. The directors owned at the end of 1921 $154,450.00, par value, of the company's $1,000,000 capital stock.

The company is in excellent repute concerning its general treatment of loss claims.

It now writes rather a large volume of business in proportion to its capital and surplus. Its expenses of operation are about the average, and its average loss ratio about normal.

Its investments are of good character. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The real estate consists of the company's Home Office at the corner of Elm and Church streets, New Haven, carried at $210,000, and building for western department offices at Rockford, Ill., carried at $96,000; also two other buildings in New Haven, carried at $40,000 and $36,000.

The mortgage loans are mainly upon improved New Haven property and are well secured.

SERVICE FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Columbia, S. C.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated under the laws of South Carolina in March, 1921, licensed in April, 1921, and began business at the same time. The authorized capital is $100,000, of which $99,900 was subscribed and $21,000 paid in. The shares were sold at par, and there were no organization expenses, which is very commendable. The promotion was handled by the officers of the company only.

It will write fire insurance.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The officers of the company are all experienced fire insurance men. The president, Hon. W. A. McSwain, was formerly local and special agent for fire insurance companies, and was also insurance commissioner of the State of South Carolina. He is in high repute. The company plans to reinsure all of its business until the capital is all paid in, when small net lines will be retained.

J. E. McDavid, the vice-president, has been local and special agent for fire insurance companies, and Fred H. Gouth, the secretary-treasurer, was local agent for fire insurance companies and also has had home office experience.

OFFICERS.—President, W. A. McSwain; vice-president, J. E. McDavid; secretary-treasurer, Fred H. Gouth.

The company did not respond to our requests for report as of December 31, 1921, showing its financial condition on that date and the results of its operations from the time of commencing business until the end of the year.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company began business June 11, 1910 with an authorized capital of $100,000. The stock was subscribed for at the rate of $20 per share, and $50,000 capital and $50,000 surplus had been paid in up to December 31, 1917. During 1918 the capital stock was increased to $200,000 by transferring $50,000 from the surplus and by selling $100,000 new stock at $150 per share, thus adding $100,000 additional to capital and $50,000 to surplus.

The par value of the stock is now $100 per share.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company was organized and is managed by Edwin G. Seibels, of Seibels, Bruce & Co., and manager of the Cotton Fire and Marine Underwriters, of New York, an agency or pool of companies for writing cotton insurance. This firm is in excellent repute and acts as managers for the southern States for several companies. Mr. Seibels receives a commission on business written, and also a small contingent on profits.

On December 31, 1921, the directors owned $32,650 of the capital stock of $200,000.

During 1918, 1919 and 1920 the business increased considerably. In 1921 the premium volume decreased considerably but is still large compared to the net resources of the company. The company made a substantial underwriting profit in the first named year, but lost from underwriting in 1919 and 1920, this, however, being more than offset by increase in reserve for unearned premiums. The expense of management is moderate and the loss ratio has been low. In 1921 the loss ratio was high, and there was a moderate underwriting loss.

The company's general loss paying reputation is excellent.

The securities owned consist principally of U. S. Liberty Bonds.

The mortgages are upon property valued at over twice the amount loaned.

AFFILIATIONS.—S. C. Rating and Inspection Bureau.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—Fire, hail, sprinkler leakage, explosion, and tornado insurance.

TERRITORY.—The company is licensed in Ark., Colo., Del., Ill., Ind., Iowa, La., Mich., Mont., Nev., N. H., N. J., N. Y., N. C., Ohio, Pa., S. C, Texas, Utah and W. Va.

It confines its operations entirely to South Carolina for direct business, but will write reinsurance in the other States in which it is licensed.

DIVIDENDS.—The company has paid dividends as follows: 1916, $3,000, including $1,501 carried over from 1915; 1917, $4,500, including $1,500, carried over from 1916; 1918, $1,500; 1919, $12,000; 1920 and 1921, $14,000.

OFFICERS.—President, Edwin G. Seibels; vice-president, August Kohn; treasurer, G. M. Berry; secretary, John J. Seibels; assistant secretary, Chas. J. Bruce; counsel, W. D. Melton.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated and licensed under the laws of California, March 27, 1919, and began business in April, 1919.

The authorized capital is $100,000, all of which has been subscribed and paid in. Shares, of par value of $100, were sold at $120 per share, which gave $20,000 for surplus account. Stockholders contributed $6,027.55 additional, so that the company started with a total surplus of $26,027.55. In 1921 the stockholders contributed $15,800 additional funds to surplus. The company states that there was no expense of organization, as J. L. Blodgett, the organizer, paid all promotion costs out of his personal resources. He is said to own all of the stock with exception of a few shares held by other officers.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is under the control of J. L. Blodgett, president, who has had a very limited insurance experience, but has been engaged for thirty-five years in business.

The company is to young to have established a record. In 1921 the losses were very low, and the expenses very high. The unearned premium reserve appears small compared to annual premiums written, if the policies are written for a year or longer term.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—Automobile, fire, theft, collision and property damage.

TERRITORY.—It is licensed in California.

OFFICERS.—President, J. L. Blodgett; vice-president, Charles E. Irwin; secretary, Minnie Inches; treasurer, J. L. Bowman.

The underwriting of the company will be in charge of Charles H. Turner, who was for twenty-one years manager of the Cook County Department of the Continental Insurance Company of New York, and prior to that time was for five years state agent for Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company, Hartford, Conn. Mr. Turner also advises that he was for five years state agent in Iowa for the Insurance Company of North America, Philadelphia. He is assisted in the underwriting by Louis M. GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was organized under the laws of Connecticut, July 6, 1905, with $500,000 authorized capital, and began business in March, 1910, with all its capital and $500,000 surplus paid in. The par value of the company's stock is $50 a share.

In November, 1913, its stockholders voted to increase the capital from $500,000 to $1,000,000. During 1914, $250,000 capital and $125,000 surplus were paid in.

During the latter part of 1917 the capital was reduced to $500,000, transferring $250,000 to surplus account, making a total contributed to surplus of $875,000.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company was organized and is managed by M. Lewin Hewes, its president, who has had long experience in the insurance business.

The company is backed by substantial interests. The directors owned at the end of 1921, $27,250, par value, of the capital stock then outstanding.

The expenses have been high, but the average loss ratio is about normal.

The underwriting operations until 1918 showed a loss each year, due partly to the company's increasing volume of business and corresponding increase in unearned premium liability. In 1919 the company's loss ratio was favorable, and it made an underwriting profit. In 1920 it made a good underwriting profit, and in 1921 a moderate underwriting loss. The volume of business transacted is conservative.

Its investments are of high grade. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

It is in excellent repute in the matter of loss settlements.

GENERAL REVIEW.

The company is owned by the London and Lancashire Fire Insurance Company, Ltd., of Liverpool, England, which company directs its operations and guarantees its policies. It entered the United States in 1888.

HOME OFFICE RESOURCES.— All assets of the company are liable for the payment of losses incurred here. The Home Office balance sheet, which includes all its assets and liabilities, showed the following as of December 31, 1920: Total admitted assets, $7,889,940; capital paid in, $500,000; surplus $3,607,750. (An arbitrary rate of exchange has been used; see note, page vii.)

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The company is in excellent repute and is well and conservatively managed. The underwriting operations of the United States Branch have been very profitable.

The expenses are exceedingly low. The loss ratio in 1919 was very low and it made the large gain from underwriting of $829,391.24, the decrease in surplus arising because of large remittances to the Home Office. GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated under the laws of New York in November, 1896, with an authorized capital of $200,000 (par value of shares $100), and began business in April, 1897. In July, 1915, the capital was increased to $400,000 by a stock dividend. During 1920 the capital was increased to $500,000 and $400,000 was contributed to surplus account.

It was formerly the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company of New York, the present title being adopted during 1918.

The company was organized and is controlled by the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company, Ltd., of Liverpool, England.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is under the same management as the United States Branch of the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company, Ltd., of Liverpool, England, and is in excellent standing. The fact of its being so closely associated with that company adds to its standing.

On December 31, 1921, the directors owned $5,500 par value of its capital stock of $500,000.

The company's underwriting operations until recently were profitable, and the expense of managment and loss ratios low. In 1919 and 1920 the loss ratio was low, but it suffered a loss from underwriting on account of a considerable increase in business transacted with a corresponding increase in the unearned premium reserve. In 1921, operating under a reduced income which tended to increase the expense ratio, and with losses above normal, there was a substantial underwriting loss. Its loss paying record is excellent.

Its investments are of excellent character. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

General Review.

History.— This company was incorporated under the laws of Alabama with $150,000 authorized capital, par value of shares $100 each. It began business in February, 1866, with $151,535 capital, which was later increased to $150,000, as authorized.

Management and Reputation.— The company is well managed and is in good repute. It writes only a small volume of business, including a small amount of Mississippi River inland marine business. On December 31, 1921, its directors owned $41,600, par value, of its $150,000 capital stock.

Its loss paying record is excellent. Its average loss ratio is moderate and its expense ratio is about normal, considering the small volume of business transacted. In 1921 the expense ratio was above normal. If the commission income was deducted from the underwriting expenses the underwriting expenses would be 52.0% on the written basis and 47.9% on the earned basis.

Its investments are of good character. The mortgage loans are upon improved property in Mobile and vicinity worth over three times the amount loaned.

Affiliation.— Southeastern Underwriters Association.

Kinds of Insurance Written.— Fire and marine insurance.

Territory.— It is licensed in Alabama only.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated under the laws of New York with $200,000 authorized capital, and began business January 31, 1851. It has been under the present control and management since 1902. In December, 1908, its capital was increased from $200,000 to $400,000, and $100,000 added to the surplus by the issuance of additional stock at $150. The par value of the stock is $100 per share.

The Lumber Insurance Company, of New York, was merged with this company in April 1916, and the capital was thereby increased to $700,000. Through this merger $80,238.94 was added to surplus.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is controlled by persons closely allied with the management. On December 31, 1921, its directors owned $366,400, par value, of the company's $700,000 capital stock.

It writes a full volume of business in proportion to its capital and surplus.

For some years its underwriting operations were unprofitable, but in 1919 it made a gain from underwriting of $148,646,66. In 1920 it had an underwriting loss of $67,184.94, which was accounted for by a large increase in unearned premiums.

J. S. Frelinghuysen, the president, is also general agent for the Industrial Fire Insurance Company, of Akron, Ohio, and a large stockholder of the Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania. He issues through his general agency policies of the latter company entitled "Insurance Underwriters Agency."

The company's expense ratio has been moderate, and for several years has been low. Its loss ratio in recent years has been about normal, but in 1921, it was high, which contributed to a moderate underwriting loss in that year.

The company is in good repute concerning its general treatment of loss claimants.

The bonds and stocks owned are of good character. The security valuations are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was organized in July, 1914, as the Capital Live Stock Insurance Company, under a mutual charter, to write insurance on live stock. March 24, 1917, it reincorporated as a stock company with $200,000 authorized capital fully paid in. The authorized capital was later increased to $300,000, and on December 31, 1920, it had $239,700 paid-in capital, and $101,672.91 net surplus. It operated in writing those lines at a heavy underwriting loss. The par value of the shares is $100.

On January 25, 1921, the stockholders of the Capital Live Stock Insurance Company of Topeka, Kansas, voted to change its charter to that of a fire insurance company and to change the name of the company from the Capital Live Stock Insurance Co. to The Sunflower Fire Insurance Co.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The management is the same as the Capital Live Stock Insurance Company, which this company succeeded. Isaac W. Jones, a director, is secretary of this company, and also of The Preferred Risk Fire Insurance Company, of Topeka, Kansas. Mr. Jones is the underwriter for both of these companies.

The company has not operated long enough as a fire insurance company to have established records. In 1921 its fire loss ratio was low, but it paid a considerable amount of losses on live stock liability still outstanding. The expense ratio was high.

On December 31, 1921, the directors owned $15,700 par value of the capital stock of $239,700.

TERRITORY.— It is licensed in Colo., Ill., Iowa, Kan., Mich., Ohio, Pa., Texas.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—Fire, tornado, lightning cyclone, windstorm, registered mail, earthquake, hail, frost or snow, bombardment, invasion, insurrection, riot, civil war commotion, military or usurped power, explosion, use and occupancy, sprinkler leakage, marine and inland, automobile, transportation, collision, legal liability, burglary or theft.

SUPERIOR FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY — Continued.

General Review.

History.— This company began business November 17, 1871, as the Humboldt Fire Insurance Company, with $100,000 paid-in capital. The present title was adopted during 1918.

In 1903 its capital was increased from $100,000 to $200,000, and $50,000 additional surplus was paid in. In December, 1910, the Allegheny Fire Insurance Company of Pittsburgh was merged with this company, the consolidation increasing the capital to $300,000.

In 1918, the authorized capital was increased from $300,000 to $500,000, and $100,000 of this increase was paid in, making the paid-up capital at the end of 1918, $400,000. The stock was sold at $62.50 per share, thus adding $25,000 to surplus account. During 1919 the remaining $100,000 was paid in, increasing the paid-up capital to $500,000, and $100,000 was contributed to surplus. On June 29, 1920, the Board of Directors authorized the sale of $100,000 additional capital at $90 per share, thus increasing the paid-up capital to $600,000, and contributing $80,000 to surplus.

In the latter part of 1921 this company secured control of The Western Insurance Company of Pittsburgh, Pa. The Western Insurance Company was organized in 1849, and on December 31, 1920, had paid-in capital of $300,000, and $68,334.45 net surplus. For some of the shares of the "Western" stock of the "Superior" was exchanged at two shares for three of the " Western," and other shares were purchased for cash. The paid-in capital of this company was increased to $700,000.

The authorized capital is $1,000,000.

The par value of the stock is $50 per share.

The company in 1919 entered the marine field, but ceased writing that class December 31, 1921.

Besides its own policies, this company issues and guarantees policies entitled "Allegheny Fire Underwriters," and as "Western Insurance Underwriters." It also guarantees, with the National-Ben Franklin, Allemannia and Republic insurance companies of Pittsburgh, policies under the title "Pittsburgh Underwriters," and with the Globe, United American and National Union insurance companies policies under the title, "Keystone Underwriters."

Management and Reputation.— The management is capable and the company bears a good reputation. The directors are substantial and reputable. The company's stock is fairly well distributed. The directors owned at the end of 1921, $141,200, par value, of the $700,000 capital stock then outstanding.

The company writes a full volume in proportion to capital and surplus. Its expense of operation has been high, but its loss ratio is below the average. In 1915, 1916 and 1917, respectively, the company made a small gain on its underwriting. An underwriting loss in 1918 was due to the increase in the company's business, and the corresponding increase in the unearned premium liability. In 1919 it gained $35,100.22 from underwriting operations. In 1920 it had a favorable loss ratio and made a small underwriting profit, and in 1921 broke about even on its underwriting.

The company is in excellent repute concerning its general treatment of loss claimants.

Its investments are of good character. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The principal items of real estate are the company's office building, valued at $60,000, and an undivided 1/5 interest, valued at $42,244.44, in the brick and steel office building situated N. W. corner Wood and Water Streets, Pittsburgh, Pa. The mortgages are mainly small loans on dwellings in Pittsburgh and its surburbs and are well secured.

Its loss paying reputation is excellent.

The United States manager is Frank H. Cauty, New York, who is in excellent repute. He is also manager of the United States branches of the North China and Union Marine Insurance Companies, and the marine departments of the Phoenix of London, the Liverpool and London and Globe, and the Columbia Insurance Company of Jersey City.

The securities owned are high grade.

The expenses of the United States Branch have been moderate, and the average loss ratio about normal. In 1920 both these items were somewhat above normal. In 1921 the loss ratio was high, and owing to a greatly reduced volume the expense ratio again increased considerably.

TOLEDO FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY,

434 Adams Street, Sandusky, O.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was chartered in 1848 with $100,000 authorized capital. Early in 1902 the present owners secured control and its headquarters were removed from Toledo to Sandusky.

On December 31, 1911, all of the outstanding liability of the company was reinsured in the "Federal Underwriters" (Franklin and Potomac Insurance Companies of Washington, D. C.)

In July, 1912, its directors voted to increase the capital of the company from $100,000 to $150,000, and the additional capital and $52,247.50 surplus were paid in during 1912 and 1913. It transacted very little business in 1912. During 1914 the capital was reduced to $100,000.

On May 15, 1915, it reinsured all of its outstanding business in the Federal Union Fire Insurance Company of Chicago, Illinois, and remained inoperative until August, 1919, when it resumed writing.

It now has an authorized capital of $250,000, of which $100,000 is subscribed and paid in.

The par value of the stock is $50 per share.

The company did not furnish us with a statement showing its condition December 31, 1920, but in response to telegraphic inquiry the Company telegraphed us under date of March 10, 1921, as follows: "Toledo Fire and Marine Insurance Company is underwriting in a limited way the same as heretofore and marking time until conditions are more favorable for increase in its capital with the corresponding resumption of larger field of activity." In response to requests for statement and information as of December 31, 1921, the Company furnished the statement below and advised that it "Will file no formal statement as its activities will continue only as a holding company until an increase of its capital and surplus is possible." Also that its remaining risks are being carried to expiration.

Not having received full statements and information covering the two past years the general report herein is based upon information previously furnished to us.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The stock of the company is closely held, the officers and directors being in control.

During the years prior to reinsuring its outstanding liability in the Federal Union in 1915, the expense of operation had been moderate, but its losses had been heavy.

During the short time of its resumed operations during 1919 it wrote a very small volume of business at a very moderate expense.

KIND OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—It writes fire insurance only.

TERRITORY.—The company is not licensed by the Ohio Insurance Department, nor in any other State, so far as we know. It has been writting "surplus lines" through the Lumber Insurers General Agency, 43 Cedar street, New York City.

TRADERS AND GENERAL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION, LTD.,

London, England.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was established in 1907, and at the end of 1920 it had a subscribed capital of £500,000 ($2,500,000), of which £125,000 ($625,000) was paid up.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—It is not regularly licensed in the United States, but is writing fire insurance in this country through the O'Brien Insurance Agency, 112 W. Adams street, Chicago, Illinois, which is in good repute.

It is authorized to transact at home all classes of insurance except life and bond investment. The present board of directors took charge early in 1909, and at the close of 1916 the well-known firm of brokers, Messrs. Muir Beddall & Co., Ltd., who have always been closely interested in the company, were appointed governing directors.

Since the company is not regularly authorized to do business in this country, in case of a dispute a law suit would have to be brought at its home. The United States manager advises us that $25,000 is maintained on deposit in this country for payment of losses.

We have been furnished with the following extracts from the Home Office statement of the company, as of December 31, 1920:

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was incorporated under the laws of Minnesota July 30, 1910, and began business April 10, 1913, with $500,000 authorized capital, all paid in, and $500,000 surplus. Its stock, par value $10, was sold at $20 per share, and of the total $1,000,000 capital and surplus collected from stockholders, $207,007.77 was used for organization expenses.

Prior to beginning business this company purchased control of the Middlewest Fire Insurance Company, Valley City, N. D., and the business of that company was merged with this company. It later purchased control of the United American Fire Insurance Company of Milwaukee, which company was merged with this company during 1913.

In February, 1921, interests identified with the Hartford Fire Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn., purchased a controlling interest in the stock of this company. The Hartford Fire Insurance Company is one of the largest of the American companies.

This company issues and guarantees policies entitled "Middlewest Fire Underwriters Agency" and "United American Underwriters Agency."

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The underwriting control is now practically the same as the Hartford Fire Insurance, a large company in excellent repute.

On December 31, 1921, the directors owned $26,900, par value, of the capital stock then outstanding.

The company's average expense ratio is moderate. Its average fire loss ratio is low, but its hail loss ratio has been very high. In 1921 it reinsured all its hail liability. It wrote a considerably reduced income, and, as a result, had high loss and expense ratios to premiums written, but made an underwriting profit.

Its investments are of good character. The security valuations in this statement are those based upon actual market values as of December 31, 1921.

The mortgage loans are secured by farm and city property principally in the States of Minn. and N. D., and are apparently well secured.

The company's loss paying reputation is excellent.

AFFILIATIONS.— Western Union, Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific, National Automobile Underwriters Conference, Western Automobile Underwriters Conference.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was organized in 1887 with $10,000 paid-in capital. It was known as the Fire Underwriters' Association up to early in 1907, when its name was changed to the above, and the capital increased from $10,000 to $35,000. In 1908 the capital was increased to $50,000 and in 1909 to $100,000. Early in 1911 it was again increased to $200,000, of which $20,000 is common stock and $180,000 preferred.

The par value of the stock is $100 per share.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is practically owned by officers of the Capital Fire Insurance Company of Concord. The president owns personally almost all of the outstanding common stock.

On December 31, 1921 the directors owned $17,300 of its capital stock of $200,000.

It writes a small and conservative volume of business, and its underwriting operations have been profitable. In 1918, its loss and expense ratios were high, and its operations resulted in an underwriting loss that year, but in 1919 it returned to a low loss ratio. In past years its loss ratio has been low and the expense not excessive considering the small volume written.

The December 31, 1920, statement shows a minus item for premiums. The company advised us that this was caused by the reinsurance premiums being more than the amount written, the greater part of its business being reinsured in January, 1920. In 1921 its loss ratio was very low on the small volume retained, but the expense ratio by reason of the small volume is naturally very high.

The company's loss paying reputation is excellent.

The real estate owned is a lot with a new dwelling erected thereon, carried at the market value.

The collateral loans appear to be well secured.

The securities owned are of good quality. The security valuations shown in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

KIND OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—Fire.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was established in 1864, and its authorized capital is 12,000,000 pesetas, all of which has been paid in. It entered the United States in 1910 to write fire reinsurance.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is in excellent repute at its home, and in this country. Fester, Fothergill & Hartung, its United States managers, are also United States managers for the Warsaw Fire Insurance Company of Warsaw, Russia; Nippon Fire Insurance Company, Tokyo, Japan; Alpha General Insurance Company of Calcutta, India; the Northern Insurance Company of Moscow, and the European General Insurance Company, Ltd., of London, Eng., all of which are writing reinsurance in the United States.

The United States Branch writes a very large volume of business in proportion to its net cash resources in this country. The company states, however, that its liability in the United States is widely scattered, its acceptance being usually less than the net retention of the ceding company.

The Home Office balance sheet as of December 31, 1920 showed: Total assets, $24,478,230.63; capital paid in, $2,400,000; surplus, $2,337,417.04. (An arbitrary rate of exchange has been used; see note, page vii.)

The expenses of the United States Branch have been moderate, and the average loss ratio is normal. In 1920 the company had an underwriting loss of $378,650.21, which was in part accounted for by a largely increased unearned premium reserve. In 1921 the expense ratio was low, the loss ratio above normal, and the company made a fair underwriting profit.

The investments are of good character. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

UNITED STATES MANAGER.—Fester, Fothergill & Hartung, 110 William street, New York.

UNITED STATES TRUSTEE.—Bankers Trust Company, New York.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—Life, fire and accident insurance.

In the United States it writes fire, automobile, sprinkler leakage, explosion, war risk and tornado reinsurance.

TERRITORY.—It operates in Spain, France, Portugal, Switzerland, Holland, Italy and the United States.

In the United States it is licensed in Ark., Colo., Ill., Iowa, La., Me., Mass., Mich., Mont., Nev., N. H., N. J., N. Y., N. C., Ohio, Pa., Texas and W. Va.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was originally established in 1714. Its authorized capital is £450,000, all subscribed and £50,000 paid-in. It entered the United States in 1881.

In July, 1907, control of the company was purchased by the Commercial Union Assurance Company, Limited, of London, Eng., one of the strongest companies in the world, and the old company was discontinued, being succeeded by a new company of the same name, which was incorporated July 30, 1907. The new company reinsured the business of the old company and absorbed all of its assets.

HOME OFFICE RESOURCES.—All assets of the company are liable for the payment of losses incurred here. The Home Office balance sheet, which includes all its assets and liabilities, showed the following as of December 31, 1921: Assets, $11,889,004; capital paid in, $250,000; investment reserve and general contingency fund, $536,150; fire insurance fund, $5,900,960; balance of profit and loss account, $958,450. (An arbitrary rate of exchange has been used; see note, page vii.)

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is under the same management at home and in the United States as the Commercial Union Assurance Company, Ltd., of London, England, a large and reputable institution.

The volume of business written is moderate. The losses and expense have been moderate, and the underwriting operations as a whole have been very profitable. In 1921 the losses and expenses were above normal, and there was a substantial underwriting loss.

The company's investment are of high grade, at both its United States and Canadian Branches. The security valuations in the United States Branch statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

Is loss paying reputation is excellent.

The authorized capital has been increased to $300,000, and during 1920 additional capital of $17,700 was paid in, and $26,450 contributed to surplus. GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was organized, licensed and commenced business in February, 1913, under the title Master Builders Liability Insurance Company, with $500,000 authorized capital, all of which had been subscribed and paid in.

The present management purchased the entire stock in 1917.

The name was changed to Union Casualty Company in February, 1918, and in 1920 it was again changed, adopting the title above.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company has substantial backing and is under experienced management.

The officers of the company are as follows:

S. D. Works, president, formerly Insurance Commissioner for the State of Minnesota.

Col. Dan McLean, first vice-president.

J. O. Melin, second vice-president, formerly Chief Examiner Minnesota State Insurance Department (12 years).

Geo. J. Deutz., secretary-treasurer.

R. J. Coolidge, in charge of the fire department at the company's Home Office, formerly underwriter and field man for the Springfield Fire and Marine (8 years).

Gordon Bell, provincial manager for Saskatchewan, office in Saskatoon, formerly underwriter and manager for the Canada National Fire Insurance Company. This company purchased the Canada National in 1918, retaining Mr. Bell in its employ.

R. L. Nicholson, provincial manager for Alberta, with office at Calgary, formerly Deputy Superintendent of Insurance for a number of years for the Province of Alberta.

It is writing a large volume of business in proportion to its net resources.

In 1919, 1920 and 1921 the loss ratio was very low, but the expense ratio was high, due, we are advised, to the cost of establishing agents in additional territory.

The item of "Other admitted assets" in the statement, which is a considerable proportion of the assets, is not explained showing what values go to make up this item, so that we are unable to comment upon the standard of investments.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—It writes fire, automobile bonding, health and accident insurance.

TERRITORY.—It is licensed in the Provinces of Alberta, Manitoba, Ontario, Saskatchewan, British Columbia and Nova Scotia.

UNION HISPANO FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY

31 South William Street, New York.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated under the laws of New York State, January 5, 1922, and received its license from the New York State Insurance Department, February 10, 1922. The authorized and paid in capital is $400,000 and $250,000 was paid in to surplus. The par value of the shares is $100.

This company was organized by, and is under the control of interests identified with the Union Hispano Americana de Seguros of Havana, Cuba. That company was organized in 1916, with $2,000.000 paid in capital and entered the United States to write marine and fire reinsurance in October 1917.

The New York State Company has taken over, by contract approved by the New York Insurance Department on February 14, 1922, the American business of the Cuban company as of January 1, 1922 and the United States business of the Cuban Company will be liquidated. As the affairs of the United States Branch of the Cuban Company are liquidated, additional funds will be paid in to the surplus of the New York State Company. It is expected that about $200,000 additional funds will be received from this source.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The president of this company, Mr. W. D. Despard, was formerly U. S. Manager of the Union Hispano Americana de Seguros. He bears an excellent reputation and has had a long experience in the marine insurance business. The vice-presidents, Francisco Tamames and Luis A. Moreno, are vice-president and director general respectively of the Union Hispano American de Seguros of Cuba. The secretary, William Otis Badger, Jr., is a leading New York City attorney specializing in insurance law and he has had a wide experience in matters pertaining to the insurance business.

The company has not operated long enough to have established a loss paying record, but the United States Branch of the Cuban Company, which is operated and managed by the same interests, was in good repute as to treatment of loss claimants.

The securities held by the company are of excellent character and valued at market quotations.

UNION INSURANCE COMPANY OF INDIANA—Continued.

General Review.

History.—The charter under which this company operates was granted by the Indiana Legislature in 1849 to the Ohio Insurance Company, New Albany, Indiana, which did business for a while, but was later liquidated. In 1910 the name was changed to the Union Insurance Company, of Indiana.

During 1918 the charter of the company was secured by H. H. Woodsmall and associates, who reorganized the company with an authorized capital of $200,000, all of which has been paid in. The stock, par value $100 per share, was sold at $135 per share, thus contributing $70,000 to surplus account.

Mr. Woodsmall advised us that there were no promotion expenses of any kind. The new company took up and cancelled $200,000 of the stock which was in the name of the Ohio Insurance Company, and paid two judgments standing against the company.

Under the provisions of the special charter by which this company operates it is not required to submit statements to the Insurance Department of the State of Indiana, as that body has no supervision over it, but as a matter of courtesy statements are submitted.

Management and Reputation.—The reorganized company under the present management began business in January, 1919, so has been in operation too short a time to have fully established records.

The fire branch is in charge of W. W. Cleary, who has had many years experience as an executive special agent. H. H. Woodsmall, president, is in charge of the casualty underwriting.

The treasurer of the company is Eben H. Wolcott, president of the State Savings & Trust Company, which has the local fire agency of this company.

In 1919 it wrote a conservative volume of business and had a very moderate expense. In 1920 the volume and unearned premiums were considerably increased, and the company had an underwriting loss of $3,401.65, which was not disproportionate. The loss ratio was above the average, but the expense ratio low. In 1921 the expense ratio was low, but the loss ratio high and there was a moderate underwriting loss.

The unearned premium liability includes 50% of the fire and tornado premiums written ($29,240.88, against premiums $58,497.77), and an item of $67,901.33 for lines other than those mentioned in which the premiums were, in 1921, $314,812.95; ($80,723.03 of this ocean marine upon which the unearned premiums would be comparatively small).

The president is H. H. Woodsmall, president of H. H. Woodsmall & Company, Inc., which acts as general agent for the casualty branch of this company for the State of Indiana. It also acts as general agent of the Republic Casualty Insurance Company, of Pittsburgh, and the American Automobile Insurance Company, of St. Louis.

It has a good loss paying reputation.

The securities owned are of good character, and the valuations are at local market quotations.

Affiliations.—Western Insurance Bureau.

Kinds of Insurance Written.—Fire, marine, public liability, plate glass, automobile fire and theft, liability, collision and property damage, teams liability, and property damage insurance.

Territory.—The company is licensed in Indiana and Mississippi.

Officers.—President H. H. Woodsmall; vice-president, C. E. Henderson; treasurer, Wm. M. Fogarty; assistant secretaries, Fred D. Doeppers, James T. Healey and George W. Mahoney; assistant treasurer, J. T. McNary.

General Review.

History.— This company was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York on August 14, 1919, and was licensed and began business September 11, 1920, with an authorized, subscribed and paid-in capital of $500,000 and a surplus of like amount. Shares have a par value of $100 each and the expense of organization was less than 5% of funds collected.

Management and Reputation.— T. B. Boss, second vice-president of this company, is identified with the Carl F. Sturhahn interests, which organized the Fire Reassurance Company of New York, a fire reinsurance company licensed by the State of New York Insurance Department on May 11, 1920. He is secretary of the Fire Reassurance Company of New York and secretary and treasurer of the Rossia Insurance Company of America.

The executive offices of this company are in New York, but the underwriting will be done at Hartford, Conn., in conjunction with that of the Fire Reassurance Company of New York and the Rossia Insurance Company of America.

On December 31, 1921, the directors owned $119,200 of the par value of its capital stock of $500,000.

In the first year of its operations the losses were about normal and the expense ratio high. In its second year the loss ratio was high and its expenses moderate. While a substantial amount has been set up as unearned premiums, somewhat more than a normal rate of underwriting loss was sustained.

Officers.— President, Bertram H. Fancher; first vice-president and secretary, Albert T. Tamblyn; assistant secretary, Esther C. Andrews; second vice-president, Thomas B. Boss; treasurer, James G. Blaine, Jr.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated under the laws of the State of Michigan, June 16, 1919, and was licensed November 5, 1919. It was originally organized as an inter-insurance exchange, which was established in February, 1916, and began business in May, 1916, under the title of the United Automobile Exchange, Grand Rapids, Mich. It started, as a stock company, with a capital of $100,000, and a cash surplus of $11,646.96. The shares have a par value of $10 each. They were sold at prices of $10, $11.25, $12.50 and $15 per share to accumulate this surplus. Details regarding the amounts sold at these various prices were not furnished us, and, therefore, no estimate can be made of cost of promotion.

We were informed that it did not take over the business of the United Automobile Insurance Exchange, but that the business of the Exchange was being continued in regular form to the expiration of its contracts and its complete liquidation.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The management is practically the same as the former management of the United Automobile Exchange. The stock is rather closely held. On December 31, 1921, the directors owned $57,250 of the capital stock of $100,000.

It is authorized to write fire, theft, property damage, liability and collision insurance upon automobiles in one policy. The premiums written, and losses paid, shown in this report, included all the business written, and we have not received statement showing class segregation of these items.

In 1920 and 1921 the losses were about normal, and the expenses not excessive considering the age of the company.

It has not operated long to have established records, but no complaints have reached us as to its treatment of loss claimants.

General Review.

History.—This company was incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania in 1860, with $100,000 authorized capital. It began business April 1, 1861, with $100,000 capital paid in. This was later increased to $300,000. During 1906 its capital was increased from $300,000 to $400,000 and $100,000 additional surplus was paid in.

The company lost $330,308 net in the conflagration at Chelsea, Mass., on April 12, 1908, and to meet these losses it was found necessary to reduce the capital from $400,000 to $200,000, transferring $200,000 to surplus account, and to reinsure part of its outstanding liability. On August 14, 1908, the company reinsured all its remaining liability, outside of the State of Pennsylvania, in the Phenix Insurance Company of Brooklyn, N. Y.

During 1911 its capital stock was increased from $200,000 to $400,000 and $100,000 additional surplus was paid in by the issuance of 20,000 additional shares at $15 per share, par value $10. In 1921 the stockholders contributed $400.000 additional funds to the surplus.

On December 9, 1920, a majority interest in the capital stock of this company was transferred to the London Guarantee and Accident Insurance Company of London, England, and the control passed to that company. The latter company maintains a United States branch writing a general casualty business, and this company will be operated in conjunction with the controlling company.

Management and Reputation.—The company is under the same management as the parent company, the London Guarantee and Accident Insurance Company, of London, England, which is admitted to the United States writing causalty lines. The fire insurance underwriting is in charge of the Secretary M. B. Yates, who has had many years insurance experience and was with the company under the former management.

The volume of business written is moderate in proportion to the company's net resources. The premium income increased considerably during 1918, and the unearned premium liability was correspondingly increased, resulting in an underwriting loss in that year. In 1919 its writings decreased but the unearned premium reserve increased, $46,823.77. It suffered a small underwriting loss and the surplus was decreased $17,212.52. In 1920 it had an underwriting loss of $66,738.13, and the surplus decreased $45,-649.03. In 1921 the losses and expenses were considerably above normal, and there was a substantial underwriting loss.

The company is in excellent repute concerning its general treatment of loss claims.

Its investments are of good character. The security valuatione in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The principal item of real estate owned is a building at 419 Walnut street, carried at $95,000.

The mortgage loans are upon improved property in Pa., Ill., N. Y. and N. J., valued about twice the amount loaned.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This corporation began business in December, 1872, as a "Lloyds" organization and operated as such until July 1, 1918, when it was changed to a stock company. As a "Lloyds," it had one hundred subscribers, all men of large resources, each having deposited $1,000 in cash, making a capital of $100,000.

In 1918, the subscribers added $300,000 to the capital, making that item $400,000. The stock company took over all of the "Lloyds," and continues under the same management.

At a meeting of stockholders July 22, 1921, the capital was increased to $800,000, and the additional $400,000 was paid in during 1921 at par. The company elected to exercise its privilege of writing fire insurance, having previously confined its operations to marine and automobile classes.

It conducts an agency in London, England.

MANAGEMENT.—This institution is under the management of Herbert Appleton and Douglas F. Cox, under the firm name of Appleton and Cox, Inc., a very substantial and reputable firm of marine underwriters.

The underwriting in the fire insurance department is in charge of Crum and Forster, of New York, a substantial and reputable firm, which acts as general agents for the North River, Richmond, and United States Fire Insurance Companies of New York, and the Potomic Fire Insurance Company of Washington, D. C.

It has very substantial backing and in every respect enjoys an excellent reputation. On December 31, 1921 the directors owned $186,000 par value of its capital stock of $800,000.

The loss ratio was high in 1919 and 1920, and in 1920 the company had a heavy underwriting loss. In 1921, operating on a reduced income the losses and expenses were above normal, and there was a substantial underwriting loss.

If reinsurance in companies not entered in New York was taken into account the surplus would be increased $302,872.19.

The securities owned are of excellent character. The security valuations shown in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—Marine, fire, tornado, riot and civil commotion, automobile, tourists' baggage and registered mail insurance.

AFFILIATIONS.—Eastern Automobile Underwriters Conference, National Automobile Underwriters Conference, New England Automobile Underwriters Conference, Pacific Coast Automobile Underwriters Conference, Southern Automobile Underwriters Conference, Western Automobile Underwriters Conference.

D., Ohio, Okla., Ore., Pa., R. I., S. C., Tenn., Tex., Wash., W. Va., Wyo. and Wis. It also operates in Canada and in Cuba.

It was licensed to begin business November 27, 1918, with a paid-in capital of $100,000 and a surplus of $25,000. During 1919 the paid-in capital was increased to $200,000, and $60,920 was paid into surplus account. In 1921 the capital was reduced to $100,000, by return to the stockholders $70,000 par value of its stock and transferring $30,000 to the surplus.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—Messrs. O'Keeffe & Lynch, 45 John street, New York City, have charge of the marine underwriting for the City of New York Insurance Company. GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was established in 1838. Its authorized and subscribed capital is 5,000,000 francs, of which 1,250,000 francs has been paid in. In March, 1913, it regularly entered the United States to write fire insurance.

HOME OFFICE RESOURCES.—All assets of the company are liable for the payment of losses incurred here. We therefore present the following information from the Home Office balance sheet, the latest available, which includes all its assets and liabilities: Total assets, December 31, 1918, $8,784,342; capital paid in, $240,385; surplus, $1,063,149. (An arbitrary rate of exchange has been used; see note, page vii.)

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is in excellent standing at its home and in this country.

The managers of the United States Branch are in excellent standing, and are also United States managers for the Eagle, Star and British Dominions Insurance Co., Ltd., of London, Eng., and the General Fire Assurance Company of Paris, France. The expense of management of the United States Branch is moderate and its average loss ratio until 1921 was normal.

It writes a large volume of business in proporation to the net resources of this branch.

The premium income increased very greatly in the last several years, until 1921, the reserve for unearned premiums increasing proportionately and contributing to underwriting losses in those years, except that in 1919 it wrote about the the same volume of business as in 1918 and with a low loss ratio it made the large gain from underwriting of $264,031.04. In 1921 the loss ratio was high, but the expense ratio very favorable on a considerably reduced volume, and there was a small underwriting loss.

The securities owned are high grade. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The company's loss paying record is excellent under all conditions.

AFFILIATIONS.—Eastern Union, Western Union, Southeastern Underwriters Association, Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific, Rocky Mountain Underwriters Association.

UNITED STATES MANAGERS.—Fred S. James & Company, 123 William street, New York.

UNITED STATES TRUSTEE.—Guaranty Trust Company, New York.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—Fire insurance direct and reinsurance. In the United States it writes fire, motor vehicle, tornado, sprinkler leakage, explosion and flood insurance.

managed and has excellent backing. The amount of stock owned by its directors on December 31, 1921, was $37,100.

It writes a conservative volume of business. Its management expenses have been about the average. Its average loss ratio is low. Its volume very greatly increased in 1920, and the unearned premiums increased accordingly, accounting very largely for the underwriting loss of $193,307.83. The company greatly reduced its writings in 1921, with high loss and expense ratios to premiums written, but with a very low expense ratio on the earned basis, showing a substantial underwriting profit.

It will be noted that the company has included in its liabilities an item of $44,321.70, which it advises us represents amount due other companies on account of cancellation of a large volume of unsatisfactory reinsurance being ceded, new and more satisfactory treaties having been made.

The company is in excellent repute concerning its treatment of loss claimants.

Its investments are high grade. The securities are valued at the actual market values as of December 31, 1921.

The real estate consists of a two-story brick building on Main street, Salt Lake City, at present occupied by the company and 110 x 157 feet purchased jointly with the Beneficial Life Insurance Company, on which they expect to erect their Home Office, and a small item being a farm in Idaho taken over under foreclosure.

Its mortgage loans are mostly for small amounts, and are first liens upon improved property, nearly all located in Utah and Idaho, valued at about three times the amount loaned.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania August 20, 1919, and licensed on August 23, 1919, commencing business January 1, 1920, with an authorized, subscribed and paid-in capital of $500,000 and a surplus of like amount. Shares, par value $50 each, were sold at $100 to provide the surplus. There was no expense of promotion, which is commendable.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company was organized by the same interests that control the Fire Association of Philadelphia, Pa., which is a large and well established company, and the officers of the Victory Insurance Company are the same as those of the Fire Association, so that it will have the benefit of powerful backing. It has the same underwriting organization as the Fire Association, which should be conducive to sound development.

The directors owned as of December 31, 1920, $55,750, par value, of the capital stock.

In the first year of the company's operations, it wrote a full volume of business, resulting in a large reserve item, and an underwriting loss to premiums earned of 59.4%, which operated to reduce the surplus. The expense ratio was low. In 1921, the second year of its operations, the losses and expenses were a little above normal, and although the premiums were less than the year before that, the unearned premiums increased considerably, and there was a substantial underwriting loss.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—Fire, marine automobile, tornado, sprinkler leakage, explosion, riot and civil commotion insurance.

TERRITORY.—It is licensed in every State of the Union except N. D. and Miss.

VIRGINIA FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY.—Continued.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was organized as the Virginia Marine Insurance Company and began business March 14, 1832, with $100,000 paid-in capital (par value of shares $100 each). It wrote only marine insurance up to 1840, when its capital was increased to $200,000. It then commenced writing fire insurance also. In 1852 its charter was amended, changing the title to Virginia Fire and Marine Insurance Company, and was again amended in 1858, changing the par value of the stock from $100 to $25 per share.

During the period from March, 1860, to January, 1867, the assets of the company were reduced to $62,000 on account of the Civil War, and in order to again commence business, each block of five shares of stock was reduced to one share and the capital was increased to $175,000 by cash subscriptions. In June, 1872, the capital was increased to $200,000 by cash subscriptions. On March 5, 1874, the capital was increased to $250,000 by cash subscriptions.

In 1920 the paid in capital was increased to $500,000 by a stock dividend of $250,000.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is very well managed and is making good progress. It has paid good dividends and has built up a substantial surplus. Its directors are men of high business standing.

The company's stock is fairly well distributed. Its directors owned at the end of 1921 $96,700, par value, of the $500,000 capital stock then outstanding.

Its loss paying record is excellent. The volume of business written is in proportion to the company's net resources.

Its expenses of operation have been low, but in 1919 were slightly above the average and its average loss ratio is about normal. In 1918 and 1919 the loss ratio was low, and the company made a good underwriting profit. In 1920 the loss and expense ratios were slightly higher, but the company made a fair underwriting profit. It also made a good underwriting profit in 1921.

Its investments are high grade. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The real estate consists of the company's Home Office on East Main street, and a warehouse in the rear thereof, and unimproved lots on North Seventh street, Richmond, Va.

The mortgage loans are first liens upon improved property in Richmond and vicinity.

AFFILIATIONS.—This company cooperates with the Eastern Union, Western Union and Southeastern Underwriters Association.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was incorporated under the laws of New York State and licensed October 1, 1918, with a paid-in capital of $200,000 and a surplus of $100,000. The par value of the stock is $100 per share.

In 1919 it increased its capital to $400,000, and $100,000 was added to surplus account. When it first began operations, and until April, 1919, it was handled in conjunction with the Importers and Exporters Insurance Company by the Trans-Marine Underwriting Agency, Inc., New York City. At the time stated these two companies separated interests and are now entirely independent of each other.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— On November 15, 1920, S. D. McComb & Co., who also act as marine managers for several other prominent companies, and are in high repute, became marine managers.

The interests which own the company and are represented on the directorate are prominent in the tobacco business. They are men of wealth and high business standing.

The management of the fire branch was for a time in charge of the officers of the National Liberty Insurance Company of America, of New York, a large and successful American company, but in 1921 that contract was discontinued and the business accepted under it was reinsured in the National Liberty.

The company wrote a large volume of marine business in 1919 and 1920, and became handicapped by having a large amount of claims against reinsurers not admitted to New York, and for which no credit could be taken as admitted assets.

In 1919 the loss ratio on fire business was normal, but the marine loss ratio was high. In 1920 the marine loss ratio was high. The expense ratio was very low.

About the middle of the year 1921 it decided to practically cease writing and to bend its energies to collecting reinsurance due. Its writings in 1921 were therefore greatly reduced, the fire premiums showing a minus figure. The loss and expense ratios for 1921, to premiums written are therefore out of proportion.

It is expected the company will assume active operations when these matters are cleared up.

As of December 31, 1921, the directors owned at par value $30,700 of the $400,000 capital stock.

It has a good reputation in connection with treatment of loss claimants.

General Review.

History.—This company was incorporated under the laws of the State of California on September 26, 1919, and was licensed March 30, 1920. It began business about April 15, 1920.

It has an authorized capital of $250,000, all of which has been subscribed and paid in, with a surplus of $150,000.

Stock, par value $100, was sold at $160 per share, thus providing the surplus.

There was no promotion expense, which is very commendable.

Management and Reputation.—The vice-president, Thomas R. Lamb, organized and promoted the company, and acts as its general manager. He has had some ten or twelve years' insurance experience, first as a local agent and then as general agent for the automobile department of the California Insurance Company; later and for about three and one-half years, he was general agent for the automobile department of the Alliance Assurance Company, Ltd., of London. He was also for three years general agent for the automobile department of the Commonwealth Insurance Company of New York.

Figures which he afforded us relating to the loss ratios of his department of those companies for 1917, 1918 and 1919 indicate that he made good profits for them.

The directors owned, as of December 31, 1921, $106,400 of the $250,000 capital stock.

The company is operating at a moderate expense ratio, and loss ratio about normal. The underwriting loss in 1921 was caused principally by increased unearned premiums.

WESTCHESTER FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY—Continued.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporatd as the Westchester County Mutual Insurance Company, March 14, 1837, and in January, 1870, was reorganized as a joint stock company under the name of Weschester Fire Insurance Company, with $200,000 authorized capital (par value of shares $10 each). In 1875 the capital was increased to $250,000 by a stock dividend of $50,000, and in 1876 to $300,000 by another $50,000 stock dividend. During 1914 the capital was increased to $500,000, and $600,000 surplus was paid in. In 1917 the paid-in capital was increased to $1,000,000, the new stock being sold at $20 per share, thus adding $500,000 to surplus.

The company issues policies in accordance with the special reserve fund and guaranty surplus law of New York. It has $500,000 on deposit with the Insurance Department of New York, and maintains a "guaranty surplus fund" of similar amount.

In 1912 it reinsured the business of the Delaware Insurance Company, of Philadelphia, and is now issuing through the former agents of that company, policies entitled "Delaware Underwriters of the Westchester Fire Insurance Company."

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company has been well managed and has made good progress.

Its directors are substantial and of high business standing. The directors owned at the end of 1921 $147,120 par value of the capital stock then outstanding.

The company is in excellent repute as to its general treatment of loss claims.

The volume of business written is large in proportion to its capital and surplus. In 1919 the company had a low loss ratio on fire business and gained from underwriting $553,004.46. In 1920 it considerably increased its volume and added heavily to unearned premiums, and had an underwriting loss of $161,988.51. In 1921 the premium was considerably reduced, and there was a small underwriting loss. Its average expense of operation is moderate, and its loss ratio about the average. The marine loss ratio was high in 1918, 1919 and 1921.

Its investments are of excellent character. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The mortgage loans are largely on dwellings in New York City and Mt. Vernon, N. Y., worth about twice the amount loaned.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This company was organized February 26, 1920, with headquarters in London. The authorized capital is £1,000,000, of which £600,000 has been subscribed, and £300,000 paid in.

The company regularly entered the United States for business by making the statutory deposit of $200,000 with the Insurance Department of the State of New York on December 14, 1920.

HOME OFFICE RESOURCES.— All of its assets are liable for losses incurred here. The Home Office balance sheet December 31, 1920, shows the following items: Assets, £755,980 ($3,724,900); capital paid in, £300,000 ($1,500,000); profit and loss, £23,582 ($117,910).

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The United States manager of this company has been Henry L. Rosenfeld, but he resigned from this position early in 1922, and was succeeded by William Hare, who is in excellent repute, and acts in a similar capacity for the State Assurance Company, Ltd., and the Consolidated Assurance Company, Ltd., of Liverpool and London, England, respectively.

This company took over en-bloc in the last month of 1920 a large volume of business, and wrote only a small volume in 1921, so that the loss and expense ratios to premiums written are out of proportion, but while the loss ratio was high the very low expense ratio on the earned basis shows an underwriting profit.

The United States trustee is the Bankers Trust Company, of New York.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.— The company will write fire reinsurance.

TERRITORY.—Licensed in Ark., Colo., Ill., Ia., La., Me., Mass., Mich., Mont., Nev., N. H., N. J., N. Y., N. C., Ohio, Pa., Texas and W. Va.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated in August, 1851. Its authorized capital is $5,000,000, of which $2,500,000 has been subscribed and paid in (of which $1,000,000 is preferred). It entered the United States in 1874. (An arbitrary rate of exchange has been used; see note, page vii.)

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is in excellent repute, and its directors are influential and wealthy men of Toronto and Montreal. The British America Assurance Company of Toronto is under the same management as this company.

The company is in excellent repute concerning its general treatment of loss claims, and is entitled to credit for the manner in which it has met extremely heavy conflagration losses sustained in the past.

The United States Branch writes a reasonable volume of business in proportion to its net resources. Its expenses of operation are under the average, but its loss ratio has been slightly above the average. In 1920 the company had a heavy underwriting loss, occasioned principally by a very high loss ratio in its ocean marine department. In 1921 only a very small amount was retained net in its Ocean Marine writings, tending to make its ratio of losses out of proportion. The general loss ratio was high and there was a considerable underwriting loss.

Its investments are high grade. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

AFFILIATIONS.—Eastern Union, Western Union, South eastern Underwriters Association, Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific, Rocky Mountain Underwriters Association, Canadian Fire Underwriters Association, Western Canada Fire Underwriters Association, Mainland Board of Fire Underwriters, New Brunswick Board of Fire Underwriters, Nova Scotia Board of Fire Underwriters.

KINDS OF INSURANCE WRITTEN.—It writes fire, marine, automobile, tornado, explosion, riot, civil commotion and strike insurance.

TERRITORY.—It operates in Canada, Hawaii and Porto Rico, Newfoundland, Trinidad, West Indies and the United States. The company also has a branch office in London, England, through which business is transacted in Great Britain and Ireland, France, Holland, Denmark, Australia, Egypt and India, and parts of Asia and Africa.

In the United States it is licensed in all States and Territories except Vermont, Guam, Philippine Islands and the Virgin Islands.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company was incorporated under the laws of the State of North Dakota, was licensed June 19, 1919, and began business October 1, 1919. It has an authorized capital of $500.000, and of this, according to advices received February 21, 1920, $135.825 had been paid in, and a surplus of $136,025 had been contributed. Stock, par value $25, was sold at $50 per share, thus providing the surplus.

Additional capital of $19,950 had been paid in December 31. 1920, at par, making the paid-up capital $155,775.

In 1921 the paid-in capital was increased $11,125, paid in at par, making that item $166,900 at the end of that year. At the annual meeting of the company in January 1922 the par value of the stock was reduced from $25 to $15 thus reducing the paid-in capital to $100,140, and transferring $66,760 to surplus.

According to information received from the Commissioner of Insurance of the State of North Dakota, this company was originally incorporated as the Equity Co-operative Insurance Company, on January 31, 1918. The Department of Insurance on January 23, 1920, informed us that examination had been made of the company just prior to that time, the examination being as of November 30, 1919.

We quote further from the letter of the insurance commissioner dated January 23, 1920, as follows:

"From this balance sheet, you will note that only $132.550 of capital stock was paid up as of that date.* * *

"The company was originally incorporated with an authorized capital stock of $100,000, and the stock was sold on a two-for-one basis. On October 13, 1919, the authorized capital stock was increased to $500,000, so you will note that the promotion of the company has been very rapid. In our estimation, the promotion expenses of this company have been exceedingly heavy."

The company was organized by A. C. Shively and H. E. Day, both of Fargo, North Dakota.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The underwriting is in charge of the secretary, who has had about twenty years' experience in the insurance business, first with the German Insurance Company, of Freeport, Ill., then with the Western Department of the Williamsburg City Insurance Company, and later with the Western Department of the Crum and Forster companies.

The company is too young to have established a record. On December 31, 1921, the directors owned $36,480 par value of the capital stock then outstanding. In 1921 both the losses and expenses were very high, the expenses are naturally so on account of the small volume written and age of the company. The management advises that its principal losses were from tornado and windstorm.

The impairment of the capital and notes in regard to reduction of capital will be observed above. The company advises that on January 27, 1922 its assets were $160,991.-11, and net surplus $36,807.70.

It will be noted that the largest part of the assets is cash in banks.

General Review.

History.—This company was incorporated under the laws of the State of Michigan, February 17, 1920, and was licensed and commenced business June 1, 1920, with an authorized and subscribed capital of $100,000, of which $79, 866.66 had been paid in and a surplus of $39,933.34 collected to that date. During 1920, the balance of the authorized capital of $100.000 was paid in. The authorized copital was later increased to $1,000,000. Shares, par value $25, were sold at $37.50 each to provide the surplus.

The unpaid and part paid, stock subscriptions have been placed under a trustee account, the Capital National Bank, of Lansing, Mich., being the trustee. In this account, on December 31, 1921, were subscriptions to capital $545.-062.50, and surplus $389,962.50. The commissions on stock sales on this account were $126,450.49, and other items of organization expenses bringing the total to $134,510.50. The net assets in this trustee account were $800,514.50 the largest items being stock notes $734,126.38, and mortgages $59,100.

The company was organized largely through the efforts of its president, Robert K. Orr, who is also president and general manager of the Michigan Employers Casualty Company which began business January 5, 1917, and which writes workmen's compensation, automobile and public liability, automobile property damage, collision and theft insurance. This company was formed principally for the purpose of writing automobile fire business controlled by the Michigan Employers Casualty Company, but it will also write fire insurance of a general character.

The examination of the financial condition of this company made by the Insurance Departments of the State of Michigan as of May 29, 1920, acting upon the company's application for a license, showed that the above capital and surplus had been paid in in cash and that there were outstanding capital stock notes of $20,133.34 and surplus notes of $10,066.66. The commissions on sale of stock as shown in this examination were $17,861.11, which is about 15% of funds already collected. The management stated that the organization expenses would not exceed 15%.

Management.—The underwriting for the company is in the hands of Theodore P. Lyons. The company has not operated long enough to comment upon the success of its management. In 1921 the volume written was small.

The real estate owned is a one-half interest in property located 303 West Allegan street, Lansing, Michigan, held jointly with the Michigan Employers Casualty Company, of Lansing, Michigan. The building is valued at $50.000.

The company advised that pending the working out of plans to increase the resources of the company it is reinsuring the greater part of its business as written.

It entered the United States in December, 1907, to write marine insurance.

HOME OFFICE RESOURCES.—All assets of the company are liable for the payment of losses incurred here. The Home Office balance sheet, the latest available, which includes all its assets and liabilities, showed: Admitted assets, December 31, 1920, $6,978,123.67; capital paid in, $876,000; surplus, $3,242,466.95. (An arbitrary rate of exchange has been used; see note, page vii.)

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The company is in excellent repute at its home, and its United States managers are in high standing. They act also as agents of the Insurance Company of North America and the Alliance Insurance Company of Philadelphia and as general agents for the Ocean Marine Departments of the National Fire Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn., the Bankers and Shipers Insurance Company, of New York, and the Pacific Fire Insurance Company, of New York.

For a number of years this company was managed at its United States Branch by Wilcox, Peck & Hughes, of New York, recently changing to the present management.

The United States Branch has made progress and its underwriting has been profitable. In 1918 and 1919, however, its loss ratio was high, resulting in underwriting losses for those years. In 1920 the company had a reduced income, and made an underwriting profit. In 1921 the premium income was greatly reduced, and with a high loss ratio, there was a substantial underwriting loss. The average expense of management has been low.

The securities owned are of excellent character.

Mutual Fire Insurance Companies

In this section will be found detailed information concerning the history, financial condition, transactions and reputation of all mutual fire and/or marine insurance companies, other than those writing automobile insurance, which possess $100,000 of cash assets and/or $100,000 of cash income from premiums and/or assessments. In a comparatively few instances, reports have been included upon companies whose resources and/or income are smaller than that minimum. This has been done, however, only when the company, so included, is particularly active in competition for some special class or classes of business, or is operating in a territory more extensive than its resources and volume would ordinarily indicate, or which for some special reason, such as a peculiarity of structure, is likely to be the subject of inquiry by our subscribers.

In the case of companies writing automobile insurance it has been deemed wise to include reports upon all those institutions whose cash assets and/or cash income from premiums and/or assessments is $50,000 or more.

This editorial scheme results in the inclusion of all mutual companies of the following classes:

1. Those which are members of the Senior and Junior Conferences of factory mutual companies, which specializes in writing properties equipped with automatic sprinklers according to certain strict specifications.
2. Lumber mutuals specializing on both sprinklered and non-sprinklered woodworking risks and on lumber.
3. Flour mill, grain and elevator mutuals.
4. Mutuals, writing through agents, general business, or some special classes on the cash premium basis only, or on both the cash premium and the assessment basis.
5. Hardware and implement mutuals.

For the further convenience of our subscribers we print at the end of this section tables dealing with mutual insurance institutions, as follows:

(a.) A tabulation of the principal items from the statements of the Senior and Junior Conferences of factory mutual companies arranged so as to present a ready comparison of the results and responsibility of the various companies in those groups.

(b.) All mutual companies, including farm mutuals, arranged alphabetically in State groups.

In the complete reports appearing herein and the tables just referred to will be found, therefore, information concerning all United States mutual companies about which data has been obtainable, whether large or small.

The titles of all mutual companies, individual reports upon which are included in this section, and those appearing in the tables of automobile and other mutual companies are listed in our general index to facilitate ready reference.

General Review.

This company was incorporated December 31, 1915, under the Mutual Act of Indiana, approved March 9, 1915, and began business September 29, 1916. Besides doing a general fire and tornado business it maintains a special department for the writing of automobile insurance covering fire and theft. It issues both assessable and non-assessable policies.

The company was organized by its secretary, John W. McGinety, who states that he has had considerable insurance exprienece, representing stock companies in various capacities in Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia. Mr. McGinety advised us that the company was organized without any promotion fees or expenses, and that the officers and directors all serve without compensation, with the exception of the secretary and vice-president, who devote their whole time to the business. Mr. McGinety is also connected with the International Lloyds of Indianapolis, from which this company accepts reinsurance.

The company operates on the cash premium plan. It states that it charges usually the regular tariff rates and pays dividends to policyholders at the end of the policy year, based on the experience of the company, and that on its "Cash Stock Policy," it allows "dividends in advance."

The company advises us that its policies are of the standard New York form with a mutual clause providing for a contingent liability of not more than the premium specified in its mutual policies.

Policies may be written for from one to five years, according to the class of risk and requirements of the assured.

The company has issued guarantee fund certificates which were purchased, the company states, by the officers and directors without rebate or commission. The certificates provide for 7% interest, but under the law are not a liability of the company, and can be repaid or redeemed only out of the surplus earnings of the company.

Concerning the very large item in the schedule of assets designated "Net equity in leasehold," the company says:

"In explanation of the item above set out, your attention is directed to the following statement of facts:

"Under date of November 30, 1918, the American Mutual Insurance Company, by virtue of a contract of sale, approved by the Insurance Department of the Auditor of State's office of the State of Indiana, became the owners of a modern fifteen-story, fire proof office building, known as the Lemcke Annex, through the acquisition of the entire common stock issue of the R. A. Lemcke Realty Company.

"Prior to the acquisition of said property, the American Mutual Insurance Company caused same to be appraised by the State Insurance Department of Indiana. Said appraisement as filed in this office fixes the value of said property at $701,811. The leasehold equity is arrived at as follows:

"Book value (real estate), $600,000; preferred stock issue, $335,000; bills payable (evidenced by notes), $116,997.46, and equity in leasehold and improvements, $148,002.54.

"It will be noted that for the basis of making our report this property is carried at $101,811 less than the official appraisement by the Insurance Department of the State of Indiana.

"The income from rentals of the building is approximately $110,000 per year, and the American Mutual Insurance Company, by virtue of said purchase, is credited with the acquisition of a most desirable Home Office building."

In the 1919 statement, the equity in the leasehold was carried at an advance of about $14,000 over the 1918 figure, and at the end of 1920 was increased again $30,575.42, and at the end of 1921 it was increased $23,099.76 over that of the previous year. In this three year period the value of this leasehold has been increased on the books of the company in the total of $67,675.18, which increase, the company advises, is due to the additional payments on the monthly notes by the company, thus increasing its equity.

The investment of the major part of the company's resources in a single item, particularly of this character, is open to criticism.

Concerning the guaranty fund, it says:

"By reason of the acquisition of the property above referred to, the American Mutual Insurance Company increased its guaranty fund from $14,000 to $166,400, which action we are permitted to take under the laws governing the operation of mutual companies in the State of Indiana. We might add in this connection that the guaranty fund so established is not a liability against the company, but is evidenced by guaranty fund certificates, which are payable out of the surplus earnings of the company with interest not exceeding 7% annually. The total annual interest on the guaranty fund issue amounts to $2,998, which is an average of 1.8%, covering the interest charge thereon."

In 1920 the loss ratio was high, and although the expenses were moderate the underwriting loss was $38,959.51.

In 1921, the losses and expenses were heavy, and there was an underwriting loss of $46,326.05.

We are unable to check the gain and loss exhibit of the statement submitted, and at the time of going to press it had not been explained by the company. The underwriting loss, ($46,326.05) and dividends paid, ($2,612.50), charged against the investment gain of $8,924.87 would naturally show a loss in surplus of $40,013.68, while the statement shows an increase of $5,114.85 in surplus. The increase in "Leasehold Value" of $23,099.76 referred to above, if carried into gain in loss exhibit, would in part explain this discrepancy.

AMERICAN STEAMSHIP OWNERS MUTUAL PROTECTION AND INDEMNITY ASSOCIATION, INC.,

49–51 Wall Street, New York, N. Y.

GENERAL REVIEW

This company was incorporated in February, 1917, and began business February 20, 1917, with about 1,000,000 gross tons of steamships of American register.

We have not been furnished with a financial statement of the association, but the management has furnished us with the information contained in this report.

The object of the association is to insure steamship owners on a mutual plan against their liabilities in connection with the operation of their steamers. A summary of the risks covered is appended hereto.

Assessments are levied quarterly at 10 cents per ton on the contributing tonnage of the steamers entered. An entry fee of 8 cents per ton, which covers all operating expenses, is paid annually. Each insurance year is treated separately and the members for such year undertake to contribute, according to their tonnage, their pro rata share of the liabilities of such insurance year. If the quarterly assessments are insufficient to cover the liabilities, further assessments are made as necessary. The directors may set aside from each year's assessments such sums as they may deem necessary, or proper, to be added to a reserve fund. Any balance of the assessments remaining, after the payment of claims, is returned to the members in proportion to their contributing tonnage.

Early in 1918, the United States Shipping Board entered its vessels in the association, but it has since withdrawn all vessels not actively employed. A large majority of the privately owned oceangoing tonnage of the United States is now enrolled. The association, at the close of its fifth year, had in hand securities and cash in excess of $3,500,000 with which to meet outstanding claims.

The recent deflation in the value of commodities and the tendency of wages to decline recently led the association to reduce the advance assessments from 12 cents to 10 cents per ton.

The association maintains a large service organization in New York for the purpose of investigating and dealing with claims and also for preventing claims. It has branch offices at the principal United States ports and is represented in the principal ports in the world.

On February 20, 1922, the tonnage entered in the association amounted to about 4,500,000 gross tons.

Directors.—The board of directors of the association is composed of the following: Alfred Gilbert Smith, chairman; W. A. Thompson, deputy chairman; Maurice Bouvier, C. W. Jungen, William B. Keene, and Joseph D. Tomlinson.

The secretary is Russell H. Loines.

General Review.

This is a very strong institution, which began business in 1794. Its business is entirely local. For seventy years, until 1865, the company operated on the assessment plan, since that time it has been issuing perpetual policies under the regular perpetual deposit premium plan.

It lost, $1,915,516 in the great Baltimore conflagration, and after paying those losses still had a large surplus left.

Its securities are of excellent character.

General Review

This company commenced business September 20, 1878, and now operates in the Province of Ontario only. During 1915 much of the business in the Western Provinces was allowed to lapse at maturity, the business there having proved unprofitable. The company is confining its operations to Ontario. Its officers and directors are reputable and in good standing.

We are advised that its risks are confined to the better class of flour and grist mills and their stocks, and to grain and flour in warehouses and elevators of millowners.

On December 31, 1921, the company had at risk $1,352,150.

In this statement no reserve is set up for unearned premiums, and premium notes amounting to $93,289.75, are included in the assets.

General Review.

This company was incorporated under the laws of Nebraska in 1902 and began business the same year. It writes fire, tornado, windstorm, hail, automobile fire, theft, collision and property damage, and liability insurance. A considerable portion of its premiums come from the coverage of threshing machines, of which class it makes a specialty.

This company has never levied an assessment.

The provisions of sample policies on file in this office are fair to the insurer. It writes its business under an agency plan.

The company advises that full published rates are charged, and that a stipulated premium is charged with no contingent mutual liability. Also that dividends are returned to policyholders if the profits of any class warrant it.

The secretary, John F. Zimmer, states that he has had over twenty-five years of insurance experience and is State agent of the Security Insurance Company, New Haven, Conn., for Nebraska.

The results of the operations of the company in 1921 were quite unprofitable, resulting in a considerable loss in surplus. The company advises that it lost money on automobile business in 1921, but has since reduced its writing in that class. The item of unearned premiums appears small compared to the annual premiums.

The company is licensed in Nebraska only.

General Review

This company was organized in September, 1915. It writes assessable policies only, on automobiles, fire, theft, liability and collision coverages.

The contingent resources of the company December 31, 1921, were $12,012.15.

Plan of operation (as reported to us by the management): it advises that it writes in the small cities and country districts of Michigan, but does not accept risks in Detroit or Grand Rapids.

It issues a policy covering against fire and theft in excess of $25, up to $1,000; and for liability in excess of $25, up to $5,000; and full coverage, fire and theft up to $3,000, and collision up to $1,500, for an additional charge. The rate charged on a policy covering liability, fire and theft, is 30 cents per horse power and a policy fee of $1. Additional fire and theft coverage, $1.50 per $100. Collision insurance covers $400, $600 and $800 loss at a cost of $8, $10 and $12, respectively. Additional coverage over $800 at $2 per $100.

An assessment is levied twelve months from the date of application, or from the date of the last assessment. Any member not paying his assessment within 60 days of the date of notice becomes suspended and receives no benefit under his policy. Section 14 of the charter of the company provides as follows:

"All assessments levied by the Board of Directors of this company shall be a lien upon the property insured in the nature of a chattel mortgage, and in case said assessment shall remain due and unpaid for a period of sixty days, then and from thenceforth it shall and may be lawful for the said insurance company, through its authorized agent or attorney, to enter upon premises of the party or parties insured, or on any place or places where said property and chattels may be, and take possession thereof, and be authorized to sell at public auction, after giving ten days' notice of the sale by posting up written notices thereof in three public places in the city or township where the property is found, and to retain out of the proceeds the amount of the assessment and reasonable expenses, the overplus or residue, if any, to beyond and to be returned to the party insured."

It will be noted that no reserve has been set up for unearned premiums, which should be done applying to any premiums collected in advance, in order to arrive at a correct showing of a company's financial condition.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company commenced business in 1844, and writes only in New Jersey. It had accumulated a good surplus, which was reduced considerably in 1920, by a dividend to policyholders of $48,580.60 from an accumulation during 1895 to 1915.

Each member insuring his property pays a sum in cash which experience has shown will pay his proportion of losses and expenses under ordinary conditions. This sum varies according to the class of risk, the amount insured, and the term of the policy. Each member also gives a premium note to guarantee the full payment of all losses, should they exceed the amount of cash deposits.

It files its own rates with the rating department, about 20% to 25% lower than the stock company rates.

The only extra assessment ever made was in 1881, and was for 2½% of the premium notes in force at that time.

The contingent resources of the company on December 31, 1921, were $1,585,600.

The mortgage loans are upon improved New Jersey property.

It is a member of the New Jersey State Association of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies and of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies.

General Review.

This company was organized in 1888 under the laws of the State of Kansas and is a purely mutual company.

It writes business at standard rates, issuing policies upon both the assessment and advanced cash premium plans. Under the former plan the assured gives a note for the premium, and on this note assessments are made annually as the amount of losses and expenses require; at expiration of the policy the unused portion of the note is returned to the assured. Under the "advanced price plan" the assured pays the full premium in cash and at the expiration of this policy the unused portion is returned to him.

It insures town dwellings as well as farm properties, segregating its business and making separate statements for these two classes. Of the assets in above statement $645,124.82 belongs to the "First Class," or Farm Property Department, and $97,297.49 to the "Second Class," or Town Dwelling Department. The premium notes held in the First Class amounted to $121,916.04, and in the Second Class $6,154.18, on December 31, 1921.

The company owns its Home Office, which is a two-story and basement building.

The company advises that the saving to policyholders has been 38% compared to the cost with stock companies.

The company operates only in Kansas, where it bears an excellent reputation, and is one of the largest companies of its class.

General Review

This company was organized in 1853 as a mutual company, but it writes only upon the cash plan under a special charter; it makes no assessments and pays no dividends. It writes at the regular stock company rates.

The company is carefully managed, and bears a good reputation.

FARMERS HOME MUTUAL, TORNADO AND CYCLONE INSURANCE COMPANY,

Madelia, Minn.

General Review.

This company was organized under the laws of the State of Minnesota, January 12, 1898, and commenced business March 1, 1898. It insures its members against loss or damage by tornado, cyclone and windstorm on buildings, their contents, live stock and other personal property. It writes not to exceed fifteen thousand ($15,000) dollars on any one building and contents, nor more than one hundred thousand ($100,000) dollars in a radius of one-fourth of a mile.

The policyholders' liability is limited by law, according to the information which the secretary has furnished us, to not exceed in any one year 5% of their insurance. It is licensed, at latest advices, in the State of Minnesota only.

The company levied an assessment of one and one half mills on the amount of insurance outstanding September 1, 1921. The amount of the assesment was $117,448.

The company was examined by the Minnesota State Insurance Department as of September 30, 1921, and it was recommended by the examiner that the company discontinue payment of commissions to officers and directors, and that amendment to by-laws permitting the company to write steel-tower, windmills and breakage of windows by wind-driven hail be resubmitted to the members. The disbursements exceed the income for the reason that the assessment, above referred to, had not been collected.

The following extracts were obtained from an examination made by the Minnesota Insurance Department. The income and disbursements are from January 1 to Sept 30, 1921. The assets and surplus as of September 30, 1921:

General Review.

This is a mutual company which began business in 1902. It bears a good reputation.

This company formerly operated on the plan of collecting in advance one half the annual premium as a deposit, and at the end of six months charge the proper proportion of losses and expenses against this deposit collecting these costs from the assured to re-instate the deposit premium. The charges of losses and expenses against this deposit reduced so that in March, 1921, the directors of the company decided that the customary deposit of one half the annual premium was adequate to carry the insurance for twelve months instead of six, and to collect the six months renewal premium on all business in force during the first six months of 1921, and by such collection restore the original deposit and extend the insurance for twelve months instead of six, as these adjustments were made in the shape of return premiums and not as dividends, it operated to show high loss and expense ratios. The amount of premiums thus waived was $185,484.50. If this had been collected it would greatly reduce these ratios.

The company does not operate on the dividend basis, and to show savings to policyholders the cost in this company should be compared to the cost at full tariff rates.

It writes fire, explosion, tornado and automobile insurance.

The company issues one and five year policies on the different classes of risks, with a contingent liability equal to once the premium named in the policy. No extra assessments have ever been levied.

The contingent resources of the company, December 31, 1921, were, $668,367.87.

The mortgage loans are upon Indiana farm lands, valued at over twice the amount loaned. The bonds owned are chiefly Indiana non-taxable bonds, and United States certificates of indebtedness. The security valuations used in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The company is a member of the Mutual Fire Prevention Bureau, of Chicago, Ill.

General Review.

This company began business in May, 1893. It writes in New York State, except in Greater New York. It is a member of the Co-operative Fire Underwriters Association, and its policies are of the New York State standard form. It writes usually at about 80% of the board rates.

Members may be assessed to pay their pro rata share of any losses which the cash on hand might fall short of paying, but in accordance with the law under which these companies operate, they are required to limit their liability in the business section of any city or village not to exceed 1% of the total amount of insurance in force. The expenses are limited by law to 35% of the premiums. These features are intended to eliminate the conflagration hazard and possibility of extravagance in management.

The company has never made any assessments.

GREEN MOUNTAIN MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY. — Continued.

General Review.

This company was incorporated under the laws of Vermont July 27, 1916, but was not licensed and did not commence business until June 2, 1919. It was incorporated as a mutual and has a guaranty capital. Its authorized capital is $200,000, of which $50,000 has been subscribed and paid in.

The stock, par value $50 per share, was sold at $55, thus providing a surplus of $5,000. There was no organization expense, which is commendable.

The company writes fire insurance under three plans, namely, first, stock; second, mutual cash premium and premium note; third, mutual cash premium with assessment liability equal to and in addition to premium paid. At the present time the company is licensed only in the State of Vermont. The company has writing agents who are paid commissions and write at tariff rates, except policies written on the mutual cash premium plan with premium notes taken.

General Review.

This company was organized in 1905, and insures stocks of merchandise consisting wholly or partly of groceries, buildings containing the same, and store furniture and fixtures; also dwellings and household furniture of merchants.

For the first ten years, policyholders assumed a contingent liability equal and in addition to the original cash deposit. Early in 1916, however, the company discontinued the contingent liability plan. Under the present system, the assured, at the issuance of his policy, makes a deposit with the company equal to the regular stock company rate, and at the beginning of the second and third policy years deposits the same amount less such credit as he may be entitled to receive as his dividend on the previous year's insurance. At the end of the third year the dividend is paid in cash.

The by-laws authorize the executive committee to create a guaranty fund from the earnings.

In 1921 it returned dividends to policyholders of 35%. The average saving, compared to stock company rates, since 1905, has been 35%.

Policies are written for a term not to exceed three years. Policies may be cancelled at any time on five days' notice.

General Review.

This company was incorporated October 3, 1902, as the Hardware Dealers' Mutual Fire Association of Pennsylvania, and is under the same management as the National Hardware Dealers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Huntingdon. It collects a deposit about equal to an annual premium at stock rates when a policy is issued, as a guarantee that assessments will be paid.

In 1916 a cash premium department was established under the management of James R .Skinner, New York City, N. Y., who also operates the Inter-Insurers of America, an inter-insurance exchange.

The policies in the cash premium department are issued under the title "National Fire Insurance Underwriters," and are guaranteed by this company and The National Hardware Dealers Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Huntingdon, Pa.

The contingent liability of policyholders is equal to one cash premium. The contingent resources, December 31, 1921, have not been furnished to us.

The bonds carried are high grade. The security valuations used in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The rate of dividend set for 1922 expirations is 50%.

General Review.

History.— This company was incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois in 1910. Under its charter it is permitted to write policies with or without contingent liability.

The company originally operated under the title of Printing Trades Mutual Fire Insurance Company. The present name was adopted during 1917, at which time the general business policy of the company was broadened and a general class of business is now being written which consists principally of manufacturing risks and mercantile establishments. At the end of 1919 the Laundry Owners Mutual Insurance Company and the Integrity Mutual were consolidated under the title of the latter.

General Management.— The active general management of this company is the same as that of the Integrity Mutual Casualty Company. For the purpose of economy and efficiency, the business of the two companies is handled through the same office wherever practicable. The business of the company has been profitable, and the company is reported to have paid a dividend or saving to its policyholders each year since it was organized.

The company advises us that it writes at stock company rates and the contingent liability was expressd in the policy, at one cash premium, but that it now writes nonassessable policies only.

In 1921 its loss and expense ratios were low, and it paid a fair dividend to policyholders.

Territory.— The company is licensed at the present time in Illinois only.

GENERAL REVIEW.

This company was organized under the laws of the State of Iowa, January 1, 1884.

It confines its writings to cyclone, tornado and windstorm insurance on buildings, live stock and implements, on or off the premises, and farm products while in buildings. It collects a cash premium in advance and all policies are written for a term of five years. The largest aggregate amount insured in any single risk without deduction for reinsurance is $15,000, on frame buildings and $30,000, on brick, stone or reinforced concrete.

An advance fee of $1 is collected, and the dwelling, merchandise and class "A" mercantile risks rate is 10 cents, barns, churches, schools, etc., 20 cents, per hundred, and the policies are subject to assessment for the payment of losses and to maintain working reserves.

We are advised by the company that it had as of December 31, 1921, $389,585,553 insurance in force, and also that in thirty years the total assessments had been 19 mills.

The management advises that the average cost to the policyholders was .802 per thousand in 1921; and average for sixteen years ending at that time, .841 per year; average for 20 years a little less than 80c. a thousand per year.

Officers.—President, J. B. Herriman; secretary, H. F. Gross; vice-president, R. A. Kent; treasurer, Geo. A. Dalziel.

GENERAL REVIEW.

This company began business in July, 1855, and is licensed in Iowa and Missouri. It transacts a large volume of business, writing both short-term and five-year policies, taking notes for the latter, such notes representing the liability of the policyholders, and are included in its assets.

The short-term policies are written for cash in advance, and the company advises us that about half of its business is now done on that plan.

No assessments have ever been made.

Its investments are of good character.

The company writes fire, hail, windstorm and tornado insurance.

GENERAL REVIEW.

This company was organized by lumbermen and commenced business October 10, 1895. It has made steady progress and is in excellent repute. It writes both assessable and non-assessable policies. All of its policies are written on the "cash premium plan."

It specializes on lumber and woodworking risks which are written at independent rates promulgated through the application of a schedule based upon the combined experience of the Lumber Mutuals. Classes other than lumber, improved risks, mill and elevator properties are written at stock company rates. The premiums on lumber, woodworking and kindred risks are designated Class "A," upon which class the company is refunding to the policyholders out of the unabsorbed premium deposits," 40% of the cash premium paid. It also writes some selected mercantile and manufacturing risks on both the mutual (participating) and stock (non-participating) plan. It designates all such miscellaneous risks as Class "B," and is refunding to the Class "B" mutual policyholders 25% of the premiums.

The assessment liability of mutual policyholders is fixed by the by-laws and is an amount equal to three times one annual cash premium. The contingent resources of the Company on December 31, 1921, were $3,629,637.51.

The company has deposited with the Insurance Department of Ohio $200,000 "for the benefit of all its policyholders."

The real estate owned is the company's Home Office. The mortgage loans, except one small loan in Pittsburg, Pa., are secured by improved property in Ohio valued at about three times the amount loaned. The bonds and

General Review.

History.—This institution was formed in 1904, and writes indemnity for members of the Western Retail Lumbermen's Association only. It will write any amount up to $15,000 on each improved risk.

Contracts are made for five years, but may be cancelled at any time. A deposit equal to one year's premium is required, based on the board rate in effect on the risk, provided such rate is adequate. The deposit is held in the reserve fund as a credit to the account of the contract holder, and is returnable on cancellation or expiration of the contract, less any unpaid assessments. This deposit is used as a guarantee of, and the basis for charging, assessments. The assessments, which are paid twice a year, on the first of June and the first of December, represent the net cost of the indemnity. The assessment liability of members is an amount equal to two annual premiums.

The company's rider forms are very liberal and endeavor to cover everything used in connection with the retail lumber business, such as buildings, office furniture and fixtures, horses, wagons, stable equipment, stock of lumber, fuel and building materials of all kinds.

It will be noted that the society sets up as a liability "Guaranty Fund," $157,681.62; this represents the total

GENERAL REVIEW.

This company began business March 28, 1895, and has made excellent progress, steadily added to its assets and surplus, besides paying policyholders good dividends. It insures only lumber and wood working risks.

The assessment liability is fixed by the by-laws and is limited to three times the cash premium paid. It has never levied any assessments. The contingent resources of the company December 31, 1921, were $2,622,203.13.

The securities are of excellent character and the valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners. The real estate owned is located in Boston, Mass., acquired in 1921, and the company is erecting thereon a Home Office building.

The rate of dividend for 1922 is 40%, with extra dividend of 5% on policies terminating on and after January 1, 1922.

During 1915 the company set aside out of the cash surplus the sum of $200,000 as a special reserve for contingencies; this is actually surplus. The company states that this fund was transferred from surplus account in 1915 because of a Massachusetts law limiting the surplus of a Mutual Company to 2% of the amount at risk; that the limitation has now been changed to 4% of the amount at risk, and that the Finance Committee of the company, at a meeting held in January, 1919, abolished the Guaranty Capital account, and transferred the $200,000 back to net surplus.

History.— This company began business November 1, 1874, and is under the same management as the Blackstone Mutual Fire Insurance Company. It bears an excellent reputation, and has paid large dividends to policyholders. It is licensed in Ill., Me., Md., Mass., Mich., N. H., N. Y., Ohio, Pa., R. I., S. C., Vt. and Wis.

Under one premium they provide indemnity for damage by fire and lightning, full indemnity for loss by sprinkler leakage, and liberal indemnity for windstorm damages. Policies are usually written to cover under a blanket form, without co-insurance or reduced-rate clauses. In order that members may share proportionately in operating expenses they are expected to insure to about 90% of insurable values. The company also writes use and occupancy insurance.

The contingent liability of members is fixed by the company's charter, and is five times the cash premium. On December 31, 1921, the contingent resources of the company were $7,291,116.05.

GENERAL REVIEW.

This is a purely mutual company, which began business March 10, 1895. It writes fire, tornado and automobile insurance. It is licensed only in So. Dakota.

For the first six years the company collected only 50% of the regular board rate in cash and accepted notes for the balance. It no longer accepts assessable notes, but collects a cash premium, at the board rates, and returns a dividend at the expiration of the policy. The assessment liability of members is fixed by the by-laws and statute, at an amount equal to one annual premium. On December 31, 1921, the contingent resources of the company were $174,329.61. The company advised us that it has never made an assessment, and that it has never failed to return a dividend each year since organization.. In 1921, an assessment was proposed to be made upon policies issued through an agency which had been found unprofitable, but the Attorney General and Insurance Commissioner held this illegal and it was not collected.

The company has reputable backing, and is economically managed. The loss ratios in 1918 and 1919 were low, and the surplus for 1919 increased $20,557.81. In 1920 the loss ratio was somewhat higher, and this, with the increase in unearned premiums contributed to a small loss in surplus. In 1921, the loss ratio was high and the dividends paid to policyholders were at the expense of surplus. The directors are all successful buiness men of South Dakota.

The companys' investments are of good character and yield a good return.

General Review

This company began business in November, 1881, and bears an excellent reputation. It writes both assessable and non-assessable policies.

The company issues policies for five years. The assessment liability of the members is limited by the by-laws to an amount equal to one additional annual premium. The contingent resources of the company on December 31, 1921, were $1,031,123.51.

Assessments are levied against the deposit premium, and, we are advised by the company that these assessments have been much less than such premium, showing an average saving to members in recent years of about 60%.

The company now issues "Advance Premium," mutual policies, written at the stock company rates, subject to dividends as the business warrants.

The mortgage loans are chiefly upon improved property in Illinois and Michigan, and are well secured. The securities owned are high grade. The security valuations used in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners. The real estate owned is the company's Home Office property.

The company has a "permanent fund" of $200,000 which is included in the surplus shown above.

The company's loss paying record is excellent.

It is licensed in Ark., Colo., Del., Ida., Ill., Ind., Kan., Ia., Ky., La., Mass., Mich., Minn., Miss., Mo., Mont., Nev., N. H., N. J., N. C., N. D., N. Y., O., Okla., Ore., Pa., S. D., Tenn., Tex., Utah, Wash., W. Va. and Wis.

GENERAL REVIEW

This company was incorporated under the laws of Kansas June 7, 1916, and began business July 25, 1916. It transacts automobile insurance under a mutual plan and writes fire and theft, tornado, liability, property damage and collision. Some business is written on a quarterly premium basis, but we understand that the principal volume is on the annual basis, therefore the unearned premium item "reserve required by Kansas Law," appears small compared to the premiums written in 1921. In 1920 the company wrote net premiums $151,612.63 and set up unearned premium liability of $59,732.61, while in 1921 the net premiums written were, $212,185.71, with "reserve required by law", $28,843.72.

The company is licensed in Kansas and Missouri. The limit of assessment liability is one additional annual premium.

Officers.—President, Thad. L. Hoffman; vice-presdent, L. S. Naftzger; secretary and treasurer, J. B. Henderson; attorney, W. D. Jochems; assistant secretary and treasurer, Willard Quinn.

Directors.—The directors are the above officers and H. J. Roetzel, A. A. Reiff, Will G. Price, Dr. J. L. Evans and A. A. Reiff.

Income, 1921.—Gross premiums, $313,271.36; reinsurance, $5,929.65; return premiums, $95,156.00; net premiums, $212,185.71; interest, etc., $1,368.43; deposit premiums, $1,700.00; increase in liabilities on account reinsurance treaties, $804.92; total income, $216,059.06.

General Review.

History.— This company began business September 20, 1877, and bears a good reputation. It is licensed in Ill., Ind., Kan., Mass., Mich., Minn., Mo., Mont., Neb., N. Y., N. D., O., Okla., Ore., Pa., S. D., Tenn., Tex., Wash and Wis., and writes some business in other States on the cash plan through Geo. R. Hess & Co., general agents, Chicago, and Hess-Hartnett Co., New York.

It writes both cash and mutual policies for any term not exceeding five years. During 1918 the company discontinued the premium note plan on mutual policies and substituted therefor the contingent liability plan. The contingent liability is one additional annual premium. Policyholders upon the cash plan are not subject to assessment.

The company advises us that "On the mill and elevator business on the mutual plan our cost represents 30% of the mutual basis or a saving of 70% of the expected cost. The same class of business on the cash plan is written at a saving of 50%. General business on the mutual plan is written at the board rate, subject to 25% dividend, while general business on the cash plan is written at tariff."

The company's investments are of good character. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The real estate owned is a new two-story, fire-proof office building in Alton, Illinois, carried at market value.

The company's loss paying reputation is excellent.

GENERAL REVIEW

This company was incorporated in March, 1890, as the State Mutual Fire Insurance Company, and adopted the present title in 1893.

The company has made steady progress and bears a good reputation.

It writes five-year polices, taking a deposit premium which represents 50% of an annual basis premium, or 10% of the aggregate five annual premiums. This guarantees the proper payment of the semi-annual assessments which are levied on the anniversary date of the policy to cover the liabilities incurred during the preceding six months. The liability under each policy is limited by the by-laws and policy to ten anual basis premiums. On December 31, 1921, the contingent resources of the company were $607,772.05.

The securties owned are high grade and the valuations used are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners. The mortgages all cover property in Pennsylvania well secured.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company began business Sept. 1, 1869, and writes upon both the stock and mutual plans. The stock policies are not subject to assessment, and are written at the regular stock company rates.

On July 1, 1918, it discontinued writing a mutual policy on which a deposit note for ten times the cash premium was taken, and changed to a contingent liability basis. Such policies are written at rates promulgated by the company's inspectors and field men, and the assessment liability of members, fixed by the company's by-laws, is an amount equal to twice the cash premium paid.

It is in excellent repute, and has accumulated large resources. In 1886 it capitalized from its surplus a permanent fund of $200,000 in order that it might enter other

It writes fire and tornado insurance, and fire, theft and collision on automobiles.

In 1921, the loss ratio was quite high, resulting in an underwriting loss of $365,832.59.

The company's loss paying record is excellent.

The securities owned are of good character and are remunerative. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

GENERAL REVIEW.

This company began business in April, 1875, and is in excellent repute. Its charter has run for 20-year periods, and on February 1, 1909, was extended for an additional 20 years. On January 19, 1921, a permanent fund of $200,000 was created.

In 1921 the Iowa Citizens Fund Mutual Insurance Association, and the National Mutual Reinsurance Association, both of Mason City, Iowa, were merged into this company.

It is licensed in Cal., Idaho, Ill., Ind., Iowa, Ky., Mass., Mich., Minn., Mo., Mont., Neb., N. J., N. Y., N. D., Ohio, Ore., Pa., S. D., Tenn., Texas, Wash., W. Va., and Wis.

It writes both assessable and non-assessable policies. On the former, the assessment liability of members is fixed by the by-laws and is an amount equal to one premium on one-year policies, and ten times the deposit (which is one-half of an annual premium) on five-year policies. No extra assessments have ever been levied. The non-assessable policies are written at the regular board rates less 20% as a rule, except on flour mills and elevators, using its own schedules on those classes, and wood-working risks as noted below.

The contingent resources of the company were, on December 31, 1921, $2,710,279. It is writing "surplus lines" through Squire Co., Inc., of New York City, N. Y., and Chicago, Ill.

The company makes a specialty of flour mills and grain elevators which are written on both cash and contingent liability plans, based upon its own schedule of rates. If issued on the contingent plan a guarantee deposit is collected when the policy is issued and assessments levied each six months thereafter for actual losses and expenses.

The company states that its "assessment for 1921 was 35% per annum, being equal to a saving of 65%. Wood-working risks and lumber risks are written on the schedule of the lumber mutuals, on which we pay dividends of 25%. On mercantile risks in towns that have fire prevention committees we pay 30% dividends."

On its mill and elevator business the company collects only an amount necessary to conduct the business so that the loss and expense ratios are higher than they would be if tariff rates were collected.

The company was examined by the Iowa and Nebraska Insurance Departments as of December 31, 1921. The net surplus shown by the examiners' report was $935,990.54 (including the permanent fund). The principal difference from the above statement being the item of unearned premiums, which was shown in the examiners' report as $454,746.21, the figures in the above statement being adequate on the Iowa basis. The courtesy and assistance of the management was acknowledged by the examiners.

The mortgage loans are first liens on Iowa improved farms, worth more than twice the amount loaned. The bonds owned are United States Liberty Loan bonds, and the valuations are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

The valuations of securities are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

GENERAL REVIEW

This is a very old company which began business in 1835; it is licensed only in the Province of Quebec.

It writes both cash and mutual policies. The cash policies are written at about 10% below the tariff rates. On mutual policies the company takes notes equal to five and one-half times the tariff rates, upon which assessments are levied annually. The rate of dividend to policyholders during 1921 was 20% of the notes on five-year policies. This has been the rate for the past 20 years.

The laws of Quebec regarding premium notes given to mutual fire insurance companies are strict, and such notes may be considered as good assets.

The investments of the company are sound, consisting mainly of debentures of various Canadian cities, Provincial and Dominion bonds.

General Review.

This company began business June 1, 1848, and is licensed in Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Formerly the company required members to give premium notes as a guarantee that assessments would be paid, but in 1913 it dispensed with these, the directors deciding that the invested surplus was ample to meet all losses that might reasonably be expected, and it now issues non-assessable policies only. It makes its own rates.

Policies (fire) may be written on automobiles, covering the machines anywhere in the United States.

The company advises that the unearned premiums reserve is small because all regular policies previous to December 31, 1921, were made to expire on January 1st, but states that in the future policies will be made to expire on their own anniversary.

The loss ratio has been high, but the expense ratio is low.

The investments are of good character. The valuations used in this statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

NATIONAL LUMBER MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY — Continued.

General Review.

History.— This is a mutual company organized in 1918 by A. J. Davis to write fire insurance on lumber yards and manufacturing woodworkers. It was incorporated under the laws of Illinois, August 27, 1918, and received its license to commence business January 31, 1919.

The contingent liability of policyholders is fixed by the by-laws at one additional cash premium. The contingent resources of the company on December 31, 1921, were $4,438.18.

Under date of May 11, 1920, we were advised that the management of this company had recently been taken over by Parham, Hines & Company as general agents with offices at 29 South La Salle Street, Chicago, Ill., who had been the attorney-in-fact and manager of the Federal Reciprocal Underwriters, and the Reciprocal Insurance Bureau, both of Chicago, and both of which had been placed in the hands of receivers in December, 1920.

Later in 1921 we were advised that Parham, Hines & Company had resigned and that the management had been taken over by the National Mutual Underwriters, an Illinois corporation with $5,000 paid-in capital, of which John H. Hines is president, George G. Gilkeson, vice-president, and E. M. Stewart, secretary.

The secretary of the company is G. G. Gilkeson, who was president and manager of the Gilkeson-Davis Underwriting Company, attorney-in-fact for the National Merchants & Manufacturers Insurance Exchange, which was placed in the hands of a receiver, and also was formerly connected with the Preferred Reciprocal Fire Insurers, of Chicago, which was liquidated. Mr. Gilkeson also had been associated with the Bankers Inter-Insurance Alliance, of Kansas City, Mo., as a traveling representative; secretary of the American Trust Company, of Warrensburg, Mo., and the Indemnity Exchange, of Chicago, as Michigan representative.

On February 3, 1921, an assessment was levied on the policyholders to meet excessive losses, under which $29,902.91 was collected in 1921.

The management has done much to straighten the affairs of the company in the several months ending December 31, 1921. The above statement indicates that $29,902.91 had been collected by assessment on the policyholders, and that the president of the company had donated $17,974.10 toward the settlement of losses, and loaned the company an additional $20,000, leaving only $3,066.09 in unpaid losses at the close of the year, and enabling it to show the surplus indicated.

Officers.— President, J. H. Hines; vice-president, J. H. Allen; secretary, G. G. Gilkeson; treasurer, N. M. Snyder.

General Review.

This company was organized by direction of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in 1896, and began business March 20, 1899; it is licensed only in Illinois. It writes fire and tornado insurance.

It writes upon churches, parsonages, church schools and the household effects and libraries of ministers; also upon the homes, and contents, of members who sustain the churches.

While the charter and by-laws of the company permit it to place a liability of five annual premiums on policyholders, it has always used installment premium notes, which are reduced by each payment.

The statement of the company each year shows its expense ratio to be high. This is due to the system used by the company in conducting its business. Premiums are collected on the installment plan, and the company collects only such an amount as is necessary to pay running expenses and losses, and maintains a safe reserve. Any surplus as realized is credited back to policyholders in dividends.

On December 31, 1921, in addition to its cash assets, it held premium installment notes subject to assessment amounting to $753,586.31. In the above statement the amount of these notes is given following the cash assets, and it is deducted in the liabilities to show net cash resources.

The securities owned are of good character. The valuations used in this statement are those fixed by the Conven-

General Review.

This company was organized under the laws of the State of Ohio in 1914 and writes general fire, tornado and automobile fire and theft insurance. It operates on both the cash and assessment plan.

The company has a paid in guaranty fund of $50,000.

It uses its own rate schedules for automobile insurance, these being less than conference rates in "County 'B' Territory," but on general fire business stock company rates are used.

No extra assessment has ever been levied since the company has operated on the cash in advance plan.

It collects a cash premium in advance and the policyholders' liability is fixed by the by-laws at an amount equal to and in addition to one annual premium. On December 31, 1921, the contingent resources of the company were $249,012.70.

It writes through agents who are paid commissions.

Under date of March 8, 1920, the general agent, E. J. Brookhart, advised us that the Celina Mutual Casualty Company had been organized at Celina, Ohio, for the purpose of writing full coverage only upon automobiles, and that the officers, directors and management will be the same as of the National Mutual Insurance Company of Celina.

In 1921 its losses were high in the motor vehicle class, but on the whole it made a small underwriting profit.

GENERAL REVIEW

This company was organized in 1899 as an assessment hail association under the name National Hail Insurance Company. In January, 1917, its charter was amended, giving it authority to write various classes of insurance in addition to hail. It now writes fire, lightning and tornado insurance on all classes of town and farm property, including threshing machines and automobile collision and property damage insurance.

The amended articles of incorporation provide for the creation of a "guarantee surplus fund" in an amount not to exceed $500,000, to be represented by surplus notes, instead of stock certificates, as in the case of stock companies. Policyholders participate in any savings after not to exceed 10% interest is paid on the surplus notes. The company expects to create a permanent reserve fund of $100,000.

The company is licensed only in Nebraska and Mississippi and writes at the regular stock company rates. Its policies are of the Nebraska standard form and are non-assessable.

The underwriting manager is P. F. Zimmer, who has had many years' experience in the insurance business, and is considered a capable underwriter. He is also president of the Omaha Liberty Fire Insurance Company, of Omaha, which was established early in 1919. The president of the company, E. D. It is a member of the Associated Lumber Mutual Insuring Companies, and follows their rates in writing lumber classes.

The more general lines of mercantile, dwelling and farm risks are accepted from both salaried and commission agents, but it also specializes in certain classes of special hazard business handled directly through salaried representatives.

In 1920 and 1921 the loss and expense ratios were low, and the company made large underwriting gains. It is writing a large volume compared to its net resources.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company began business July 8, 1848. It is a mutual organization, but issues only non-assessable policies for a cash premium. It writes at the regular stock rates.

On June 11, 1919, all of the New England business of this company was reinsured in the National Liberty Insurance Company of America, New York City, a large and reputable institution.

The company is well managed and bears an excellent reputation. Its average expense of management and loss ratios are about normal. In 1920 the loss and expense ratios were above the average, and the increased writings necessitated a large increase to unearned premium reserve, which contributed to a fairly heavy underwriting loss. In 1921 its loss and expense ratios were a little above normal, causing a moderate underwriting loss. Its loss paying reputation is excellent.

It writes fire, automobile, sprinkler leakage, hail, explosion and tornado insurance.

Its investments are of high grade.

The mortgage loans are upon improved Ohio property, and are well secured.

The bonds and stocks owned are high grade. The security valuations in this statement are those fixed by the Cleveland Trust Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

The real estate owned by the company consists of seven pieces in Le Roy, Ohio, including its Home Office property, and one small piece in East Cleveland, Ohio, all carried at market value.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This company began business December, 1886, and bears a very good reputation. It has made excellent progress.

It writes both assessable and non-assessable policies. Under its assessable policies the company formerly operated on the premium note plan, but now operates upon the contingent liability plan, the contingent liability being fixed by the policy at one additional basis premium. It writes flour mills and grain elevators on the contingent liability plan, and all other classes upon the cash or non-participating plan.

No extra assessments have even been levied. The non-assessable policies are written at about the regular stock company rates, except on some special classes of risks.

Its expense ratio is low. In 1921 it had a bad year, the loss ratio being very high, resulting in a heavy underwriting loss and a reduction in surplus.

The mortgage loans are upon improved property in Stark county, principally in Canton, Ohio, and are well secured. The bonds and stocks owned are of good character.

On December 31, 1921, the contingent resources of the company were, $2,352.125.

Brown & Company, Inc., of Philadelphia, a prominent insurance office, which is in high repute.

General Review.

This is the oldest insurance company in America and has been very successful. It has accumulated very large resources. It was organized March 25, 1752, and limits itself to perpetual insurance in Pennsylvania on brick or stone buildings with non-hazardous occupations, which are written on the cash basis without contingent liability. The company inspects every risk and names it own rates, which are usually equal to or slightly above those of the stock companies. The business transacted is extremely small compared to its net resources.

It is licensed only in Pennsylvania and issues non-assessable policies only.

This company was organized in May, 1856. It writes in New York State except Greater New York. It is a member of the Co-operative Fire Underwriters Association, and its policies are of the New York State standard form. It writes usually at about 80% of the board rates.

Members may be assessed to pay their pro rata share of any losses which the cash on hand might fall short of paying, but in accordance with the law under which these companies operate, they are required to limit their liability in the business section of any city or village to not to exceed 1% of the total amount of insurance in force. General Review.

This is one of the co-operative fire insurance companies of New York State. It commenced business January 1, 1897. It confines its operations to New York State, with the exception of Buffalo and New York City.

It is a member of the Co-operative Fire Unlerwriters Association, and its policies are of the New York standard form. It writes at reductions from the board rates.

Members may be assessed to pay their pro rata share of any losses which the cash on hand might fall short of paying, but in accordance with the law under which these companies operate, they are required to limit their liability in the business section of any city or village to not to exceed 1% of the total amount of insurance in force. The expenses are limited by law to 35% of the premiums. These features therefore practically eliminate the conflagration hazard and possibility of extravagance in management.

The Co-operative Fire Underwriters Association claim that under the company's method of operation, the most severe assessment policyholders could possibly be called upon to pay would be an amount equal to one premium. The company has never made any assessments.

Section 267 of the Co-operative Fire Insurance Laws of New York State reads in part as follows: "Such corporation shall not make any additions to its surplus after the same equals one per cent of the amount of insurance in force." This same section also provides that "Any surplus may be distributed among the members whose policies shall expire during the ensuing year, proportioned according to the classification of the risks and the premiums paid thereon, such surplus being in cash or applied as a rebate on the premium required to renew the insurance on the same risk."

This company is paying dividends to policyholders at the expiration of the policies, as its surplus exceeds 1% of the total insurance in force.

GENERAL REVIEW.

This company began business April 22, 1898. It writes both fire and tornado insurance upon mercantile and manufacturing risks as well as upon dwelling property; it also writes automobile insurance.

The company for a time wrote some "surplus line" insurance, but advises us that this has been discontinued.

The assessment liability is fixed by the by-laws, and limited to an additional amount equal to the premium paid. On December 31, 1921, the contingent resources were $222,537.05.

The company writes on both the mutual and cash plans. Policies written on the cash basis do not participate in any profits of the company. These policies are written at regular stock company rates.

In Minnesota it writes all business at a uniform discount of 20% from tariff, this being allowed on renewals as well as new business, and no further dividends are paid. In North and South Dakota, the full premium is collected in advance, and a 20% dividend allowed at expiration. This also applies to participating policies written in outside territory where the company is not admitted.

The company lost heavily in the Minnesota forest fires in October, 1918, and found it necessary to levy an assessment upon mutual policyholders of 40% of the annual premiums based upon board rates. This was the first assessment ever made by the company.

C. L. Thurber, the founder and secretary of the company, died June 20, 1919. His son, L. M. Thurber, who was associated with him for many years, succeeded him as secretary.

The company has been in business since 1898 and has established an excellent reputation in the matter of treatment of policyholders and prompt payment of just claims; it has had an honorable career.

The securities owned are high class, and the valuations used are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners. The mortgages cover farm properties in North Dakota and Minnesota, and are apparently well secured.

GENERAL REVIEW.

This is a large and reputable company which was organized and began business in 1848. Though mutual in form it writes only upon the cash premium basis, paying dividends to members in the form of scrip, payable in cash after one year.

It is licensed only in Georgia, and has built up a substantial surplus. Its policies are of the New York Standard form.

The company advises that the largest line on any one risk is $10,000.

In the Augusta conflagration in March, 1916, the company suffered a loss of $584,000. In 1917 it suffered a loss of over $270,000 in the Atlanta conflagration. These conflagration losses were paid without suspending dividend payments to policyholders. The company's loss paying reputation is excellent.

The securities owned are of good character.

General Review.

This company was established in 1916 as the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company, of Texas, but during 1917 the name was changed to the above, as the company does a general business throughout the State.

The company is purely mutual, and the assessment liability of members is fixed by the by-laws, and is limited to an amount equal to one additional premium. The company claims that it does not have, subject to any one fire, more than the maximum written on any single risk. The largest aggregate amount insured in any one hazard is $8,000 on fire-proof risks; on risks of ordinary classes the net line is about $3,000. No assessments have been levied.

The company uses its own farm schedule which is a 10% discount from the State promulgated rates. Special hazard and mercantile risks are written at tariff rates.

In 1920 the company purchased a Home Office building 106 West Jefferson street, Dallas, Texas, and removed its Head Office to that place. The consideration was $35,000, and is carried in the statement at that amount.

Its investments are high grade. The company bears a good reputation in the matter of loss settlements.

The unearned premium reserve is set up on the basis of 40% of the annual premium, and pro rata of this basis for longer terms.

It writes fire, windstorm and tornado, and hail insurance.

It is licensed in Ga., Pa., and Texas.

GENERAL REVIEW.

This is a mutual assessment association which was organized in November, 1892. Its business is confined to town and city dwelling property, and the policies cover fire, lightning and tornado risks. Policies are issued for a term of five years and members are liable to unlimited assessment. It operates in Iowa only.

The association charges only the cost of conducting the business and usually levies two assessments in each five-year period. In the years in which no assessments are made the loss and expense ratios will appear high, and the figures for a five year period should be taken to show an average.

The association has been successfully managed and advises us that the insurance has been rendered at a saving of from 25% to 50% as compared with the stock company rates.

On December 31, 1921, the insurance in force amounted to $157,627,260.

GENERAL REVIEW.

This company was organized October 30, 1908, under the laws of Massachusetts, and licensed by the Insurance Commissioner of that State on November 5, 1908. It was formerly the United Druggists Mutual Fire Insurance Company, the present title being adopted during 1918.

It has a paid-in cash capital of $100,000 as a guaranty, which was subscribed for and paid in by some of the stockholders of the United Drug Company, with which it is closely affiliated. The dividends paid on the guaranty capital have been as follows: 1909, 3½%; 1910, 7%; 1911, 10½%; 1912, 3½%; 1913 to 1918, inc., 7%; 1920 and 1921, 7%; total dividends paid, $80,500.

The officers and directors are all drug men, and are connected with the United Drug Company. Insurance is written chiefly on Rexall drug stores, (United Drug Company stockholders), buildings, residences, household goods, and any property controlled by Rexall druggists; also automobile fire, theft and collision in conjunction with the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company of Boston which writes the liability and property damage. It charges the prevailing tariff or stock companies' rates, and at the expiration of the policy period returns a part of the premiums as dividends. All policyholders share returns in the same proportion.

Risks are widely scattered, thus avoiding large lines in congested centers and eliminating the conflagration hazard.

The company issues regular standard policies with mutual conditions, and the assessment liability is fixed by the by-laws and limited to an amount equal to and in addition to the premium. No assessment has ever been levied.

The bonds owned are of good character.

The "Mill Mutual" Fire Insurance Companies

The two groups of companies known as the "Senior Conference" and "Junior Conference" of mill mutual insurance companies operate upon unique lines, and in considering the tables presented below certain essential facts must be kept in mind.

These companies have been operating for many years, the oldest of them dating from 1835. They insure almost exclusively properties constructed and equipped with automatic sprinklers according to their own strict specifications, the result of decades of specialization in dealing with this type of fire insurance risks. They charge a substantial initial premium, but return to their members at the close of the period for which they are insured a large proportion of these premiums, representing the savings to the members after losses, expenses and reserves have been provided for. These returns are sometimes given the somewhat misleading title of "dividends;" they are more correctly described as "unabsorbed premiums returned."

The mill mutual insurance companies have accumulated large cash assets, and after charging themselves with liability for unearned premiums, computed upon the conservative basis fixed by the laws of the States in which they operate, they show in each case a substantial cash surplus. This item, however, does not correctly measure the responsibility of the companies. In the first place, the unearned premiums are computed upon the gross premiums received by these companies, and their experience over a long period of years demonstrates that only a very small part of the initial premium collected is required for the payment of losses and expenses. It follows that since the unearned premiums are set aside to provide for losses occuring between the time the statement is prepared and the expiration dates of the policies in force at the time the statement is made and the unearned premium liability computed, a correspondingly small percentage of the unearned premiums will be required for the liquidation of the business in force on the books of the various companies. Consequently, the surplus would be largly increased if the unearned premium liability were computed upon the basis of the experience of the companies instead of upon the arbitrary basis fixed by law.

In addition to this unrevealed element of financial strength the members of these companies assume a liability to assessment equal to five times the premium deposit, except in the case of the Narragansett Mutual Fire Insurance Company, whose members are liable for only three times the cash premium. The policyholders are substantial manufacturing concerns and undoubtedly able and willing to respond to an assessment should such action be necessary, but none of the companies listed below has ever found it necessary to levy an assessment. While there is always a possibility that a series of heavy losses might necessitate an assessment, that possibility is remote. These companies write large lines, usually upon isolated plants, and therefore are not subject to the conflagration hazard in the commonly accepted definition of that term. Lines should be graded in proportion to the size of the companies, particularly in dealing with the "Junior Conference."

A considerable proportion of the business written by the companies is for periods longer than one year.

Several of the companies are members both of the "Senior" and "Junior" Conferences, and we have duplicated their figures in order that subscribers desiring information as to the relative standing and results secured by the companies in either Conference may find in compact form the statistics of all the companies in either group.

"Lloyd's" Organizations

This department comprises reports upon all institutions operating in the United States and Canada on the so-called "Lloyds" plan, and writing fire and marine insurance or any of the lines allied with fire insurance.

The plan of organization of a "Lloyds" institution contemplates the assumption of a fixed proportion of the liability on each policy issued, by each of the individual underwriters, whose liability is several and not joint. If a "Lloyds" fails and the underwriters are called upon to pay its liabilities, responsible underwriters cannot be made to pay the indebtedness of those who may prove irresponsible. Usually a maximum limit of liability for each underwriter is mentioned in the policy contract, and should losses and expenses consume the premium income and create liabilities in excess of the aggregate liability assumed by the underwriters, the claimants must lose proportionately.

Polices of institutions of this character are as safe as those of any other insurance institution of similar financial strength provided the management is reputable and capable, and all the underwriters are financially responsible.

General Review.

History.—This Lloyds began business in 1890, and has paid good dividends to underwriters, besides accumulating a substantial cash surplus.

It has fifty underwriters, all of substantial individual resources, each of whom has paid in $2,000 in cash, and in addition is further liable to the extent of $8,000, making a fund for the protection of policyholders of $500,000 (including the $100,000 subscribers deposits paid in) beyond accumulated surplus funds. The New York Insurance Department has passed upon the financial standing of each of the underwriters, and under the present law has power to reject any who are not satisfactory financially.

It has $200,000 deposited with the New York Life Insurance and Trust Company, as trustee, for the protection of policyholders.

Management.—The manager and attorney-in-fact of this institution is Edward E. Hall, Inc., of New York, and it is in excellent repute. The Guaranty Fire Assurance Corporation of New York, of which Edward E. Hall is vice-president, is under the same management.

The securities owned are of an excellent character, and the valuations used in the statement are those fixed by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners. Its loss paying record is excellent.

Managing Committee.—John S. Sutphen, David S. Walton, Leo H. Wise.

Liability of Underwriters.—The liability of underwriters is limited to $10,000 each beyond the accumulated surplus funds for losses incurred in a single conflagration; otherwise the liability is unlimited. GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is a Lloyds Institution, the charter of which was purchased early in 1918 from Messers. Wilcox, Peck & Hughes by R. A. Corroon & Company, insurance brokers and underwriters of New York City. It resumed business on February 14, 1918.

Management.—The Manhattan Agency Corporation, of which Mr. R. A. Corroon is president, is the attorney. It confines its operation to the writing of fire and marine reinsurance.

The net volume of business written is moderate, but until 1921 the loss ratio was high, and its underwriting unprofitable. In 1921 the loss ratio was above normal and the expense ratio favorable.

We present herewith a list of the underwriters, whose subscription amount to $250,000, 25% of which has actually been paid in, the remaining 75% being subject to call by the finance committee.

INTERNATIONAL LLOYDS,

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is a Lloyds institution which began business March 1, 1918. The liability assumed by the underwriters is for varying proportions of each policy issued, as shown below.

This Lloyd's has not responded to our several requests for information to report in this volume, and report made herein was prepared from information previously furnished.

Up to the close of 1918 the underwriters' subscriptions totalled $100,000. The same was paid in as follows: $30,000 in cash, $45,000 approved collateral notes, $25,000 subscribers' individual notes, it being understood that the makers' pro rata earnings in the association should be first applied to the liquidation of said individual notes.

On January 1, 1919, the amount of subscriptions was increased from $100,000 to $250,000, payments therefore by the individual subscribers being as follows: $74,750 in cash, $118,500 notes with approved collateral security, $56,750 in individual notes.

Management.—This Lloyds is managed by John W. McGinety, attorney-in-fact. Mr. McGinety is secretary of the American Mutual Insurance Company, of Indianapolis, and has had many years of experience in the insurance business. L. S. MacEnaney was jointly interested with Mr. McGinety in the management, but retired in 1920.

The liability of each subscriber is limited to the amount of his subscription.

In 1920 the loss and expense ratios were high.

It writes fire and tornado insurance.

The attorney-in-fact receives as compensation 25% of the net premiums, a contingent commission of 10% of the underwriting profit and 5% additional on premiums received on reinsurance treaties that are approved by the Executive Committee, when the commission allowance on such reinsurance premiums would not net that amount. Out of this compensation the attorney-in-fact pays all salaries, commissions and other expenses, excepting those properly chargeable to the underwriters, viz., loss adjustments, legal expenses and taxes.

The fund, securities and investments are in the custody of the Executive Committee, consisting of the attorney-in-fact and five subscribers, as follows: Reily Adams, president Security Trust Co.; T. C. Rapp, president Weidley Motor Company; J. P. Cook, vice-president National Concrete Co.; F. H. Irwin, vice-president American Mutual Ins. Co.; E. B. Raub, general counsel Indianapolis Life Ins. Co.

The New York standard form of policy is used, with the customary provisions used by organizations of this class.

LIBERTY UNDERWRITERS OF NEW YORK,

81 John Street, New York City.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is a Lloyds organization operating under the charter originally used by the Isthmus Lloyds of New York, which commenced business in 1886.

This Lloyds has not furnished full information and financial statement as of December 31, 1921, to incorporate in these reports. It has furnished a new list of underwriters, which is printed below, and also advised that as of June 7, 1922, its outstanding fire risks were reinsured in the Ohio Millers Mutual Fire Insurance Company, Canton, Ohio, and on June 8, 1922, the outstanding automobile risks were reinsured in the Pacific Fire Insurance Company, of New York. It is understood that, at least for the present, its activities will be restricted to a small business.

The general report made herein was prepared from information furnished to us previous to December 31, 1921.

Early in 1919 the charter was purchased by Squire Company, Inc., from R. A. Corron & Company, who had purchased the original charter early in 1917. It began writing business December 1, 1919. It has been in operation too short a time under the present management to have established a record.

It has twenty-nine underwriters, each possessing $20,000 or more above all liabilities, who have subscribed in varying amounts ($2,500 units), and, as of March 31, 1920, total subscriptions aggregated $340,000, of which $170,000 had been paid in in cash and demand notes given for the balance. The New York Insurance Department has passed upon the financial standing of each of the underwriters and under the present law has power to reject any who are not satisfactory financially.

Management.—The underwriting is under the control of Squire Company, Inc., attorney-in-fact of this Lloyds, who are also general agents of the Ohio Millers Mutual Fire Insurance Company and the Mill Owners Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Iowa.

The officers of Squire Company, Inc., are: President and treasurer, A. B. Squire; vice-president, R. H. Squire; secretary, Louis C. Habig. Mr. Habig has the underwriting in charge. He has had long insurance training, having been assistant secretary of the Stuyvesant Insurance Company of New York and being associated for more than twenty years with J. S. Frelinghuysen and the Globe & Rutgers Fire Insurance Company as underwriter. He has with him in the underwriting department T. F. Allen, who for a number of years was with Fred S. James & Company.

Executive Committee.—Louis C. Habig, chairman; Winthrop Sargent, Jr., Thomas J. Evans, Jr., George W. Horton and Reginald H. Squire.

Finance Committee.—Frederick C. Harriman, chairman; Perry R. Smith, Aldis B. Squire, Gilbert H. Fates, Eugene Evans and Reginald H. Squire.

Liability of Underwriters.—The liability of underwriters is limited to the full amount of subscriptions beyond the accumulated surplus funds. A retiring underwriter cannot withdraw his cash deposit and accumulated funds until all claims have been settled and all policies expired on which he was interested as an underwriter.

Kinds of Insurance Written.—It writes fire, inland marine and automobile insurance.

Territory.—It is licensed in New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

LLOYDS, LONDON, ENGLAND.

History.—This is the oldest insurance organization in existence, dating from the latter part of the seventeenth century. The name is derived from one Edward Lloyd, the proprietor of a coffee house, who facilitated the transaction of business between his guests. At this coffee house, "Lloyds' News," was published, which later became "Lloyds' List." It does not issue policies as an organization, the members underwriting as individuals under the supervision of a governing committee. The financial standing of applicants for membership is carefully investigated, and each member is required to deposit with the governing committee a minimum sum of £5,000, and in the majority of cases considerably more is demanded, according to the extent of business to be transacted.

The "Assurance Companies' Act" of 1909, governing insurance companies of all classes in England, which became operative July 1, 1910, also applies to underwriters at Lloyds, and underwriters writing non-marine risks are subject to the following requirements:

(a) "All premiums received by or on behalf of the underwriter in respect of fire and accident insurance or reinsurance business carried on by him either alone or in conjunction with any other insurance business for which special requirements are not laid down in this schedule, shall without any apportionment be placed in a trust fund in accordance with the provisions of a trust deed approved by the Board of Trade.

(b) "He shall also furnish security to the satisfaction of the Board of Trade (or, if the board so direct, to the satisfaction of the committee of the association), which shall be available solely to meet claims under policies issued by him in connection with fire and accident business and any other non-marine business carried on by him for which special requirements are not laid down in this schedule.

"The security may be furnished in the form of either a deposit or a guarantee, or partly in the one form and partly in the other."

The amount of the security to be furnished shall never be less than the aggregate of the premiums received or receivable by the underwriter in the last preceding year in connection with such fire and accident and other non-marine business.

(c) "The accounts of every underwriter shall be audited annually by an accountant, approved by the committee of the association, who shall furnish a certificate to the committee of the association and to the Board of Trade in the form prescribed by the Board of Trade."

These requirements are practically those that had been existing at Lloyds for many years, but until the act was passed there was no power to enforce universal compliance.

Guarantees for non-marine business were first given in 1904, and in 1908 members voluntarily agreed to the audit of their accounts.

Lloyds fire insurance policies covering American risks usually contain a warranty that some large English or American company carries a specified line on the same risk, at the same rate, and under the same form; and the infrequent delays and disputes of which we have heard in connection with Lloyds policies have usually been caused by the violation of such warranties. A considerable percentage of the policies covering American risks are placed through brokerage houses doing a large business with the Lloyds underwriters; and any attempt of the latter to evade a just claim would make it difficult for them to secure any further business in this country.

Policyholders should observe scrupulously the warranties written in the policies, as a breach of these warranties may render the insurance void.

Another important point to be considered is the reliability and reputation of the brokers through whom the policies of this institution are obtained.

The Lloyds underwriters, with the exception of a few in the State of Illinois, are not entered in the various States of the United States, and where not entered, in case of necessity to bring suit, action would have to be brought in the English courts.

The individual Lloyds underwriters usually operate through an attorney agent, each agent representing in most cases a number of underwriters, thus forming various groups.

For the convenience of our subscribers who hold Lloyds policies we list below the names of the agents (in heavy type) and underwriters represented by them, who have complied with the requirements of the Committee at Lloyds'.

New syndicates, and additions to existing syndicates from December 31, 1921, to April 30, 1922 are included. Syndicates in which all the names have not furnished Non-Marine Security are marked "Marine only," while those syndicates which transact only Non-Marine business are marked "Non-Marine." It should be understood that where neither of these notes appears against a syndicate, security has been furnished for both Marine and Non-Marine.

DECEMBER 31, 1921.

AT LUMBERMEN'S LLOYDS,

Eau Claire, Wis.

History.—This association was organized in 1893. The management does not furnish us with full information, but gives the following general information: That during its twenty-eight years of operation the loss ratio has averaged about 37%, and the expenses have been only 3% of the premiums, and that the dividends paid and undivided profits during the period of its existence have been about 63%. This Lloyds does not operate upon a commission basis, the business being transacted by a salaried attorney.

The maximum policy issued is $25,000. The gross amount for which any subscriber may be bound on any one risk is limited to $2,500. The total assets as of December 31, 1919, amounted to $175,783.37, with no unpaid losses.

The management has also advised us that the funds of the Lloyd's are in either government bonds or cash.

The liability of the underwriters is several and not joint, each subscriber acting for himself and independent of the others.

In 1918, L. E. Dunnigan became attorney of this Lloyds, succeeding Mr. J. A. Smith, deceased.

It has an advisory committee of five members, as follows: Wm. Irvine, Weyerhaeuser Timber Co., Chippewa Falls, Wis.; J. T. Barber, North Western Lumber Co., Eau Claire, Wis.; L. S. Case, of Weyerhaeuser Sales Co., Spokane, Wash.; C. F. Wiehe, Edw. Hines Lumber Co., Chicago, Ill.; Jno. S. Owen, John S. Owen Lumber Co., Eau Claire, Wis.

A complete financial statement showing all items of assets, liabilities, income and disbursements should be furnished, also a complete list of underwriters and the amounts subscribed and paid in by each, in order that its standing and operations can be understood.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is a Lloyds, formerly known as the Merchants Fire Lloyds, organized in 1888. The charter of this organization passed through several hands and was operated under various managements with which the present interests had nothing to do, until in August, 1919, it was purchased by Skinner Underwriting Agency, Inc., the name having been changed to the present one.

It is too early, under its present management, to have established a record. In 1920 the loss and expense ratios were above normal. Owing to reinsurance of its business, as hereinafter referred to, its loss and expense ratios were disproportionate in 1921.

This Lloyd's in order to facilitate some changes in its list of underwriters the management advised us, reinsured its outstanding risks as of November 29, 1921, in the Stuyvesant Insurance Company, of New York.

Management.—The attorney-in-fact and manager is Skinner Underwriting Agency, Inc. James R. Skinner has been in the insurance business for many years. The present list of subscribers and underwriters number twenty-five, having been passed upon and approved by the Insurance

General Review.

This is a Lloyds organization which began business July 2, 1918, with total subscriptions of $100,000, of which $20,000 was paid in and non-interest bearing notes given for the balance of $80,000. The manager and attorney-in-fact are W. E. Green, Shiner, Texas; Phillip Welhausen, W. E. Green and D. J. Shall of Yoakum, Texas. Green and Shall are actuaries and managers for the attorney-in-fact; and Philip Welhausen, Yoakum, Texas, is treasurer.

The unpaid notes are included in the assets, but are deducted in the liabilities as a part of the guaranty capital.

W. E. Green has represented stock companies for a number of years and is secretary and manager of the South Texas Ginners Mutual Fire Insurance Company, Yoakum, Texas, which he organized. D. J. Shall has been an insurance agent for eight years and for one year has served as actuary for the South Texas Ginners Mutual Fire Insurance Company. Fire, tornado, hail and automobile fire and theft insurance is written.

The loss ratio of this organization for 1920 was approximately 62%, and in 1921 it was 65.3% on the written, and 96% on the earned premium basis. The expenses were low but this high loss ratio caused an underwriting loss of $14,247.12, and caused a deficit in surplus of $5,714.50.

This Lloyds was examined by the Texas State Insurance Department as of May 31, 1922, and, deducting the item of underwriters' notes ($80,000) and some other small items as unadmitted assets, made the admitted assets $50,552.88, net surplus, $3,344.45, and surplus to policyholders, $23,344.45.

Any underwriter may withdraw from his agreement by giving ten days written notice, or failing to fulfill obligations may be dropped, and the amounts he has underwritten shall be cancelled, and his account liquidated.

The attorneys and managers receive 25% of net premiums and pay all expenses except losses. The underwriting committee consists of E. F. Wolters, capitalist, Shiner, Texas; C. L. Strieber, gins and mills, Yorktown, Texas; A. J. McKean, merchants and ginners, Prairie Lea, Texas; Charles Fischer, gins and mills, Cuero, Texas; M. A. Meyer, lumber, Yoakum, Texas; J. B. GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is a Lloyds institution consisting of various units of underwriters in groups of ten subscribers each. Each underwriter subscribes to a liability of $10,000, of which $1,000 is paid in in cash or securities as a guaranty that they will meet any immediate call upon their subscription. Of the subscription $250 was applied to organization expense. The management advises us that no underwriter shall be placed on a single risk for an amount in excess of $250, and that if they do not meet all calls on their subscription upon ten days' notice the amounts called will be deducted from their deposit above referred to. Further, that an underwriter not meeting calls within ten days will be suspended and his account reinsured. The first group was licensed January 31, 1921, and on April 14, 1922, six groups of underwriters had been formed and licensed by the Illinois State Insurance Department. It is the plan of the managment to continue forming additional groups of underwriters.

Managment and Reputation.—The management of these groups of Lloyds is in the hands of the Preferred Underwriting Company, Inc., a corporation incorporated under the laws of Illinois for $250,000, of which the management advises us $200,000 has been paid in in cash and notes. The officers of the management company are: President, Joseph W. Stephens; vice-president, R. A. Lunde and David Wideman; secretary, W. I. Le Dioyt; treasurer, David Wiedmyer, vice-president and director of Logan Square Trust and Savings Bank, of Chicago. The active underwriting management is in the hands of A. G. Hailand.

Joseph W. Stephens has been in the insurance business for a number of years. He started with the National Insurance Bureau at Kansas City as an employee; leaving them he assisted in the organization of the American Exchange at Kansas City. He was president of the Preferred Underwriting Company, attorneys-in-fact for the Preferred Reciprocal Fire Insurers, which went into liquidation about the end of 1920. We have no advice of either of the vice-presidents having previous insurance experience. The secretary, W. Le Dioyt has been active as a stock broker and stock salesman with also some manufacturing experience and was vice-president of the Preferred Underwriting Company, attorney-in-fact of the Preferred Reciprocal Fire Insurers.

The underwriter, A. G. Hailand, has been active in the insurance business since 1912, first with the Western Department of the Queen Insurance Company, and then with the Millers National Insurance Company, Chicago. He was engaged with the Chicago office of Johnson & Higgins, and R. A. Corroon & Company, insurance brokerage firms. Before assuming position with this Lloyds he was office manager at Detroit, Michigan, for Messrs. Murphy & O'Brien, insurance agency.

The management advises us that these underwriters will operate along the lines of a non-affiliated stock company and that the maximum liability assumed for any one underwriter who has subscribed $10,000, is $250 on any single risk, and that their charter permits them to write fire, hail, lightning, windstorm and sprinkler leakage insurance; also that all underwriters participate in every policy issued.

A trustee agreement has been made whereby securities of these underwriters are deposited with the Chicago Title and Trust Company, Chicago, Illinois, which funds may be withdrawn subject to the order in writing of the president or treasurer, and attested to by the secretary of the Preferred Underwriting Company, Inc.

The underwriters are licensed at the present time in the State of Illinois only.

The statement furnished to us by the management as of April 15, 1922, including the funds of the first six groups of underwriters is as follows:

Assets.—Cash and convertible securities, $60,090.85; collateral loans, $750.00; premiums in process of collection, $2,965.18; underwriters' guarantee fund (demand obligation), $540,000.00; total, $603,706.03.

Liabilities.—Losses in process of adjustment, $1,644.13; unearned premium reserve, $1,298.79; reinsurance payable, $198.89; surplus, $60,556.12; underwriters' guarantee fund, $540,000.00; total, $603,706.03.

PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICES OF RECIPROCAL OR INTER-INSURANCE EXCHANGES

Recognizing the increased importance of reciprocal exchanges as a factor in the insurance business of this country, we have been for several years standardizing, so far as is possible, our reports upon them, so that our comments will cover all the essential elements entering into the consideration of the desirability of membership therein.

From various exchanges we have obtained copies of the powers of attorney, sample forms of policies, and have secured signed statements from the various attorneys as to the plans of operation. As a whole these plans are similar, but several of the exchanges have variations from the general plan, and to the student of insurance practices a careful study of the following pages should be of particular interest.

The growth and development in recent years of the exchange of indemnity covering practically all classes except life insurance, through the medium of reciprocal insurance organizations, has been extensive. At the present time, May, 1922, we are reporting herein upon 112 fire and automobile insurance exchanges, excluding those which are merely branches or "trade names." Our annual volume of insurance reports covering casualty and miscellaneous organizations, also reports upon 86 reciprocal exchanges writing workmen's compensation, liability, collision and property damage insurance, 62 of these being included also in this volume, by reason of their writing some classes reported upon herein. The aggregate premium income of these 136 institutions was, in 1921, over $35,000,000, and their membership includes leading individuals, firms and corporations in many of the most important lines of business activity.

The well-managed reciprocal insurance exchanges meet their losses promptly and fairly, and furnish reliable indemnity at a net cost usually less than that of stock company insurance. This they are able to do because they escape many legitimate expenses of the stock companies, due to their wholly different plan of operation. On the other hand, the comparative ease with which a reciprocal insurance exchange can be launched has resulted in the formation of many organizations of this sort, which are so loosely and inexpertly constructed and managed that the indemnity afforded by their policies is questionable; and this situation suggests the importance of a careful review of the principles and practices of reciprocal or inter-insurance as now conducted.

LEGISLATION

Many states have already legislated upon the subject, but every state should have laws clearly defining the requirements for organizing, conducting and reporting the transactions of such organizations and placing them effectively under the jurisdiction of the state insurance departments; such supervision under existing laws in most states being inadequate.

While it is conceded that reciprocal or inter-insurance organizations are associations of individuals, firms and/or corporations, formed for the purpose of inter-change of indemnity and not for profit, they should be recognized as definite organizations and entities so that they may be as such safeguarded by proper requirements and supervision.

In recent years the situation in the field of reciprocal insurance has been confused and weakened by the introduction of a new element, namely a large number of reciprocal exchanges formed for the purpose of insuring automobiles against various hazards. The insurance of automobiles (a comparatively new development in the insurance world) brings into operation principles differing widely from those followed by insurance organizations, (whatever their structure), which writes fire insurance upon other kinds of property; and from the point of view of effective legislative control the principal defect of existing laws is that they were created at a time when the institutions sought to be supervised were writing fire insurance upon some single class of business in which the physical hazards in the various risks insured were fundamentally similar and under conditions which made readily enforceable and collectible the contingent liability assumed by the members. State laws and departmental regulations for the government of such organizations are not applicable to the newer organizations insuring automobiles only.

Reciprocal exchanges may be divided broadly into three classes:—

1. Those writing fire insurance on a single class of hazards or two or more classes of the same general hazard. These institutions as a rule write very large lines, the amount of liability assumed on a single risk seeming in many cases disproportionate to both the premium income and the number of separate risks insured, as well as the net cash resources, except as this opinion might be modified by the consideration of the effectiveness of sprinkler equipments.

Digitized by Google

2. Reciprocal exchanges insuring owners of automobiles against the risks of fire, theft, collision, property damage or liability, or any combination of these classes. These are for the most part of recent origin; in many cases their attorneys and managers have little or no practical experience, and this group constitutes the most dangerous element in the present reciprocal insurance situation. Many of these concerns are writing at fatally inadequate rates and others are burdened with an expense allowance to the attorney and manager sure to result in disaster. Still others are well managed and successful.

3. Reciprocal exchanges writing workmen's compensation and liability insurance.

There are in existence also a few exchanges endeavoring to write general fire insurance under a plan which in effect makes them un-incorporated mutual companies. They have no facilities for passing intelligently upon the quality of the risks offered, and experience indicates that they are a weak reliance for any policyholder.

We deal in this volume only with exchanges of the first two classes mentioned above, and the few exceptions mentioned in the last preceding paragraph. The point we wish to emphasize is that all legislation attempting to supervise these concerns must, to be effective, deal separately with the two principal classes first above mentioned, namely, the large fire reciprocals and the automobile reciprocals.

MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS FOR "CLASS 1" RECIPROCALS

In our judgment, based upon nearly twenty-five years' observation of all reciprocal exchanges operating in this country, the minimum legal requirements for the organization of new or the government of existing reciprocal exchanges of the first class above mentioned (the fire reciprocals) should be:—

1. The subscribers should be required to file with the Insurance Commissioner upon applying for a license, and annually thereafter, a statement under oath giving:—

(a) The name or title under which policies are issued or to be issued, which title should not be so similar to any other name or other title previously adopted by a similar organization or by insurance corporation or association as in the opinion of the Insurance Commissioner is calculated to result in confusion or deception.

(b) The kind or kinds of insurance to be written.

(c) A copy of the policy contract or contracts.

(d) A copy of the power of attorney, underwriting agreement, by-laws and any other documents affecting the underwriting operations.

(e) Location of the principle office.

(f) An affidavit that applications have been received for insurance upon at least one hundred separate risks in the case of fire insurance, and other lines (except automobile), which fire insurance companies are permitted to write. These risks should be so located as to give a reasonable distribution of underwriting liability.

(g) A statement of the proposed or exisiting underwriting plan which, as to the adequacy of rates charged, distribution of underwriting liability, maximum line assumed subject to one fire and limitation of expense, shall be satisfactory to the supervising state official.

(h) A cash fund of not less than $25,000 (to be proportionately increased in the case of exchanges writing an exceptionally large volume of business) to be deposited with the Insurance Commissioner under conditions that it cannot be withdrawn as long as policies or claims are outstanding, this to be maintained in excess of all legal claims including unearned premium deposits.

MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS FOR "CLASS 2" (AUTOMOBILE) RECIPROCALS

In a general way the requirements for "Class 1" reciprocals apply to this class also, but automobile insurance differs in some essential features from that applying to other classes of property, and in addition to the general requirements for the organization of new,or the government of existing reciprocals, the subscribers should be required to comply with the following:

1. File with the Insurance Commissioner upon making application for license and annually thereafter,

(a) Statement showing all classes of automoble insurance to be written;

(b) Copies of all policies and riders to be used;

(c) Plans for making rates for all the different classes, which rates should be adhered to without discrimination between subscribers;

Digitized by Google

(d) Membership and/or policy fees, if any, to be charged.

(e) Compensation to attorney-in-fact, limiting the cost to subscribers, including policy fees, if any, to an amount satisfactory to the supervising state officials.

(f) Limits of liability to be accepted upon each class.

(g) An affidavit that applications have been received from at least 500 subscribers and for insurance upon at least 1,000 automobiles.

(h) If liability and property damage insurance is to be written, an additional cash fund to be deposited with the Insurance Commissioner under conditions that it cannot be withdrawn as long as policies or claims of this class are outstanding, in an amount not less than five times the maximum liability insured against in any one accident; the amount of such deposit to be adequately and proportionately increased in the case of exchanges writing an exceptionally large volume of busines.

The law should provide accounting requirements applicable to this class of insurance, showing the experience record of each class of insurance written, as well as the amounts chargeable to and credited to each subscriber, and the general underwriting results. Also, that when filings are made with the Insurance Commissioner, including the general plans of operating, changes shall not be made until new filings are made and approved by the Insurance Commissioner.

ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS APPLICABLE TO ALL RECIPROCAL EXCHANGES

The law should also provide:—

For service of process on the Insurance Commissioner or upon the attorney-in-fact.

For a reserve for unearned premium deposits, equal to 50 per cent. on annual, and pro rata on longer term contracts, without deduction of commissions or other charges.

For an annual report in detail of assets and liabilities, income and disbursements.

For the exchange to be subject to examination by the Insurance Commissioner.

For corporations to have authority to become members of reciprocal insurance organization.

For violation of the law to be punishable as a misdemeanor, by a fine of from one hundred to one thousand dollars.

For a certificate of authority to operate.

For a tax upon the premiums collected at the same rate as paid by other classes of insurance organizations.

For the attorney-in-fact to be adequatey bonded.

For a governing committee consisting of at least five members to have authoritative charge of the finances and affairs of the exchange.

That service upon, or court verdicts against, one member, shall be equally binding upon all members, including pro rata share of costs and charges.

That no policy should be issued except to a member who has signed a uniform power of attorney or agreement.

NECESSARY SAFEGUARDS

The reciprocal insurance plan is as safe as any other for conducting a fire insurance business, provided certain fundamental principles are recognized and adhered to.

The underwriting basis—that is, the number of risks insured, amount of liability assumed subject to a single fire, and avoidance of conflagration liability—is fundamentally important. In general, such an exchange should not write, subject to a single fire, an amount exceeding one-half of the net annual premium income in the case of sprinklered risks of high character, nor more than one-fifth of the net premium income in the case of more hazardous risks; and the management should aim to accumulate a cash surplus fund (from which unusual losses could be paid) of at least twice such maximum liability subject to one fire. If due attention is paid to establishing a sound underwriting basis, and ordinary business prudence exercised in the subsequent operation of such an exchange, its members will be reasonably safeguarded, but if the fundamental underwriting basis is not sound, no provision for a small cash deposit with the insurance authorities, or for the creation of a so-called guarantee fund, will serve to save such an organization from failure; and yet this basic principle appears to be practically ignored in all existing laws relating to such exchanges.

The maximum line to be written upon a single risk or subject to one fire should be limited to an amount proportionate to the number of separate risks insured the annual premium income, the paid-in or accumulated surplus fund, and the assessment liability assumed by the members. The hazardous character, construction, and protection of risks should also be taken into consideration.

The maximum amount written upon any risk subject to one fire should not greatly exceed the average line written, and conflagration liability should be avoided.

An insurance contract, to be satisfactory, must be enforceable by the holder. Disputes may, and do, occur between perfectly honest insurers and equally honest claimants. The plan of reciprocal insurance does not contemplate the appointment of local agents upon whom valid service of process can be secured, and as the business of these exchanges extends almost invariably to many states, the laws of each state should provide for the recognition of the legitimacy of their operations and for the service of process upon the Insurance Commissioner in event of a dispute arising.

The loss-paying ability of any exchange issuing policies of reciprocal insurance must be beyond question. The law under which reciprocal organizations operate should, therefore, provide a standard of financial responsibility for the members of such exchanges, for their guarantee is all that is available for the protection of policyholders who may suffer loss should the premiums collected prove inadequate for the payment of losses and expenses.

There should also be a standard of solvency for the inter-insurance organization as such, irrespective of the financial responsibility of its component parts. This is recognized in the laws of New York State in the following provision:—

"Any such Lloyds and inter-insurance associations as may be thus authorized to do business in this State shall at all times keep and maintain a fund of an amount equal to all outstanding claims and other liabilities, plus the unearned premiums on the policies in force, calculated on the gross sums, without any deduction on any account, charged to the policyholder on each respective risk, from the date of the policy, and in addition the sum of two hundred thousand dollars," * * * to transact either a fire or ocean marine insurance business, or the sum of $400,000 * * * to transact both a fire and ocean marine insurance business.

Expenses of management should be limited to not exceeding 25 per cent. of the net premiums written. Many of the best managed exchanges are operating at a much lower expense ratio. The comparatively small premiums of automobile exchanges may justify an additional management expense, of say 5%, but this limit should include all fees and/or charges upon subscribers.

Those reciprocal insurance organizations which have confined their business to risks of similar classification have been, as a rule, successful, while those which have written a business of miscellaneous character have shown almost uniformly bad results.

All important restrictions upon the authority given to the attorney-in-fact to bind the members should be embodied in the power of attorney.

The measure of the liability assumed should be the premium paid rather than some arbitrary "subscription," by means of which a member may secure a large amount of insurance upon his own property while assuming only a small liability upon the risks of other members.

The manager should not be permitted any discretion as to the risks upon which any particular member shall assume liability. Every acceptable member should insure a part of the risk of every other member. In such an organization favoritism in any form is very dangerous.

The liability to assessment should be sufficient to insure the payment of any loss incurred, and should be so clearly defined as to leave no room for misunderstanding. Some of the clauses we have reviewed were dangerously indefinite, loose or ambiguous.

The qualifications for membership should be embodied in the agreement, and applicants should be passed upon by a committee independent of the management.

The power of attorney agreements are usually broad and explicit as to the powers and privileges of the attorney, but silent or vague as to his duties and responsibillties.

The tendency to commercialize the attorney-in-fact management, and to increase the compensation thereof threatens the usefulness of this class of insurance.

Subscribers in considering statements purporting to show their net savings should not overlook the fact that earnings left to surplus or unused premium deposit account will be diminished by losses occuring after the date of the statement under policies previously issued, unless the account rendered shows clearly an adequate reserve to cover that liability.

BAD PRACTICES WHICH SHOULD BE AVOIDED BY RECIPROCALS

In our careful review of the methods of the various offices we have noted departures from the established practices of the best managed exchanges, which have resulted or may result in disaster. These include:—

1. The appointment of insurance agents or brokers on a commission basis for securing members.

2. The acceptance of members on terms other than as specified in the power of attorney; for instance, the issuance of polices to individuals, firms or corporations who have not signed any power of attorney; the policies when issued containing a clause exempting the policyholder from assessment, and limiting the cost of the insurance to the amount of specified premium, with or without participation in savings, if any.

3. The acceptance of large gross lines and the reinsurance of the excess. Our investigations as reported in the following pages show that certain exchanges are reinsuring from twice to nine times their net retention. In case of the failure to collect any of the reinsurance the liability rests upon the members of the original exchange issuing the policy, and in many cases this would probably cause the subscriber to be obligated by the attorney for a larger amount than was authorized by the power of attorney signed by the subscriber, opening the way for a serious dispute, and raising a question as to the legality of the contract.

4. Some exchanges do not set up as a liability in their financial statements any amount representing the unearned portion of the premium deposits paid in advance by the members; and others set aside an inadequate amount to cover that liability. The managers of some of the best of the reciprocal exchanges contend that in reciprocal insurance there is no liability for unearned premiums (as in the case of incorporated stock or mutual insurance companies) for the reason that the agreement with the members provides that their premium deposits must first be used to pay loss claims, the unused portion of such premium deposits to be returned to the members in the event of the cancellation of his policy or the liquidation of his account. This is a correct theory of the relations between the members of a reciprocal insurance exchange, and from that point of view the contention of the attorneys and managers is sound. We agree also that the primary function of any insurance organization is to pay loss claims, and that therefore, as a matter of equity, the claims of policyholders who have sustained losses should be considered superior to the claims of other policyholders for return premiums. It is necessary, however, in order to furnish the members of such an exchange, or anyone else interested in its affairs, with reliable information as to its financial strength and the status of the accounts of the various members, that the unearned portion of premium deposits paid by the members in advance (in the belief that they represent premiums paid for a fixed amount of insurance for a fixed period), be shown as a liability in the statement of the exchange and in the individual statements rendered to the members. Sound finance and accounting require this treatment, regardless of the fact that under the reciprocal insurance plan, and in accordance with the agreement signed by the members of such an exchange, loss claims are preferred over claims for return premiums. Moreover, any member or all the members may cancel their policies at any time and demand the return of the unused portion of their premium deposits; therefore the exchange should be in a position at all times to refund the unused portion of every premium deposit, including the proportionate amount of the attorney-in-fact's commission, unless the operating agreement provides that in such an event the attorney and manager may retain commission upon the entire amount of the premium deposit (which would not be equitable) and not merely upon the earned portion thereof, (which is the proper basis). It is clear, therefore, that the liability for unearned premium deposits should be computed upon the full amount thereof, without deducting the management expenses, even though such deduction is permitted by the laws of some states.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which was organized and received its license from the Illinois Insurance Department March 22, 1919, and commenced business on the same day.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the American Auto Insurance Agency, incorporated March, 1919, under the laws of the State of Illinois for $15,000 fully paid in.

The officers of the attorney-in-fact are: President, Addison Bidwell, president First National Bank, Freeport, Illinois; vice-president, C. W. Chapman, secretary of Security Trust Company, Freeport, Ill.; secretary, treasurer, and manager, L. G. Younglove..

The directors are the above officers and H. B. Hill, president of the Hill Grain Company, and L. H. Burrel, attorney at law.

Mr. Younglove bears a good general reputation, has been successful in business, but had no previous insurance experience.

The exchange has not operated long enough to have fully established records of loss paying, management and savings to policyholders. In 1920 the losses were moderate and the expenses high, being nearly three times the amount paid for losses. In 1921 the losses were about normal and the expenses somewhat above normal. The item of unearned premium deposits appears small, but in regard to this the management advises that the greater part of the income is derived from assessments and previously earned. The management advises that the "guaranty fund" consists of bonds, farm mortgages, and cash, but we are not advised as to the conditions as to withdrawal.

As the exchange makes its own rates, and is making no cash returns to subscribers, savings, if any, to subscribers will be indicated by comparing cost in the exchange to similar coverage in conference companies.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange writes fire, theft, tornado, cyclone, collision, property damage and public liability on automobiles. A life membership fee is collected as follows: (1) fire, theft, tornado and cyclone, $7.50; (2) collision, $7.50; (3) public liability and property damage, $7.50; full coverage, $15.00. The membership fees go to the attorney-in-fact. All losses are paid by the collection of periodical assessments. Any member may have his policy transferred from one automobile to another which he owns for a transfer fee of $1.00. Members are required to make an advanced premium deposit and are subject to a contingent liability.

Any member may withdraw from the association by returning his policy for cancellation if all dues and assessments are fully paid, including his proportion of any assessment for losses sustained up to the date of withdrawal. The association is writing business only in cities up to 100,000 population.

The largest gross and net lines written are, fire, theft and collision, $2,500; liability, $2,500/$5,000. The exchange makes its own rates, based upon the losses.

Service of process may be had upon the Director of Trade and Commerce of the State of Illinois, and corresponding insurance officials of other States in which it may be licensed, or upon the attorney-in-fact of this exchange.

It is licensed in Illinois only.

Income, 1921.—Net premium deposits, $103,945.19; interest, etc., $63.85; guarantee fund, $7,622.44; borrowed money, $3,000.00; total cash income, $114,631.48.

Disbursements, 1921.—Losses paid, gross, $45,419.10; less salvage, $1,267.80; net losses, $44,151.30; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $28,604.03; taxes, licenses and fees, $788.38; other expenses, $7,891.58; borrowed money, $12,375.64; adjustment expense, $3,557.82; total cash disbursements, $97,368.75.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is a reciprocal institution which was licensed by the Insurance Department of Illinois, July 22, 1919. The exchange was orininally organized by E. M. Anderson, W. L. Dickelman and Henry J. Woessner, none of whom had any previous experience in reciprocal business, but all of whom had many years' experience as local and general agents for fire insurance companies. On March 1, 1920, the exchange was taken over by the present management, details concerning which will be furnished below.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the American Automobile Underwriters Agency, Inc. of Chicago, Ill., incorporated under the laws of Illinois for $32,500, all stated to be paid in cash. The officers are: President and manager, Eugene B. Mettee; secretary, Hunt Wentworth, and treasurer, Harry S. Hall.

Mr. Mettee went with this exchange from the Casualty Reciprocal Exchange of Kansas City, Missouri, of which Bruce Dodson, Sr., is the attorney-in-fact.

Mr. Mettee had been for about eight years with the Casualty Reciprocal Exchange as an underwriter and assistant to Mr. Dodson.

Mr. Metee's insurance experience dates from 1898, when he was employed by the Maryland Casualty Company of Baltimore. In 1903 he became associated with and had an interest in the T. T. Tonque Agency of Baltimore, Md., and for four years prior to his present connection was northwestern manager in Minneapolis, Minnesota, for the Fidelity and Deposit Company.

Answers to our inquiries concerning Mr. Mettee inform us that he is a man of experience and ability.

Messrs. Harry S. Hall and Hunt Wentworth are young men who have recently left college, and this is their first attempt in any business enterprise.

The advisory committee comprises Edmund A. Russell, president Otis Elevator Co.; Edmund D. Hulbert, president Merchants Loan & Trust Co.; Jacob M. Dickinson, attorney-at-law; Henry P. Crowell, president Quaker Oats Co.; Samuel Insull, president Commonwealth Edison Co., and James C. Johnson, vice-president Great Lakes Trust Company, all of Chicago. The attorneys for the advisory committee are Orville J. Taylor and John S. Miller, Jr.

The loss and expense ratios are below normal.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange furnishes theft, collision, fire, liability, property damage, and compensation insurance to subscribers on automobile risks.

Membership is not limited to any particular line of industry.

The gross liability assumed upon any single fire risk is $5,000, and the limits are $5,000/$10,000 for liability.

Business is accepted from brokers, inspections are made by the exchange's inspectors, and policies are issued upon the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact.

The proportion of liability assumed by each subscriber is determined by his premium deposit, each subscriber underwriting a proportion of the business in force during his membership as represented by his premium deposit. Individual accounts are maintained for all subscribers.

The rates charged are about 15% less than manual rates, and are subject to the discretion of the management.

The power of attorney provides that the attorney-in-fact is authorized "to deduct and retain 30% of all moneys received by it for credit to my account in said exchange as herein provided;" but this 30% does not include the charge made to the subscribers for taxes, insurance or reinsurance premiums, the cost of claim department, claim adjusting or court fees, license fees, auditing fees, nor "any other items of expense which a majority of the members of the advisory committee shall authorize to be paid out of the 70% of my premium deposit or deposits remaining after the deduction of said 30% by my said attorney-in-fact."

The power of attorney provides that the attorney-in-fact may deduct and credit to the individual account of a subscriber not to exceed one-half of his savings in any year as a net surplus for the payment of losses insurance and reinsurance premiums and expenses approved by the advisory committee for which no other moneys of the exchange are available until the amount of the net surplus account shall equal the full amount subscribed by the policyholders, which surplus when once attained is to be kept good.

Savings over and above the amount applied to this surplus are to be returned in cash at times designated by the advisory committee, but it is contemplated to return these savings at the end of each policy year.

Policies may be cancelled upon five days' notice by the subscriber or the attorney-in-fact, and when cancelled all savings are to be returned to the subscriber after liability has been determined.

The subscribers' liability is limited to one additional premium deposit, and the exchange has a contract with the Employers Indemnity Corporation, of Kansas City, Mo., to guarantee members against assessment due to losses in excess of a gross amount equal to 85% of the premiums at manual, or conference, rates. (In our opinion this does not guarantee subscribers against assessment in excess of this 85% of the net premium deposits at manual rates, it becoming effective only after 85% of the annual premium has been exhausted in the payment of losses. Therefore, we believe that the subscriber would be called upon to pay, before the reinsuring company pays, to an amount equal to the difference between 85% of the gross premiums received and the 30% commission paid the attorney-in-fact plus the other expenses which the 30% does not cover.)

The assets of the exchange are in the custody of the advisory board, who are not bonded, nor will a bond be secured.

Details of the operations of the exchange are to be reported to the subscribers annually.

Service of process may be made upon the attorney-in-fact and the insurance commissioner or corresponding official of and state in which the exchange may do business.

The unearned premium liability is discretionary with the management, and is 50% of all premium deposits.

Territory.—Licensed in Illinois only.

General Review.

History.— This is an inter-insurance institution, organized in 1892 as the Lloyds of New York City. In 1905 control was acquired by the present management, the title changed to above and its operations limited to writing risks protected by automatic sprinklers, on the reciprocal insurance plan.

Management and Reputation.— The exchange is under the management of Weed & Kennedy, 123 William street, New York City, an old and prominent insurance brokerage firm in excellent standing. It has been very successful, its plan is sound, and it has made good return to its subscribers, accumulating also a substantial surplus. The limit on a single risk is large compared to its net cash funds and premium income, but its membership is high class. It is making substantial returns to members.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).— The exchange writes fire, sprinkler leakage and use and occupancy insurance at board rates. The maximum policy issued on a single risk is $600,000, which is generally carried net. Only risks equipped with automatic sprinklers, where the financial standing is high, are accepted. The managers must approve of the physical hazard and the trustees approve of the moral and financial standing.

Each subscriber assumes a proportion of each risk insured, except that he does not carry any liability on his own risk. The direct liability of each subscriber is limited not to exceed $2,500 on any one risk and the contingent liability is limited to $7,500 additional, making the maximum liability $10,000 over all.

The exchange has never levied an assessment.

As of December 31, 1921, there were 294 subscribers.

The management advises that facilities are afforded whereby members may insure themselves against assessment liability.

The ledger account with each subscriber shows details of all transactions. The savings remain with the trustees.

The managers receive 15% commission on the net premiums, out of which they pay all administration expenses, except taxes, trustees' fees, investment and legal expenses.

The assets of the exchange are in the custody of the trustees until they amount to $5,000 for each subscriber, then the excess over $5,000 is distributed to members annually.

The managers advise that they are bonded and that the securities are held by the Bankers Trust Company under a trusteeship.

A member may retire upon five days' notice and his liability must be reinsured. The amount standing to the credit of a retiring subscriber, after providing for his share of all liabilities, is paid to him within thirty days.

Detailed reports are made to subscribers semi-annually.

The unearned premium reserve is maintained in accordance with law on the same basis as the reserve of stock companies.

The attorney-in-fact and the Insurance Commissioners in those States where the exchange is licensed are authorized to accept service of process binding upon all of the members in the event of a dispute arising concerning any claim against the exchange.

Losses are adjusted concurrently, and on the same basis as other offices interested.

The securities owned are of high character.

The exchange is licensed in Cal., Fla., Ind., Iowa, Ky., Md., Mich., Minn., Mo., Neb., N. Y., Ohio, Pa., Tenn. and Texas.

Trustees.—(Elected by vote of subscribers.) Louis Stewart, president of James McCreery & Co.; H. A. Weatherbee, president of Arnold, Constable & Co.; Harry Balfe, chairman of the board of Austin, Nichols & Co., all of New York.

AMERICAN LUMBER UNDERWRITERS,
Houston, Texas.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is a reciprocal association organized in 1920 and commenced business June 15, 1920.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is George R. Christie, who is also attorney-in-fact for the Lumebermen's Reciprocal Association of Houston, Texas, which writes Workmen's compensation, employers' and public liability insurance. That association began business December 1, 1917. The management is in high repute. The exchange has not operated long enough to have established a record.

This exchange has not reported to us as of December 31, 1921, its operation for that year. The report made herein is from information previously furnished to us, and the financial statement is from report made by the exchange to the Texas Insurance Department.

Advisory Committee.—John H. Kirby, F. J. Womack, A. J. Peavy, J. B. Edwards, J. W. Reynolds.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management). The association writes fire insurance and the power of attorney agreement submitted to us provides the following plans of operation:

To exchange indemnity between members with limited liability, which is fixed at an amount not exceeding the sum of one additional annual premium. It provides that the attorney shall not bind the subscriber on any one risk for an amount in excess of the annual premium deposit. The liability of subscribers is seperate and not joint, and the Advisory Committee is to set aside a part of the savings as a net surplus equal to twice the amount of subscribers' annual deposits, and all other savings to be returned to the subscribers in cash. It is also provided that the committee may at its option authorize a return of a perecentage of such savings before the full amount of such surplus fund has been accumulated. The agreement provides that the attorney may cancel and reinsure contracts. If cancelled the subscriber has a right to appeal to the Advisory Committee. The agreement provides that the attorney shall give bond to the Advisory Committee for the safety of all funds and securities, as the committee may require. The contract also provides that the attorney shall pay out of the subscribers' funds their proportion of the cost of exchanging indemnity, including any and all claims or demands adjusted, contested, compromised or reduced to judgment, and shall deduct for his services 5% of all net premium deposits made by subscribers, and in addition to which he shall be allowed 20% of all savings made by the exchange, such savings to be credited at the end of each policy year. No such deductions are to be made from amounts paid as assessments under the contingent liability clause. The power of attorney agreement may be cancelled at any time by either party giving the other ten days' notice in writing, when the attorney shall cancel all unexpired indemnity exchanged by the subscriber and within thirty days completely liquidate the account and return the funds belonging to the subscriber, including their share of the net surplus.

The management advises us that the largest amount insured in any one hazard is $10,000.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange organized, and licensed by the Illinois Insurance Department in March, 1917. It was formed by consolidating as of January 1, 1917, five inter-insurance organizations which had been managed by Sherman & Ellis, Inc., which operated in Illinois, Kansas, Texas, Wisconsin and Oklahoma.

Sherman & Ellis, Inc., also manage the Indiana Mutual Casualty Company, successor to the Indiana Manufacturers Reciprocal Association, of Indianapolis, Indiana, an entirely separate organization.

The inter-insurance operations of Frank H. Ellis (who organized, manages and controls the corporation Sherman & Ellis, Inc.), began with the formation of the Kansas Employers Inter-Insurers Exchange which commenced operations January 1, 1912. The operations of that exchange were extended to include Illinois employers upon the passage of the Illinois Compensation Act, May 1, 1912, and later, from time to time, to other states. Sherman & Ellis, Inc., have built up an extensive organization in twenty-two states, the volume of business transacted is large, and they and their two institutions are in excellent repute.

This exchange is writing not only workmen's compensation insurance, but various forms of public liability insurance and automobile insurance as well. Its principal activities are in the lines of compensation and liability insurance, but report is included in this volume on account of its writing automobile insurance. The reserves for claims are calculated on the Schedule P basis.

The Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, Oklahoma and Virginia Insurance Departments examined the exchange as of December 31, 1921, under the direction of the Committee on Examinations of the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners, the Kansas Insurance Department participating in a portion of the examination. The report stated that the securities owned were carried at the valuations authorized by the Convention of Insurance Commissioners; the reserves for unpaid losses and unearned premiums were checked; the reserve for liability and workmen's compensation was found to be in accordance with the requirements of the Illinois laws and the claim reserves liberal in amount; and the assets, liabilities and surplus, as they appear in the statement herewith, were found to be correct. The examination was exhaustive, fifteen or more persons being employed upon it for several weeks, and the exchange was found to be well managed, claims promptly paid, and the accounts complete and accurate.

Management and Reputation.—This institution is under the management of an Illinois corporation, Sherman & Ellis, Inc., which acts as attorney-in-fact for each of the members. Its stock is owned mainly by Frank H. Ellis, the active head of the institution, and it is in excellent repute. Mr. Ellis has been actively identified with workmen's compensation underwriting since the passage of the first workmen's compensation laws in 1911.

The business has been built up to large proportions. It operated under a considerably reduced income in 1921, compared to the previous year.

During the early part of 1921 we were given the opportunity of inspecting the accounting system of the exchange at its offices, and were impressed with its scope and thoroughness.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The control of the funds of the exchange is in the hands of an advisory board elected annually by the members of the exchange.

The funds of the exchange are disbursed by the attorney-in-fact by checks countersigned by a countersigning officer selected by the advisory board. The officers of the attorney-in-fact and the countersigning officer are heavily bonded for the faithful performance of their trust.

The insurance and indemnity contracts issued are the standard form approved by the supervising state officials. The contract provides for the inspection of the plants and equipment of members, and right is reserved to the attorney-in-fact and advisory board to cancel on the first day of any calendar month on ten days' notice the insurance of any member who declines to accept the recommendations of the inspection department relative to the proper safeguarding of machinery or premises. The inspection department since organization has been in charge of Frank E. Ward, formerly director of Fowler Shops, University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kansas.

Members are admitted upon the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact.

The premium paid is the basis of pro-ration of savings and liability.

All renewals are dated the first of the month.

At the present time the exchange is paying to subscribers their cash savings quarterly, based upon the earned premium and experience of the quarter, ranging in 1920 from 11% to 30%, after a factor of safety was reserved. The exchange returned to members in 1921, $186,192.01 in cash as savings.

The exchange adheres to manual rates, and is a member of the rating bureau in all states having regulation of compensation rates.

The attorney-in-fact receives 30% allowance upon all net earned premiums, but receives no part of the surplus deposits. The allowance of 30% covers all expenses except taxes, claim expenses, and expenses of the advisory board.

The account of a retiring subscriber cannot be liquidated until all losses incurred during the period of his membership have been finally determined.

Reports are made to the members at least semi-annually.

Adjustments, inspections and quarterly pay-roll audits are made by the traveling representatives of the attorney-in-fact.

The power of attorney limits the liability of each member for any policy year to an amount equal to and in addition to his annual earned premium for that year. The members, however, are guaranteed against assessment by reinsurance.

A subscriber, according to the power of attorney, makes an initial subscription to surplus equal to a one-half annual premium. In practice the maximum aggregate liability assumed by all the members under policies issued by the exchange is limited to $5,000 for injuries sustained by one person, and to $15,000 for injuries sustained by any number of persons in any one accident. In those states whose laws require the issuance of unlimited policies, catastrophe reinsurance is carried for all losses in excess of $15,000, up to $100,000.

Officers.—The officers of Sherman & Ellis, Inc., are: President, Frank H. Ellis; first vice-president and treasurer, Joseph H. Roy; vice-president, L. J. Lally; vice-president and manager for Illinois, A. T. Browne; vice-

AUTOMOBILE ASSURANCE ALLIANCE,

Insurance Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange transacting automobile fire, theft, and embezzlement insurance on the reciprocal plan. The Alliance was formerly known as Employers Indemnity Exchange, the name being changed for the reason that the former name no longer fitted the business being done. It began business in 1908.

Management and Reputation.—The Alliance is managed by the Employers Underwriting Company of which E. G. Trimble is president, the corporation acting as attorney-in-fact and manager, and wrote compensation, liability and automobile insurance, confining its operations in its earliest stages to the laundry business. Its principal offices are in the Insurance Bldg., Kansas City, Missouri.

In 1917 the Alliance reinsured and transferred all of its liabilty and compensation, which lines it formerly wrote, in the Employers Indemnity Corporation, together with the liability, property damage and collision insurance in those lines on which the corporation was competing for such business.

Mr. Trimble organized the Employers Indemnity Corporation of Kansas City, Missouri, and the Exchange Mutual Indemnity Insurance Company of Buffalo, New York, and is the president of both companies.

This Exchange had not, at the time of going to press with these reports, furnished us with information in regard to its operations in 1921 and condition at close of that year. The financial statement quoted below was taken from report made by the Exchange to the Illinois State Insurance Department, and the general report made herein is from information previously furnished to us.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management). Policies are issued covering liability, property damage, fire, theft, collision, and embezzlement at uniform rates, approximately bureau rates. Each subscriber signs a power of attorney.

Net retention for fire insurance in the Alliance is $5,000 in any one location. Its losses in excess of its premiums from liability, property damage and collision insurance are reinsured in the Employers Indemnity Corporation in order to avoid the risk of assessment upon policyholders. A similar contract covering fire and theft risks has been entered into with the American Merchants Fire Insurance Company, a stock company.

A separate set of accounts is kept for each subscriber and the savings calculated on the theory of a seperate and several liability — no joint liability existing against subscribers. Compensation for the attorney-in-fact is 30% of the premium deposits of subscribers. This is in full for all expense incident to the conducting of the exchange except taxes, legal expense and expenses of the advisory committee.

After paying the full annual premium, the subscriber is technically liable for his share of each loss not covered by his deposit, but this contingent liability is reinsured by the Employers Indemnity Corporation of Kansas City, Mo.

Territory.—At the time of lastest advises it was licensed in Ala., Cal., Colo., Fla., Idaho, Ill., Kan., Mo., Neb., Tenn. and Texas.

Advisory Board.—John M. Moore, president Fidelity National Bank and Trust Company; Bird H. McGarvey, president State Bank of Kansas City; W. T. McLucas, president Commerce Trust Company; W. B. Planck, president Gate City National Bank; and L. C. Smith, president Commonwealth National Bank, all of Kansas City.

General Review.

History.—This is a reciprocal exchange. The Automobile Owners Indemnity Exchange, which was licensed by the Pennsylvania State Insurance Department December 22, 1914, and began business January 1, 1915, absorbed, on April 1, 1919, the Commercial Automobile Insurance Exchange, and the title was changed to above name. Both of these exchanges were under the same management, the Exchange Operators, Inc., and we are advised by this management that the first mentioned exchange was the first inter-insurance exchange licensed by the Pennsylvania State Insurance Department. Both of these exchanges were licensed under Act of Assembly approved July 27, 1913. This exchange is licensed by the Pennsylvania State Insurance Department to write fire, theft, collision, and liability and automobile property damage on pleasure automobiles, and commercial vehicles for its members.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the Exchange Operators, Inc., a corporation organized under the laws of Pennsylvania, April 16, 1914, with an authorized capital of $350,000 ($100,000 common, $250,000 preferred); issued $25,000 common, $99,500 preferred.

The officers and directors of the attorney-in-fact are: President, R. J. Mullen; vice-president, W. Dixon Townsend; treasurer, Wm. A. Mitchell; secretary, H. C. Barker; assistant treasurer, G. C. Butler.

The manager has had over fifteen years' experience in casualty underwriting.

In 1920 the expenses were not excessive, but the losses were somewhat above normal. In 1921 the losses were favorable, considering the fact that some lines were written at less than conference rates, the expenses, except the item of adjustment and settlement of losses, which was fairly high, were not excessive. The exchange made a fair amount of returns to subscribers as savings.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange issues policies covering fire, theft, collision, property damage and liability on pleasure and commercial automobiles.

The remuneration of the attorney-in-fact is 25% of the gross premium deposits, which covers all expenses except losses, return premiums or dividends, State and Federal taxes and claim expenses. The management advises that in view of adding liability insurance an exchange fee of 30% is charged, of which 5% (one-sixth) is set over into surplus account and held for the general protection of policyholders.

The attorney-in-fact has made a contract with R. J. Mullen, Inc., running for a five-year period from June 1, 1918, as sole agent of the exchange at a commission of 22½% on the gross premiums or deposits collected.

A guarantee fund of $100,000 is held under trust company trusteeship to preclude assessment, and the management advises that the exchange has a Lloyds, London, policy protecting it on liability lines in excess of $5,000/$10,000 limits up to $100,000, on fire lines over a net retention of $5,000 up to a maximum of $150,000.

The guarantee fund was investigated by the Pennsylvania Insurance Department, which states that it is available for the payment of losses or expenses if the other funds of the exchange should prove inadequate for those purposes.

Subscribers are admitted upon the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact.

Detailed reports of the operation of the exchange are made to subscribers annually.

Subscribers may retire from the exchange by giving written notice to the attorney-in-fact.

The exchange has no advisory committee, but has an agreement with a trust company, which provides that withdrawals must be made only for the purpose of payment of losses and claim expenses, for the refund or return premiums, or for the payment of dividends at the close of the year.

Service of process may be made upon the attorney-in-fact or upon the Insurance Commissioners of any State in which the exchange is licensed to operate.

Business is secured through a sales force in the employ of the attorney-in-fact, and no business is accepted through brokers.

It is licensed in Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio and Maryland.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which was organized and licensed January 18, 1919. On December 31, 1921, it had 900 subscribers and 1400 risks insured.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact and manager has been Charles Sumner Best, Seattle, Washington, who has had long insurance experience. He had his early training in the East, but has been actively engaged since 1907 as a local and general agent and resident manager on the Coast. He bears an excellent reputation. On March 1, 1920, Charles Sumner Best and F. T. Houghton became the attorneys-in-fact, operating as Charles S. Best Company. Mr. Houghton was formerly Deputy Insurance Commissioner and Actuary of the State of Washington. He is in excellent repute and is unusually well informed in the insurance business.

The exchange has a sufficient number of risks to give it an adequate spread of liability and its plan of operation is sound. The unearned premium reserve is set up on the legal basis. The loss ratio is low, and the expenses moderate, and it is returning to the subscribers a fair return in addition to about 25% reduction in rates noted above.

The exchange was examined by the Washington Insurance Department for the period from the date of its organization to April 30, 1920, the report being dated May 15, 1920. The total admitted assets shown were $37,966.17; the total liabilities were $35,127.80; surplus, $2,838.37.

The examiner stated, "The exchange is in good financial condition."

The exchange was again examined by the Washington Insurance Department as of November 30, 1921, and the examiner reported the exchange as making rapid growth, having nearly doubled the amount of insurance in force in the past preceding eleven months; also that the expense ratio as well as the loss ratio is low, which accounts for the substantial return of unused premium deposits, and reflects credit upon the management.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange writes fire, theft, liability, collision and property damage on automobiles at an average reduction of from 20% to 30% from the Conference rates. The largest net retention of the exchange on any risk is $20,000. No risk is accepted unless the subscribing member executes a power of attorney, and no line is accepted until the owner of the car makes a complete statement and a full loss record of applicant is secured. It specializes in insuring for hire and interurban stage automobiles, and the greater part of its business is liability and property damage insurance on such vehicles. The average coverage is $1,000 property damage, and $5/10,000 limits on liability. Some few lines on larger vehicles carry up to $15/20,000 liability limits.

The Advisory Board elect from their number an Executive Committee, who meet with the attorney and manager once a month and keep in close touch with the operation of the exchange, and they report their findings to the other members of the Advisory Board.

As compensation for his services, the attorney-in-fact is allowed 30% of all premiums received, such compensation to include, however, all expenses incident to the underwriting of the business but taxes, legal and adjustment expense, rating bureau charges, state licenses and fees, auditing, Advisory Committee and similar expense approved by the Advisory Committee, is paid by the treasurer out of the general fund, and charged pro rata to each subscriber.

The liability of each subscriber is several and not joint, and is limited to an amount not in excess of such proportionate sum as the amount of liabilty carried by each subscriber bears to the total amount guaranteed by all subscribers.

Separate accounts are kept with each subscriber and all are open to the inspection of each and every subscriber.

The subscriber may revoke the authority given in the power of attorney upon ten days' written notice, and is not liable on any policies for loss accruing after the expiration of such date. He is not, however, permitted to withdraw any of the reserve fund credited to his account until the liability under all policies in effect at the time of his resignation has terminated.

No extra assessments have been levied.

Savings are returned to subscribers annually, except that the manager is authorized to set aside as a reserve fund for all contingencies such amount as the Advisory Committee shall determine as adequate, but not to exceed the amount of one annual premium.

Advisory Board.—The Advisory Board, which is composed of some of the most influential men in the State of Washington, is as follows: F. K. Struve, manager Furth Estate, Seattle, Wash.; W. C. Butler, president First National Bank, Everett, Wash.; John S. Baker, banker and capitalist, Tacoma, Wash.; W. H. Boner, manager Weyerhaeuser Timber Co., Everett, Wash.; Berman Schoenfeld, president Standard Furniture Co., Seattle, Wash.; T. C. McHugh, cannery proprietor and merchant, Seattle, Wash.; Charles H. Frye, president Frye & Co., meat packers, Seattle, Wash.; Herbert Hawley, president Auto Interurban Co., Spokane, Wash.; H. B. Lowman, New Method Laundry, Seattle, Wash.; J. I. Colwell, manager Western Electric Co., Seattle, Wash.; John B. Van Dyke, attorney and counsel of Exchange, Seattle, Wash.; C. K. McMillan, cashier Northwestern National Bank, Bellingham, Wash.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which began business April 19, 1919.

Management and Reputation.—W. L. Dennis is the attorney and manager. The exchange has not as yet furnished us power of attorney, sample policy and complete particulars relating to this exchange, which affords full coverage on automobiles, at stock company rates.

Thus far since organization the loss and expense ratios have been moderate, and considering the age of the association, a fair return has been made to the subscribers.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management). The management advises us that the gross amount insured in any one hazard is $10,000. Also that it writes at the regular stock company rates, and that no business is accepted through brokers.

Advisory Committee.—W. O. Ansley, Jr., cotton broker; John S. Bonner, Humble Oil and Refining Co.; George R. Christie, Lumberman's Reciprocal Association; W. L. Dennis, general manager; Andrew Dow, capitalist; R. S. Jarett, Pincus & Jarett Dry Goods Co.; T. C. Spencer, Spencer-Sauer Lumber Company, R. W. Weir, R. W. Weir Lumber Company; H. M. General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which commenced business June 1, 1918.

Management and Reputation.—The attorneys-in-fact and managers were Frederick A. Wing and George E. Baldwin, but they were succeeded by Automobile Underwriting Agency, a corporation, in 1921. The exchange has not advised us as to the personnel and past insurance experience of this new management.

The exchange was examined by the Insurance Department of the State of Washington as of July 31, 1921, and its statement as of December 31, 1920, was checked and corrected. Correcting the December 31, 1920, statement the examiner made the admitted assets $138,645.19 instead of $146,959.39 as shown in the statement made by the exchange, and made the total liabilities $145,897.98, showing an excess of liabilities over assets of $7,252.79, instead of surplus of $19,739.02 as shown in the statement made by the exchange.

The same examination made the admitted assets on July 31, 1921, after deducting $59,982.67 as unadmitted, $125,695.12. The liabilities at that time were $172,828.75, or an excess of liabilities over assets, of $47,133.63.

In further reporting the examiner stated that: "In our opinion the showing as set forth in the foregoing report clearly establishes the fact that the attorneys-in-fact are seriously lacking both in underwriting and accounting abilities," and recommended changes in the management. It was after this time that the change in management was reported, but we are not advised as to the personnel, their experience or whether some part of the old management may not have continued in influence.

The statement of December 31, 1921, printed in connection with this report was furnished to us by the exchange, but, so far as we know has not been checked by the Insurance Department of the State of Washington. According to this statement the disbursements exceeded the income, and if made upon the Insurance Department basis we are unable to show the sources of gain from the deficit as of July 31, 1921, as noted above to the surplus shown in this financial statement. The management advises that the exchange has treaties covering excess liability losses over $5,000 and $10,000; and excess fire, lightning and transport losses in any location, known or unknown, over $5,000 and up to $30,000.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—This exchange affords full coverage on automobiles. It formerly operated upon the plan of basing premium charges upon mileage rather than horse power, but this was discontinued in 1921. We have not been advised as to its present plans in substitution of this mileage plan.

The managers advise that the contingent liability of members is unlimited, being fixed by law, and further state that the exchange has treaties covering excess on its public liability losses over $5,000 and $10,000, and blanket fire policies protecting it in any location, known or unknown, above the first $5,000 up to $30,000.

The compensation to the attorneys-in-fact is 25% of all premiums received, this to include all expenses, except taxes, legal expenses, premiums on surety bonds, adjuster's costs, reinsurance, rating bureau costs, state licenses, expenses of advisory board, and auditing.

The by-laws adopted by the association provide for an advisory board of seven members, who are elected for a term of one year.

The by-laws provide that the treasurer shall give a bond in the sum of $20,000, and the attorneys-in-fact in the sum of $5,000, for the faithful performance of their duties.

Advisory Board.—President, H. B. Perine; vice-president, R. J. Hutson; secretary, C. T. Hutson; treasurer, H. A. Kyer; assistant treasurer, R. V. Ankeny; Charles A. Reynolds, H. P. Grans.

Income, 1921.—Premium deposits written, $280,683.25; less return premium deposits, $86,439.54; less reinsurance, $2,092.59; net premium deposits, $192,151.12; interest, etc., $3,613.07; sundries, $1,202.46; total cash income, $196,966.65.

Disbursements, 1921.—Net losses, $127,241.37; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $48,936.87; advisory committee expense, $2.140; legal expense, $8,371.04; taxes, licenses and fees, $2,206.05; other expenses, $198; sundries, $7,562.91; dividends, $6,578.79; adjusting expense, $11,669.65; total cash disbursements, $214,904.68.

Transactions Since Organization.—Premium deposits received, gross, $753,681.86; less return premium deposits, $155,168.09; less reinsurance, $10,051.99; net premium deposits, $588,461.78; other cash income, $9,065.45; total cash income, $597,527.23; losses and adjustment expenses paid, net, $248,962.96; commissions paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expenses, $146,217.26; other expenses paid, $58,052.50; returned in cash to members, as savings, $8,197.31; total cash disbursements, $461,430.03; estimated saving effected for members from organization, $125,009.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange, which commenced business in 1910. It was organized by Van A. Webster for the purpose of underwriting automobile insurance for the policyholders of the Southern Underwriters. Another reciprocal exchange operated under the same management.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the Automobile Underwriters Company, a Delaware corporation, which was organized to assume the management of the exchange in the event of the death of the original attorney-in-fact, Van A. Webster. Van A. Webster died in August, 1921, and the Automobile Underwriters Company has since that date acted as attorney-in-fact for the subscribers to this exchange. The officers are as follows:

President, J. G. Webster, who is also president of Webster Grocer Company, Dallas, Texas; vice-president, R. M. Worley, who has been with this exchange since its organization as field manager; secretary, C. Perry, who has also been active with the affairs of this exchange during the past six years, serving as underwriter and assistant to Mr. Van A. Webster; treasurer, G. W. Baillio, who has been connected with this exchange since 1916, serving as division manager of the Houston, Texas, branch office, and later in the field.

The general control of the organization is in the hands of a board called the executive council, who are elected annually by the subscribers.

The exchange bears a good reputation, and is making fair returns as savings to its subscribers.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—An advisory board serves the exchange in each large city in which it operates. These boards pass upon the eligibility of the applicants. Only those are accepted who are recommended by the attorney and approved by the advisory board.

The exchange writes fire, theft, liability, property damage and collision insurance on pleasure cars and commercial trucks.

Business is accepted from salaried division managers located at every point where business is written.

The gross amount insured in any one risk is $10,000.

Each subscriber pays an annual premium deposit based on the rates fixed by the automobile conference companies and each subscriber underwrites a proportion of each policy issued during the period of his membership.

Formerly the attorney received 15% commission, but owing to the increased field of operations this was changed to 30%, out of which all expenses are paid by the attorney, except taxes, license fees, reinsurance, legal and executive council expenses.

The contingent liability of each subscriber is limited to an amount equal to the annual premium deposit. By order of the executive council all interest on assets go to create a fund to be set aside as a reserve for unknown and unexpected losses.

Subscribers at the exchange may cancel their liability at any time, in which event the accumulated surplus or unexpended premium deposits are refunded.

The exchange advised us that arrangements have been made with individuals who have assets exceeding $1,000,000 to guarantee such members as desired against assessment. The charge for this service is 5% of the annual premium. The exchange has never levied an extra assessment.

The exchange advises that it carries excess cover on fire of $60,000 in excess of $5,000. It also carries reinsurance on automobile liability over $5,000, up to $70,000.

The assets of the exchange are in the custody of the manager, and we are advised by the manager that he is bonded in the sum of $100,000.

Quarterly reports of the operations of the exchange are made to all members and a monthly statement to subscribers who are entitled to a refund.

Services of process may be made upon the attorney-in-fact or the insurance commissioners of States in which the exchange is licensed.

Estimated saving effected for members from organization as compared with manual rates, 18% to 22%. Each policyholder credited with amount of savings in accordance with his interest.

The exchange is licensed to transact business in Ill., Mo., Okla., Penn., Tenn., Tex. and La.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which began business April 1, 1915, as the Auto Owners Fire Protective Exchange, and which early in 1918 changed to its present title.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the Auto Owners Insurance Agency, incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois. W. F. Brandenburg is the secretary and manager.

The superintendent of agents is Frank O. Omer, previously, for five years, agency inspector for the Forest City Life Insurance Company, Rockford, Ill.

The average loss ratio has been moderate, and the commission allowance low, but considering the membership fee, the acquisition cost appears very high; the management advises us that the item of net premium deposits ($283,931.30) includes $56,466.50 life membership fees, and that it believes this item should not be charged against the expense of operations for the year 1921 as the average life of a membership for a policy is from three to four years. The items in "Transactions Since Organization" also include transfer and membership fees. It does not write at the full conference rates, and in the absence of saving returns to subscribers the cost should be compared to manual rates to estimate the savings, if any.

The unearned premium deposit item would appear low compared to the annual deposits, but the management advises that their premium deposits are made semi-annually, and that the item shown in the statement is 100% of the unearned premium deposits collected in the last six months of 1921.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—This exchange insures owners of automobiles against loss or damage by fire, windstorm, collision and theft, liability and property damage.

The manager advises that an excess fire insurance cover of $20,000 is provided to reinsure the exchange over a net retention of $5,000, and also a fire and theft reinsurance on individual risks in excess of $1,500, but copy of the reinsurance contracts and name of reinsurance company has not been furnished to us. He also advises that the liability of the subscribers is limited by the subscriber's contract to extra or special assessment not to exceed the regular annual premium, and that no extra assessments have ever been levied.

No business is accepted through brokers.

The accounts of subscribers are kept separate and are open to inspection through the Advisory Committee, which is elected by the subscribers. This committee consists of five members of the exchange.

The premiums charged are based on the estimated loss ratio and reserve requirements, collected semi-annually in advance. In case of cancellation of policy the unearned premium is returned upon a short rate cancellation basis. The first, or initial payment, is composed of a life membership fee of $7.50 and an advance deposit which pays the subscriber's insurance for a period of from three to five months.

The attorney-in-fact receives as compensation for his services all of the membership fee and in addition 20% of all premiums paid by the subscribers, including the advance deposit. Out of his compensation the attorney pays all agents' commissions, office rent, clerks' hire, advertising expense, and such other items as may be incurred in developing the business.

The subscriber's contract provides that any premiums collected which may be in excess of the amount required for the payment of losses and for the maintenance of the required reserve account may be prorated and returned to the subscriber.

The exchange is licensed in Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Missouri and Pennsylvania.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance institution, which has been in business since January, 1907, originally writing insurance covering bank properties from loss or damage by fire.

Management and Reputation.—This institution is under the management of B. H. McGarvey & Company, a co-partnership composed of B. H. McGarvey, vice-president of the Continental National Bank, of Kansas City, Mo.; J. D. Schwitzgebel, certified public accountant, and F. C. Harvey, Kansas City., Mo., the last mentioned being the active manager.

The exchange reports that it has 2,250 subscribers, and 2,500 risks insured, which gives it an adequate spread of liability. The expense ratio is not excessive, the loss ratio moderate, and it is returning substantial savings to subscribers.

It is licensed to transact business in Ala., Ark., Cal., Colo., Fla., Idaho, Ill., Kan., Miss., Mo., Neb., N. C., Okla., S. C., Tenn. and Texas.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management). The exchange writes brick and stone buildings owned by banks and bankers against damage by fire.

The maximum policy issued covering any single risk is $20,000, without deducting reinsurance. The net amount after deducting reinsurance is $10,000. This is the limit for one risk in a single city block, or for the entire block. The exchange has a reinsurance treaty, enabling it to reinsure its excess lines as stated above. Tariff rates are secured. The underwriting methods are in accordance with the rules promulgated by the attorneys.

The members of the exchange are selected from the banks or bank directors and are accepted for membership by the attorneys, subject to review by the Advisory Committee.

No risks are written without a survey and approval of the attorneys.

We are advised by the management that the liability of each subscriber is limited to one annual premium on any one risk during any year, and that the exchange has a contract with a stock casualty company which guarantees to pay any assessment against subscribers for losses in excess of 70% of their premium payments. (We have not been furnished with copy of this contract that we might comment upon the protection afforded.)

Losses are apportioned to each member incurred. The profits or savings are disbursed to members at the expiration of the policy held by each member.

The exchange advises that it has never levied an assessment and that it has, since organization, saved its subscribers annually over 40% of premiums.

The administration expenses are limited to 25% of the premium deposits. Taxes, legal expenses and the expenses of the Advisory Committee are also chargeable against the subscribers.

The Advisory Committee may provide for the creation or accumulation of a reserve or emergency fund.

Any member may resign and terminate his liability upon five day's written notice to the attorneys. In such event any accumulated surplus or unexpended premium deposit reverts to the subscriber.

The assets of the exchange are in charge of the Advisory Committee and the attorneys are bonded to the extent of $50,000.

The details of the operations of the exchange are reported to its members in full whenever requested.

The attorneys-in-fact or the Insurance Commissioners of various States in which the exchange is licensed are authorized to accept service of process binding upon all of the members in the event of a dispute arising concerning a claim against the exchange.

Adjustments of losses are made by the regular adjusters for the exchange in all cases, unless the loss is small, in which event the assured's figures are accepted.

Advisory Committee.—W. S. Webb, Missouri Savings Bank, Kansas City, Mo.; W. T. Kemper, chairman of the board, Commerce Trust Co., Kansas City, Mo.; C. L. General Review.

History.—This association is classed as a reciprocal exchange. It was organized May 31, 1915, and licensed by the Illinois Insurance Department August 1, 1915, and in 1917 consolidated with the Belt Automobile Fire Insurance Association.

Management and Reputation.—The attorneys-in-fact have been C. J. Alyea and F. C. Nichols. On July 9, 1921, the attorney-in-fact was incorporated under the Illinois laws, using the title, Alyea-Nichols Company. The paid capital of this corporation is $5,000 and the officers are as follows: President, C. J. Alyea, El Paso, Ill.; vice-president, Roy A. Nutt, Chicago, Ill.; secretary-treasurer, F. C. Nichols, El Paso, Ill.; board of directors, the three officers and, E. H. Alye, Indianapolis, Ind.; C. M. Nichols, Detroit, Mich.; Ernest A. Rich, El Paso, Ill., and Edgar Vanneman, El Paso, Ill.

Mr. Alyea had about twelve years' experience in the insurance business as district manager of the North American Accident Company, prior to the organization of this association. The experience of his associate, Mr. F. C. Nichols, has been limited mainly to his connection with this association.

The management has advised us that it has deposited $26,000, with the Illinois Insurance Department and otherwise fully complied with the Reciprocal Laws of the State.

We quote below extracts from the statements for the company for several years, combining the figures of the former exchanges which have been merged with this association. The membership fees as reported are included with the premium deposits to show the total cost to the subscribers. We also show below the earned premiums and losses and loss ratios incurred for the years 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920 and 1921. The management believes that membership and application fees should be spread over the term for which the fees carry the membership, if for more than one year and not all apply to the year in which it is paid. These fees are a part of the compensation to the attorney-in-fact, but must be shown for the purpose of comparison of the cost of insurance to the subscriber, and in effect are a part of his premium cost. If a part is held to apply to future years some reserve should be set aside for the contingency of their return, if membership is discontinued.

The unearned premium deposit item appears small compared to the annual premium deposits written.

We are unable to estimate the savings, if any, to subscribers as the rates are not based upon the regular stock company rates. The exchange is writing a very large volume of business compared to its net resources. The increasing loss ratio indicates that the rates may not prove adequate, and if so the margin of net resources is rather small to take care of the large volume of liability. The item of unearned premiums in the liabilities appears small compared to the net amount of premium deposits written.

The operations of this association have attracted rather wide attention and some unfavorable comment. In our 1921 volume we stated that the Insurance Commissioner of North Carolina took the position that he would not renew its license expiring on April 1, 1921, unless there was an improvement in their methods of treating loss claimants, not because of any flagrant violation of the laws, but because of the feeling that the association was taking an undue advantage of the citizens of North Carolina in applying the extreme provisions and technical forfeiture clauses in their applications and policy contracts. The management of the exchange advises us that of the two claims in North Carolina complained about one claimant did not have sufficient faith in the claim to bring suit, and it expired by the statute of limitations, and the other one was defeated in the Supreme Court of North Carolina, vindicating the exchange.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The association advises us that it operates on the following plans:

It writes automobile insurance covering, fire, theft, collision, liability and property damage. It operates through general and local agents on a commission basis. The association previously operated upon an assessment plan, but on November 15, 1920, it went on an advance premium payment basis. The soliciting agent collects from the subscribers the advance premium deposit, upon which he receives a commission. The subscriber is also required to pay a membership fee. For the purpose of fixing this fee, fire and theft insurance is considered a unit, collision another unit and liability and property damage still another unit. The fee for each of these units is $7.50, or $22.50 for full coverage. If he desires insurance only under one unit he pays $7.50. This membership fee goes to the attorney-in-fact, who, also, on business written since November 15, 1920, receives 10% of all premium deposits, from which he pays all expenses incident to the conduct of the association except losses, legal and adjustment expenses, insurance department fees and charges, taxes, premiums on surety bonds, stationery and postage for collecting subscribers' deposits, these accepted items being paid out of the deposits made by the subscribers. It is stated that the policies run for three years and the membership fee is paid but once.

The management advises us that the limits written are 80% of the list price for fire, theft and collision on new cars and second-hand cars up to 80% of actual cost, depending upon condition of the car. They state that no fire, theft or collision policy is issued for more than $5,000; public liability for $10,000 and $20,000 limits; property damage limits up to $1,000 in any one accident; and that the largest gross and net amount insured in any one hazard is $11,000.

No provision is made to guarantee subscribers against assessment.

The securities owned are high grade, and the mortgages cover properties in Idaho, except one loan of $7,000 in the State of Oregon.

Service of process may be made upon the Superintendent of Insurance of any State in which the exchange is licensed or upon the attorney-in-fact.

Territory.—The exchange operates in Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississipppi Missouri, Nebraska, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Utah and Wisconsin.

General Review.

History.—This is a reciprocal exchange licensed by the Illinois Insurance Department, September 1, 1920.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the Insurance Service Company, Inc., a Missouri corporation with $100,000 paid up capital stock, of which the officers are as follows.

President, George H. Bunting; vice-presidents, Paul Dillon and F. A. Chopin; secretary and treasurer, W. M. Bunting; assistant secretary, A. M. Drohan; auditor, E. D. Briscoe. Messrs. George H. Bunting, Paul Dillon and W. M. Bunting are president, vice-president and secretary and treasurer respectively of the Shoe Manufacturers Service Company, Inc., which is the attorney-in-fact for the United Shoe Manufacturers Reciprocal Indemnity Exchange of Kansas City, which was licensed by the Missouri Insurance Department, May 16, 1918, and which specializes in shoe manufacturers risks protected by automatic sprinkler equipment. The exchange has not operated long enough to have established records, but in the first sixteen months of its operations the losses were very low and the expenses moderate.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange will write fire, sprinkler leakage and or use and occupancy insurance for the boot and shoe trade. Insurance shall be exchanged only with persons, firms or corporations approved by the Advisory Committee as to financial responsibility, moral hazard and physical acceptability of the risk and only from those who are engaged in the shoe or leather business. The subscriber's maximum liability on any one risk shall be the pro rata proportion of the maximum indemnity granted by the subscribers covering such risk as the subscriber's premium deposits bear to the total premium deposits of all participating subscribers, but in no case shall exceed a sum equal to three times the amount of the subscriber's annual premium deposit. The liability is several and not joint. There is to be an Advisory Committee of three or more subscribers as provided for.

A reserve is provided for by setting aside one half of the annual savings until such reserve fund shall be an amount equal to six times the annual premium deposit.

The compensation of the attorney-in-fact is 20% of all moneys received by it from which it is to pay all expenses incident to conducting the exchange except losses, license fees, taxes, legal, preventive and adjustment expenses, Advisory Committee fees and expenses incident to the investment and exchange of funds and securities.

The subscribers agreement provides that a policy shall contain a condition stipulating that the subscriber shall not be liable by reason of a fire involving several risks for more than five times the maximum amount which the attorney is authorized to write on any one risk. In the event that a single loss should involve an aggregate of adjusted claims exceeding five times such maximum amount, such claims shall suffer a pro rata reduction sufficient to reduce the aggregate to a sum equal to five times such maximum amount. The power of attorney agreement may be cancelled on five days' written notice to either party thereto.

Income, 1921.—Premium deposits written, gross, $66,898.12; less return premium deposits, $9,624.94; net, $57,273.18; interest, etc., $874.28; surplus to credit of subscribers, December 31, 1920, $26,526.64; total cash income, $84,674.00.

BULL DOG AUTO INDEMNITY INSURANCE ASSOCIATION,

14 East Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.

General Review.

History.—This association was established on October 25, 1915, and began business early in 1916. It was organized by Paul R. Goddard, who is the attorney-in-fact, and was formerly connected with the Belt Automobile Indemnity Association, of El Paso, Ill., a similar concern.

In 1917 the Insurance Department of Illinois permittted the association to combine with the Bull Dog Auto Fire Insurance Association, of Chicago, Ill., which wrote fire lines on automobiles.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact, Paul R. Goddard, has had considerable experience in reciprocal exchanges, and was the organizer of this exchange.

To estimate the savings to subscribers, if any, the cost in this exchange must be compared to the cost at conference rates.

The exchange is progressive, and bears a good reputation as regards its settlement of losses.

This exchange has not reported to us fully for the year 1921, and the financial statement printed in connection with this report was secured from the Illinois Insurance Department. The item of unearned premiums appears small compared to the annual premium deposits written; but we are not advised as to the amount of advance premiums paid.

The exchange was examined by the Illinois Insurance Department as of May 31, 1921. The report showed that under date of June 2, 1921, the attorney-in-fact released the exchange from the repayment of $65,000 deposited by him as a guaranty fund until such time as it could be repaid without reducing the surplus of the Exchange below $100,000. It also showed that the members had contributed $66,236 for a guaranty fund. The surplus of $85,597.84 shown in the statement herewith would indicate that some part of these guaranty funds had been consumed in losses and expenses.

The losses and expenses were high in 1920, and the losses high in 1921. All items of expenses are not included in the statement herewith for 1921 as the loss and expense items given do not account for the total disbursements stated.

This Insurance Department also indicated that the compensation to the attorney-in-fact is all life membership fees, per capita tax or dues, transfer fees, but no part of assessments, from which he is to pay all administration expenses which does not include all reasonable costs of handling assessments, investigating and adjusting losses, attorney's fees, state department fees, and expenses of advisory committee and taxes.

Advisory Board.—R. C. Baker, general superintendent Western Div. Am. Dist. Tel. Co., Chicago, Ill.; Theo. Roehm, flour mill and elevator, Washington, Ill.; J. W. Andrews, retired, Dixon, Ill.; Paul W. Busse, cashier Danforth Banking Co., Washington, Ill.; Alexander Shane, of Indianapolis, formerly with the Inter-Insurance Bureau of the Insul Interest of Chicago and chief inspector of the Railroad Commission of Indiana.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management). The association insures automobiles against fire and theft, liability, property damage and collision. The cost of life membership is $19.50 to $21.50 for full coverage and $8.25 to $10.25 for fire and theft, liability, or collision coverage; $18.50 to $20.50 for fire and theft coverage, with either collision or liability. In the larger cities the higher amounts are charged.

The limit of liability as shown by the association is $5,000 for one person and $10,000 for more than one person in any one accident; $1,000 in property damage; collision, $300 to $1,000; fire and theft, $3,000.

Assessments are made to pay losses semi-annually. A deposit of $5 is required when the membership fee is paid, to guarantee that the first six-months' assessment will be paid in two months.

The assets of the association are in the custody of the attorney-in-fact, except $25,000 held in escrow under the Department of Trade and Commerce of Illinois and $10,000 in escrow with the Texas Insurance Department.

We are informed that provision is made for re-insurance.

The provisions of the exchange provide that "the total maximum liability of the subscriber * * * is specifically limited to his pro rata share of the total loss and reserve requirements for any one contract year."

Any subscriber may retire at any time by paying his share of the losses to date. If any part of the advanced premium is unexpended it is returned.

Service of process may be made upon the Superintendent of Insurance of any State in which the exchange is licensed and the attorney-in-fact.

No business is accepted through brokers. The attorney-in-fact employs agents and pays a portion of the membership fee to the agents for the business.

Annual reports are made to subscribers.

Territory.—The association was licensed, at time of latest advices in Ala., Ill., Ind., Mo., Pa., Okla, and Texas.

General Review.

History.—This institution commenced business January 1, 1914, and writes workmen's compensation and automobile insurance on the inter-insurance plan. The volume written by this exchange is principally compensation and liability insurance, but report is made herein on account of the automobile insurance written by it.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney and manager is Carl G. Brown, who has been in the insurance business since 1901, was for three years special agent and adjuster for the United States branch of the Frankfort General Insurance Company, and was for ten years with the Pacific Coast Casualty Company.

Frank K. Roberts, Jr., is an assistant manager and has been connected with the exchange since February 1, 1914. He had no previous insurance experience. He is located at Los Angeles.

Joseph E. Marcoux, special agent and field representative, has been in the insurance busines for approximately fifteen years. His employments have been as follows: Originally with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company; later local agent for several casualty companies in Sacramento, California. Following this, he was special agent for the Empire State Surety Company, and for some three or four years prior to January, 1914, was special agent and adjuster for the Pacific Coast Casualty Company. He has been with the California Casualty Indemnity Exchange from its inception.

John C. Chandler, assistant manager, who has charge of the safety inspection and underwriting departments, was for two years with the Employer's Indemnity Insurance Company, Philadelphia, and later was for eighteen months superintendent of the inspection department of the California Inspection Rating Bureau. He is in the San Francisco offices.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange writes workmen's compensation, automobile and public liability insurance. The maximum liability assumed upon any one risk is $15,000. Subscribers are admitted upon the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact, subject to rejection by the advisory committee, and no business is accepted through brokers. The rates at which the busines is written are the same as those of conference companies. The remuneration of the attorney-in-fact is 20% of the first $100,000 compensation premiums and 15% thereafter, 30% on automobile and public liability premiums and 5% of the savings of subscribers, from which amounts he pays all expenses of operation, except losses, governmental charges, taxes, reinsurance and specific expenses authorized by the advisory committee.

The exchange has reinsurance arangements on compensation losses over $15,000, up to $100,000, on automobile fire losses over $5,000 and on automobile liability losses over $10,000. On public liability the excess over $5,000/$10,000 limits is reinsured.

Reserves for outstanding liabilities shall be created and maintained as provided by law.

"Liability for the payment of losses incurred by virtue hereof shall be assumed by the subscriber in the proportion that his premium deposit bears to the total premium deposits made by all subscribers within the calendar year. All expenses not borne by the attorney shall be proportionately assumed by the subscriber in the same manner. The liability of the subscriber, however, under this power of attorney, shall not exceed double his annual premiums for the payment of losses and expenses occurring in any policy year; it being understood that the subscriber's liability for losses and expenses shall be computed as of the first day of the month in which the subscriber's policy is issued and upon retirement the subscriber's liability for losses and expenses shall cease only on the last day of the month of the subscriber's retirement."

The subscriber agrees upon request to make a deposit with the attorney equal in amount to an insurance premium computed as required by the terms and conditions of his policy. If this deposit is not made within ten days after it becomes due, the policy issued to the subscriber may be suspended without notice and only reinstated upon the payment of the past-due premium.

"A surplus fund shall be created and maintained by the subscriber equal to one full annual premium in the following manner: There shall be annually credited to this fund until the same equals one full annual premium at least twenty-five per cent. of the subscriber's policy savings and no savings shall be returned in cash until at least one-half of said surplus fund has been created. In compensation insurance, however, an estimated amount equal to one-half of the subscriber's annual premium shall be deposited, at the time of subscribing, in the said fund, by the subscriber. The amount of the deposit at any time standing to the subscriber's credit, shall be subject at all times to the subscriber's liability for loss and expense. The attorney shall not, however, deduct any portion of this fund for his compensation."

The attorney-in-fact advises us that since the beginning of business the exchange has received full conference rates on all classes of insurance underwritten, and that it has saved for its policyholders in excess of 30% on workmen's compensation insurance, and in excess of 35% on automobile insurance. Public liability having been begun in 1920, is too young to make any statement with regard to savings.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance oraginzation, which began business in 1915. It is operating under license from the Dominion Insurance Department restricted to lumber plants in Ontario and Quebec.

Management.—The attorney-in-fact is E. D. Hardy & Co., which is composed of Edgar D. Hardy and James E. Reynolds. The members of this firm have been successfully engaged in the business of insuring lumber plants in Eastern Canada for a number of years.

It will be noted in the income statement that practically the entire liability assumed is reinsured as written. The expenses are moderate and the loss ratio favorable.

Advisory Committee.—An Advisory Committee composed of subscribers to the Government Deposit is elected annually. This committee has general supervision over the affairs of the exchange and the Attorney Company, including the investment and distribution of funds belonging to the subscribers. It is composed of W. E. Bigwood, Graves, Bigwood & Co., Byng Inlet, Ontario, and Duncan McLaren, Union Lumber Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ontario, for the Province of Ontario; Arthur H. Campbell, Campbell, MacLaurin Lumber Co., Ltd., Montreal, Quebec, and W. Gerard Power, Power Lumber Company, St. Pacome, Quebec, for the Province of Quebec.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange confines its operations to lumber manufacturing risks, including wholesale and retail lumber yards. Only firms and individuals of unquestionable financial standing owning plants of first class construction, under capable management, are eligible for membership.

The expense of management is limited to 15% of the net premiums out of which the Attorney Company defrays all underwriting and inspection expense.

The liability of members on any one risk is limited to an amount equal to the annual premium deposit. It has never levied an assessment. Cash dividends are payable to subscribers as soon as their surplus, together with the "reserve" mentioned above, is equal to twice the amount of their annual deposits.

Until a sufficient volume of insurance has been written to provide a safe "insurance average," the entire liability will be reinsured in responsible companies on a basis which assures an annual saving to each subscriber. A list of such companies has been furnished us in confidence, and they are all in excellent repute.

Investments.—The investments of this exchange are of high character.

Income, 1921.—Premium deposits written, gross, $39,235.46; less return premium deposits, $6,953.98; less reinsurance, $31,574.26; net, $727.22; received on war loan bonds, $3,091.15; income received on bonds exchanged, $52.86; commissions received on reinsurances, $1,742.57; dividends on reinsurance placed with mutual companies, $10,012.50; less provisions for cancellations, $8,561.16; total cash income, $12,065.14.

Disbursements, 1921.—Losses paid, gross, $19,782.62; less reinsurance, $19,782.62; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $4,845.22; legal expense, $15.00; taxes, licenses and fees, $1,246.60; auditors fees, $60.00; safety vault, $2.50; interest paid subscribers on war loan bonds, $2,347.50; bonus paid subscribers to government deposit, $2,150.00; total cash disbursements, $10,666.82.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This is an inter-insurance bureau, established December 28, 1907, and began issuing policies in that year. It has been very successful. The management advises that at the end of 1921 it had 750 subscribers and 1,500 risks insured.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The attorney-in-fact is Lansing B. Warner, Inc., 155 East Superior street, Chicago, Ill.; incorporated under the laws of Illinois with a capital of $10,000. The officers are: Lansing B. Warner, president and treasurer; Clarence R. Leland, vice-president and secretary, and Martyn F. Warner, second vice-president. The active manager is Lansing B. Warner, who is an experienced insurance man and in excellent repute. Mr. Leland has been associated in the management since the Bureau was organized. Mr. M. F. Warner, a brother of Lansing B. Warner, has been with the Bureau since 1908.

The management advises that it is returning an average of more than 40% savings to subscribers.

The expense ratio is moderate.

PLAN OF OPERATION (as reported to us by the management).— The bureau limits its writings to canning factories only against hazards of fire and lightning, and writes lines of $150,000, which it carries net without reinsurance. This limit is fixed by the attorney-in-fact on approval of the Advisory Committee, and he advises that no insurance is accepted through brokers or commissioned agents.

The management advises also that no policies are issued to subscribers who have not signed power of attorney agreement, and that new subscribers are accepted by the attorney-in-fact, subject to the approval of the Advisory Committee, and of the other subscribers.

No risks are accepted without survey and approval of expert inspectors in the employ of the attorney-in-fact.

The liability of each subscriber under any policy of insurance issued is that proportionate share of the insurance granted by such policy as the total of the reserve fund deposit of each subscriber bears to the combined reserve fund deposits of all subscribers. Each subscriber assumes a proportion of each and every policy in force during the period his insurance is in force. The deposit received from subscribers is credited to each when paid. When a policy is cancelled there is no further contingent liability.

The refunds or losses and expenses of individual subscribers are computed monthly, based on the number of days that the policy has been in force, and the amount so computed, less such sums as may be due the attorney and also due for losses and expenses, is credited monthly to the subscribers by carrying to the individual account of each subscriber such proportion as the total reserve fund deposits of the particular subscriber on the first day of the particular month bears to the total reserve fund for the deposits of all subscribers. The proportion aforesaid of all losses and expenses not otherwise provided for shall be paid from the surplus thus credited to each subscriber; and if such surplus is insufficient, then from the surplus reserve (a special cumulative fund) of each subscriber; and if such surplus reserve is insufficient, then from the reserve fund deposit or deposits of each subscriber.

The refund or savings are disbursed to subscribers on December 31st of each year. No policy of insurance shall be issued by which the liability of a subscriber on any one risk shall exceed five times the amount of the reserve fund deposit, except where a risk is so divided that in ordinary underwriting it would not be understood as subject to loss from one cause. No provision has been made to guarantee the subscribers against assessment, but the management advises that Canners Exchange Subscribers have never been assessed. The rates used are the same as those fixed by board insurance companies.

The administration expenses are limited to 20% of the total expense and guarantee fund deposited or agreed to be deposited by the subscriber. Out of this commission the attorney pays all expenses of every kind, except the payment of losses, expenses incidental to the adjustment and settlement of losses (other than adjusters' fees and expenses), counsel fees, costs and expenses of litigation, taxes, legal expenses and assessments, license fees and expenses of the Advisory Committee and expenses incidental to the investment and custody of funds and securities.

The management advises that all of the expenses not paid by the attorney-in-fact have been more than offset by the interest earnings on deposits, all of which is credited to subscribers' accounts.

In addition to the expense and guarantee fund deposit, each subscriber upon the request of the attorney deposits with the attorney the sum of $10, to be designated "reserve fund." The amount of the reserve fund deposit may at the option of the subscriber be increased to an amount in excess of $10, provided the total reserve fund deposit of the subscriber does not at any time exceed an average of $2 for each full $1,000 of insurance carried by the subscriber. The reserve fund deposits are maintained at $2 per thousand intact at all times and are held for distribution for the payment of losses if required.

A subscriber may withdraw at any time upon five days' notice to the attorney and all policies issued to the subscriber shall then cease and terminate without further notice on the part of the attorney, who within sixty days thereafter is required to make up the account of the subscriber, and any amount found to be due the subscriber is thereupon returned by the Advisory Committee.

The Advisory Committee in conjunction with the president of the attorney, ex-officio, has charge of all moneys and securities and has full discretion in regard to the investment of the assets and the payment of losses and expenses. Disbursements are by check, approved by the attorney and signed by at least two members of the committee, who are especially designated for that purpose by a majority of the committee.

The operations at the bureau are reported quarterly to all subscribers through the Advisory Committee.

The subscribers are licensed in twenty-nine States and the Insurance Commissioner of each State is authorized to accept service of process binding upon all of the subscribers. The attorney-in-fact is also authorized to accept similar service.

Losses are adjusted by the regular adjusters of the bureau.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is a reciprocal association which was organized and began business in June 21, 1921.

Management.—The attorney-in-fact is the Michigan Casualty Corporation, incorporated under the laws of the State of Michigan, in June, 1921, with a $50,000 capital stock, $35,000 of which has been paid in. The officers are: President and general manager, Lawrence M. Goodman; secretary, Theo. F. Henry; treasurer, Paul E. Hinckley; directors, the same, including Arthur Goulson and Waldo Sloman. All of the officers have had insurance experience in both agency branch and company management for periods varying from four to eleven years.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The association writes automobile insurance, having in addition to the standard policies a fire and theft policy which excludes theft of tires and motor meters at a reduced rate, and having also a new collision form in addition to the regular collision, which excludes loss or damage to fenders and running boards. The rates used vary from 12½% to 25% below conference. Subscribers are admitted upon the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact and advisory committee. The exchange has not operated long enough to have established records. An unusual provision will be noted below providing that if the surplus of the exchange, be reduced to $15,000, over and above all liabilities, the exchange shall cease doing business and liquidate. In view of this provision no contingent liability is provided. No assessment liability is provided, as the power of attorney contains an agreement that if the net surplus of $25,000 with which the company started should at any time be reduced to $15,000 over and above all liabilities, the exchange shall cease doing business and liquidate. Premium deposits are credited to the individual subscriber. Savings are distributed to the subscribers immediately, one-half being retained as a surplus, provided, however, that any car which shows a loss ratio of twice the annual premium, shall not share in the dividends.

Reinsurance is carried as follows: Fire, $50,000 in excess of $5,000 both as to known and unknown hazards.

The compensation of the attorney-in-fact is limited to 25% of the earned premiums, out of which it pays all expenses with the exception of claims, reinsurance and those of the advisory committee. The funds of the association

General Review.

History.—This reciprocal exchange was organized in St. Louis, Mo., on December 1, 1919, and commenced business the same date. The attorney-in-fact is John L. Corley.

Management and Reputation.—The losses and expense to date have been very moderate, but the savings to subscribers have been very small.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange confines its business to cleaners and dyers, and issues policies of insurance for fire, theft, property damage, collision and liability coverage on automobiles, and burglary and theft against the insured business or personal losses. The amount of coverage is limited to $10,000 on all lines. The exchange has no reinsurance against catastrophe or the assessment of members, the assessment liability of members being one additional premium.

Each subscriber at the exchange has a separate account on its books, and at the end of the policy period one-half of the savings will be returned to the subscriber, the other half placed to his credit in the reserve fund unitl the reserve fund is equivalent to one annual premium; afterwards the full amount of savings will be returned. The business is written at manual rates.

The compensation of the attorney-in-fact is 25% of all moneys received for credit to the subscriber's account at the exchange, and covers all expenses except license fees, taxes, legal and advisory committee expenses, and expenses incident to the adjustment of losses. The attorney-in-fact is bonded and the assets of the exchange are in the Vandeventer Trust Company of St. Louis, Mo.

Subscribers may withdraw from the exchange upon ten days' written notice, and the unused portion of the premium after setting aside proper reserves for the subscriber's pro rata portion of all losses and claims that may be outstanding shall be returned to him.

Service of legal process may be made upon the attorney-in-fact or the State Insurance Commissioner.

Territory.—Licensed in Missouri only.

General Review.

History.—On May 1, 1917, the Automobile Indemnity Exchange, the Coal Operators Exchange, the Lumbermen's Indemnity Exchange and the Commercial Underwriters Liability Exchange, all under the management of T. H. Mastin & Company, were merged under the title Consolidated Underwriters.

The Automobile Indemnity Exchange began business June 1, 1909, and wrote insurance covering automobiles against fire, liability, property damage, theft and collision.

The Coal Operators Exchange comenced business December 1, 1912, and was formed for the purpose of writing liability and workmen's compensation insurance for its members, all coal mine operators.

The Lumbermen's Indemnity Exchange commenced business in May, 1907, writing liability and workmen's compensation insurance upon lumber manufacturing risks.

The Commercial Underwriters Liability Exchange commenced business August 1, 1916, and wrote insurance on classifications not written by the other exchanges which formed this consolidation.

Management and Reputation.—The attorneys and managers are T. H. Mastin & Company, who are in excellent repute, and who maintain offices in Asheville, N. C.; Beaumont, Texas; Chicago, Ill.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Kansas City, Mo.; Louisville, Ky.; Memphis, Tenn.; Miami, Okla.; Minneapolis, Minn.; St. Louis, Mo.; Tulsa, Okla.; Wilmington, N. C.; Pittsburg, Kan.; Mobile, Ala.; Ft. Worth, Texas. In 1916 T. H. Mastin & Company purchased all of the stock of H. J. Straight Company, attorneys and managers for the Underwriters Exchange and the Inter-Insurers Exchange of Chicago, Ill.

The firm of T. H. Mastin & Company is composed of T. H. Mastin, W. M. Drennon, F. W. Schafer, Henry Burr, Thomas Lonergan and H. E. Minty. Mastin, Drennon and Schafer for many years conducted the general agency for the Ætna Life Insurance Company, accident and casualty department, covering the west half of Missouri, all of Kansas, Arkansas and Louisiana, and the east half of Texas. Henry Burr was for many years with the Ætna Life Insurance Company and was manager of its claim department in Kansas City for several years. Thomas Lonergan has been in the casualty insurance business since 1900, for a number of years as field man in the State of Illinois for the Ætna Life Insurance Company and for the London Guarantee and Accident Company in their casualty departments. H. E. Minty was for thirteen years special agent of the Hanover Fire Insurance Company and the Queen Insurance Company; also for six years manager of the Groves Brothers Insurance Agency of Kansas City, Mo.

The exchange writes a large volume of business. In 1921 the premium writings were $2,921,739.19. The exchange enjoys an excellent reputation as regards treatment of its subscribers and claimants, and is returning substantial amounts as savings to subscribers.

The exchanges, merger of which formed this exchange, were in operation for a number of years, and were very successful. They were operated by T. H. Mastin & Company from 1907 until merged into this exchange.

A joint examination of this association as of June 30, 1919, was made by the Insurance Commissioners of Missouri and Indiana, and their report is dated August 25, 1919.

As some of the operations of this exchange appear to be unique, we quote a considerable portion from this report as follows:

"In this division the exchange writes maximum limits of coverage: On employers' liability, $10,000 for any one person injured or killed, $20,000 for any one accident causing the injury or death of several persons; on workmen's collective, 26 weeks' half wages not exceeding $750 for any one person injured or killed, and $10,000 upon any one acident causing injury or death of several persons. An excess limits department carries contracts wherein, for additional consideration, the maximum limits for liability coverage may be increased by $25,000 both as to one injury or several injuries or deaths resulting from one accident. The excess limit business is segregated and carried separately as to experience. The business of the compensation, collective and liability division is written on the following basis: On receipt of his contract the subscriber deposits for his credit with the attorneys at Consolidated Underwriters a sum equivalent to one-third of the estimated annual premium on the risk. He agrees to keep this sum at all times intact as guarantee for the fulfillment of the terms of his contract, and this initial deposit is in no sense a stipulated payment to other subscribers for the contract. On or before the 20th of each month the subscriber files with the exchange a written report of his payroll covered for the preceding calendar month, and on these payrolls so filed the risk is rerated and the subscriber billed for the pro rata portion of his losses and expenses incurred during the calendar month under consideration. Therefore, it is apparent that there is no unearned premium in so far as these lines of business are concerned.

"The power of attorney and subscribers' agreement as to liability, collective and compensation lines provides that the 'attorneys shall pay out of our funds our proportion of the cost of exchanging indemnity, including any and all claims or demands adjusted, contested, compromised or reduced to judgment; and in consideration for their services they shall deduct for themselves ten per cent. of the basic rate.'

"Liability and compensation business is rated on a basis peculiar to this exchange and its own underwriting methods. The initial deposits as above stated are based on tariff basic rates. This is simply a standardization figure and is held merely as an added safeguard for the subscribers.

"The charges billed to subscribers subsequent to each month's experience and based thereon are an approximation of actual cost of carrying the business, and are derived from three elements, (1) actual cost plus estimated present values of losses incurred but not settled, (2) claim expense, and (3) the accumulated experience of the exchange since organization.

"The method is substantially this: From the payroll and accident data accumulated on any one risk for a given month a class rate for that risk for that month is determined. The payroll of each member is then multiplied by his class rate and the several products are summed. This summation is called the gross underwriting amount. This gross underwriting amount consists of the actual claim payments made, plus the individual estimates as to what claims incurred but not yet closed will ultimately cost. Then the total number of reports of each class is multiplied by the average cost per case as determined by the exchange's past experience, and to this amount is added the claim expense for the month. The latter figure is compared with the gross underwriting amount, and if it is greater the difference is pro rated to all subscribers as an additive differential to each individual class rate; if it be less than the gross underwriting amount the difference is similarly pro rated as a subtractive differential on the individual class rate.

"The maximum and minimum limits as to which subscribers benefit or are penalized by this system are 60% over and under base rates, respectively. In other words, the lowest possible charge is 60% below manual and the highest 60% above manual. This is based on the assumed theory that the manual rate represents a fair average standard in the long run, and that the catastrophe hazard running beyond 60% over manual in any individual case will be offset by the savings in the group resulting from the risks where the class rate runs 60% below manual and the 60% minimum rate is collected. As a matter of fact, the over maximum and under minimum differences are pro rated to all subscribers in their costs. In compensation states the cost of fatal and specific injury cases is taken out of the average and their exact schedule value is reserved.

"Automobile Division.—The automobile business, as previously stated, is written and handled according to a totally different system from that applied to other lines. In other words, it is written on the basis of annual premium deposits paid in advance and subject to loss and unused premium apportionment at annual periods. The power of attorney executed and made a part of each subscriber's agreement for the exchange of automobile indemnity, provides that 'the attorneys shall pay out of my funds my proportion of the cost of any and all claims or demands, as adjusted, contested, compromised, or reduced to judgment. The attorneys shall defray all the expenses of exchanging indemnity, except those mentioned above, in consideration for which, and for their services, they shall retain for themselves 25% of all moneys received or due as a result of this agreement.' Automobile coverage is exchanged up to a maximum limit of $10,000 for injury or death to one person resulting from any one accident; $20,000 for injuries or death to several persons from any one accident on the liability clause; $1,000 for property damage and the valued extent of loss under collision, fire, and theft clauses.

"The employers' liability and compensation losses and savings are apportioned monthly, and the subscribers are billed net, as all savings are reflected in the rates charged, which vary from month to month. Savings to automobile subscribers are apportioned annually and are distributed pro rata in cash at the annual termination of contracts in force.

"Modern methods prevail throughout the booking system of the exchange. Individual ledger accounts are kept with all subscribers.

"The exchange's settlements are prompt and fair, no disposition to quibble or take advantage of technicalities being evident; on the other hand, the claims department appears to bear in mind the fact that it is expending subscribers' funds and makes every effort to eliminate claims of a suspicious nature at the lowest possible cost."

In conclusion the examiners stated:

"It appears that the Consolidated Underwriters, by their attorneys, T. H. Mastin & Company, are conforming to all the provisions relating to inter-insurance and reciprocal exchanges as laid down in the insurance laws of Missouri and Indiana.

"The attorneys are experienced underwriters, thoroughly conversant with all phases of the business they are handling."

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—While the affairs of the exchange are conducted under the name of "Consolidated Underwriters," a separation is made of the automobile business. There are, therefore, two departments, one including subscribers who exchange contracts of indemnity covering workmen's compensation, workmen's collective, and all kinds of liability (except automobile) risks, and the other, all subscribers who exchange contracts of indemnity covering all kinds of automobile insurance.

In the fire department of the exchange selected automobile owners and dealers are written.

The exchange writes maximum limits of coverage (as above quoted from the report of the examination of the exchange) as follows: On employers' liability, $10,000 for any one person injured or killed, $20,000 for any one accident causing the injury or death of several persons; on workmen's collective, 26 weeks' half wages not exceeding $750 for any one person injured or killed, and $10,000 upon any one accident causing injury or death of several persons. Another department of the exchange, known as the excess limits department, carries contracts wherein, for additional consideration, the maximum limits for liability coverage may be increased by $25,000 both as to one injury or several injuries or deaths resulting from one accident. The excess limit business is segregated and carried separately as to experience.

Still another department of the exchange carries contracts wherein the maximum limits for liability coverage may be increased by $65,000 as to several injuries or deaths resulting from one accident. Experience on this class of business is segregated and carried separately.

All subscribers are subject to assessment limited to one additional annual premium on any one risk. Subscribers are not guaranteed against assessment.

Subscribers may withdraw at the end of any month by giving 10 days' notice in writing.

Members are admitted upon the recommendation of the attorneys-in-fact. Annual statements are made to all subscribers. Further details are furnished upon request.

The exchange writes its business at rates based upon its own experience.

The remuneration of the attorney-in-fact is 25% on the automobile business, out of which all expenses are paid; and 10% on liability and workmen's compensation business, out of which all expenses are not paid, administration, claim and other expenses being an additional charge upon premiums running 7% to 8%, making the total charge upon premiums 17% to 18%.

In the St. Louis territory in which the exchange writes about 2% of its business, the remuneration of the attorney-in-fact is 20% on liability and workmen's compensation business instead of 10%, so that the total charge upon premiums in this territory will be from 27% to 28%.

The exchange issues also an excess limits policy on which the compensation to the attorney-in-fact is 5 cents per $100 of wages. The bills rendered are for such compensation plus each subscriber's proportion of any excess losses which may have occurred.

In the St. Louis territory the compensation of the attorney-in-fact on excess limits policies is 10 cents per $100 of wages.

The savings to members in the liability and workmen's compensation branches are proportioned monthly, and in the automobile branch annually.

We are informed by the management that the savings run about 30% in the automobile lines and 30% to 35% in the compensation and liability lines.

The assets are in the custody of the advisory committee and the attorneys-in-fact.

Members of the attorneys-in-fact are bonded in the sum of $20,000.

Service of process may be made upon the attorneys-in-fact or upon the Insurance Commissioner in the States in which the exchange is licensed to operate.

General Review.

History.—This is a reciprocal association which received its license from the Insurance Department of Illinois and began business at Barry, Illinois, April 21, 1917. At the time of commencing business the attorney-in-fact was Loraine C. Strubinger. On January 21, 1918, G. C. Rockwood was appointed attorney-in-fact and the office of the association was removed to Sprinfield, Ill. On February 1, 1922, the Continental Underwriters was made the attorney-in-fact.

Early in 1922 this association took over the assets and assumed the liabilities of the following inter-insurance exchanges:

La Salle Auto Insurance Association, Ottowa, Ill.; Crescent Auto Protective Association, Mattoon, Ill.; Rockford Motor Insurance Exchange, Rockford, Ill.; State Auto Insurance Association, Beardstown, Ill.; Bankers Auto Insurance Association, Chicago, Ill. The management advises us that the power of attorney agreements of these exchanges was very similar to their own, and that the risks of these exchanges assumed are being carried to expiration under their original agreements, and transferred to the Continental Auto Insurance Association, under a new power of attorney agreement at expiration of the present policies.

Management and Reputation.—The association is under the management of the Continental Underwriters Company, as attorney-in-fact. The Continental Underwriters is an Illinois Corporation with $150,000, capital stock, fully paid. G. C. Rockwood is its president, and he has had about fifteen years insurance experience, having been formerly one of the organizers, and State manager of the Clover Leaf Casualty Company of Jacksonville. Later he, with H. B. Hill, president of the Advisory Board, organized the Commercial Health and Accident Company, and was elected secretary and treasurer of same. He was also vice-president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of Illinois. He retired as an officer in the two companies just mentioned in January, 1922, to devote his time to automobile insurance.

J. A. Feffer is vice-president and H. G. Rockwood secretary-treasurer of the attorney-in-fact corporation. They each have had about fifteen years experience in the insurance business. Mr. Feffer was employed in the claim department of the Employers Indemnity Corporation, of Kansas City, Mo., and Mr. H. G. Rockwood was one of the organizers, and later State manager and a director of the Clover Leaf Casualty Company, and from 1915 to January, 1922, vice-president of the Commercial Health and Accident Company.

The losses in 1920 and 1921 were a little above normal, and considering the agents' commissions paid, and fees collected, in addition to the attorney-in-fact allowance, made the expense very high. The amount set up as a liability for unearned premiums seems small compared to the annual premium deposits but the management advises that in the latter part of 1921, change was made from the "post mortem" plan of assessments to the advance premium plan, and we are not advised as to the amount of advance deposits so that this item could be compared therewith. The basis of rates not being reported, the costs in this exchange should be compared to the premiums charged by stock companies to ascertain the savings, if any. We have no information as to the market value of the stock of the Commercial Health and Accident Underwriters Company, used for escrow deposit as noted below.

Plan of Operation—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange writes fire, theft, tornado, collision liability and property damage insurance on automobiles. Collision coverage is written as full coverage or with $25, $50 or $100 deductible clause, as applied for by the applicant. Liability is written to a maximum of $15,000, where two or more persons are injured, and $7,500, where one person is injured. The maximum liability for property damage is $2,000.

The maximum liability assumed on any single risk is $5,000 on fire, theft or collision, and the association protects itself against catastrophe hazard by carrying $50,000 excess reinsurance.

The terms of the subscribers' contract state that each subscriber shall pay to the attorney-in-fact, for his compensation, as a life membership fee, the following: For fire and theft, $7.50; for collision, including tornado and cyclone insurance, $7.50; for indemnity insurance (death, personal injury and property damage), $7.50; for all three forms of insurance taken at one time, $20.

This is a membership fee for life and the subscriber may, at any time, have the insurance transferred from one car to another owned by him by payment of $1 transfer fee.

The compensation of the attorney-in-fact is the membership fee, transfer fee and a sum equal to 30% of all deposits made by each subscriber, out of which he pays office rent, clerk hire, commissions, and such expenses as are not designated as being paid by the association. The association pays all losses legal and adjustment expenses, insurance department fees and charges, all taxes premiums on surety bonds, postage, stationery, advertising and printing, necessary expenses for investigating losses, and the expenses of levying and collecting premium deposits.

Business is not accepted through brokers.

There are no joint funds and the accounts with members are kept separate.

The business is written at rates compiled on the association's experience.

The assets are in the custody of the Advisory Committee.

Service of process may be made upon the attorney-in-fact or the Insurance Commissioner of any State in which the association is licensed.

The guarantee fund of $29,600 is put up by H. B. Hill, H. G. Rockwood and G. C. Rockwood under terms of contract made on the 6th day of October, 1918. This fund is maintained for the purpose of increasing the surplus of the subscribers at the exchange and is for the purpose of paying excess losses if any should occur. This guarantee fund is no part of the subscribers' fund and the consideration for the advancement of this fund is 5% interest, payable annually from the funds of the subscribers. This fund consists of stock of the Commercial Health and Accident Underwriters Company.

The management advises that the number of subscribers at the exchange December 31, 1921, was approximately 25,000.

The management has placed $25,000 in escrow with First Trust & Savings Bank of Springfield, Illinois, under agreement with the Missouri Insurance Department, which may be changed to the jurisdiction of the Illinois Insurance Department. General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange, which began business in 1906.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney and manager is H. W. Eddy, who has been associated with the management of the exchange for ten years. He is also manager of the Casualty Indemnity Exchange, which is fully reported upon in our Casualty and Misscellaneous Volume, and which assumes for druggists liability in connection with the compounding of prescriptions.

The exchange has a sufficient number of risks for an adequate spread of liability. The loss ratio has been low and the expense ratio not excessive. It is successful and is making good returns to its members.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management). Expenses are limited to 25% of the total premium deposits.

Policies are written covering the property of retail druggists. All risks are written at full tariff rates, and its attorney and manager advises us that no lawsuit has ever been entered for or against this exchange, or its subscribers, as underwriters. As of December 31, 1921, the exchange had 12,721 members.

The largest aggregate amount written subject to any single risk is $10,000, which is carried without reinsurance.

The limit of liability to assessment is the amount of the annual premium deposit. No assessment has ever been levied. Accounts are under the monthly supervision of a certified public accountant. We have been advised that the attorney-in-fact is under an $80,000 bond placed with a reliable company.

No business is accepted from brokers.

It is under the supervision of an advisory committee, consisting of five members, who are elected annually by the subscribers of the exchange.

The exchange is licensed in the following States: Ala., Ark., Cal., Colo., Fla., Idaho, Ill., Iowa, Ind., Kan., Ky., Minn., Mo., Mich., Me., Miss., Md., N. C., Neb., Okla., Ore., Ohio, Pa., S. C., Tenn., Tex., Utah, Va., Wash. and Wis.

Advisory Committee.—Theodore F. Hagenow, Edward M. Pirner, Frederick S. Swift, Lorenz A. Seitz and Andrew S. Ludwig, druggists, of St. Louis.

Savings.—The exchange advises us that since organization an average saving for its members of approximately 38% of the tariff rates has been shown.

Income, 1921.—Premium deposits written, gross, $194,851.79; less return premium deposits, $21,778.44; net, $173,073.35; interest, etc., $7,568.48; sundries, $48.89; total cash income, $180,690.72.

Disbursements, 1921.—Losses paid, gross, $49,769.19; less salvage, $754.56; net losses, $49,014.63; paid attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $41,500.00; advisory committee expense, $1,935.60; legal expense, $2,083.84; taxes, licenses and fees, $4,471.09; other expenses, $4,921.07; unused premiums returned to subscribers, $62,796.88; total cash disbursements, $166,723.11.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This is an inter-insurance exchange which was established November 4, 1916 by W. L. Simmons and George H. Welch, who acted as its attorneys-in-fact until November 12, 1921. It received its license to commence business from the Illinois Insurance Department, January 1, 1917.

Up to the close of 1918 the exchange wrote only public liability, but it now writes fire, theft, collision and liability insurance on automobiles. It operates only in Illinois.

As of December 31, 1921, the Association advised that it had approximately 3,000 subscribers.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—November 12, 1921, Mr. George H. Welch retired and was succeeded by Claude H. Barr, the attorneys-in-fact being now Mr. W. L. Simmons and Claude H. Barr.

Mr. Simmons was formerly connected with the Western Automobile Indemnity Association, of Fort Scott, Kansas, acting for five years as State manager for Illinois. He severed his connections with that association in 1915 and organized an Illinois company.

Mr. Claude H. Barr was for several years with the United States Steel Corporation, and is now acting as general manager of this exchange.

It will be noted that automobiles and furniture and fixtures are included as assets in the statement of the exchange. These items are not usually admitted as assets by the State Insurance Department.

The management advises us that if not admitted as assets by the Insurance Department additional funds will be provided to make up any deficit created so as to comply with the law of the state.

The item of $17,500, in the income represents amount advanced by attorneys-in-fact, which the management advises us cannot be withdrawn until a clear surplus of at least $25,000 is otherwise maintained.

PLAN OF OPERATION (as reported to us by the management).—The power of attorney provides that the attorneys-in-fact may make assessments against subscribers subject to the approval of the Advisory Board. The assessment liability of members is limited to the amount of the last advance deposit assessed against the subscribers; and that they shall also collect a subscribers fee, the amount of which is to be fixed by the Advisory Board, of which no part of said fee shall be refunded after the issuance of a policy.

The attorneys-in-fact are authorized to appropriate the subscribers' fee and thirty (30) per cent of all other moneys collected by them for the purpose of paying the following expenses of the Association: Expenses of the advertising and promotion, commissions, salaries or wages of soliciting agents, office help and rent, and full compensation for the services of the attorneys-in-fact. A transfer fee of one dollar ($1) is provided for the transfer of policies.

The power of attorney provides that the attorneys-in-fact shall conduct the association in conformity with the laws of the State and rules of the Insurance Department of the State.

If at the expiration of the policy there remains any surplus of the advance deposit, the liabilities and expenses of the association having been paid, such surplus shall be refunded to the subscriber, or may be applied to the succeeding assessment if the policy be renewed.

The power of attorney agreement provides full power and authority to substitute or deputize others with the same authority as the attorneys-in-fact.

The Advisory Board consists of three members, elected at the annual meeting of the subscribers, the attorneys-in-fact being ex-officio members.

FORM A.— Full coverage insurance is written against loss by reason of liability, fire, theft, pilferage and collision.

The association uses rates based on its own experience.

GENERAL COUNSELORS.— Gus S. Brown, Rockford, Ill.; William E. Whiteside, Moline, Ill.; Chapin & Chapin, Springfield, Ill.

REFERENCES.— Farmers National Bank, Springfield, Ill.; State Savings Bank & Trust Co., Moline, Ill.; Springfield Marine Bank, Springfield, Ill.

ADVISORY BOARD.— Roger E. Chapin, Probate Judge, Springfield, Ill.; Fred. Cresse, merchant, Springfield, Ill.; Art. Haines, retired farmer, Rochester, Ill.

INCOME, 1921.— Premium deposits written: gross, $49,219.91; less return premium deposits, $477.59; net, $48,742.32; interest, $17.96; advanced by attorneys-in-fact, $17,500; total cash income, $66,260.28.

DISBURSEMENTS, 1921.— Losses paid: gross, $13,565.09; less salvage, $133.78; net losses, $13,431.31; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $11,081.24; advisory committee expense, $65; legal expense, $429.50; taxes, licenses and fees, $1,142.57; adjustment and settlement expenses, $3,313.04; other disbursements, $1,063.23; total cash disbursements, $30,525.89.

ECONOMY AUTO INSURANCE ASSOCIATION,

301 Old Colony Bldg., Freeport, Ill.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an association which was organized under the laws of the State of Illinois and commenced business on March 22, 1915, as the Economy Automobile Insurance Association. In January 1922 the management advised us that the "Reliable" and "Economy" had merged and were operating under above name.

Management.—The affairs of the association are managed by Robert J. Stewart as attorney-in-fact and an Advisory Board, consisting of three members of the association. This board is composed of Charles L. Snyder, dentist; O. D. Emerick, jeweler, and Frederick V. Hayner, grocer, all of Freeport; Harry H. Deery is superintendent of agencies.

The management has not reported to us as of December 31, 1921, as to the Economy Automobile Insurance Association, and the report made herein was prepared from information previously furnished to us. The financial statement printed herewith is taken from statement filed by the exchange with the Illinois Insurance Department. The data furnished is insufficient to fully understand the conditions, but the amount of liability set up for unearned premiums appears small compared to the annual premium deposits written in 1921.

The loss ratio is moderate, but the cost of administration, which we understand is paid from the membership and policy fees, is high. Savings, if any, can be estimated by comparing the cost of members to charges of stock companies.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management). The association insures automobiles, trucks and tractors against fire, theft and tornado.

We are advised by the Association that it operates on the following plans: Each person holding a policy of the association is a member thereof, provided such policy is in force. Each member must be an owner of an automobile and pay to the association $8 as a membership fee and $1 as a policy fee on each automobile insured. The membership fees entitles the applicant to insurance for a period of four years. Not more than two memberships or policies are insured for one person.

A member may withdraw at any time by returning his policy to the Home Office for cancellation and by paying his pro rata share of losses up to the date of cancellation.

The exchange confines its activities to the small towns and rural communities, and does not operate in Chicago, Peoria, East St. Louis or other large cities. It is licensed in Illinois only.

At the close of 1920 the exchange had about 16,589 members.

The manager has informed us that the present rate of assessment is approximately 45 cents per $100 each eight months.

In case of loss each member of the association is assessed a pro rata share thereof, provided there are not sufficient funds in the treasury to meet such loss. The liability of subscribers does not appear to be clearly fixed; the power of attorney blank furnished to us includes a clause: "Said attorney shall not * * * bind me * * * for more than my pro rata assessment as provided in the said contract." The copy of policy furnished to us, however, does not fix the limit of assessment liability. No assessments are collected in advance; the administration expenses being limited to the membership fees. No other expenses are chargeable to the members, except losses and loss adjustments and expenses of levying and collecting assessments.

The custody of the assets are in the hands of the attorney, who we are advised, is under bond for $10,000.

The association advises that gross amount insured in one hazard is $2,000.

When notice of an assessment is forwarded to a member, statement of the financial condition of the association is enclosed. The Superintendent of Insurance for the State of Illinois is authorized to accept service of process binding upon all of the members in the event of a dispute arising concerning any claim against the association.

All adjustments of losses are made by the officers of the association.

EPPERSON UNDERWRITERS

Kansas City, Mo.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is a reciprocal exchange which began business February 15, 1921. It is under the same attorney-in-fact management as the Lumbermen's Underwriting Alliance of Kansas City.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact manager is the U. S. Epperson Underwriting Company, which was incorporated March 16, 1916, and is also the attorney-in-fact for the Lumbermen's Underwriting Alliance, Kansas City, Mo., which began business January, 1905. That exchange bears an excellent reputation and has been very successful. The officers of the U. S. Epperson Underwriting Company are as follows:

President, U. S. Epperson; vice-president, and treasurer, J. J. Flynn; secretary, M. E. Epperson, all of whom are in excellent repute. Mr. Epperson was formerly insurance manager for a prominent Kansas City meat packing establishment.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The general plan of operation will be the same as the Lumbermen's Underwriting Alliance, reported upon elsewhere herein, except that the latter does not write use and occupancy insurance and the Epperson Underwriters does write that class. It will write fire and lightning insurance on lumber manufacturing plants of standard construction and yards and property incidental thereto.

The subscribers liability is limited on any one risk not to exceed the amount annually required for current premium deposits. It is provided that the attorney-in-fact is authorized to secure reinsurance or guaranty for the payment of excess losses and to apply 5% of all moneys received from the subscriber's account to pay for such reinsurance or guaranty.

As compensation for its services and in consideration of its defraying all ordinary expenses incident to conducting the inter-change of indemnity, except taxes, fees, legal, adjustment, surety bonds, Advisory Committee expenses and losses, the attorney-in-fact is to deduct 25% of all moneys received by it for credit of the subscribers' accounts, except interest earnings. The attorney-in-fact is authorized to set aside to the subscribers' credit as a surplus all savings effected on terminated contracts until there shall be accumulated from such savings a total sum equal to twice the amount of the current annual premium deposit.

An Advisory Committee of five or more members is provided for, but we have not been advised as to the names of subscribers composing this committee.

The exchange had not reported to us at the time of going to press with these reports its statement as of December 31, 1921. The following statement is taken from report filed with the Missouri State Insurance Department.

General Review.

History.—This is a reciprocal exchange, which was established June 21, 1919, and was licensed by the Insurance Department of Illinois and began business on June 23, 1919.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the Smith-Lawson-Coambs Company, a corporation organized in 1915 under the laws of Illinois with a paid-up capital of $10,000. The officers of the attorney-in-fact are: President, Alfred H. Smith; secretary, W. M. Lawson; treasurer, J. B. Coambs. Prior to the establishment of this exchange, Smith-Lawson-Coambs acted as general agents for a number of large fire casualty companies. All of the officers have had considerable insurance experience.

The exchange has not operated long enough to have established a record. There have been no returns of savings to subscribers, but it will be noted that the rates for some lines are less than the customary charges of companies collecting the full conference manual rates.

In 1921 the losses were moderate, but the item of claim and medical expense appears high, and there was a considerable amount paid out for excess reinsurance. The unearned premium liability appears low, but the workmens compensation, liability and property damage lines are written on a quarterly audit basis, so that the premiums are earned when collected.

The exchange was examined by the Illinois Insurance Department as of December 31, 1921, and the above statement was found correct.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange isues policies of indemnity on automobiles against fire and theft, liability, property damage and collision, workmen's compensation, and public liability. Its membership is not limited to any particular line of industry. Business is accepted through brokers, subject to the approval of the attorney-in-fact. Subscribers are protected against assessment by reinsurance contract with the Employers Indemnity Corporation, of Kansas City.

The Employers Indemnity Corporation has executed a reinsurance agreement for the benefit of Equitable Casualty Underwriters, under which it agrees to pay losses under the policies of this exchange after all the policyholders resources and the $50,000 contributed by the management has been expended, also conditioned upon the exchange having paid in losses not less than 80% of its premiums.

Savings are to be returned annually to subscribers, except that the attorney-in-fact is authorized to set aside such amount thereof as said attorney-in-fact may deem advisable for the purpose of providing an adequate surplus or reserve. If contract is terminated, the balance remaining to subscribers' credit as saving, or savings, after any and all outstanding claims and expenses have been apportioned and charged to his account, shall be returned to him.

The rates charged are as follows: Automobile liability and property damage, 10% off manual; full manual rates for collision (special collision, see below), workmen's compensation, fire and theft insurance. The administration expenses are limited by the power of attorney to 30%, out of which it pays all expenses, except license fees, taxes, of any kind, insurance or reinsurance premiums, court costs or attorneys' fees, claim expense, settling and adjusting of claims.

The exchange does not issue valued policies, but pays 100% of the value of the car in cases of total loss. For an additional charge it insures extra equipment, with some exceptions, against fire and theft.

The exchange advises that it issues a special collision policy on the following plan:

"The car owner pays us 30% of our full collision insurance premium. He keeps the remaining 70% and expends it for repairs after his car is damaged—if it is damaged. If he has no collision accidents during the policy year, he has saved 70% of his premium. If he has a collision accident during our policy period, he pays the 70% of his full collision insurance premium which we have not collected from him towards repairs to his car, and we pay all the loss in excess of his 70% and all subsequent losses."

Complete detailed report of the operation of the exchange is furnished to the subscribers annually after the annual meeting of the subscribers in January. Service of process may be made upon the Insurance Commissioner of the States in which the exchange operates and upon the attorney-in-fact. Adjustments are made by salaried representatives of the exchange.

Advisory Committee.—An annual meeting of the subscribers will be held in January of each year for the purpose of electing three or more members to serve as an advisory committee, and when elected shall serve until the next annual meeting of the subscribers. The advisory committee appointed by the attorney-in-fact until the first annual election is composed of the following members: J. C. Zipprich, president Zipprich Teaming Company; Arthur M. Kenning, vice-president and general manager International Tag Co.; Herman J. Krueger, president Krueger Cartage Co.; J. B. Burdett, president Burdett Oxygen & Hydrogen Co., president Burdett Mfg. Co.; W. C. Renstrom, secretary Rosenbaum Bros.; Dana E. Morrison, president Bike-Web Mfg. Co.; John J. McCormick, proprietor Corona Typewriter Sales Co.; Geo. A. Schmidt, secretary-treasurer and general manager Riverview Park Co.

Territory.—Licensed in Illinois only.

Income, 1921.—Premium deposits written, $433,124.58; less return premium deposits, $134,147.53; net premium deposts, $298,977.05; interest, etc., $2,506.15; bonds $60,000; total cash income, $361,483.20.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange organized in Indianapolis, Indiana, February 7, 1920, on which date it commenced business.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is The Federal Underwriters, Inc., of Indianapolis, Indiana, who informs us that the active managers of the association have had several years' experience as agents for stock companies.

The association has not operated long enough to have established a record. We are not advised as to the number of subscribers, or risks, to show spread of liability. The losses were not excessive in 1920 and 1921. The provision for commission and fees to the management will operate to make a high expense ratio. The association does not charge stock company rates, and to estimate savings, if any, it will be necessary to compare with those rates the charges produced by the association.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.). The association advises us that it operates on the following plans: It writes fire, theft, liability, property damage and collision insurance on automobiles and limits its liability coverage to $5,000/$10,000 limits, its fire, theft and collision cover to $3,000; and its net fire, theft, collision and property damage to $1,000. It does not limit its operations to any particular line of industry.

It reinsures its fire and theft hazards in excess of $1,000 per risk.

The largest gross, and net, amount insured in any one hazard is $10,000.

The association writes at approximately 10% less than stock companies' manual rates and keeps individual accounts with its members, who may retire upon ten days' written notice.

The power of attorney states the compensation of the attorney-in-fact shall be the membership fee (which for full coverage is $3 and 35% of the premium deposits, which 35% does not include legal and adjustment expenses, Insurance Department fees and charges, taxes, premiums on surety bonds, stationery and postage for collecting subscribers' deposits. The attorney-in-fact is under bond,

The assets of the exchange are in the hands of the treasurer of the Advisory Committee.

Service of process may be made upon the Superintendent of Insurance in the States in which the association operates.

Assessment Liability of Members.—The attorney-in-fact informs us that there is no reinsurance against the assessment of members.

General Review.

History.—This is a reciprocal association which was licensed by the Insurance Department of Pennsylvania and began business April 13, 1920.

Management and Reputation.—The exchange is managed by an attorney-in-fact appointed under and operating in accordance with the provisions of a power of attorney executed by each subscribing member. This attorney-in-fact is "Federal Underwriters," a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, with a paid-in capital stock of $35,000. The officers of the corporation are: John D. Eisenbrown, president; Joseph G. Forney, secretary; B. F. Hoffman, vice-president; Elmer C. Kieffer, M. D., treasurer. Mr. Eisenbrown is vice-president of the P. F. Eisenbrown Sons Company, Inc., dealers in cemetery memorials for forty-five years. Mr. Kieffer is a physician and surgeon in Reading, having practiced therefor over twenty years. Mr. Forney conducts a large insurance agency in Lancaster, Pa., is secretary of the Lancaster Motor Club, and is underwriter for the exchange.

A cash guarantee fund of $25,000 is carried in the assets, but as a corresponding liability is set up in behalf of the attorney-in-fact, the surplus is reduced to the small figure of but little more than $7,000. As the income account shows but very little was paid for reinsurance, it is our opinion that the resources are small compared with the amounts of insurance carried.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) It writes fire, theft, liability, property damage and collision insurance on privately owned passenger motor cars. The maximum liability assumed on any one risk for personal injury is $10,000 for injury to any one person, and $20,000 for injury to more than one person, but in the same accident which is reinsured down to $5,000 and $10,000 respectively. Members are admitted upon the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact, and business is not accepted through brokers on a commission basis. The power of attorney states that subscribers are not liable for more than an amount equal to an advance annual premium deposit which is subscribed for the payment of excess losses subject to the call of a majority of the advisory board. The power of attorney recites that subscribers authorize the attorney-in-fact to retain for itself 25% of all moneys received and/or due as a result of the instrument, but in addition to this the attorney was authorized to pay out of the subscribers' funds their proportion of the cost and expense incident to any and all claims. Although the power of attorney does not recite that the 25% compensation of the attorney-in-fact is limited to annual premium deposits, we are informed by the attorney-in-fact that this 25% commission will not be charged on anything but advance premium deposits.

Separate individual accounts are kept for each subscriber, and savings are distributed annually at the expiration of contracts on the basis of the preceding years' experience. The attorney-in-fact is authorized to retain up to one-half of the average savings, under advice of the advisory board, as a surplus account, until the termination of liability. The attorney-in-fact advises us that the assessment feature of the exchange is reinsured, and that a reinsurance contract for catastrophe due to fire is carried. Manual rates are charged. Subscribers may retire and terminate their liability at the end of any calendar month, subject to pro rata cancellation charge; savings are refunded at the end of the year. When subscribers retire, any paid-in or accumulated surplus and/or unexpended premium deposits may be retained or refunded to the retiring subscriber at the discretion of the advisory board.

The assets of the exchange are in the custody of the attorney-in-fact and the advisory board. The corporate officers of the attorney-in-fact are bonded in the amount of $20,000.

The attorney-in-fact is subject to the service of process unless otherwise provided by the laws of the states in which the exchange may operate. Loss reserves will be set up and maintained on each unsettled claim.

The power of attorney provides for an advisory board of from five to fifteen members to be selected from among the subscribers. In choosing successors for this advisory board the attorney-in-fact shall ask subscribers whom they desire to serve.

Advisory Board.—William B. Croll, Reading Pa., ex-collector of port, Philadelphia, Pa, Croll & Keck, merchants.

Graybill B. Long, Lancaster, Pa., wholesale shoe merchant.

Jacob H. Mays, Womelsdorf, Pa., president Mays Seed Company.

Walter A. Rigg, Reading, Pa., vice-president Inter-State Railways Company.

FEDERAL STATES FIRE UNDERWRITERS,
Dallas, Tex.

Not receiving response to our direct request for information, we made inquiry of the Department of Insurance and Banking of the State of Texas, and were advised under date of May 20, 1922, that this is a reciprocal exchange, duly licensed to write all character of business except life and workmen's compensation insurance. Application was filed with the Insurance Department on April 18, 1922, Mr. A. L. Houston being attorney-in-fact, with headquarters at Dallas, Texas. The Department further advises us that the exchange has fully complied with the law and made the necessary deposit of $10,000 to pay excess losses; also that the exchange showed spot business amounting to $539,200; additional application of $139,950, and future business pledged, $298,480. If our subscribers are interested and will secure from the exchange up-to-date copies of power-of-attorney agreement, policies and other blanks in use, and also a statement of the exchange's plan of operating, we shall be glad to comment upon same.

FORD CAR OWNERS PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION,
6310 Eggleston Ave., Chicago, Ill.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This association commenced its operations in 1916.

Although this association claims that it is not an insurance organization, we are informed that the Insurance Departments of Michigan and Wisconsin are considering taking action against the company on the grounds that it was transacting the business of insurance without proper authority.

We requested information concerning the operations of the association during 1920, but no reply was received, and it has not responded to our requests for information to compile report for this volume. We are, therefore, reprinting the report as it appeared in our last year's volume. We have been unable to obtain any financial statement whatever.

Plan of Operation (compiled from best information obtainable).—Mr. C. Franklin Davis, secretary of the association, writes us that we should distinctly understand that the Ford Car Owners' Protective Association is not engaged in the insurance business as insurance is defined by law. He states: "It is simply a Big Brotherhood of the Ford car owners themselves throughout the country who have joined hands for the purpose of protecting themselves against loss on their cars at the minimum of cost, and they are co-operating with each other in the regime of voluntary co-operation by status instead of in the regime of compulsory co-operation by contract. No one assumes any risk or liability and is not obligated in the entire movement because each and every Ford owner agrees to accept, when he has a loss on his car, whatever is realized by a pro rata call on the rest of the members in accordance with the automatic rate chart on the back of the 'certificate of protection.' The relationship between these Ford owners, and between the Ford owners and the writer, is that of voluntary, mutual co-operation without obligation, the writer having been appointed by these Ford owners as their agent while they are thus co-operating. He acts merely as a carrier whereby the minds of the Ford owners in the different States travel and meet."

If this organization does not insure, it comes so close thereto as to make it appear as if it did; and we have therefore included it in our volume.

Under this plan Ford owners are claimed to be protected against loss due to collision, fire, theft, lightning, tornado and explosion.

Losses are not covered unless the same exceed $15.00, and as no indemnity for loss or damage to tires unless the total loss or damage, including such tires, resulting from one collision, shall exceed the sum of $60,00.

Application of this protection is made upon an application blank, in exchange for which the Ford owner receives a certificate of protection. At the top of this certificate of protection this note is imprinted: "This 'certificate of protection' adheres to the principle of 'purely mutual co-operation' and thereby creates the right relation between all concerned. This right relation means that no one is bound beyond what self-interest impels him to do. In other words, the relation of the certificate holders to each other and the relation of the management to the certificate holders is such that self-interest impels all parties to do as they have elected herein to do."

Paragraph X of the certificate of protection reads: "The Ford owner named herein agrees with the rest of the members of said association that none of them or the Board of Managers are obligated to conform to the terms and conditions set forth in this certificate of protection unless each party feels that self-interest so impels, it being agreed and understood by the Ford owner named herein that failure to donate the amount of a monthly indemnity call within the time specified herein shall render this certificate of protection null and void. And also the Ford owner named herein agrees with the rest of the members of said association, that he understands the Ford Car Owners' Protective Association to be a voluntary body of the Ford car owners themselves, and that this certificate of protection does not come within the regime of contract, because it is based entirely upon the free will actions of the Ford car owners throughout the country, who are co-operating with each other in the manner set forth herein."

The certificate of protection recites that the owner has paid the enrollment fee of $7.00 to the management and agrees to pay the management a further sum of $2.00 per year as a per capita tax, which is the compensation of the management, together with 5% of the monthly indemnity money.

Each month the Ford car owners send to the Board of Managers certificates of loss, and an assessment is levied upon the holders of the certificates of protection. This is in accordance with an "Automatic or Self-Adjusting Rate Chart" which is printed upon the policy form, and which we give below:

AUTOMATIC OR SELF-ADJUSTING RATE CHART

20c limit for each one to pay on maximum loss of $400.00. Each $400.00 in losses represents one unit. Pro rata share for each one to pay decreases as the number of cars protected increases.

Pro Rata Share of Each Unit Loss of $400.00	Number of Cars Protected	Maximum Indemnity

and so on according to number of cars protected.

Limit $400.00 Maximum Indemnity.

As an illustration of the use of this chart, suppose there are 2,000 cars protected and one loss of maximum indemnity occurs, $400.00; each member will be called upon to pay 20c that month. If two maximum indemnity losses occur, then the owner of the certificate will be called upon to pay 40c. If one maximum loss of $400.00 ocurs where there are 40,000 cars protected, then each owner of a certificate is called upon to pay 1c.

The association has arranged with certain Ford dealers to collect dues and monthly calls, but where such arangements have not been made, remittances are to be made direct to the Central Office of the association.

We wrote to the secretary of the association asking for statistics concerning their operations, requesting specifically as follows:

(1) Date of beginning business. (2) Your selling organization or what corresponds thereto. What territories you operate in. (3) Historical exhibit of number of Ford cars protected. (4) Income for 1919 divided into enrollment fees, yearly fees, and collections of indemnity payments. Your disbursements classified according to nature of expense. (5) Statement of your assets and liabilities as of the end of 1919.

In reply thereto the secretary wrote to us, stating "you evidently have not read any of the literature or you would not propound the questions set forth in your letter. As we understand it, your business is reporting on companies, associations or organizations that are engaged in the insurance business. The Ford Car Owners' Protective Association is not that kind of an organization. It is not a company or an association in the ordinary sense of the word. It has no assets and no liabilities and never will have. It has no legal entity, it being a scattered number of individuals each of whom is a voluntary co-operative unit with 'freedom of conscience' to do or not to do as each one elects, and who are a relation to each other so that the one big human impulse, as well as the driving force which makes each one act, is self-interest.

"A circular issued by the association states that 'Upwards of two million Ford car owners are being formed into a Big Brotherhood under the name of the Ford Car Owners' Protective Association, as fast as they can be reached, for the purpose of protecting each other against loss on their cars, etc.*

"* This Big Brotherhood has been in successful operation for several years, and is growing very fast, because there are so many Ford cars to be protected and so many Ford owners who appreciate a plan of protection which enables them to be protected against loss on their cars at one-fourth the cost of the same protection in any other way. The reason the expense is so much less than by other methods is because of the operation of the automatic rate chart, which makes the association's plan of protection a perfect and definite one, explanation of which follows."

Management.—The only information we have concerning management is the recitation on stationery and literature "Board of Managers" without giving the personnel thereof. Mr. C. Franklin Davis is the secretary.

General Review.

History.—The above-mentioned inter-insurance exchange was organized November 1, 1920, and began business the same day.

The attorney-in-fact was the John L. Walker Company, Inc., a corporation enacted under the laws of Illinois with $20,000 authorized capital, and this company was succeeded as attorney-in-fact in September, 1921, by the Walker Service, Inc. This is an Illinois corporation, which advises us that it has an authorized and fully paid capital of $100,000, with officers as follows: President and treasurer, John L. Walker; first vice-president, L. E. Walker; second vice-president, R. N. Wyckoff; secretary, M. L. Kemp.

Mr. John L. Walker was also president of the John L. Walker Company, Inc., and informs us that he has been in the insurance brokerage business since the latter part of 1915, two years of which were spent in representing the Central Casualty Underwriters, a casualty inter-insurance exchange, which went into the hands of a receiver January 24, 1921, and concerning which we sent out our pink bulletin on January 26, 1921. Mr. Walker is primarily a public accountant, which business he followed for the six years prior to his entering upon his insurance career. Mr. L. E. Walker was previously connected with the American Automobile Insurance Company, of St. Louis, for about two years, in the adjusting department, and was for about four with the B. F. Goodrich Company, of Akron, Ohio.

Mr. R. N. Wyckoff is an attorney admitted to the Illinois Bar, and has charge of the claims department of this exchange.

The exchange has not operated long enough to have established records of loss paying and management.

Kinds of Insurance Written.—Automobile full coverage ,workmen's compensation, and public liability.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The maximum line assumed on automobile and public liability is $5,000 to any one injured, and $10,000 in any one accident.

The power of attorney provides that the attorney-in-fact shall receive 30% of the entire amount paid by subscribers as dues, membership fee and assessments, out of which it shall meet all costs except the payment of losses, adjustment of same, State, county and municipal taxes, insurance department fees, and charges, legal expenses, and expenses of the advisory committee and expenses of making, levying and collecting assessments. In addition to this the power of attorney provides that the subscriber shall pay a $5 membership fee, annual dues of $5, and such assessments as may be levied in accordance with classification to be determined by the attorney-in-fact.

The policy contract provides that cancellation may be made by subscriber or the attorney-in-fact upon five days' notice in writing, pro rata if made by attorney, and short rate if by subscriber.

Although the power of attorney and policy contract apparently do not specifically mention the return of any unused portion of assessment, it may be that such return may be implied from the following language, but "subscribers shall be liable only for his proportionate share of losses or damages occurring during the period of his policy contract."

The company promulgates its own rates. The funds are in the custody of the attorney-in-fact, who is not bonded.

The power of attorney appoints the insurance commissioner or superintendent or corresponding officials, as attorney or agent, on whom process may be served in legal proceedings.

Losses are adjusted by the company's claim department, and the unearned premium and claim reserve are at the discretion of the management.

As of November 15, 1920, the Fort Dearborn Casualty Underwriters in consideration of the assignment by Central Casualty Underwriters and Illinois Auto Insurance Association, by E. H. Nichols, Inc., of all interest in certain policies of insurance and unearned premiums thereon, severally agree to indemnify and insure said E. H. Nichols, Inc., as attorney-in-fact of Central Casualty Underwriters and Illinois Auto Insurance Association, against all losses arising out of or because of the execution and delivery by the assured of each and every of the policies of automobile insurance heretofore placed with the said assured by John L. Walker Company, and which are at the date of the agreement in full force and effect, but no losses arising out of any accident prior to noon of November 15, 1920, are covered thereby.

This said policy of reinsurance is to remain in effect as to each of said policies until each policy expires by its terms or is cancelled.

Income, 1921.—Premium deposits written: Gross, $449,322.73; less return premium deposits, $85,856.70; net, $363,466.03; subrogation and claim recovery, $3,973.66; sale of bonds, $3,942.90; total cash income, $371,382.59.

Disbursements, 1921.—Net losses, $92,736.04; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $116,448.21; legal expense, taxes, license and fees, $4,542.43; expenses of adjustment and settlement of losses, $16,500.00; expenses of L. C. and M. assessment, $25,449.60; total cash disbursements, $255,726.28.

General Review.

History.—This is a reciprocal exchange which was established in June, 1917, and began business July 1, 1917. It is regularly licensed by the Missouri Insurance Department.

Management.—The attorney-in-fact is the General Service Corporation, organized in May 1920, of which Mr. P. J. McGuire is president and treasurer. The General Service Corporation has an authorized and fully paid capital stock of $60,000. Mr. McGuire has been in the inter-insurance business for a number of years, having been connected with several exchanges. The secretary of the attorney-in-fact corporation is N. A. Howe.

The attorney-in-fact has deposited with the Mississippi Valley Trust Company, of St. Louis, $17,000 as a guaranty fund, under an escrow agreement, whereby it shall not and cannot be withdrawn by the attorney-in-fact except for the payment of claims against the exchange until such time as the exchange shall have sufficient funds to maintain the legal reserve required, which shall not be less than $25,000, and then only upon approval of the Superintendent of Insurance. The income and disbursement figures for the year 1921 have not been furnished to us, and it will be noted that the figures furnished for these items cover the period from the time the exchange commenced business to the end of 1921.

The loss and expense ratios are not excessive. As the exchange makes its own rates, members, to estimate savings, if any, should compare the cost in the exchange to similar coverage in stock companies.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange writes fire, theft collision, property damage and liability insurance on automobiles. It writes pleasure and commercial vehicles. No business is written through brokers. The portion of liability assumed by each subscriber is determined by a premium deposit, and the maximum liability of members on any one risk is an amount equal and in addition to the annual deposit. The contingent liability is a sum equal to the annual deposit.

The compensation of the attorney-in-fact is 25% of all moneys received by him for credit to the subscribers' accounts, out of which he pays all expenses with the exception of taxes, license fees, inspection and claims, adjustment expenses, reinsurance and legal and Advisory Board expenses.

The exchange is to have an Advisory Board consisting of three or more subscribers.

A separate individual account is kept with each subscriber.

The funds of subscribers are deposited in banks or invested in securities approved by the Advisory Board, and all disbursements shall be by checks of the attorney.

The attorney shall set aside such portion of surplus deposits or savings as he deems advisable to provide surplus and reserve. The balance shall be returned to members annually in cash.

Contracts may be cancelled either by subscribers or by the attorney-in-fact on five days notice, in writing. If cancelled all unexpired indemnity shall be terminated and unused advances returned.

Advisory Board.—Nelson B. Darragh, president F. C. Taylor Fur Co.; H. G. Hurd, president Standard Auto Service Co.; O. A. Jeager, sales secretary American Stove Co.; P. J. McGuire, president General Service Corporation.

Income, June 30, 1917 to December 31, 1921.—Deposits received and in course of collection, $330,454.84; interest, $6,308.65; special reserve, $8,000; total cash income, $344,763.49.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.— This is an inter-insurance exchange which was formed November 15, 1920, and began business December 1, 1920.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the United Holding Corporation, Incorporated, incorporated under the laws of Illinois, November 1, 1920, with an authorized capital of $50,000, which capital stock was increased on October 3, 1921, to $100,000, all having been paid in.

Officers.—President, Richard S. McConnell vice-president, Louis E. Hart; secretary, Norman H. Pritchard. The above-named gentlemen are prominent attorneys of the city of Chicago, and members of the firm of Montgomery, Hart and Smith.

Executive Council.—Chairman, Slayden F. Kirksey, Jr., Chicago; vice-chairman, John R. Montgomery, Chicago; secretary, Irving Harriott, Chicago.

The management of the General Motor Underwriters is vested in the Executive Council.

Mr. Slayden F. Kirksey, Jr., was for two years connected with the Automobile Underwriters of America, an inter-insurance exchange of San Antonio, Texas, as their Chicago manager, and prior to that time was in the insurance and woolen business in Texas.

Mr. John R. Montgomery is a member of the firm of Montgomery, Hart and Smith, Attorneys, The Rookery, Chicago. Mr. Montgomery has served as president of the Chicago Bar Association for two terms.

Mr. Irving Herriott was formerly general attorney for the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad, and general claim attorney for the Illinois Traction System.

Kinds of Insurance Written.—Fire, theft, collision, property damage, and public liability on automobiles.

The Exchange has not operated long enough to have established records. In 1921 the losses were about normal but the expenses high, and the commission allowance to the attorney-in-fact together with other expenses chargeable to the subscribers is likely to produce a high expense ratio for this class of institution.

The item of unearned premiums appears small considering the amount of annual premium deposits. Office furniture and fixtures is included in the assets. This is not an admitted asset under the laws of most states.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The gross liability assumed upon any one risk is $10,000, which is reinsured down to $5,000.

Subscribers are admitted upon the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact, and business is secured by salaried representatives.

Special reports are secured upon each application and the cars are inspected by competent salaried appraisers.

The contingent liability of each subscriber is limited to an amount equal to the annual premium deposit.

The funds of the exchange are deposited in banks or invested in securities, subject to the approval of the Executive Council, and the management is bonded to the extent of $25,000 in the aggregate.

Reports are to be made to the subscribers annually.

Service of process may be made upon the Attorney-in-Fact or the Director of Trade and Commerce, Springfield, Illinois.

Loss adjustments are made by salaried representatives of the exchange.

The unearned premium liability is set up according to the requirements of the Illinois Insurance Department.

Claim reserves are set up according to the discretion of the management.

Certified public accountants audit the accounts semi-annually and the standard of solvency is that fixed by insurance laws.

The Power of Attorney authorizes the Attorney-in-Fact to retain 35% of all monies received and/or due as a result of this agreement. In compensation for his services, and in addition to this, the subscriber pays all losses and the following classifications of expenses, taxes, license fees, reinsurance, cost of and expense incident to adjustments, legal and Executive Council expenses.

Elgin, Ill.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which was licensed by the Insurance Department of Illinois, January 1, 1918. It was organized to write insurance on mercantile property, and the management advises under date of September 7, 1921, that it had 1,600 members and that the policies average about $2,000.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is Leon D. Nish, Incorporated. This management corporation was incorporated in November, 1917, under the Illinois laws, Leon D. Nish being manager and R. Y. Wallace, assistant manager. The Hardware Underwriters of Elgin, Illinois, is under the same management. That exchange was organized in 1912, and has been successful. Mr. Nish has been secretary of the Illinois Retail Hardware Association for over fifteen years, and during this time has also represented several hardware mutual insurance companies.

This Exchange has not responded to our request for information and statement as of December 31, 1921, and report made herein was compiled from information previously furnished. If our subscribers are solicited to become interested they should require of the Exchange full information.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The Subscriber's Agreement, copy of which has been furnished to us, shows that the subscriber's contingent liability is limited on any one risk to an additional annual deposit premium. The agreement also provides for an advisory committee consisting of five or more subscribers in good standing who shall be selected by the members, and the attorney is empowered to accept service of process. The liability is several and not joint, individual accounts to be kept with each subscriber. The compensation of the attorney-in-fact is 25% of all moneys received by him for credit to the account of the subscriber from which he is to defray all expenses incidental to conducting such insurance, except losses, taxes, legal expenses and expenses of the Advisory Committee. The Subscriber's Agreement also provides, "No premium shall be charged for any contract of insurance authorized hereunder, the consideration being the exchange of indemnity, but the undersigned will deposit with the attorney at the time each contract is issued to the undersigned, such a sum as the attorney shall deem proper to be designated 'Expense and Guarantee Fund' to be held and used by said attorney for the exchange of these contracts as herein provided for and made." The agreement may be terminated at any time by the subscriber or the attorney, by either giving to the other five days' notice in writing. The agreement being terminated, the attorney shall, within thirty days, completely liquidate the account and return to the members their portion of the net surplus and reserve.

Copy of policy which has been submitted to us contains this condition: "In the event of litigation herein, to avoid a multiplicity of suits, no suit or other proceeding at law or in equity shall, in any event, be begun or maintained for the recovery of any claim upon, under or by virtue of this contract against more than one of the subscribers at any time, nor in any court other than the highest court of original jurisdiction; nor unless the attorney-in-fact named herein shall have theretofore been given thirty days' notice in writing of the intention to bring suit under this contract." The policy also provides that a final decision in such suit or other proceedings shall be taken to be decisive of any similar claim, so far as the same may subsist against each of the subscribers, absolutely fixing his liability in the premises. The policy also provides if, at the time of any loss under the contract, any other insurance shall be in force on the property insured under the contract which shall cover specifically in two or more divisions and amounts, upon any property covered in any one division and amount by this contract, then this contract shall be assumed to be written in like form to the contract containing the greatest number of divisions in case of non-concurrence in specific items only all other contracts of insurance shall be considered as concurring fully with this contract, and this company shall pay only its equitable share on that basis; or if such other contract of insurance shall contain any conditions of average, co-insurance, percentage of value, inventory and iron safe clause, or exemption from consequential damages, this contract shall be subject to the conditions of average, co-insurance, percentage of value, inventory and iron safe clause, or exemption from consequential damages, in like manner.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which began business in June, 1912. All subscribers must first qualify as members of the National Retail Hardware Association through an affiliated State association and have the required commercial standing.

Management.—The attorney-in-fact is Leon D. Nish, Incorporated, of which Leon D. Nish is manager and Robert Y. Wallace, assistant manager. The attorneyship was incorporated in November, 1917, under the Illinois laws.

Mr. Nish has been secretary of the Illinois Retail Hardware Association for over twenty years, during which time he has represented certain hardware mutual insurance companies.

The exchange appears to be operating upon a sound basis. It reports a sufficient number of subscribers (5710 subscribers, and 7811 risks insured) to give it an adequate spread of liability; the losses are low, the expenses not excessive, and it is making fair returns to its subscribers.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange issues policies against loss by fire on buildings and stocks of hardware therein, and on residences of hardware men and household furniture therein. The exchange reports that the maximum amount written on any one risk is $30,000, which is reinsured down to $10,000; this is the net limit written in any city block, although the gross line in a block is $30,000.

No business is accepted through brokers. Subscribers are accepted upon the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact and of members in good standing. Before acceptance all risks are investigated as to moral and physical hazards.

Each subscriber gives a subscription in a sum equal to his annual deposit to pay excess losses, and his contingent liability is limited to this subscription on any single risk on losses incurred during a given policy year. The premium deposits are credited to the individual accounts of the subscribers and losses are pro rated on the first day of each month for losses of the preceding month, only on those contracts in force at the time of loss and the aggregate distribution for the twelve months of the policy year is carried forward to the individual account. The attorney's compensation is limited to 25% of the annual deposit premium, out of which all expenses are paid by the attorney-in-fact, except legal and loss and adjustment expenses, State and Federal taxes and fees and the expenses of the Advisory Committee.

Each year one-half of the savings of subscribers is credited to their individual surplus and reserve accounts until such accounts amount to 100% of each annual premium deposit. Thereafter all savings are paid to subscribers in cash.

The liability of a subscriber or of the exchange may be terminated by either giving the other five day's notice in writing.

The assets of the exchange are in the custody of the Advisory Committee and the attorney-in-fact is reported as bonded for $50,000, for the faithful accounting of funds.

Reports to subscribers are made annually through printed matter and at the annual meeting of subscribers.

It has never levied an assessment.

The attorney-in-fact and the superintendent of insurance of any State where licensed are authorized to accept service of process binding upon all the members in the event of a dispute arising concerning any claim against the exchange.

The exchange is licensed in Ala., Ark., Cal., Fla., Idaho, Ill., Ind., Iowa, Kan., Ky., Me. Mich., Minn., Miss., Mo., N. C., N. D., Ohio, Ore., Pa., S. C., Tenn., Texas, Va. and Wis.

Advisory Committee.—This is selected by the members at the regular annual meeting and for the current year is as follows: C. T. Woodward, chairman, Carlinville, Ill.; A. E. Marcotte, vice-chairman, Kankakee, Ill.; H. E. Gnadt, countersigning member and treasurer, Chicago, Ill.; C. H. Williams, Streator, Ill.; J. P. Brown, Hillsboro, Ill.; all of whom are in the retail hardware business in their own cities.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—On March 15, 1919, the Illinois Automobile Owners Fire Association, which wrote fire, windstorm, collision and theft insurance on automobiles, and the Illinois Automobile Owners Indemnity Association, which wrote public liability and property damage insurance, were merged under the title, Illinois Inter-Insurers Association. Both of the above exchanges were organized in 1916, and were under the same management. On March 15, 1920, it changed to the present title.

The exchange is licensed in Illinois only.

Management.—The attorney-in-fact is the Illini Underwriters Corporation, incorporated in Illinois. Charles E. Hamilton, of Carbondale, Ill., is president. He is an attorney at law, interested in water, light, and ice plant propositions in Southern Illinois, and has been actively engaged in general insurance business for the last thirteen years. Dr. M. Etherton, of Carbondale, Ill., is vice-president and has been engaged in the insurance business since 1900. Charles E. Feirich, of Carbondale, Ill., is counsel for this exchange. He is also district attorney for the Illinois Central Railroad. Thos. L. Cherry is secretary and underwriter, and he advises us that he has been engaged in the insurance business since 1898.

The losses in 1920 were not excessive, but were above normal in 1921. The expenses, under the new plan noted below appear on rather a high basis, the entire expense now, however, is paid from the premium deposits, fees no longer being charged. The amount set up for unearned premiums appears small compared to the annual premium deposits written. The management advises that it is computed in accordance with the law, which permits deducting all items of expenses and commission allowances in figuring this item of liability.

The income shows the "Guaranty Fund," $45,000, but we are not advised as to the conditions under which this fund may be withdrawn, nor as to the nature of the fund. The management states, in reply to our request for information about this fund, that it was placed by the attorney-in-fact, under the conditions of the Illinois laws.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The management advises us that the exchange issues but one contract to which it attaches riders,—forms "A," "B," "C," "D," "E," "F," "G," "H," and "I." Form "A" is a combination coverage and includes fire, windstorm, collision (with deductable average clause), theft, public liability and property damage. Form "B" is a combination coverage and includes fire, windstorm, collision (full coverage), theft public, liability and property damage. Form "C" is a fire, windstorm, collision and theft coverage and includes fire, windstorm, collision (with deductable average) and theft. Form "D" covers fire, windstorm, collision and theft and includes fire, windstorm, collision (full coverage) and theft. Form "E" covers fire, windstorm and theft. Form "F" covers fire and windstorm. Form "G" covers collision alone with a deductable average. Form "H" covers collision full coverage. Form "I" covers public liability and property damage.

Formerly membership fees were collected, but the plan was changed about the first of the year 1921, to eliminate the membership fee, and in the future premium deposits will be paid in advance, either annually or semi-annually.

The management advises us that it was found not possible to conduct the business of the exchange at 30%, since the fees were discontinued, and the commission allowance to the management was increased to 40%. The power of attorney agreement provides that "The attorney-in-fact shall receive as its compensation a sum not to exceed 40% of the deposits made by the subscribers and out of the amount so received by it shall furnish suitable offices, pay salaries, clerk hire, and agents commissions, and provide necessary books, data and equipment which shall be and remain its property, and the underwriters shall pay all claims compromised or litigated under any contract of the underwriters, and the necessary legal and adjustment expenses thereof, and all other necessary expenses of conducting the business."

Applications are submitted by solicitors and are passed upon by the attorney. No business is accepted from brokers.

Each policyholder assumes a proportion of liability under all policies issued and his liability to assessment is unlimited.

The management reports that the gross and net limits in one hazard is $5,000, which is carried net.

The attorney-in-fact and the Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of Illinois are authorized to accept service of process binding upon all of the members in the event of a dispute arising concerning any claim against the exchange.

Income, 1921.—Premium deposits written, gross, $117,515.10; less return premium deposits, $9,248.83; less reinsurance, $2,180.81; net, $106,085.46; interest, etc., $1,666.41; guarantee fund, $45,000.00; total cash income, $152,751.87.

Disbursements, 1921.—Losses paid, gross, $62,611.85; less salvage, $1,811.88; net losses, $60,799.97; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, (including solicitors commission), $45,036.07; legal expense, $1,614.75; taxes, licenses and fees, $1,231.77; other expenses, $3,855.71; other disbursements, $5,945.44; total cash disbursements, $118,483.71.

Transactions Since Organization.—Premium deposits received, gross, $327,725.57; less return premium deposits, $14,840.21; less reinsurance, $4,287.45; net premium deposits, $308,597.91; interest received on investments and bank deposits, $2,522.01; guarantee fund, $45,000.00; total cash income, $356,119.92; losses and adjustment expenses paid, gross, $152,946.93; less salvage, $4,857.50; losses and adjustment expenses paid, net, $148,089.43; commissions paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expenses, $129,108.56; State and Federal tax, National Association fees, printing, postage, etc., $16,243.47; legal expense, $4,697.20; total expenses paid, $298,138.66.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which represents the consolidation of the subscribers at the Illinois Automobile Fire Insurance Exchange and the subscribers at the Illinois Motor Vehicle Liability Exchange.

The Illinois Automobile Fire Insurance Exchange began business November 18, 1914. Its principal office was at Dixon, Illinois, and Van C. Bosworth was attorney-in-fact. In January, 1916, F. S. Larison was substituted as attorney-in-fact and on December 15, 1916, the principal office was moved to Bloomington, Illinois.

On July 30, 1917, both of the above exchanges were legally consolidated as the Illinois Automobile Insurance Exchange. It formerly operated on an assessment plan, collecting at the end of each six months' period funds necessary to pay losses and expenses. It now operates on the advance premium plan.

The Exchange was examined by the Virginia State Insurance Department under date of June 6, 1921, to ascertain whether the Exchange had a surplus equal to that required by the laws of that State ($200,000). The commissioner declined to renew the license and was restrained for a time by injunction secured by the Exchange. Its license in that State has not been renewed.

Following the examination above referred to a convention examination was made as of August 31, 1921, participated in by the States of Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Virginia, Wisconsin and North Carolina. This examination showed the Exchange as having admitted assets $356,265.33, and net surplus, $21,363.62. The examiners reported that examination of the minutes show that the Advisory Board does not direct the management, but that its actions are perfunctory. At the time of the examination there were 1,316 unpaid claims pending, including a number of litigated cases. The examiners reported that in some cases there is a disposition on the part of the Exchange to scale down, compromise or deny liability and to contest claims, even in cases where, in the opinion of the examiners, the liability and extent of the damage was determined beyond a reasonable doubt.

Management.—The attorney-in-fact and manager is F. S. Larison, with offices in Bloomington, Ill.

In 1920 the losses and expenses were not excessive. In 1921 the amount of losses and claim expenses was high, and the disbursements exceeded the income. Understanding that advance premiums were collected from about March 1st the amount of unearned premium liability appears small compared to the annual premium deposits. To estimate the savings, if any, to members, the cost in the exchange should be compared to similar coverages in stock companies.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—This Exchange has recently changed its plan of operating, and we are advised by it that it now operates along the following lines. It writes automobile insurance coverages, including fire, theft, collision, tornado, liability, and property damage, and has changed to an advance premium plan, using its own basis of rates. Full fire coverage is granted arising from any cause whatsoever subject to usual policy conditions. Theft is covered by any persons other than those in the employment or of the household of the assured. Tools and repair equipment limited to factory equipment. Collision coverage caused solely by collision with another vehicle, any animal or rolling stock of any public character, damage to tires by collision not being covered. Collision is written subject to the first $15 to be deducted when the list price of the car does not exceed 500, to $20 when the list price of the car exceeds $500 and does not exceed $750, and the first $25 to be deducted when the list price of the car exceeds $750. Full collision coverage is granted by endorsement for an extra charge. The personal injury clause covers limits of $5,000 and $10,000, which may be increased by endorsement to $10,000, and $20,000. Property damage is limited in any one risk to $1,000 and subject to further limitations under certain conditions by endorsement.

The Exchange advises that 90% of the cost of the car is written for fire, theft, collision and tornado insurance, with a monthly depreciation of 2% from the face of the policy. The management also advises that as protection to subscribers, $45,000 excess fire and tornado insurance is carried above the $5,000 limit, and also that the attorney-in-fact who has charge of the assets is bonded in the sum of $50,000, and further that the cashiers, district and state managers are also bonded.

The compensation to the attorney-in-fact is the policy fee and a sum equal to 30% of all premium deposits made by the subscribers, from which he shall pay all expenses incident to the conduct of the exchange, except losses, legal and adjusting expenses, insurance department fees, charges, taxes, premiums on surety bonds, stationery, postage, advertising, expense of levying and collecting premiums. The policy fee for each section is $5.

The management advises us that no insurance is accepted without a signed power of attorney agreement. The power of attorney agreement may be revoked by either party giving to the other five days' notice in writing.

The subscribers' contingent liability is not limited in the power of attorney agreement.

General Review.

History.— This association was established April 17, 1916, and began writing liability and property damage on automobiles on June 19, 1916, and fire, theft and collision on automobiles on October 10, 1917. It reported that on December 31, 1921, it had 3,500 subscribers and 5,399 risks insured.

The management advises that it has deposited Liberty Bonds (par value $30,000) with the Illinois Insurance Department.

Management and Reputation.— The attorney-in-fact is J. L. Pickering, who we are advised was twelve years agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York.

The losses in 1920 were somewhat above, and in 1921 about normal. In 1921 the expense of administration was above normal. The savings, if any, can be estimated by members comparing the cost in the association to similiar cost in stock companies.

It should be noted below that the association issues non-assessable policies because the attorney-in-fact has agreed to maintain all necessary legal reserve without assessing the policyholders. This eliminates the protection to policyholders of the contingent liability of subscribers, if the reserves should be impaired and the attorney-in-fact should fail to make them good, and creditors would suffer. This does not seem to us a sound underwriting basis.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).— It writes fire, theft, liability, property damage and collision insurance on automobiles, confining its business to the less hazardous classes, and accepts as members only persons living in the State of Illinois outside of Cook, Du Page, Lake, Madison and St. Clair counties. If a policyholder moves to any of these counties the policy is automatically cancelled. The maximum liability assumed on any single risk for liability and property damage is $15,000, and for fire, theft and collision, list price of a car or cost to insured. Subscribers are admitted upon recommendation of the attorney-in-fact. Each subscriber is required to pay an initial deposit, which includes membership fee agreed upon between him and the attorney-in-fact. The fees are received by the attorney-in-fact as compensation, in addition to which he receives the transfer fees and 30% of all earned premium deposits, out of which he pays all expenses. (This provision to pay all other expenses apparently does not include legal and claim expense, taxes, licenses and fees, furniture and fixtures, revenue stamps, etc., which are included in disbursements as charged to subscribers.)

We are advised by the management that: "The agreement with subscribers, filed with Illinois Insurance Superintendent contains this stipulation:

"The attorney-in-fact promises that all reserves required by law shall be maintained without making additional or extra premium calls or assessments for that purpose,' hence policyholders are protected against contingent liabilities."

Territory.— It is licensed in Illinois only.

Advisory Board.— George B. Gillespie, general counsel; and bankers and business men in Bloomington, Champaign, Decatur, Jacksonville, Quincy and Springfield, Ill., who, however, only allow the use of their names in advertising and vouch for the attorney-in-fact and the standing and general reputation of the association, they are no part of the organization, officially.

Income, 1921.— Premium deposits written, gross, $98,-010.27; less return premium deposits, $2,546.48; less reinsurance, $400; net, $95,063.79; interest, etc., $1,556.37; membership fees and transfer fees, $10,813.21; total cash income, $107,433.37.

Disbursements, 1921.— Losses paid, gross, $49,529.42; less salvage, $2,830.87; net losses, $46,698.55; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $47,593.29; legal expense and claim expense, $6,012.47; taxes, licenses and fees, $810.28; furniture and fixtures, postage and revenue stamps, records and advertising in re thefts and ad-

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This reciprocal exchange, the second oldest in the United States, was established in 1891, and began business in 1892. It was formed by large insurers, primarily to create capacity, but also to establish competition.

Up to January 1, 1914, it was managed by William and R. M. Williamson. On that date M. J. Dorsey & Company, an Illinois corporation, was appointed manger.

The Western Indemnity Exchange, of Columbia, Mo., and the Merchants Underwriters, of Kansas City, Mo., were merged with the Indemnity Exchange in 1914.

A series of policies were formerly issued under the name of "The Manufacturers Alliance at The Indemnity Exchange," and also under the name of the "Merchants Underwriters at The Indemnity Exchange." This has been discontinued and these titles are used for classification purposes only.

Prior to January 1, 1914, the liability of members was determined by the amount of subscriptions; that liability is now based upon premium deposits.

Management and Reputation.—M. J. Dorsey & Company is an Illinois corporation, with $200,000 authorized, and $163,000 paid-in capital.

The vice-president and general manager of this company is R. A. Wilson, who has had considerable experience in the insurance business and is in good standing. He was formerly connected with the Bankers Inter-Insurance Alliance, of Kansas City, and the Merchants Underwriters, of Kansas City, and has had general brokerage and agency experience.

Its president, M. J. Dorsey, is also president of the Dorsey Land and Lumber Company, of Texarkana, Ark. Prior to 1912 he was attorney at law in Denver, Colo. Early in 1913 he organized the Western Indemnity Exchange, and in April, 1913, he became attorney for the Merchants Underwriters, both referred to above.

G. B. Dorsey, director, is a retired capitalist, of Columbia, Mo.

S. R. Wells, who states that he was with the Lumbermen's Underwriting Exchange, Kansas City, Mo., for several years, has the underwriting in charge. He is active vice-president.

The exchange is conservatively managed and is in excellent repute, and it has been making substantial saving returns to its subscribers. The management advises that the estimated savings to subscribers from organization has been from 25% to 40%. No dividends were returned to subscribers in 1921.

In the statement below appears an item of $15,408.37 as reinsurance due from other companies. We are not advised as to names of the companies or association from which this is due, and are unable to judge its value as an asset item. The item "premiums or deposits outstanding not over three months due," $61,727.92 seems large compared to annual premium deposits.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange writes fire insurance at stock company rates, upon manufacturing, mercantile and garage properties, its maximum net lines being $25,000. It now has about 1,500 subscribers, and insures about 3,000 seperate risks. The gross amount written is limited to not exceeding one-sixth of the aggregate annual premium income on any risk, or risks, subject to one fire.

Members are admitted upon the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact. They must have a satisfactory commercial rating and a clear fire record. Traveling representatives of the manager make complete surveys of all risks insured.

The basis of participation is the premium paid. Each member underwrites his proportion of each policy issued. The premiums collected are credited to the accounts of the subscribers by whom they are paid. Each subscriber's account is charged with 25% for management expense, and with losses in the ratio that his premium deposit bears to the aggregate premium deposits in force when the loss occurs. At the expiration of the policy a dividend (if earned) is declared as soon as apportionments to expiring policies have been completed; and the balance of saving, if any, is credited to the subscriber's surplus account.

The liability of each member to assessment is limited to an amount equal and in addition to the annual premium deposit paid. No provision has been made to guarantee the members against assessment.

Expenses are limited to 25% of the premium deposits. No contingent commission upon the savings is allowed.

The provision for the creation of a reserve or emergency fund is stated above, in connection with the disbursements of saving to members.

Members may retire upon five days' notice to the attorney and manager.

The funds are in the custody of the Advisory Committee, and disbursements are made by voucher check countersigned by one member of that committee. We are advised that the attorney-in-fact gives a surety bond for an amount at all times in excess of the amount of cash on hand belonging to the exchange.

Reports are made to members in full detail upon the expiration of their policies.

Service of process may be made upon the attorney-in-fact or the Superintendent of Insurance of those States in which the exchange is licensed.

Losses are adjusted by Wagner & Glidden, public adjusters, of Chicago.

Territory.—The exchange is licensed in Ark., Ill., Ind., Kan., Ky., Mich., Minn., Mo., Okla., Ohio and Pa.

General Review.

History.— This is the pioneer inter-insurance exchange, having been established in 1881 by six of the leading mercantile houses in New York City. The subscribers are concerns of the highest commercial standing in the United States and Canada, and the organization is under the same management as the New York Reciprocal Underwriters.

As of December 31, 1921, the exchange had approximately 700 subscribers and 1,150 risks.

Management and Reputation.— John R. Waters acted as attorney and manager up to the time of his death in 1911. Mr. Waters was succeeded by Alfred G. Evans and Edward B. Swinney, who managed the office until September, 1918, when they resigned in favor of Ernest W. Brown, the present attorney and manager, who for eight years acted as vice-president of the Blackstone and Merchants mutual fire insurance companies, of Providence, R. I. Mr. Sidney G. Walker resigned as vice-president of the Manufacturers Mutual Fire Insurance Company, and affiliated companies of Providence, to become associated with Mr. Brown as deputy attorney.

The exchange is making substantial returns to its members. The amount of savings returned to subscribers in cash does not fully represent the amount of savings earned, for under the plans of this exchange no cash savings are returned to a subscriber, unless he retires as a subscriber, until his reserve fund, which may, with a new account, take three or four years to build up, is fully established; in the mean time the savings are held in the reserve fund credited to the subscriber's account.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).— The compensation of the attorney is limited to 5% of all net premiums received, all other expenses being borne by the subscribers.

The exchange specializes on sprinklered risks, also moderate accommodation lines on other properties of safe character. It is the first organization of its kind in America, and in every respect enjoys an excellent reputation.

Both the attorney and deputy attorney have had many years' training in fire protection engineering, and the exchange is operating on a sound basis.

The exchange writes at tariff rates.

The management advises that the largest maximum line accepted subject to one risk is $250,000, which is carried net.

All applications for subscribership are, after inspection, passed upon by the advisory committee. If acceptable the applicant may be admitted on a $250 basis or some multiple thereof. No initial deposit is required apart from the premium. A subscriber's earnings as underwriter are accumulated up to twice his single risk liability, after which any excess is paid to him in cash in January of each year. An unearned premium reserve, figured on the same basis as stock companies, is maintained.

The maximum liability of a subscriber on any one risk is the amount of his subscription. In a conflagration, or one fire, involving ten or more risks, his liability is limited to ten times his subscription.

Subscribers may withdraw upon fifteen days' notice, their liability on outstanding policies being assumed pro rata by the remaining members. The advisory committee has the power to retire a subscriber at any time.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE AND TRUSTEES.— The affairs are supervised by an advisory committee, consisting of seven members, all of whom are connected with concerns which are subscribers. This committee is elected by the subscribers at the annual meeting in January. They also act as trustee for the funds of the exchange. The members of the advisory committee are as follows:

Frank R. Chambers, of Rogers-Peet Company, New York; Thomas M. McCarthy, of Austin, Nichols & Co., New York; W. D. Williams, of Jordan Marsh Company, Boston; Thomas W. Ross, of Hummel & Downing Co., Milwaukee, Wis.; Stanley T. Cozzens, of Goldenberg Bros. & Co., New York; Arthur R. Wendell, of The Wheatena Co., Rahway; John Sargent, of Sargent & Co., New York.

TERRITORY.— The exchange is regularly licensed to transact business in the following States: Ala., Ark., Cal., Colo., Fla., Ill., Ind., Iowa, Kan., Ky., Md., Mich., Minn., Miss., Mo., Neb., N. Y., N. C., Ohio, Okla., Ore., Pa., S. C., Tenn., Texas, Utah, Va., Wash., Wis. and Dominion of Canada.

INCOME, 1921.— Premium deposits written, gross, $950,433.86; less return premium deposits, $123,895.54; net, $826,538.32; interest, etc., $51,191.41; appreciation in book value of bonds, $100,572.28; total cash income, $978,302.01.

DISBURSEMENTS, 1921.— Net losses, $226,690.70; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $153,016.78; advisory committee expense, $5,434.97; legal expense, $8,128.75; taxes, licenses and fees, $18,924.82; other expenses, $3,320.16; adjustment and settlement of losses, $1,245.65; paid subscribers for earnings, $169,094.11; total cash disbursements, $585,855.94.

INTER-INSURANCE EXCHANGE,

311-318 White Bldg., Seattle, Wash.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which was established March 1, 1915. It is licensed in Wash., Ore. and Cal.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is James H. deVeuve, who is also attorney for the Lumbermen's Indemnity Exchange, and a seperate exchange designated "Lumbermen's Indemnity Exchange, Series B." He has had many years of insurance experience. The funds of the exchange are in the custody of the Advisory Committee.

The management advises that the exchange accepts gross lines of $90,000 subject to one fire, of which $20,000 is carried net on sprinklered and $10,000 on non-sprinklered risks. These gross lines are out of proportion to the net resources and premium volume. The policy of accepting very large gross lines and reinsuring a large proportion thereof we believe to be an unsound practice for an inter-insurance exchange to follow.

The management of this exchange had not, at the time of going to press with these reports, responded to our several requests for report as of December 31, 1921 and the report made herein is from information previously furnished. The figures quoted below are from the December 31, 1921, statement of the exchange filed with the Washington Insurance Department.

This exchange was examined by the Washington State Insurance Department as of June 30, 1921. At that time the statement showed the following items: Gross ledger assets, $156,724.02; net losses and claims unpaid, $44,704.56; unearned premiums deposits, $71,661.07; total liabilities, $192,265.24; excess of liabilities over cash assets, $35,541.22.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The power of attorney provides for an Advisory Board of five or more subscribers to be selected annually by the members. This board has supervision of the funds and investments.

The officers of the exchange consist of a president, vice-president, board of trustees of seven members, secretary, treasurer, attorney-in-fact and the manager. The president, vice-president and board of trustees are elected by the subscribers. The treasurer, secretary and manager are elected by the board of trustees. The attorney-in-fact acts only on direct power of attorney from each subscriber of the exchange, and is also specially elected by the trustees as manager, as such, as well as in its capacity of attorney-in-fact, to perform such duties as the board of trustees may from time to time direct. The board of trustees meets once every month to pass upon and audit all accounts, and to authorize the payment thereof by the treasurer.

The power of attorney gives authority to bind each subscriber on each and every risk up to the total of his annual premium deposit. The contingent liability of members is the total amount at risk under all outstanding policies.

The exchange writes on properties of lumber manufacturers, brick yards, foundries and structural iron plants and operations allied with the lumber business.

It also provided that before insurance is granted the plant must be inspected by the managers and that the plants of subscribers shall be inspected not less than every six months. Such inspection shall be filed in the office of the exchange, and shown to any subscriber upon demand.

The attorney-in-fact receives a commission of 25% of the net premium deposits, out of which all expenses are paid, except taxes, legal expenses and expenses of the Advisory Committee.

The premium deposits are apportioned among all subscribers, and the profits of subscribers are computed by proportioning them pro rata, according to the subscribers' respective liability.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange, which began business on October 1, 1912. It is regularly licensed by the Insurance Department of the State of California. On December 31, 1921, it had 40,571 subscribers.

Management.—Ralph Reynolds was appointed manager of this exchange on October 1, 1914. Previous to that time, during 1913-1914, he was associated with the Niagara Fire Insurance Company, of New York, as special agent and adjuster in Southern California and Arizona. In 1910-1911-1912 he was associated with the Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific as a surveyor in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The secretary of the exchange is Standish L. Mitchell, who holds a similar office with the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The exchange is operating on a sound basis. It is in excellent repute and has built up a large membership, with substantial cash resources at the exchange. In addition to the initial saving in cost it is making fair returns as savings to subscribers.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) Policies issued by the exchange are limited to the following classes of insurance: Fire, theft, property damage and collision damage. Only members of the Automobile Club of Southern California, in good standing, are eligible to apply for insurance in the exchange and applications covering cars of both the private pleasure type and commercial type are acceptable. The Automobile Club of Southern California, however, does not derive any profit through the operation of the exchange.

The initial premium deposits vary between 90% of the rates charged by the board companies, according to the rules and regulations of the exchange, and in accordance with lines of insurance carried. These deposits are credited to the respective accounts of the subscribers making them.

The exchange advises that it has a reinsurance blanket policy amounting to $100,000 protecting it against any loss in excess of $10,000 in any one fire. It states that it is its rule not to issue any policy for an amount in excess of $10,000.

Ralph Reynolds, as manager, receives a flat salary and each subscriber is charged with his proportion of losses and expenses on a pro rata basis, and in addition 15% of the original premium deposit is placed in the reserve. These reserves are permanent. Unearned portion of the original premium deposits is returned upon cancellation or expiration in the event of the retirement of the member.

The assets of the exchange are in the custody of the Advisory Committee, consisting of the board of governors, as follows: Fred L. Baker, president Baker Iron Works, president Los Angeles Ship Building & Dry Dock Co., Los Angeles, Cal.; H. G. Miller, secretary and treasurer Union Iron Works, Los Angeles, Cal.; W. L. Valentine, president Fullerton Oil Co., director Security Trust & Savings Bank, Los Angeles, Cal.; A. C. Balch, president San Joaquin Light & Power Co., Los Angeles, Cal.; Harry Chandler, president Times Mirror Company, Los Angeles, Cal.; H. W. Keller, vice-president South Coast Land Co., Los Angeles, Cal.; Joseph K. Sartori, president Security Trust & Saving Bank of Los Angeles, Cal.; Ed. D. Lyman, attorney, Los Angeles, Cal.; ex-Senator Frank P. Flint, attorney, Los Angeles, Cal.

The manager is bonded for $15,000.

Details of the operations of the exchange are reported to members annually. Service of process may be filed on the manager or the Insurance Commissioner of the State of California binding upon all members in the event of a dispute arising concerning any claim against the exchange.

Losses are adjusted by traveling representatives of the

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange operated in connection with the Chicago Motor Club. It was licensed July 10, 1917, and began business on the same day. It writes fire, theft, liability, property damage and collision insurance on automobile pleasure cars and trucks, and the collision insurance is written under three forms of cover, $50 deductible; $100 deductible, and full coverage.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is Chas. M. Hayes Corporation, with $15,000 capital paid in. The persident is Chas. M. Hayes; secretary, Mrs. Chas. M. Hayes; treasurer, H. M. Brown; who also constitute the directorate of the attorney-in-fact.

The experience appears favorable, and the assets and liabilities show a healthy condition. The exchange informs us that it has compiled with the new Illinois law, effective January 1, 1922, and has placed $30,000 on deposit with the Insurance Department at Springfield, Ill.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) Only members of the Chicago Motor Club are eligible for insurance.

The maximum liability assumed upon any risk is $20,000 for public liability.

Business is not accepted through brokers; the attorney-in-fact has its own salesmen who work exclusively for it.

The directors of the Chicago Motor Club pass on membership to the club, and these members are admitted to the exchange by the attorney-in-fact at his option.

The physical and moral hazards of the risks are investigated by salesmen and the credit guides of Chicago.

The proportion of liability assumed by each subscriber is determined by his premium deposit, and is limited to the amount of his annual premium. All subscribers are subject to assessment to the extent of the above-mentioned liability. Premium deposits of subscribers are credited to their respective accounts, and profits are ascertained at the end of each contract period credited to individuals accounts and distributed at such times.

The advisory board of the exchange has the power to withhold savings until final determination of liabilities existing at time subscriber retires.

The business is written as follows: Fire rate 25% and theft rate 50% in excess of Western Conference rates; liability and property damage at conference rates; collision 10% less than conference.

The attorney-in-fact receives for his remuneration 30% of all moneys received, but such percentage does not cover license fees, taxes, insurance or reinsurance premiums, court costs or attorney's fees, claim department expenses, auditing or examination expenses, nor "any other items of expense which a majority of the members of the advisory committee shall authorize to be paid out of the 70% of my premium deposit or deposits remaining after the deduction of said 30% by my said attorney-in-fact."

The attorney-in-fact is not entitled to any contingent commission upon the profits or savings effected.

The power of attorney provides that one-half of the savings in each year may be deducted and credited to the subscriber's account as a net surplus for the payment of losses, insurance or reinsurance premiums, and such other expense as may be approved by the majority of the members of the advisory committee, for which no other moneys of the exchange are available, until the amount of the net surplus account shall equal the amount subscribed by him, and in the event of the net surplus being impaired, the attorney-in-fact is empowered to deduct not exceeding one-half of the savings of a subscriber each year until the impairment is restored.

The attorney-in-fact advises us that the exchange has never failed to return less than 20% in cash; that the assets of the exchange are in the custody of the advisory board; and that the attorney-in-fact is bonded in the amount of $25,000, and the manager thereof, $10,000.

Reports are made to subscribers annually.

Legal service may be made upon the attorney-in-fact.

All claims are adjusted by the claim department of the exchange, which consists of salaried employees.

With reference to claim reserves, the attorney-in-fact advises us that the public liability reserves are set up according to law, and the other reserves at the discretion of the management and certified accountants.

The unearned premium liability is computed monthly, being 70% of the actual unearned premiums.

Audits are made quarterly by a firm of certifield public accountants.

The exchange has never levied an assessment.

The exchange was examined by the Insurance Department of Illinois in December of 1920, and by the Insurance Department of Indiana, in July of 1921.

The power of attorney provides that insurance may be canceled by either party upon five day's written notice by mail and any surplus due is determined and returned to the subscriber.

Advisory Committee.—Consisting of five subscribers of the exchange elected at the annual meeting of the subscribers which is held at the office of the attorney-in-fact on the second Monday of December of each year.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—The above-mentioned exchange was organized and received authority to commence business on April 20, 1920, and commenced business on the same day. It writes full coverage, except liability, automobile insurance on trucks and pleasure cars of the members of the Illinois Automobile Club.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is David Rosenbach, who is elected by and is under the supervision of the board of governors of the Illinois Automobile Club.

The active manager of the exchange is Hugo Meyer, who is appointed by the board of governors. For about a year Mr. Meyer was connected with James S. Kemper, who represents several large mutual companies in Chicago, and is also president of the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Company.

Mr. Meyer tells us that for three or four years he was connected with the Central Trust Company of Illinois in the capacity of chief clerk, and that subsequent to that time he was connected with the Merchants Loan and Trust Company of Chicago. After this he was, for a short time, the active manager of the Inter-Insurance Exchange of the Chicago Motor Club. His experience in conducting the affairs of the Inter-Insurance Exchange of the Chicago Motor Club, and that of his connection with the Kemper agency, constitutes his entire insurance experience.

The Exchange has not operated long enough to have established records.

The Exchange was examined by the Illinois Insurance Department as of December 31, 1921, and the financial statement printed in connection with this report was checked and found correct. The examiner reports that the affairs of the exchange are well and economically managed, also that excess of liability over $1,500 is reinsured in the Ohio Casualty Company, of Hamilton, Ohio.

In arriving at the net assets shown in the statement herewith, $57,463.96 was deducted as non-admitted, $39,228.12 of this amount being for subrogation claims pending, and $12,273.59 uncollected deposits prior to October 1, 1921.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—Mr. Meyer tells us that the exchange is not conducted for profit, and offers its policies to members of the club through solicitors who are paid a commission of 10% with 5% renewal commission. Mr. Meyer is paid a commission of 5% on the first year's business, which graduates down to 1% on renewals.

The power of attorney states that from the annual premium deposit of each subscriber there shall be set aside the sum of $2 to cover the rental charge made by the Illinois Automobile Club .

The rates at which the business is written are about 25% below manual. The exchange sets aside a reserve of 15% of the premium each year until a reserve of 45% is accumulated, after which time 15% annually is returned to subscribers, together with any dividend which is earned.

The proportion of liability for which the subscriber may be held liable is based upon the premium deposit, and a subscriber is subject to assessment should the premium deposits be insufficient to defray all losses and expenses, and no reinsurance cover except as above-mentioned has been provided to guarantee members against assessment.

The exchange maintains a separate account of the subscriber's funds, and savings, if any, are returned annually.

The assessment liability is limited to one additional annual premium.

The power of attorney provides for the retirement of subscribers' liability only after all liabilities accrued during their memberships have been liquidated. Any surplus or unearned premum deposit is returned on a pro rata basis.

The funds of the exchange are in the custody of the executive board of the club, and the attorney-in-fact, executive committee and the manager are bonded for $5,000 each in the Iowa Bonding Company of Des Moines, Iowa.

Service of process may be made upon the Director of Trade and Commerce of the State of Illinois, or the attorney-in-fact.

Losses are adjusted by representatives of the exchange.

Claim reserves or loss reserves are set aside by and at the discretion of the management, and the unearned portion of the subscriber's deposit is always at hand. The standard of solvency is discretionary with the management.

To date the exchange has levied no assessment.

History.—This is an inter-insurance organization which began business in January, 1905.

Management and Reputation.—The exchange is under the management of T. H. Mastin and Company, attorneys, Kansas City, Mo., the title of the attorney-in-fact having been changed from the H. J. Straight Co., on April 1, 1921.

T. H. Mastin & Company are in excellent repute and maintain offices in Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago, Minneapolis, Indianapolis, Memphis, Louisville, Kentucky; Beaumont, Texas; Ft. Worth, Texas; Mobile, Alabama, Asheville, N. C.; Wilmington, N. C.; Miami, Oklahoma; Tulsa, Oklahoma; and Pittsburg, Kansas. The firm is composed of T. H. Mastin, W. M. Drennon, F. W. Schafer, Henry Burr, Thomas Lonergran and H. E. Minty.

lines written are large compared to the net cash resources and annual income of the exchange; it will be noted, however, that the exchange advises that it writes sprinkler risks only.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange writes fire and sprinkler leakage insurance, including use and occupancy and profits, on mercantile and manufacturing properties equipped with Automatic sprinklers. The maximum policy issued is $125,000, no part of which is re-insured.

Members are admitted to the exchange upon the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact after a satisfactory inspection of the risk by competent inspectors subject to the approval of the Advisory Committee. Applicants for membership must be rated commercially at $100,000 or over and have high credit. Sprinkler risks only are written.

The subscriber's liability is limited to twice the amount of his annual premium in force on any one risk, and to five times his single risk liability in the event a continuous fire destroyed several risks. In the event of the losses in a conflagration exceed the gross amount collectible from subscribers as contingent liability, the subscribers suffering the loss accept a reduction of their claim in proportion to their premium to the extent that the gross claim shall not exceed the total contingent premium collectible.

The deposits received are credited to the subscriber's own underwriting accounts. Out of these subscribers are charged with their pro rata proportion of expenses and losses which may occur, based upon the annual premiums in force. Subscribers credits are allowed to accumulate until the credit balance is six times the amount of the average annual premium. Amounts in excess of this figure are paid annually as of January first, except that in years in which the savings are sufficient to justify returns prior to the accumulation, as above stated, returns may be made not to exceed 25% of the gross premiums in any one year.

Policies are issued at regular board rates. The fee of the attorney-in-fact is 10% of all moneys coming into his hands. The expenses are borne by the subscribers. The assets of the exchange are in the custody of the Advisory Committee and the attorney-in-fact.

The power of attorney provides that it can be revoked on five days notice. The accumulated surplus is returned to the retiring subscriber.

The attorney-in-fact and the Insurance Commissioner in States where licensed, are authorized to accept service of process binding upon all the members in the event of a dispute arising concerning any claim against the exchange.

INTER-INSURERS OF AMERICA,
Evans Bldg., Washington, D. C.

History.—This is an inter-insurance institution which began business October 1, 1903. The exchange is not under the supervision of any insurance department, not being licensed in any State.

The management did not comply with our requests for statement as of December 31, 1921, and it was not obtainable elsewhere. The report made herein was compiled from information previously furnished to us. If our subscribers contemplate becoming interested they should require full statement and information from the management.

Management.—The attorney-in-fact and manager is James R. Skinner, of New York City, who has managed the exchange since organization. The funds of the exchange are in the custody of the trustees. The exchange has an advisory committee, a board of trustees, and an executive committee.

The exchange does a small conservative business, and the management advises that in 1920 its net losses were only $88.98. The number of risks written, which would show the spread of liability, is not reported, but the volume would suggest minimum lines. In its 1920 statement no item of liability was set up for unearned premiums, and the "guaranty fund" appears both as an asset and a liability.

Advisory Committee.—Henry Hudson, president Hudson Fibre Co., Hudson, N. Y.; Whitney G. Case, W. A. Case & Son Co., Buffalo, N. Y.; Watt C. Bates, of Geo. Q. Moon & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.; John M. Janes, Lane Bros. Company, New Jersey; A. G. Heller, of Heller Bros. Co., Newark, N. J.; J. M. Hartley, J. M. Hartley & Son Co., Fairmont, W. Va.,; James R. Skinner, New York; Hugh McMullen, of McMullen Bros., Cumberland, Md.; J. M. McCarthy, of McCarthy Dry Goods Co., Woonsocket, R. I., and G. Thomas Dunlop, Washington, D. C.

Trustees.—Hon. Edw. C. Stokes and Henry Hudson.

Executive Committee.—(At last advices) Hon. Edw. C. Stokes, G. Thomas Dunlop, Henry Hudson, James R. Skinner and Arnaud G. Heller.

Plan of Operation.—(As reported to us by the management) We are advised by the management that it operates on the following plans: Policies issued cover fire insurance only, and all classes of acceptable risks are insured, providing the firms have a first credit rating of $35,000 to $75,000. The largest gross amount written on a single risk is $15,000, which is reinsured down to $5,000. The largest amount written in any city block is $15,000. Each member signs a Guaranty Fund Bond for $500, against which he may be assessed at any time, this being the limit of his contingent liability. New members are elected by the membership committee. All questions concerning the underwriting are decided by the membership and executive committees.

The institution collects a cash premium and an equal amount in cash, representing the members' contribution to the "reserve fund." The manager states that from the time of beginning business the organization has collected as a cash premium only 50% of the tariff rate. Theoretically, the "reserve fund" payment has been collected at the time each policy was written, whether new or renewal; but in fact, while the member was charged at the time a bill for his insurance was rendered with the entire amount of the reserve fund, at the same time the member was credited with the amount of reserve fund remaining on hand. Thus, if the reserve fund had not been encroached upon—or in other words, if the cash premium, being 50% of the tariff rate, had been sufficient during the previous year to pay all losses and expenses—the member was not called upon to make any cash payment to the reserve fund. If there was a deficit because of the comparatively small cash premium having been inadequate to meet losses and expenses, he was required to make the original reserve fund deposit good.

The compensation of the attorney-in-fact is limited to 15% of the premiums and reserve fund deposits of members, which compensation covers all expenses.

No member insures any property in the State in which he is located. Otherwise each member assumes a share of every risk written.

On December 31, 1920, the Guarantee Fund Bonds of the members amounted to $91,000.

The fianancial statement figures given below are taken from this report. Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—We are advised that the exchange operates on the following plans: It writes liability, property damage, collision, fire, theft and transportation insurance on pleasure and commercial automobiles.

Subscribers are accepted upon the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact, which makes personal examination as to the moral and physical qualifications.

No business is accepted through brokers.

Every subscriber underwrites a portion of each policy issued during the period of his membership.

A general fire conflagration reinsurance policy is carried in excess of $15,000.

All premium deposits received are apportioned among all of the subscribers.

Business is written at manual rates.

The compensation of the attorney-in-fact is limited to 25% of the original premium deposits.

All expenses are paid by the attorney-in-fact out of its commission, except state and federal taxes, legal and adjusting expenses.

Profits or losses of individual subscribers are computed on the aggregate premiums in force, policies issued as of any calendar date, losses or savings charged or credited on fifteen-day periods or proper proportion thereof.

The assets of the exchange are in the custody of the board of trustees.

The treasurer of the exchange is bonded in the sum of $10,000 and a general blanket bond is carried on all employees in the adjustment and financial departments of the exchange.

A portion of the savings effected are credited to General Contingent Fund for the creation or accumulation of a reserve fund, this amount being decided upon by the board of trustees elected from subscribers.

In the event of cancellation by either party a pro rata return is made to the subscriber. A special loss reserve fund is carried to take care of any liability which may have occurred during the period the contract was effective, but unknown at time of cancellation.

In addition to this a contingent reserve fund is carried, contributions to which are at the discretion of the board of trustees.

Both of these funds are included in surplus.

The exchange has a reinsurance agreement covering excess losses on fire and liability.

Details of the operation of the exchange are reported to the board of trustees monthly, and periodic reports are made to all subscribers.

Service of process may be made upon the attorney-in-fact or the Insurance Commissioner of Pennsylvania or Maryland.

Losses are adjusted by salaried employees of the exchange.

Savings are disbursed to subscribers upon termination of policy on the basis subscriber's premium bears to total premiums in force.

Each subscriber is liable for assessments for an amount equal to one additional premium. The policy contract confines the period during which assessments can be levied to the twelve months immediately succeeding the contract's termination.

Territory.—It is licensed in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Inc., of Chicago, Ill., is the attorney-in-fact. The officers of the attorney-in-fact are: President and treasurer, James E. Atkinson; secretary, A. G. Elliott.

We are advised by the attorney-in-fact company, that Mr. Atkinson has had ten years local, general agency and special agency insurance experience, and that Mr. Elliott has had fifteen years Home Office and general agency insurance experience.

The exchange has not operated long enough to have established records. It writes a large gross line, and in our opinion the practice of writing large gross lines and reinsuring the excess even to a satisfactory net retention, is not a good one for an inter-insurance exchange to follow. The unearned premium deposit liability seems small compared to the annual premium deposits written.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The power of attorney agreement provides that there shall be a governing board of seven, which will be listed below. This agreement provides for an interchange of insurance between subscribers in the lumber manufacturing business and that the liability of subscribers on any one risk underwritten by him shall be limited to an amount equal to one additional annual premium deposit. The exchange uses the regular stock company rates and the largest gross amount insured in any one hazard is $57,500, and the largest net amount is $5,000. No business is accepted through brokers.

The compensation provided for the attorney-in-fact is 20% of the premium deposit, from which he shall pay all expenses incurred in the exchange of indemnity except adjustments, legal expenses, taxes, and expenses of the governing board. The agreement provides that the attorney-in-fact shall give a good and sufficient bond for handling all money on hand belonging to subscribers. At least 50% of the savings effected under subscriber's policy shall be returned to him annually in cash, the balance to be placed to his credit in an individual surplus account until this equals $1,000. Thereafter the entire saving over any amount needed to replenish such surplus shall be returned annually. The agreement may be cancelled by ten day's written notice, when all liability shall cease and deposits, together with any surplus accrued or accruing to the credit of subscribers' accounts, shall be returned.

The governing board is as follows: J. H. Dunlap, H. G. Klopp, C. H. Crawford, W. M. Leuthold, B. H. Thompson, N. E. Ayer, Geo. R. Hackett, John Buffelen, C. N. Huggins and Judd Greenman.

Disbursements, 1921.—Losses paid, gross, $5,542.48; less reinsurance, $2,771.25; net losses, $2,771.23; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $5,090.22; advisory commitee expense, $107.43; legal expense, $25.00; taxes, licenses and fees, $743.27; other expenses, $1,244.11; unused premium deposits returned to subscribers, $4,936.37; total cash disbursements, $14,917.63.

Transactions Since Organization.—Premium deposits received, gross, $52,516.80; less reinsurance, $28,368.24; net premium deposits, $24,148.56; interest received on investments and bank deposits, $832.56; other cash income, $21,900 00; total cash income, $46,881.12; losses and adjustment expenses paid, gross, $6,971.91; less reinsurance, $3,793.78; losses and adjustment expenses paid, net, $3,178.13; commissions paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expenses, $8,163.73; advisory committee expenses, $107.43; legal expense, $31.55; taxes and license fees, $793.27; other expense, $1,244.11; total expenses paid, $10,340.09; returned in cash to members, as savings, $4,936.37; total cash disbursements, $18,454.59.

General Review.

History.— This is an inter-insurance organization, which began business in 1894. It has an Advisory Committee consisting of five members.

Management and Reputation.— The attorney and manager is J. W. Garvey & Co., Kansas City, Mo., which also operates and manages the Reciprocal Underwriters and the Reciprocal Annex, two similar organizations, which have been successful.

The returns to subscribers in 1920 and 1921 were very good. The lines written are conservative.

Plan of Operating (as reported to us by the management).— Policies are issued covering detached brick, stone or frame buildings and merchandise contained therein, and detached lumber yards. The maximum line accepted on risks of the above class is $6,000. Smaller amounts are written on exposed property. Full board rates are charged. Each subscriber deposits $18.75 for each risk of $6,000 which he wishes to insure; or a proportionate less deposit for smaller amounts. His account is then credited with his proportion of the premiums written daily. When these credits amount to twice his deposit (not including his deposit), said amount is added to his deposit and is set aside to his account as his deposit and reserve fund. All amounts credited to his account thereafter, less 20% and his proportion of losses and expenses, are returned to him in dividends at each annual statement. Full tariff rates are charged.

Should a member withdraw, his deposit and unearned premium is returned to him, also the earned portion of all amounts credited to his account.

The liability of members is separate and is limited to the amount of their subscription on any one risk; otherwise it is unlimited.

The compensation to the attorney-in-fact and manager is 20% of the premium deposits received.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE.—Benjamin B. Foster, president Foster Lumber Co., chairman; Louis L. Seibel, president Badger Lumber Co.; S. H. Fullerton, president Chicago Lumber & Coal Co.; R. J. Hurley, president R. J. Hurley Lumber Co., and T. M. Barham, W. R. Pickering Lumber Co.

INCOME, 1921.—Premium collected, $131,274.27; deposits collected, $1,975; less return premium and deposits, $18,428.51; less reinsurance, $253,02; net, $114,567.74; interest, etc., $5,257.42; loan paid, $2,500; total cash income, $122,325.16.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange licensed by the Illinois State Insurance Department, October 20, 1921, and began business on the same date. At the time of commencing business the management advised that it had 86 subscribers, 124 separate risks, with over $1,000,000 in force, and that at the end of 1921, it had 123 subscribers, and 212 risks in force. It is licensed in Illinois only.

The financial statement herewith shows the assets and liabilities as of April 20, 1922, and were checked by the chief examiner of the Illinois Insurance Department. The income and disbursements are from October 20, 1921, to April 20, 1922.

Management and Reputation.—It is under the management of Burns Underwriting Company, attorney-in-fact. The attorney-in-fact is a corporation of which Frank Burns is president-treasurer, the other officers not yet having been filled, at the time of latest advices. We are advised that Mr. Burns has had nine years' experience in the inter-insurance exchange business, having been asociated with the U. S. Epperson Underwriting Company of Kansas City, Mo., attorney-in-fact of the Lumbermens Underwriting Alliance, and Lee Blakemore, Inc., of Chicago, attorney-in-fact of the Manufacturing Woodworkers Underwriters.

The exchange has not operated long enough to have established records. The item of premium deposits outstanding represents a large part of its assets, but it will be noted that it only began business on October 21, 1921.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The attorney-in-fact is empowered to exchange indemnity against loss by fire or lightning with other subscribers, to fix the rates at which risks are exchanged, adjust and settle losses, accept service of process and otherwise have general charge of the affairs of the subscribers at the exchange. The liability of each subscriber on any one risk shall not exceed the amount annually deposited for current indemnity; the liability shall be separate and not joint; a separate account shall be kept with each subscriber. There shall be an Advisory Committeee of three or more members, each of whom shall be subscribers at the exchange, to be selected by the subscribers to supervise said exchange of indemnity and the acts of the attorney-in-fact. The attorney-in-fact agreement also provides for a "reserve fund, available for the payment of any liability incurred hereunder, in a sum equal to twice the amount annually deposited by us for current indemnity shall be accumulated and at all times maintained to our individual credit from the savings effected by this plan of indemnity. Any savings in exeess of said reserve shall be paid to us annually." The limit on one fire risk is $10,000, and it will specialize in writing lumber operating risks, using their own rating schedule and doing business through brokers and agents only under conditions provided for in the power of attorney agreements.

The attorney-in-fact agreement may be cancelled upon five days' written notice by the subscriber to the attorney-in-fact or the attorney-in-fact to the subscriber.

The limit of $10,000 is written only on 200 feet clear space lumber and fire proof or sprinklered risks. Risks under hydrant protection only, are written.

The compensation provided for the attorney-in-fact is a sum equal to 25% of the amount annually deposited for payment of current indemnity, for which it is to provide all necessary data, books and equipment, which shall at all times remain the property of the attorney-in-fact, and defray all expenses incident to the execution of the authority conferred by the agreement, except taxes, legal expenses and costs of adjustment, and expenses of Advisory Committee, if any. The agreement also provides that "any fees required to be paid to brokers selected by us to arrange for the exchange of indemnity through the attorney-in-fact shall be charged to our separate individual account." The management advises us that any brokerage paid will be deducted from the attorney-in-fact's commission. Also that no commissions will be deducted until the premiums are paid.

Advisory Committee.—P. E. Kable, Rhinelander Box and Lumber Company, Rhinelander, Wis.; G. C. Ogden, Northwestern Cooperage and Lumber Company, Gladstone, Mich.; and E. A. McCue, J. W. Wells Lumber Company, Menominee, Mich.

General Review.

History.—This in an inter-insurance exchange conducting a mutually protective underwriting agreement, entered into by a number of large lumber concerns in the United States. It commenced business June 1, 1911. On December 31, 1921, it had 225 subscribers and 350 risks insured.

It is licensed in Oregon and North Carolina, but is not licensed in Ohio, and does not make reports to the Insurance Department of that State.

Management and Reputation.—Originally the subscribers' contracts appointed as attorney-in-fact the Indemnity Agency for Lumbermen, which agreement was subsequently changed and R. H. McKelvey & Co. are now the attorneys, with authority to make, within certain fixed limits, mutual contracts of indemnity, and to do all other acts of necessary and incidental authority. The plan was originated by interests identified with the Lumber Insurers General Agency of New York, and the exchange is under the active management of James E. Melville, who is connected with R. H. McKelvey & Co. and with the Lumber Insurers General Agency of New York.

On October 5, 1921, the executive committee levied an assessment, effective as of June 1, 1921, of 50% of the annual premiums, made necessary by "lower prices and lighter inventories, resulting in decrease in premiums * * * and increased fire losses." It was provided that when in the judgment of the Executive Committee the financial status of the exchange justified an extension of indemnity for a period of six months shall be granted to subscribers paying this assessment.

The loss ratio, as is indicated in the call of the Executive Committee making assessment, was high in 1921. It will be noted that an item "guaranty fund," appears in the assets and a somewhat larger corresponding item in the liabilities. We are not advised as to what constitutes this fund, nor as to conditions of withdrawal. The item of unearned premium deposits, $13,023.49, appears small compared to the annual premium deposits written.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange writes lumber manufacturing plants, woodworkers, wholesale and retail lumber yards against loss or damage by fire. The gross policy issued on any one risk is $25,000, which is reinsured in the discretion of the attorney down to not exceeding $10,000, subject to one fire. Lines of this size are large in proportion to the net resources of the exchange.

The power of attorney signed by the members limits the authority of the attorneys. Questions concerning the underwriting policy of the exchange are subject to the approval of the District and the Executive Committees.

New members are admitted upon the recommendation of the attorney, subject to the aproval of the District Committee.

Risks are accepted at the tariff rates or the highest rate paid, pending inspection and investigation by the attorneys, who have authority to accept the business at any rate which they may approve.

Every member underwrites a proportion of each policy issued during the period of his membership, based upon the original premium deposit. The liability of each member is limited to $1,000 in excess of the premium deposits, which deposits are credited to the respective subscribers. Losses are distributed to the respective subscribers in proportion to the premium earned.

Administration expenses are limited to 20% of the premium deposits, in addition to which the attorney is paid a contingent commission of 10% of the net profits of the exchange.

Out of this commission all expenses are paid by the attorneys, except taxes, legal and adjustment expenses, state licenses and Insurance Department and Executive Committee fees.

The power of attorney provides for the accumulation of a secondary reserve or surplus fund of $100,000 before beginning the current distribution of earnings.

Executive Committee.—William G. Frost, New York; Charles Hill, New York; R. H. McKelvey, New York.

Advisory Committee.—L. K. Baker, Odanah, Wis., J. S. Stearns Lumber Co.; Henry B. Barham, Neponset, Boston, Mass., A. T. Stearns Lumber Co.; E. C. LUMBERMEN'S INDEMNITY EXCHANGE,
311-318 White Bldg., Seattle, Wash.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance organization, which began business in August, 1903.

Management and Reputation.—The exchange is under the management of James H. deVeuve, Seattle, Wash., who has had many years of insurance experience, and is a prominent underwriter and insurance agent. The Lumbermen's Indemnity Exchange (Series "B") and the Inter-Insurance Exchange, both of Seattle, are under the same management.

The gross amount reported as accepted in one policy is out of proportion to the net surplus and premium income. The policy of accepting very large lines and reinsuring a large part thereof is an unsound practice for an inter-insurance exchange to follow.

The management of this exchange had not, at the time of going to press with these reports, responded to our several requests for report as of December 31, 1921, and the report made herein is from information previously furnished. The figures quoted below are from December 31, 1921, the statement of the exchange filed with the Washington Insurance Department.

This exchange was examined by the Insurance Department of the State of Washington, as of June 30, 1921. At that time the statement showed the following items: Admitted assets, were, $508,212.57; net amount of unpaid losses, $311,950.64; unearned premium deposits, $104,190.30; net surplus, $16,517.43.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange writes fire insurance on saw mills and subsidiary property. It writes at approximately 15% below the board rates. The maximum policy issued on a single risk is $325,000, which is reinsured down to $60,000. The attorney claims that all risks are detached and not subject to the conflagration hazard.

Members are admitted on the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact, subject to the affirmative vote of the entire membership. All questions of underwriting are decided by the attorney-in-fact, subject to the approval of the board of trustees.

The manager has authority to bind each member up to the limit of $1,000 on a single risk. Premiums received are apportioned among all subscribers, and profits are apportioned pro rata to members according to their respective liability. The contingent liability of members is the total amount at risk under all outstanding policies.

The compensation of the attorney-in-fact is 25% of the net premiums received, from which commission the manager pays all expenses incident to the operation of the exchange with the exception of taxes, licenses, trustees' fees, audits and premiums on managers' bonds.

Territory.—The exchange is regularly licensed in Wash., Ore., Idaho, Cal., Ark., Minn., N. C. and Ariz.

LUMBERMEN'S INDEMNITY EXCHANGE (SERIES B.)

311-318 White Bldg., Seattle, Wash.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which began business in 1911. It was organized by interests identified with the Lumbermen's Indemnity Exchange of Seattle, and is a distinct and seperate organization. Each subscriber is also a subscriber of the Lumbermen's Indemnity Exchange. It is operated along the same lines as the Lumbermen's Indemnity Exchange, but is under a separate power of attorney. No risk is written in this exchange that is not covered by the original exchange to the full extent of its carrying capacity.

Management.—The exchange is under the management of James H. de Veuve, who has had many years of insurance experience, and is a prominent underwriter and insurance agent. He also manages the Lumbermen's Indemnity Exchange, and the Inter-Insurance Exchange, both of Seattle.

We understand that lines considerably in excess of net retentions are written and the excess reinsured. The policy of accepting large lines and reinsuring a large poroportion thereof is an unsound practice for an inter-insurance exchange to follow.

The management of this exchange had not at the time of going to press with these reports, responded to our several requests for report as of December 31, 1921, and the report made herein is from information previously furnished. The figures quoted below are from the December 31, 1921, statement filed with the Washington Insurance Department.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—It writes fire insurance on saw mills, and subsidiary property, at approximately 15% from the board rates.

The manager advised us under date of May 4, 1920, that "we are holding our committments down to $5,000 in case of unsprinklered plants, regulating our lines on sprinklered risks up to $30,000 net, where the distribution of liability will warrant."

Members are admitted on the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact, subject to the affirmative vote of the entire membership. Questions of underwriting are decided by the attorney-in-fact subject to the approval of the board of trustees.

Premiums received are apportioned among all subscribers, and profits are apportioned pro rata to members acording to their respective liability. The contingent liability of members is the total amount at risk under all outstanding policies.

The compensation of the attorney is 25% of the premiums received, out of which the manager pays all expenses incident to the operation of the exchange with the exception of taxes, licenses, trustees' fees, audits, and the premiums on managers' bonds.

LUMBERMEN'S UNDERWRITERS

Houston, Texas.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance office, composed of retail lumber dealers of Texas and adjoining States, whereat they insure one another against loss by fire, individually and severally and not jointly, at actual net cost and not for profit, through the exchange of indemnity contracts that are private in their nature and are not entered into under any circumstances with anyone outside the lumber business. It was organized in 1900 by members of the Lumbermen's Association of Texas, at their annual convention. An Advisory Committee of seven members is elected annually by vote of all the subscribers. This committee and not the attorney is the custodian of the funds and has supervision over the attorney-in-fact and manager and the treasurer of the committee, who is elected annually by the committee.

Attorney and Manager.—E. D. Holt, Houston, Tex.; treasurer, J. M. Rockwell, of Rockwell Brothers & Co., Houston, Tex.

Advisory Committee (at last advices).—E. H. Lingo, chairman; W. B. Brazelton, J. M. Rockwell, B. D. Gray, J. D. Leeper, A. G. McAdams and George C. Vaughan.

Our request for complete information in regard to this exchange have not been complied with. We therefore suggest that if our subscribers are interested they secure full report, including copies of agreements and plans of operating, and send to us for our unbiased opinion. GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance organization which commenced business January 10, 1905. It has shown continuous growth, starting with 23 risks aggregating total insurance of $475,500.. On December 31, 1921, it had 1,123 members.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney and manager is the U. S. Epperson Underwriting Company, incorporated March 16, 1916, the officers of which are as follows: President, U. S. Epperson; secretary, M. E. Epperson; vice-president, treasurer and general manager, J. J. Lynn. All of the officers are in excellent standing.

The exchange has been very successful in its operations and bears an excellent reputation in the handling of its losses. Although its business is confined to lumber manfacturing operations, which is considered a hazardous class, the spread of liability is wide and the exchange appears to be limiting the lines well within its resources.

The exchange has accumulated a large surplus, which, on December 31, 1921, amounted to $1,590,721.12. A considerable portion of its assets is held in cash.

Advisory Committee.—This committee consists of the following well-known lumbermen: R. A. Long, chairman, president Long-Bell Lumber Company, Kansas City, Missouri; Charles S. Keith, president Central Coal and Coke Company, Kansas City, Missouri; J. B. White, president Missouri Lumber and Mining Company, Kansas City, Missouri; L. L. Seibel, president Ft. Smith Lumber Company, Kansas City, Missouri; J. N. Penrod, president Penrod Walnut and Veneer Company, Kansas City, Missouri; J. H. Himmelberger, president Himmelberger-Harrison Lumber Company, Morehouse, Missouri; C. W. Gates, president Crossett Lumber Company, Crossett, Arkansas; E. H. Van Ostrand, president Craig Mountain Lumber Company, Winchester, Idaho; T. A. McCann, vice-president Shevlin, Carpenter & Clarke Co., Ft. Frances, Ont.; B. B. Burns, general manager Turkey Foot Lumber Co., Cressmont, Ky.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange issues policies against fire and lightning on lumber manufacturing plants of standard construction and yards and property incidental thereto.

The attorney-in-fact advises that the maximum line written is $90,000, which is carried net without reinsurance. These limits are fixed at the discretion of the attorney and are based on the average of underwriting units.

New members must have a net worth of at least $35,000 and are admitted only after a thorough investigation by the attorney-in-fact. No business is accepted through brokers without investigation and inspection by the attorney.

The amount for which a subscriber may be held liable to assessment is limited to not exceeding an amount equal to the annual premium deposit.

Individual accounts are kept and each deposit is credited to the respective account of the subscriber by whom paid. The power of attorney provides that savings shall be credited to the individual accounts of the subscribers until a reserve has been created equal to two annual premiums, after which the savings shall be returned to the subscriber in full. Provision is also made to pay cash dividends or savings to the subscriber, before the required surplus has been accumulated, at the discretion of the management.

The subscriber may retire at any time upon giving notice to the attorney-in-fact, who also has the right to cancel on giving ten days' notice. After termination of the policy all funds to the credit of the subscriber's account, including the unearned premium and accumulated surplus, are returned, providing there are no unsettled loss claims against the account. Termination of the policy releases the subscriber from all liability arising from losses occuring after the date of said termination, although he is liable for all claims incurred before that date, and his accounts cannot be liquidated until such claims are settled.

The rates charged are according to schedules prepared by the exchange, which rates the risks independently of the board companies.

The compensation of the attorney is limited to 20% of the premium deposits, out of which all expenses are paid except taxes and license fees and legal expenses.

The assets of the exchange are in the joint custody of the Advisory Committee and the attorney-in-fact.

All officers and all employees having the custody of the funds are under bond. The president and vice-president are under bond of $100,000, which also guarantees the subscribers against any loss by reason of defalcation of anyone in the service of the attorney-in-fact.

Service of process may be made upon any subscriber, which will be binding upon all subscribers, or it may be made upon any commissioner of insurance in the states where the exchange is licensed, or upon the attorney-in-fact.

Adjustments are made by trained adjusters and not by traveling representatives of the attorney-in-fact.

Territory.—The exchange is licensed to transact business in the following States: Alabama, Arkansas, Arizona, California, Florida, Idaho, Kentucky, Maine, Missouri, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virgina, Washington and Wisconsin. It also operates in Canada under a Dominion license.

Income, 1921.—Net premiums written, $1,627,850.60; interest, etc., $95,771.82; gross increase by adjustment in book value of bonds, $3,469.87; total cash income, $1,727,092.29.

Disbursements, 1921.—Net losses, $1,203,323.16; advisory committee expense, $20.00; legal expense, $21,612.32; taxes, licenses and fees, $26,603.16; other expenses, $847.70;

General Review.

History.—This inter-insurance institution was organized with eleven members on November 1, 1898, by Harry Rankin & Company, who continued as attorney-in-fact until 1913, at which time the Rankin-Benedict Underwriting Company was appointed as attorney. This is one of the pioneer lumber underwriting exchanges and has been very successful. Its membership at the close of 1921 was 1057. The assets consist of high class securities and cash, with a moderate amount of premiums in course of collection, being less than 14% of the net premiums written during the year.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the Rankin-Benedict Underwriting Company, the officers of which are as follows: G. M. Payne, president; H. C. Alley, vice-president; J. G. Monahan, secretary; V. B. Coates, treasurer; and G. C. West, assistant secretary.

Messrs. Payne, Alley and Coats have been connected with this exchange for the past twenty years. Mr. Monahan has been with the organization about thirteen years, and Mr. West for about eleven years.

The standing and reputation of the exchange is excellent and it has accumulated a large surplus.

It has a sufficient number of risks to afford an adequate spread of liability. The losses and expenses are not excessive and it has been returning moderate returns as savings to members.

The Rankin-Benedict Company also acts as attorney-in-fact for the Producers and Refiners Underwriters, of Kansas City, an exchange which was organized primarily for the handling of oil properties, refineries, storage tanks, etc.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange writes fire insurance on lumber manufacturing plants and lumber, at rates made by its own schedule. The maximum policy issued on any single risk is $90,000, which it carries net without reinsurance. All questions of underwriting are fixed by the attorney. Some business is accepted through brokers, but, we are advised by the management only on risks with which the attorney is familiar, and only after the risks are inspected and prospective subscribers investigated by salaried representatives of the attorney.

Each subscriber makes a nominal deposit based upon the rate fixed, and underwrites a proportion of each policy issued during the period of his membership. The assessment liability is limited to an amount equal to one additional annual premium. It has never levied an assessment.

Premium deposits are credited to the respective accounts of the subscribers by whom paid, and each policy in force is charged with such proportion of each loss as its premium bears to the total premium in force at the time of fire. Interest received is credited to members in proportion to their net underwriting credits.

The attorney-in-fact receives a commission of 20% on the premium deposits, but no commission on the assessments, if any. Out of this compensation the attorney pays all administration expenses, other than taxes, legal expenses, Advisory Committee expenses and the expenses of adjustment when made by independent adjusters.

Under the present authorization of the Advisory Committee the profits or savings as of January 1st of each year of 15% of premiums expiring during the previous year are remitted by check to members who have been subscribers two years and 25% to those who have been subscribers three years or more.

After the 15% or 25% is distributed as above provided, the excess savings are allowed to accumulate until they amount to at least two annual premiums.

The assets of the exchange are in the custody of the Commerce Trust Company, of Kansas City, Mo., as trustee, and the attorney is bonded to the amount of $50,000 to cover collections while in its hands before being turned over to the Trust Company.

Any member may retire upon ten day's notice and the pro rata accumulated surplus is returned. No provision has been made to guarantee the members against assessment, but no assessment has ever been necessary.

Monthly trial balance and list losses and changes in membership are sent to members of Advisory Committee each month. A firm of certified public accounts are employed by the committee to make audits.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance organization, which was established March 15, 1916. On December 31, 1921, it had 2692 risks insured.

Management.—Up to December 31, 1917, Edward T. Harrison was manager and attorney, and R. A. Belknap deputy attorney. Since January 1, 1918, Edward T. Harrison and R. A. Belknap have been joint managing attorneys. Mr. Harrison's experience has been largely along the lines of the legal phases of the insurance business. Mr. Belknap was formerly employed by the Wholesale Grocers Reciprocal Indemnity Exchange and the Central States Inter-Insurance Exchange of St. Louis, Mo.

The exchange has a sufficient number of risks to afford an adequate spread of liability. The losses are not excessive, and the exchange is making moderate returns as savings to subscribers.

The attorney-in-fact advises us that the amount paid in to the guarantee fund is now $103,426.13, but it should be noted that the subscribers to the guarantee fund have the right to withdraw their proportion of the guarantee fund under certain conditions, which are noted below.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange accepts insurance on mercantile risks where the commercial rating is satisfactory. The maximum line written on any one risk is $25,000. On sprinklered or fire proof risks only are the maximum lines written; on ordinary brick construction, $20,000, is the maximum. The corresponding net lines are $10,000, for the first class, and from $5,000 to $7,500 on the second class.

The management advises that the liability of each member is limited to the annual premium paid, and that liability for excess losses is provided for by the following plans:

All excess liability is assumed by a group of underwriters who have executed separate underwriting agreements aggregating $200,000. The amounts underwritten by each underwriter vary from $1,000 to $2,500 each. This is to protect all policyholders and members of the inter-insurance association from extra assessments beyond the ordinary annual premium paid, and for this protection to the members 5% of the premium income is paid to a group of underwriters as a premium for assuming the contingent liability.

Guarantor's agreement submitted to us provides that said guarantee fund is to be converted into cash on the following basis: To pay annually 10% of the amount of subscription beginning December 1, 1918; to have credited to its account interest and dividends accruing from the fund; and when payments and credits equal the amount of such contribution no further deposits shall be made, and dividends and interest shall be paid to the subscriber. Should claims accrue to exceed available funds of the guarantee fund, before fully paid, the subscriber is liable for the balance. Each subscriber's pro rata share of the 5% contribution of premium income of the exchange is to be paid, or placed to his credit, at the first of each year. The guarantor's agreement may be terminated as of November 30th any year by the subscriber, or the attorney-in-fact of the exchange, by giving the other thirty days' notice, and liability as to any future obligations shall cease. Within sixty days thereafter the amount due subscriber shall be liquidated and amount to his credit shall be paid to him.

New members are admitted to the exchange upon the recommendation of the attorneys, approved by the Advisory Board.

Each member is charged with the actual proportion of the loss against each separate policy. Board rates are charged and the premiums are credited to the subscribers' respective accounts.

The compensation of the attorneys is limited to 25% of the premiums paid, out of which the general expenses of conducting the business are paid by the attorneys, except taxes, legal charges, legal expenses, expenses of reinsuring and underwriting, expenses of investing the reserve, and investigating and adjusting losses.

The power of attorney provides that 75% of all premiums received shall be set apart by the Advisory Board as a reserve, and shall be deposited in a State or National Bank in Texas.

Cancellation of the liability by the exchange or its members may be effected upon five days' notice. Questions concerning the underwriting are decided wholly by the attorneys and managers.

Advisory Board.—The power of attorney provides for a board of five or more persons, who shall have and exercise general control over the affairs of the exchange and over the investment of all funds. This board is elected annually by the subscribers and appoints from its own members an Executive Committee of three, and may delegate to said committee authority to exercise any or all the powers of the Advisory Board when not in session. The Advisory Board is as follows: C. R. Miller, chairman, Dallas, president Miller Mfg. Co.; R. W. Higginbotham, Dallas, president Higginbotham-Bailey-Logan Co.; Homer R. Mitchell, Dallas, secretary Texas Employers' Ins. Association; J. M. Radford, Abilene, president J. M. Radford Grocery Co.; J. M. Cary, Houston, vice-president A. P. Cary Co.; R. B. Spencer, Waco, R. B. Spencer & Co.; Isaac Bledsoe, San Antonio and Austin, Tex., wholesale and retail pianos; T. E. Burrow, Little Rock, Ark., secretary Beal-Burrow Dry Goods Co.; P. J. The exchange is licensed to transact business in Tex., Ark., Colo., Okla., Ill., Ala., La., Mo., Fla., Kan. and Miss.

MID-WEST AUTO INDEMNITY ASSOCIATION. — Continued.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which received its license from the Illinois Department, July 17, 1919, and commenced business on the same date.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the Mid-West Insurance Agency Corporation, which was incorporated under the laws of Illinois December 15, 1915, which we are advised has a capital of $800,000, all of which is paid in cash. This corporation also acts as an operating company for the Bankers Mutual Life Insurance Company and the Bankers Mutual Accident and Health Association, of Freeport, Ill., of which Mr. J. C. Peasley is the acting manager. The president of the corporate attorney-in-fact is A. P. Woodruff, who is president of the Savannah Gas & Electric Company, president of the Savannah Bldg. and Loan Assn., and the Carroll County Telephone Co. J. C. Peasley is the secretary and treasurer. The directors are as follows: Dr. C. L. Best, Freeport, Ill.; W. B. Erfert, Wisconsin State Agent for the U. S. Fire Ins. Co.; W. H. Shubert, president National Trust Bank, Charleston, Ill.; Lincoln Bancroft, general insurance business, Mattoon, Ill.; organizer of Crescent Auto. Ins. Exchange, Mattoon, Ill.; F. S. Greenleaf, Savannah, Ill., postmaster, vice-president of the First National Bank and secretary of the Savannah Bldg. and Loan Assn., Savannah, Ill.

The active manager of the association is the secretary and treasurer, J. C. Peasley, who states that he has been in the insurance business since 1900; eleven years was spent with the Bankers Mutual Life, and prior to that time he was a local agent at Bloomington, Ill., writing various classes of insurance.

The management did not respond to us fully information needed for compiling this report and it is largely based upon information previously furnished to us. The exchange has not operated long enough to have established records. The plan provided for payment of expenses will likely produce a high expense ratio. In 1921 the expenses were high for this class of institution.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The association writes fire, theft, liability, property damage and collision insurance upon all kinds of insurance.

The articles of agreement provide "Each subscriber shall pay to the attorney-in-fact, for his compensation, as a three-year membership fee, the following: (a) For fire windstorm, tornado and cyclone insurance, five dollars; (b) for collision insurance, five dollars; (c) for indemnity (liability, personal injury and property damage) insurance, five dollars; (d) for theft insurance, five dollars; or (e) for all four forms of insurance taken at one time, fifteen dollars.

The articles of agreement also provide as further compensation to the attorney-in-fact as follows: "The attorney-in-fact shall, out of his compensation, furnish suitable offices, pay clerk hire and agents' commissions and such expenses as are not hereinafter designated as being paid by the association. The association shall pay all losses, legal and adjustment expenses, Insurance Department fees and charges, all taxes, premiums on surety bonds, postage, stationery, advertising and printing, reasonable expense for investigating or adjusting losses, and the expense of levying and collecting assessments. The attorney-in-fact shall receive as his compensation the membership fee and a sum not to exceed thirty per cent. of all deposits advanced by each subscriber. Each subscriber shall deposit with the attorney-in-fact, from time to time, when called for by him, a sufficient sum of money to pay the subscriber's equitable proportion of the items above mentioned; and if, in the opinion of the advisory board, an emergency fund should be created for the purpose of paying anticipated losses or expenses as they occur, the attorney-in-fact is authorized to include in the subscriber's deposit his equitable portion thereof. From the deposits so made the attorney-in-fact shall pay said expenses, charging each subscriber's deposit with the equitable share thereof."

The plan of operation provides that the assets of the exchange are to be in the hands of the attorney-in-fact, who is under a $5,000 bonds with the Fidelity & Deposit Company of Baltimore.

Income, 1921.—Net premium deposits, $47,198.17; borrowed money, $1,500.00; from attorney-in-fact to provide surplus fund required by the State law, $29,150.00; total cash income, $77,848.17.

Disbursements, 1921.—Net losses paid policyholders, $22,394.22; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $21,419.36; unused premium deposits returned, $56.28; expense for adjustment, $1,890.58; taxes, licenses and fees, $4.53; war tax, $380.80; war tax on assessments and deposits, $298.75; other disbursements, $3,197.19; total cash disbursements, $49,641.71.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange, being, an amalgamation, effective December 31st, 1921, of the Motor Car Indemnity Exchange, licensed by the Illinois Insurance Department, December 13, 1916, and the United Indemnity Exchange, licensed by the Illinois Insurance Department, January 1, 1920.

Kinds of Insurance Written.—The exchange writes fire, theft, collision, public liability and property damage insurance on automobiles, which was formerly written by the Motor Car Indemnity Exchange, and workmen's compensation and public liability insurance, formerly written by the United Indemnity Exchange.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is The Underwriters' Service Corporation, an Illinois corporation organized September 10th, 1919 with $100,000 capital, fully paid in. The officers of the attorney-in-fact are: President, F. M. Rice; vice-president, E. E. Fisher; second vice-president, Fred W. Rice; secretary-treasurer, E. R. Wilson; assistant secretary, A. McKeown. The directors are the above officers and L. A. Rice and R. E. Claypool. Mr. F. M. Rice has had thirty years' insurance experience in an executive capacity. E. E. Fisher has been connected with the Winnebago National Bank, Rockford, Illinois, and was Chicago Branch manager of the Racine Wagon Company, and with the Commercial Reference Company, Chicago, Illinois. He has charge of the financial matters of The Underwriters' Service Corporation and The Motor Car-United Underwriters, under the supervision of the Governing Board. A. McKeown, who has charge of the underwriting of the Automobile Department, has had several years' insurance experience. R. E. Claypool, who has charge of the underwriting of the Compensation and Public Liability Department, has had experience in the casualty insurance business since 1908. He was formerly connected in Chicago with Fred S. James and Company, The United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, and Sherman and Ellis, Inc.

The Governing Board consists of J. C. Emery, president Emery Motor Livery; E. E. Fisher, capitalist and vice-president of The Underwriters' Service Corporation; Paul J Alwart, vice-president Alwart Brothers Coal Company; John J. Callahan, president Diamond Taxicab Company; A. Frank Druley, president Druley-O'Brien Coal Company; Richard Levi, president David Levi and Company, packers; F. M. Rice, president the Underwriters' Service Corporation; Wilson D. Eastwood, real estate and banking; Jens P. Christensen, president Christensen Construction Company, all of Chicago, Illinois and W. B. Smith, real estate and capitalist, Waukegan, Illinois.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) While the affairs of the exchange are conducted under the name of The Motor Car-United Underwriters, a separation is made of the automobile and compensation business, separate accounting books and records being kept. The exchange writes various limits on automobile insurance and its net retention is $5,000, the excess being reinsured in London Lloyds. It writes unlimited compensation policies and its net retention is $5,000, the excess being reinsured by The Employer's Indemnity Corporation of Kansas City, Missouri. The same corporation covers the exchange on public liability policies in excess of $2,500.

The liability of the subscriber is limited to an amount equal to one additional annual deposit, and the premiums are kept by individual accounts.

The exchange charges rates which are less than manual and are based upon its own experience.

The subscribers' agreement provides that the remuneration of the attorney-in-fact is 35% of all moneys received for credit to subscribers accounts on automobile contracts, and 30% on workmen's compensation and public liability contracts, not to exceed 35% on any other contracts of insurance or indemnity. Out of these percentages, the attorney-in-fact is to defray all expenses except license fees, printing, postage, taxes, legal and Governing Board expenses, losses and expenses of adjustment.

The exchange is accumulating a reserve fund which protects its subscribers against assessments.

Annual statements of the operation of the exchange are furnished subscribers, the Governing Board holds monthly meetings, and the subscribers are kept informed as to the operation of the exchange with circular letters.

Service of process may be made upon the director of Trade and Commerce of the State of Illinois and upon the attorney-in-fact. Adjustments are made by the exchange's own salaried adjustors.

Territory.—The exchange is licensed in Illinois and Iowa.

The loss ratio appears to be low and the surplus in sufficient amount to absorb any unusual losses not protected by reinsurance.

The net retention of the exchange on any one risk is $5,000.

Gilliom, attorney, South Bend, Ind.; treasurer, R. B. Maxson, South Bend, Ind.; manager, E. M. Morris, president of the Associates Investment Co.

The president states that he has had several years' insurance experience.

The company informs us that the $25,000 guarantee fund shown in the assets is the reserve placed with the Insurance Commissioner of Indiana, and consists of $19,000 U. S. Liberty bonds and $6,000 first mortgage loans on real estate.

The management informs us that the rates charged are about the same as those of stock companies. No savings have as yet been distributed to policyholders. In 1921 the disbursements almost equalled the total income. The surplus of the company is approximately $17,000, and we are informed by the company that the largest net amount insured in any one risk is $11,000.

Plan of Operation.—This exchange has not furnished us with full information, but we understand that it writes automobile, fire, theft, collision, property damage and liability. We have not been advised as to the basis under which the subscribers participate in the profits or the extent of their contingent liability.

Territory.—Indiana.

As of December 31, 1921, the number of subscribers was 1,150.

MOTOR INSURANCE EXCHANGE,

901-902 Vinton Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which began business April 11, 1922.

Management and Reputation.—The exchange is under the attorney-in-fact management of Parrish, Roskam & Keller, a Michigan corporation with an authorized capital of $50,000 and paid in capital of $25,000. The officers of this corporation are: President and general manager, C. E. Parrish; vice-president and treasurer, Lawrence Roskam; secretary, P. J. Keller. Mr. Parrish was for three years previous to this engagement Michigan general agent of the American Automobile Insurance Company of St. Louis. Prior to that time for five years he was manager of the Detroit office of the American Automobile Insurance Company. Previous to that time he had been special agent of several companies writing automobile insurance.

Mr. Roskam for the past seven years previous to this engagement had been special agent of the American Automobile Insurance Company at their Detroit office. Previous to that engagement he was in the life insurance business in Detroit and Canada.

Mr. Keller previous to this engagement had been office manager and underwriter at the Detroit office of the American Automobile Insurance Company for about seven years. Prior to that he was engaged in the Home Office of that company in St. Louis.

The exchange being just newly organized as these reports are prepared, no financial statement is available and the exchange has not yet, of course, established any records of management and savings to subscribers.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange will write fire, theft and property damage insurance at the stock company rates, liability insurance 20% less than stock company rates and collision insurance on an experience basis. Each subscriber pays a full year's premium in advance and is subject to a contingent liability of 50% of one annual premium. Members are accepted upon recommendation of the attorney-in-fact and no business is accepted through brokers. Individual accounts are kept with each subscriber, premiums and losses to be computed as of the 15th of each month. The compensation to the attorney-in-fact is 30% in consideration of which it is to defray all expenses incident to conducting the business of the subscribers, except taxes, excess and reinsurance premiums, legal, inspection, adjusting and auditing expenses, claim expenses and expenses of the Advisory Committee. At the end of policy periods the subscribers account is credited with share of earnings, if any.

The power of attorney agreement provides that the attorney-in-fact "shall maintain a guarantee fund, which shall be kept on deposit to the credit of the exchange in the sum of not less than 10% of the unearned premiums of the exchange, at the close of the last calendar year. Such guarantee fund shall be held to maintain the reserves of the exchange and/or for the payment of losses in the event that the premium fund be inadequate for that purpose and shall be repaid only out of the surplus of the exchange.

It also provides for an Advisory Committee of six or more subscribers. In accordance with the terms of the power of attorney agreement the attorney-in-fact has appointed the following subscribers to the Advisory Committee, who are to serve for the exchange until such a committee shall be elected by the subscribers: Walter J. Bemb, president and general manager, Bemb Robinson Company; Charles T. Bragg, manager, Michigan Smelting & Refining Company; Harry R. Graham, secretary, Owen & Graham; Alfred H. Hecht, secretary and treasurer, Summerfield & Hecht; C. E. Parrish, president, Parrish, Roskam & Keller; Albert P. Ternes, president, Ternes Coal & Lumber Company; C. N. White, secretary and general manager, Kahl Iron Foundry.

The agreement provides that it may be cancelled by written notice given by either party designating the date cancellation shall be effective, which shall be the first or fifteenth day of any month when prior notice has been given.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange, which was formed in November, 1914, and began business January 1, 1915. Prior to April, 1916, Messrs. Bump & Tatham were attorneys and managers. The Motor Vehicle Liability Underwriters, which was formed at the same time and which wrote liability insurance on automobiles, was under the same management, and was merged with this exchange in 1918. The Motor Vehicle Liability Underwriters retired from business.

Management.—The attorney-in-fact is the Motor Corporation, which was incorporated under the laws of Illinois April 6, 1916, with $10,000 authorized capital, which has been fully paid in together with $3,000 surplus.

The officers of the Motor Corporation are as follows: President, Cyrus L. Garnett, attorney; secretary, E. W. Cox, sales manager; treasurer, George M. Engels, president Federal Teol Co., all of Chicago.

It will be noted that the exchange is writing at rates considerably less than conference, this representing the savings to subscribers. The compensation to the attorney-in-fact has recently been increased from 2½% per month to 3¾% per month (from 30% to 45% per annum). This charge together with other expenses authorized to be charged to subscribers' accounts will operate to make a high expense ratio.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange writes fire, theft, collision, liability and property damage insurance on automobiles. The subscribers deposit with the attorney-in-fact not less than 60% of the annual premium. If at any time this deposit is used up, the subscriber agrees to pay monthly his prorata of all losses, attorney's compensation and all other charges by promptly remitting the amount to the attorney-in-fact. The policies, however, are actually written at from 75% to 80% of the usual conference rates for fire and theft; 65% of the conference rates are charged for collision and property damage.

The compensation of the attorney-in-fact is an amount equal to 3¾% per month of each and every annual premium in force, or an aggregate of forty-five per cent of each annual premium received by the exchange, out of which it shall pay all expenses except losses, adjusted claims, cost of adjustments, all taxes and license fees and other lawful fees of State officials, cost of reinsurance, return premiums, loss on securities, if any, expense of fire patrol, lawyers fees, subscriptions to insurance journals, all of which shall be paid out of the funds of the exchange.

The Advisory Board is elected by the members and is as follows: Thomas H. Egelton, of Rothschild & Company; Charles A. Murphy, president of the Indiana and Illinois Land Co., of Chicago; and L. H. Hartman, of Lynn, Ireland & Hartman, New York, N. Y.

The power of attorney agreement provides that the subscriber shall not be required to pay during any calendar year for all losses and expenses an aggregate in excess of one full conference premium.

The attorney-in-fact and the Commissioner of Insurance of Illinois are authorized to accept service of process binding upon all subscribers in the event of a dispute arising concerning any claim against the exchange.

The attorney advises us that no assessments have ever been made upon the subscribers.

Territory.—Licensed in Illinois.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange operated by the members of the National Association of Dyers and Cleaners. It was established in 1915, but did not receive its license from the Missouri Insurance Department until April 1, 1919. As of December 31, 1921, this exchange had 600 members.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney and manager is John L. Corley, an attorney, who is also general manager of the National Association of Dyers and Cleaners.

The lines written by the exchange, if subject to a single fire loss, would appear excessive compared to its net cash resources, and we believe that the acceptance of a large gross line and reinsurance of a large part is not a sound practice for an inter-insurance exchange to follow.

The losses of the exchange were high in 1921, and the expenses above normal for an inter-insurance exchange.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—Fire insurance only is written, and the risks are restricted to dyers and cleaners who are members of the National Association.

The largest line written on any one risk is $88,000, $20,000 of which is carried net. The manager states that while the exchange writes buildings and equipment, it specializes on goods held in trust and explains that these are generally so distributed in various departments that a total loss would be impossible. If all subject to a single loss the lines accepted would seem excessive.

The expenses are limited to 25% of the premium deposits.

It writes at board rates, and each subscriber becomes liable for one additional annual premium. It has never levied an assessment.

The power of attorney provides for an advisory committee of not less than five members of the exchange, who are selected annually and have general supervision over its affairs.

It is licensed in Missouri only.

Advisory Committee.—W. H. Morgens, Morgens Brothers, St. Louis, Mo.; F. J. Hegy, Hegy's, Incorporated, Holyoke, Mass.; A. Imlay, Imlay Garment Cleaning Co., Detriot, Mich.; W. H. General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance or reciprocal organization which was incorporated under the laws of Indiana, February 7, 1920, being licensed and beginning business on the same day.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the Underwriters Exchange, of which the following are the officers.

President, Henry Warrum; secretary-treasurer, Earl E. Houck.

During 1921 the exchange was examined as of June 30, 1921 by the insurance departments of Indiana and Kentucky. The report was favorable, and showed admitted assets of $68,385 and surplus, $23,875. The examiners stated that the rates charged were 20% below those of the conference.

The exchange has not operated long enough to have established records. The plans provided for compensating the attorney-in-fact and items that may be charged to subscribers will likely produce an expense ratio higher than this class of institution should pay.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The association writes full coverage on automobiles.

The subscriber's agreement provides, "the attorney-in-fact shall pay out of my funds proportionate share of the outlay for the payment and adjustment of losses on risks, counsel fees, cost and expenses of law suits, re-insurance, taxes, insurance department fees, expenses of advisory committee and premiums on surety bonds recommended by advisory committee."

The subscriber's agreement also provides that the compensation of the attorney-in-fact, out of which he shall defray all expenses of exchanging indemnity, except those mentioned above, shall be 35% of all moneys deposited.

The subscriber's agreement provides for an advisory committee, and states that it may set aside not to exceed one-half of average savings as net surplus until such surplus shall equal the premium deposit and that all other savings are to be returned to the subscribers in cash.

The power of attorney may be revoked or cancelled by either party upon five days' notice, at which time any unused advances are to be returned to the subscribers.

Territory.—The exchange is licensed in Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio and Michigan.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which was licensed March 11, 1916, and commenced business April 1, 1916. The management advises that at the close of 1921 the exchange had 2,000 subscribers and 2,500 risks insured.

Management and Reputation.— The attorney-in-fact is G. Raymond Empson, who is a prominent local attorney-at-law. The manager of the exchange is George C. Ogden, who was auditor of the Northwestern Cooperage & Lumber Company, of Gladstone, Mich., and had charge of its insurance for eight years prior to his connection with this exchange.

The exchange was examined by the Michigan Insurance Department as of August 1, 1921. The report showed at that time admitted assets, $104,880; unearned deposits, $14,266.73; net surplus, $87,184.50. It also showed that all expenses are paid by the attorney-in-fact except taxes, revenue stamps, and fees to National Association of Reciprocal Underwriters. An item of income is shown, "Guaranty Fund," $26,000, which is included as a part of the assets, but we are not advised as to the conditions under which it may be withdrawn.

The rate of commission allowance to the attorney-in-fact is not reported, but the disbursements indicate about 30%.

While it appears that the operations of this exchange are not extensive, the financial statement submitted would indicate that its affairs are being conservatively managed and the liabilities held well within their resources.

The loss and expense ratios are moderate.

It will be noted that the entire assets of the exchange, aside from outstanding premium accounts, consist of cash held in banks and office.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—Policies cover fire, theft, collision, liability and property damage on automobiles. The attorney states that only risks of preferred classes are accepted, and that all business is written at conference rates. We are advised that the maximum liability assumed on any single risk is $10,000, and that all liability under fire policies is reinsured where the line on any one car is in excess of $2,500, which limitations are fixed by specific provisions in the power of attorney signed by each subscriber of the exchange.

Each subscriber assumes a pro rata share of liability under all policies issued, which liability is determined by the amount of his premium deposit.

All members are subject to assessment and the liability of each member is limited to an amount not exceeding one additional premium deposit.

The premium deposits as received are credited to the respective accounts of the subscriber by whom paid, and each account is charged with its pro rata share of losses occurring while the policy is in force. The profits or savings, if any, are disbursed to subscribers at the time of expiration of each policy. The actual cash returned to subscribers has been small, but the management claims that the savings since organization have averaged about 40%. One-half is credited to each member's surplus account; the other half is deducted from the renewal premium deposit. Members withdrawing have been paid in cash.

The assets of the exchange are in the custody of the attorney-in-fact, who, we are advised, is bonded for $10,000.

Subscribers may retire by giving ten days' notice, in which event the surplus, if any, is returned.

Detailed statements of accounts are rendered annually to subscribers.

The Commissioner of Insurance of the State of Michigan and the attorney-in-fact are authorized to accept service of process binding upon all the members in the event of a dispute arising concerning any claim against the exchange.

Losses are adjusted by special representatives of the exchange. No assessments have ever been made during any policy year for any sum in addition to the premiums stipulated in policy.

The exchange is licensed in Ala., Mich., Minn. and Wis.

Advisory Committee.— J. C. Kirkpatrick, Escanaba, Mich., president National Pole Company; I. N. Bushong, of Gladstone, Mich., manager Northwestern Cooperage and Lumber Co.; F. H. Van Cleve, of Escanaba, Mich., president First National Bank; H. B. Fryberger, of Duluth, Minn.,

History.—This association, which is an inter-insurance organization, was established on August 8, 1916. On October 2, 1918, it was merged with the National Automobile Protective Association, Danville, Ill., and the office removed from Danville, Ill., where both originated, to Chicago.

This exchange has not responded to our several requests for full information and statement as of December 31, 1920, or December 31, 1921, and the report made herein is based upon statements previously made. The figures shown in the statement are extracts from report made to the Illinois Insurance Department.

If our subscribers contemplate becoming interested they should require full information of the exchange.

Its directors are: O. M. Mockey, president Westville National Bank; J. F. Quartier, president Quartier & Co., Westville, Ill., and F. H. Reiter, insurance, Chicago, Ill.

Mr. Reiter, the practical man, has had only slight insurance training.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The association writes automobile full coverage.

Subscribers pay initial membership fees of $4 each, which are payable to the attorney-in-fact, and are used for management expenses. Under the subscriber's agreement the attorney-in-fact can assess a subscriber whenever it is deemed necessary for any of the purposes of the association, and such assessments must be paid within forty-five days after receiving notice. Regular assessments are made quarterly. Subscribers are accepted on the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact. The attorney-in-fact and Superintendent of Insurance of Illinois are authorized to accept service of process.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange formed December 31, 1921, by the consolidation of the National Inter-Insurance Bureau, and the American Inter-Insurance Exchange, both of Kansas City, Kansas. These two exchanges were under the same management. The National Inter-Insurance Bureau was orgainzed April 1, 1907, and the American Inter-Insurance Exchange began business July 25, 1912.

In 1916 the United States Underwriters, of Kansas City, Mo., an inter-insurance organization, which began business in January, 1914, was merged with the American Inter-Insurance Exchange.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the American Underwriting Company, a Missouri corporation with a capital of $5,000, officers of which are as follows: President, J. M. Campbell, who has had many years experience in the insurance business. He was in the local agency business, and was attorney-in-fact of the Western Reciprocal Underwriters, of Kansas City; vice-president, Walter Cravens, vice-president of the Cravens Mortgage Company and president of the Liberty Joint Stock Land Bank of Salina, Kansas; secretary, Howard Flagg; treasurer, F. C. Harvey, president of the American Merchants Fire Insurance Company, of Kansas City, and president of the Campbell-Harvey Underwriting Company, attorney-in-fact of the Western Reciprocal Underwriters of Kansas City, Mo.. The officers are all in good standing.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The management advises that the exchange insures stores and other mercantile risks, against loss by fire and lightning, using the regular stock company rates. The maximum policy issued is $25,000, and the largest net amount retained is $10,000. These limits also apply to the liability in any single city block, and are fixed by the attorney-in-fact.

New members are admitted where the commercial rating is satisfactory and the risks approved after inspection by the attorney-in-fact. No business is accepted from brokers.

The deposit premium is based on the rates fixed by the rating bureau of the different States where the exchange operates. The assessment liability of subscribers is limited to an amount equal to one additional annual deposit premium. The management advises that a guaranty contract has been made, intended to pay losses in excess of 70%. (We have not been furnished with copy of the contract and full information that we might comment upon the protection afforded by it.)

No assessment has ever been levied by either exchange merged to form this one.

Each subscriber assumes a proportion of each policy issued during the period of his membership.

The attorney-in-fact receives 25% commission on premium deposits, out of which it pays all administration expenses except taxes, licenses, insurance department fees, adjustment of losses, and legal and Advisory Committee fees.

The premium deposits are credited to the account of the subscriber by whom paid, and losses are apportioned against the premium deposits on policies in force at the date of loss. It is the intention of the management to set aside a surplus fund from the savings until each risk insured is credited with a surplus of $100 for each $5,000 insurance carried.

The liability of the exchange may be terminated upon ten days' written notice by the attorney, and the liability of the subscriber as to future underwritings may be terminated by a like ten days' notice. In the event of such cancellation the amount to the credit of the subscriber is returned after all outstanding claims or expenses have been apportioned and charged to his account.

The attorney-in-fact is bonded for $50,000. The bond is held by the chairman of the Advisory Board.

The books and accounts of the exchange are audited annually by certified public accountants and individual accounts are open to inspection of subscribers at any time.

The attorney-in-fact and the insurance commissioners of States in which the exchange is licensed are authorized to accept service of process binding upon all the members in the event of dispute arising concerning a claim against the exchange.

Losses are usually adjusted by independent adjusters, but where the claim is small the exchange accepts the adjustment made by other companies.

Advisory Committee.—The power of attorney provides for an advisory committee of not less than five subscribers, or executive officers of corporations who are subscribers, who shall be selected annually. The committee is as follows: C. C. Nelson, president Planters Operating Co., Planters Hotel, St. Louis, Mo.; W. G. Hutson, operator, Hotel Eldridge, Lawrence, Kansas; George A. NATIONAL LUMBER MANUFACTURERS' INTER-INSURANCE EXCHANGE. — Continued.

General Review.

History.—This inter-insurance exchange was established February 15, 1915, by prominent lumber manufacturers. Its membership is limited to individuals, firms and corporations engaged in the manufacture of lumber or the business of dealing in lumber. As of December 31, 1921, it had 405 risks insured and 365 subscribers.

Management.—In March, 1922, Harry B. Clark was appointed attorney-in-fact manager of this exchange, succeeding Charles F. Simonson, who had been the attorney-in-fact since it was established. Mr. Clark engaged with Harry Rankin & Company, (now Rankin-Benedict Underwriting Company), of Kansas City, Mo., attorney-in-fact of the Manufacturing Lumbermen's Underwriters, in 1899, and was for ten years the Western manager for that exchange.

The attorney and manager is on salary, and no commissions are paid him for running the business, as in the case of most of the other reciprocal exchanges.

In 1917 the exchange suffered a heavy loss on the property of the Bowie Lumber Co., at Bowie, La., where a conflagration occurred in May, destroying the entire plant of that company and also a greater part of the town. In October, 1918, it again met with heavy losses of approximately $75,000 in the Minnesota forest fire conflagration.

The administration expense since organization has averaged approximately 20%, until 1921 when it was higher.

The exchange apears to be making good progress, although the lines appear rather heavy, considering the hazardous classes written, the net cash resources, and annual premium deposit income. It is in good repute in the matter of loss settlements.

Income, 1921.—Premium deposits written, gross, $315,121.53; less return premium deposits, $65,466.04; less reinsurance, $978.04; net, $248,677.45; interest, etc., $6,216.89; loan, $15,000.00; return from U. S. R. R. Administration, account of forest fire, Colquet, Minn., Oct., 1918, $24,122 92; total cash income, $294,087.26.

Disbursements, 1921.—Losses paid, gross, $223,688.64; less reinsurance, $44.80; net losses, $223,643.84; paid for administration expense, $74,766.30; advisory committee expense, $1,236.42; legal expense, $400.09; taxes, licenses and fees, $1,669.80; other expenses war revenue tax, etc., $2,301.79; unused premium deposts, $2,699.67; returned to subscribers, $1,238.12; total cash disbursements, $307,955.94.

Transactions Since Organization.—Premium deposits received, gross, $1,253,271.61; less reinsurance, $14,065.07; net premium deposits, $1,239,296.54; interest received on investments and bank deposits, $30,583.38; total cash income, $1,269,789.92; losses and adjustment expenses paid, net, $750,303.57; administration expenses, $282,856.21; advisory committee, legal expense, $14,728.66; earned savings repaid to subscribers, $4,483.61; war revenue and income tax, $7,701.99; total cash disbursements, $1,060,069.04.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which was licensed June 8, 1920, by the Insurance Department of the State of Michigan and commenced business June 21, 1920, its object being to effect adequate indemnity at cost and to obtain same by exchange of private contracts of indemnity between retail lumber dealers. On December 31, 1921, the exchange had approximately 370 risks insured and 310 subscribers.

Management and Reputation.—The Equity Service Company, attorney-in-fact, is owned by the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association. Porter E. Stone, who is the manager, was previously connected with several of the inter-insurance exchanges in Kansas City since 1903, and was manager of the Bankers Inter-Insurance Alliance, Kansas City, Mo., from 1905 to 1916. He is on a salary basis. The attorney-in-fact is under the jurisdiction of an advisory committee of five or more subscribers or officers of corporations which are subscribers.

The power of attorney agreement provides that the attorney-in-fact may deduct 25% commission from which it is to pay all expenses, except license fees, taxes, legal, preventive and Advisory Committee expense, but the management advises that it defrays all expenses.

The schedule of income includes $50,000 which, we are advised was deposited by the attorney-in-fact, and an examination by the Michigan Insurance Department as of December 31, 1920, refers to "An agreement, in the form of a release of the $50,000 deposit."

The management advises us, under date of February 18, 1922, that "The $50,000 of bonds and real estate mortgages deposited by the attorney as special deposit, have since been purchased by the subscribers from surplus funds paid in and accumulated, $45,000 of it during the year 1921 and $5,000 recently. The securities, therefore, are the actual property of the subscribers without any claim thereto on the part of the attorney-in-fact."

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange insures property of retail lumber dealers. Separate individual accounts are kept by the attorney for each subscriber.

The attorney receives 25 per cent. of premiums collected as compensation, from which he defrays all expenses.

Lines are limited to $25,000 on any one risk which is carried net. This is large compared to the premium income.

The attorney-in-fact agreement provides that, "Every contract of indemnity exchanged by virtue hereof shall contain a clause stipulating that we shall not, in the event of a fire or conflagration involving more than one risk, be or become liable for more than five times our annual deposit, and that in the event of such a fire, the aggregate of adjusted claims against us shall exceed five times our annual deposit, each of said claims shall suffer a pro rata reduction sufficient to reduce such aggregate to a sum equal to five times our annual deposit."

The attorney-in-fact informs us that there has been purchased a guarantee of $100,000, effective from June 21, 1920, which guarantees individually each subscriber against any loss in excess of his net deposit, meaning in this instance 100 per cent. of the deposit on policies in effect, and not the usual 75 per cent. of the deposit (attorney-in-fact's compensation subtracted), which inter-insurance managers sometimes call their net deposit.

It is licensed in Mich., Mo., Minn., Ky., Ohio, Pa., Ill. and Ind.

Advisory Committee.—W. A. C. Miller, chairman, president W. A. C. Miller Co., Detroit, Mich; John E. Lloyd, president, Wm. M. Lloyd Co., Philadelphia, Pa.; Arch. C. Klumph, president Cuyahoga Lumber Company, Cleveland, Ohio; Adolphus Boeckeler, vice-president Boeckeler Lumber Company, St. Louis, Mo.; C. F. General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange under the same management as that of the Individual Underwriters, which was the first organization of its kind in America. As of December 31, 1921, the exchange had approximately 630 subscribers and 900 risks.

Management and Reputation.—This exchange was established in 1891 by John R. Waters, who acted as attorney and manager up to the time of his death in 1911. Mr. Waters was succeeded by Alfred G. Evans and Edwards B. Swinney, who managed the office until September, 1918, when they resigned in favor of Ernest W. Brown, the present attorney and manager, who for eight years acted as vice-president of the Blackstone and Merchants mutual fire insurance companies, of Providence, R. I. Mr. Sidney G. Walker resigned as vice-president of the Manufacturers Mutual Fire Insurance Company and affiliated companies of Providence to become associated with Mr. Brown as deputy attorney.

It is making very substantial returns to subscribers as savings. The amount of savings returned to the subscribers in cash does not fully represent the amount of savings earned, for under the plans of this exchange no cash savings are returned to a subscriber, unless he retires as a subscriber, until his reserve fund, which may, with a new account, take three or four years to build up, is fully established; in the mean time the savings are held in the reserve fund credited to the subscriber's account.

PLAN OF OPERATION (as reported to us by the management).— The compensation of the attorney is limited to 5% of all net premiums received, all other expenses being borne by the subscribers.

The exchange writes sprinklered risks only, and in every way enjoys an excellent reputation.

Both the attorney and deputy attorney have had many years' training in fire protection engineering, and the exchange is operating on sound lines.

Lines are limited to $500,000 on a single risk, and while this might appear excessive, compared to its annual premium deposit income, we are advised that the exchange writes nothing but sprinklered risks and it has a very substantial cash surplus, as is shown by the above statement.

All applications for subscribership are, after inspection, passed upon by the advisory committee. Only concerns of the highest commercial standing are eligible for membership. They execute an agreement and power of attorney in which their liability is limited to $500, or some multiple thereof, on any one risk and to ten times their single risk liability in a conflagration. No initial deposit is required apart from the premium. A subscriber's income as underwriter is accumulated up to twice his single risk liability, after which the surplus is paid out to him in cash in January of each year. Subscribership may begin or terminate at any time. Risks are generally written at tariff rates.

An unearned premium reserve fund, computed upon the same basis as required of stock companies, is maintained by this exchange.

An advisory committee, consisting of seven subscribers, exercises general supervision over the affairs of the office and acts as trustee for the funds. Members of this committee are elected by the subscribers at the annual meeting in January.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE AND TRUSTEES.— Arthur W. Watson, of Passavant & Co., New York; James A. Swan, of Pettis Dry Goods Co., Indianapolis; Robert M. Donaldson, of Mercantile Corporation, New York; E. C. B. Fetherstonhaugh, of Greenshields, Limited, Montreal; Samuel C. Pirie, of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., Chicago; M. Friedsam, of B. Altman & Co., New York; Charles W. Halsey, of Rogers Peet Co., New York.

INCOME, 1921.— Premium deposits written, gross, $981,221.67; less return premium deposits, $112,584.34; net, $868,637.33; interest, etc., $107,684.34; appreciation in book value of bonds, $203,034.40; total cash income, $1,179,356.07.

DISBURSEMENTS, 1921.— Losses paid, gross, $73,284.25; less salvage, $11,069.12; net losses, $62,215.13; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $140,435.11; advisory committee expense, $4,729.60; legal expense, $9,066.92; taxes, licenses and fees, $21,143.40; other expenses, $3,302.90; adjustment and settlement of losses, $1,078.25; paid subscribers for earnings, $371,835.09; total cash disbursements, $613,806.40.

TRANSACTIONS SINCE ORGANIZATION.— Net premium deposits, $11,017,321.14; losses and adjustment expenses paid, net, $1,078,185.89; total savings credited to subscribers $9,020,627; returned in cash to subscribers, as savings, $7,045,373.68.

NORTH AMERICAN INSURANCE UNDERWRITERS,

Springfield, Ill.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—The North American Insurance Underwriters was established January 13, 1920, and began business January 15, 1920.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is a corporation, North American Underwriters Company, Booth Building, Springfield, Illinois. The capitalization of the attorney-in-fact is $50,000, of which $25,000 has been paid in.

The active management of the exchange is in charge of Messrs. L. V. Barnes and W. J. Schmoll. Mr. Barnes states that for about six years he was connected with the Equitable Life Insurance Company of Iowa, as special agent, which constitutes his experience in the insurance business. Mr. Schmoll, for about six years, was connected with the James S. Kemper Agency, of Chicago, as an underwriter and statistician, in charge of the automobile department.

This exchange has not responded to our requests for information to compile report for this volume, and report made herein was prepared from information previously furnished.

It will be noted that the exchange has not operated long enough to have established records as to management, loss paying or savings to subscribers. If our subscribers are solicited to become interested they should require full and up-to-date information from the exchange.

The financial figures given herewith are quotations from the statement filed by the exchange, with the Illinois State Insurance Department.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange writes fire, theft, windstorm, tornado, cyclone, public liability, property damage and collision insurance on automobiles only, the maximum liability on any one risk being $6,500, net $2,000.

Business is accepted through agents and special traveling representatives following personal inspection by them.

The proportion of liability assumed by each subscriber is determined by his membership fee and premium deposits.

The attorney-in-fact informs us that "each member bears his pro rata share of all losses dependent upon the amount of coverage granted and the kind of insurance taken."

Premium deposits received are apportioned among all subscribers.

For the purpose of determining loss ratios, calculations are made each month, and policies are considered as becoming effective on the fifteenth day of the month.

The power of attorney provides that each subscriber shall pay to the attorney-in-fact a membership fee in each division as follows: Public liability and property damage,

$6; fire, theft, windstorm, tornado and cyclone, $6; collision, $6. For all divisions taken at one time, the membership fee is $15. In addition to this membership fee, the power of attorney provides that the attorney-in-fact shall receive 30% of all deposits advanced by subscribers, out of which he shall pay all expenses except those pertaining to legal and adjustment expenses, insurance department fees and charges, taxes, reinsurance premiums, surety bonds, postage, stationery, advertising and printing, and that of levying and collecting assessments.

From time to time, when called upon to do so by the attorney-in-fact, subscribers shall deposit sufficient sums of money to pay their equitable proportion of the expenses above mentioned.

The power of attorney provides for the creation of an emergency fund by charging each subscriber's account with the equitable share thereof. The attorney-in-fact is authorized to deduct 5% from deposits made for the account of this guarantee fund.

The attorney-in-fact advises us that the liability of the subscriber is unlimited, but that "adequate reinsurance facilities" take care of this feature.

A subscriber may retire upon five days' notice in writing, whereupon the attorney-in-fact cancels the unexpired insurance, liquidates the accounts and returns the unused deposits, as per statement made in the power of attorney.

The rates charged are discretionary with the management, and not those used by the conference companies.

The executive officers and office force are bonded.

Details of operation are reported to subscriber by bulletin, although the frequency thereof is not given.

Service of process may be made upon the North American Underwriters Company or Director of Trade and Commerce of Illinois.

Officers.—The officers of the attorney-in-fact are:

President, Albert H. Rankin, Springfield: Vice-president First State Trust and Savings Bank.

Vice-president, Pascal E. Hatch, Springfield: Vice-president First National Bank.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This is an inter-insurance organization, which began business August 9, 1892, as the North American Lloyds. In April, 1896, the title was changed to the above. It has been under the present management since April, 1901.

Its membership is composed entirely of business houses of the large cities of the country, and, as of December 31 1921, it had 109 subscribers. It is under the supervision of an advisory board, consisting of seven members.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The exchange is under management of Benedict & Benedict, an old and prominent insurance brokerage firm, in excellent standing, and it has been successful in making large return of savings to subscribers. The lines written seem large in proportion to the net resources and premium volume, but the subscribers are very high class and the selection of risks very good.

Losses since organization have been very small, as a result of which a substantial surplus has been built up.

PLAN OF OPERATION (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange writes fire insurance only on approved sprinklered risks, principally dry goods, department stores and mercantile establishments at the regular stock company rates. The maximum policy issued covering any single risk is $600,000. No risk is approved which in the judgment of the advisory board imperils, or is imperiled by other risks already insured. The liability is carried net as written, without reinsurance. These limits are fixed by the power of attorney, and only parties having high commercial ratings and of recognized business repute are invited to membership.

New members are admitted upon the recommendation of the attorneys, subject to the approval of the advisory board. Careful investigation is made in each case, personal inspection made, and unanimous approval of the advisory board is necessary before the admittance of new members.

The liability assumed by each subscriber is based on the rate fixed by board insurance companies, and the liability of each subscriber is limited to twice the amount of insurance authorized on any one risk as per articles of agreement, namely, $20,000, $10,000, $5,000 and $2,500 on classes "A," "B," "C" and "D" respectively. Each member underwrites a proportion of each policy during the period of his membership. The premium deposits are apportioned among all subscribers, and profits and losses are computed pro rata for each class and are credited January 1st; accumulated funds are subject to action of advisory board for return to subscribers in dividends. No extra assessments have ever been levied.

The compensation of the attorneys is fixed at 15% of the premium received, out of which all expenses are paid, except taxes, counsel fees, loss and litigation expenses and advisory board fees.

Membership may be terminated on five days' notice as to issuance of any further policies, and the account of the retiring subscriber is liquidated within ten days after all outstanding policies have expired or been canceled.

The assets are in the custody of the advisory board and the attorneys are under a $5,000 bond for transmission of funds to the treasurer monthly.

Reports to subscribers are made at the close of the fiscal year and detailed reports of operations are rendered to each subscriber at other intervals when requested.

The attorneys and the insurance departments of New York and other States where the association is licensed to transact business are authorized to accept service of process binding upon all the members in the event of a dispute arising concerning any claim against the exchange.

Losses are adjusted either by the authorized representative or by independent adjustment companies representing a large amount of the insurance, or if the loss is small the adjustment is made by the local agents representing other companies.

The advisory board is elected at the meeting of subscribers on the fourth Tuesday of January.

RESERVE FUND AND SAVINGS.— The exchange maintains the same reserve as is required by stock companies. Since organization it has saved over 80% of premiums for subscribers.

ADVISORY BOARD.— Joseph H. Emery, of Emery & Beers Company, Inc.; Louis Stern, of Stern Brothers, Inc.; Jesse Isidor Straus, of R. H. Macy & Co., Inc.; Hicks Arnold Weatherbee, of Arnold, Constable & Co., Inc.; Arthur Iselin, of William Iselin & Co.; Henry Sandhagen, of Passavant & Co.; Eugene E. Mapes, of Brooks Brothers.

TERRITORY.— The exchange is licensed in Ill., Md., Mich., Mo., N. Y., Ohio and Pa.

INCOME, 1921.— Premium deposits written, gross, $155,104.75; less return premium deposits, $3,965.47; net, $151,139.28; interest, etc., $35,156.96; increase by adjustment of bonds, $30,986.25; total cash income, $217,282.49.

NORTHERN CASUALTY UNDERWRITERS OF AMERICA,

20 East Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—The Northern Casualty Underwriters of America is an inter-insurance exchange which was organized in the spring of 1921. This exchange has not responded to our requests for information to compile report for this volume. The report made herein was made from information previously received. It will be noted that the exchange has not operated long enough to have established records of management, loss paying or savings to subscribers. If our subscribers are solicited to become interested they should require full and up to date information from the management.

Management and Reputation.—As of March 31, 1921, the attorney-in-fact was J. A. Arkin, who informed us that he had filed papers with the Insurance Department of Illinois for the incorporation of the attorney-in-fact. The intention is to incorporate for $100,000, paying in $50,000, and the balanace when necessary. Mr. Arkin states that he will be responsible for the underwriting of the business, and that he has been a member of the bar and has practiced law in Chicago since 1906. In reply to our request for references, Mr. Arkin stated that he had never been called upon for references, nor had he ever given anyone references, and did not see why he should give them to the Best Company.

The attorney-in-fact has employed J. C. Nowak, who signs his name to correspondence as manager. Mr. Nowak was formerly connected with the Mercantile Motors Insurance Exchange and the Mercantile Plate Glass Insurance Exchange, both of Chicago, Illinois.

Our information does not disclose that there is anyone connected with the organization who has had any extensive insurance experience.

The subscriber signs an application which refers to the power of attorney being a part of the application. As a matter of fact recitation of the powers given to the attorney-in-fact are in a separate document which the subscriber may not have the opportunity of seeing at the time he signs the application. Of course this is not good precedure at all as the power of attorney should be an integral part of the document which the subscriber signs.

A peculiar provision of the power of attorney is the expressed agreement that the subscriber shall not be required to pay during any calendar year for loses and expenses an aggregate amount in excess of one full conference premium. From this it will be seen that a new and untried reinsurance exchange writing at cut rates and paying exorbitant expenses believes that conference premiums are sufficient for all purposes despite the fact that many of our oldest and most experienced companies find it extremely difficult to make both ends meet even at conference rates.

The exchange is circularizing insurance agents and brokers, stating that the rates of the exchange mean a saving of approximately 25% to automobile owners, and that brokers will be paid the usual 30% commission on new and renewal accounts.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The power of attorney provides that the attorney-in-fact is authorized to deduct and retain 45% of all moneys received by him from subscribers, but no part of this 45% includes license fees, taxes of any kind, State fees, insurance of reinsurance premiums, court costs or attorney's fees, claim expenses, expenses of board of trustees, or subscribers' expenses are to be charged against the remaining 55%. (From this it will be seen that the exchange will be obliged to experience an extraordinary low loss ratio in order that subscribers will not be called upon for assessments.)

The exchange is writing fire, theft, collision, liability and property damage coverage on private passenger and commercial automobiles.

The attorney-in-fact states that an unearned premium reserve fund will be maintained consisting of 50% of the net profits, which apparently means less than 27½% of the net premiums collected. After deducting 45% for management expenses, there remains 55% of the premium, one-half of which will be 27½% of the premiums collected. As claim expenses, court cost, reinsurance, license fees and trustees' expenses are to be also deducted, it will be seen that less that 27½% of the premiums collected will be set up as an unearned premium reserve. An unearned premium reserve is set up for the future protection of policyholders. It should be on hand to return to a policyholder in case his policy should be cancelled, and in case the policy should continue in force, the unearned premium reserve is a fund from which contributions to losses are paid. (Most state laws provide that the unearned premium reserve shall be at least 50% of the premiums in force, and this reduction of this safety provision to less than 27½% upon rates which are less than those of the conference, leaves very little for the protection of the subscriber.)

The policy provides that the contract may be cancelled by the assured or the attorney-in-fact at any time by five days' written notice, short rate if cancelled by subscriber, pro rata if by the attorney-in-fact. At cancellation the unearned premium shall be returned on surrender of the contract. (It will be noted that nothing is said concerning return of any savings to the subscriber, and it may be that the attorney-in-fact realizes that there will probably be no savings.)

The power of attorney provides for a board of three or more trustees, the first board to be chosen by the attorney-in-fact to serve until the annual meeting of the subscribers. At the annual meeting of the subscribers members of the board of trustees shall be chosen and subscribers may be present and vote in person or by proxy. The power of attorney provides that should the subscriber not appear at such annual meeting, or shall not appoint any subscriber as his proxy, then the attorney-in-fact is authorized to act as proxy. As the meetings of the subscribers are seldom attended in person or by proxy, and as the attorney-in-fact has the power to cancel the policy of any trustee, and thus cancel his right to be a trustee, it will be seen that the board of trustees must be subservient to the dictation of the attorney-in-fact.

OLDS AND STOLLER INTER-EXCHANGE. — Continued.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which was organized under the reciprocal laws of California, effective July 27, 1917. The exchange began business on January 1, 1918. It is licensed in California only.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact and manager is Olds & Stoller, Inc. The corporation is capitalized at $75,000, with offices, 1040 Geary street, San Francisco, Cal. The officers are: President, Frank R. Stoller; vice-president, William M. Abbott; secretary-treasurer, A. C. Olds.

Mr. Stoller has had extensive experience as an inter-insurance organizer, being formerly connected with T. H. Mastin & Company, of Kansas City, Mo., from which point he removed to the Pacific coast in 1912 and organized the Individual Underwriting Corporation as the attorney-in-fact for the Pacific Automobile Indemnity Exchange of California. He continued the management of that exchange until September, 1917, when he in company with William M. Abbott and A. C. Olds organized the Olds and Stoller Inter-Exchange.

Mr. Abbott is general manager for the United Railroads and an attorney of high standing.

Mr. Olds has been in the fire insurance business for twenty years as State agent and adjuster; executive special agent and Pacific coast manager of the Phenix Insurance Company of Brooklyn, and during the six years prior to the organization of Olds and Stoller Inter-Exchange was manager of the Caledonian of Scotland for the Pacific coast, with headquarters at San Francisco.

We have been furnished a list of the stockholders of the management company, which includes the names of many prominent and influential business men in San Francisco.

In 1921 the losses were about normal and the expenses above normal, but there was a substantial return to subscribers. The unearned premiums appear small, but it must be remembered that the exchange collects only 25% of the premium deposits in advance.

Advisory Board.—Wm. A. Rankin, secretary-treasurer, Walton N. Moore Dry Goods Company; R. S. Shainwald, vice-president and general manager The Paraffine Companies, Inc.; A. K. Tichenor, vice-president Alaska Packers Association; Chas S. Tripler, secretary-treasurer Van Arsdale-Harris Lumber Co.; H. H. Earle, treasurer and comptroller Weinstock Nichols Co.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange insures automobiles against fire, theft, property damage, collision and liability. Tariff rates are used as a basis.

The maximum liability assumed in any one hazard is $40,000 and the largest net line assumed is $10,000. The management advises that excess re-insurance is carried up to $50,000 in excess of $5,000 on fire risks and for all amounts in excess of the $5,000 and $10,000 limits on liability losses. The exchange claims to write only the best risks, declining taxicabs, jitneys, livery cars and other hazardous classes.

The commission of the attorney is 12%, out of which the attorney provides the necessary books, printing, stationery, office supplies, furniture, fixtures and office equipment and pays any loss of premium on account of cancellation for non-payment.

Subscribers make an initial payment of 25% of the annual premium and pay the remaining 75% in twelve equal installments. The subscribers' liability is limited to the amount of the basic premium.

Provision is made for the accumulation of a guaranty fund by the attorney-in-fact setting aside 25% of its income to the credit of this fund. The purpose of this fund is to equalize the apportionment of losses and expenses, and to guarantee that the losses and expenses shall not exceed the basic premium. On December 31, 1921, the attorney-in-fact corporation had deposited with the exchange $137,000 under this plan. The management advises that "the corporation's equity in this fund may be withdrawn only after it ceases to act as attorney and after all claims there against have been paid."

We are advised that the attorney is bonded for $50,000.

Savings are distributed to members at the end of the policy year. All funds of this exchange are in the custody of the attorney and advisory board.

The Advisory Board is active, and meets monthly with the officers of the management company to review the previous month's business, and to advise with them in all matters pertaining to the conduct of the business.

The liability of the exchange or of the subscriber may be cancelled at any time by either of the parties giving five days' written notice to the other. In the event of cancellation the profits, if any, are returned.

The attorney-in-fact and the Insurance Commissioner of California are authorized to accept service of process.

History.—We have not been informed as to the history of this organization.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the Oregon Auto Underwriters, a corporation of which Mr. Milton E. Kahn is manager.

The exchange confines its operations to Oregon, and the lines of insurance pertaining to automobiles.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The power of attorney provides that the exchange shall be managed in accordance with the rules and regulations of the exchange, which are on file at the offices of said exchange, and the provisions of which are not stated in the power of attorney. We, therefore, cannot give the essential features of the power of attorney.

History.—This is an inter insurance exchange which was established in July, 1912, and began business August 1, 1912. In December, 1912, the Western Automobile Underwriters of San Francisco was consolidated with this exchange. The exchange was originally organized by Moses, Seaver & Co., which company was later taken over by the present management. At the close of 1921 the exchange had approximately 11,500 members.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the Individual Underwriting Corporation, which is in good repute. Its officers are as follows: President, Wm. M. Mc-Gee; vice-president, Taylor R. Hudson; secretary, C. H. Newton; treasurer, C. A. Wear. The directors consist of William M. McGee, J. D. Riddell, Taylor R. Hudson, B. F. B. Wallis and J. D. Riddell, Jr.

The Individual Underwriting Corporation maintains offices at Los Angeles, San Diego, Pasadena, Santa Barbara, Ventura, San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Fresno, San Jose and Stockton, California; at Portland, Oregon; Seattle, Washington; Salt Lake City, Utah; and Dallas, San Antonio, Houston and Beaumont, Texas.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—We are advised that the exchange operates on the following plans: The exchange insures automobiles and motor trucks against fire, theft, liability, property damage and collision, writing only those classified as preferred risks.

The maximum policy issued covering any single risk is $20,000. The limitations of liability are $10,000 for one person, $20,000 for one accident. The business is secured by solicitors, and brokers are not generally recognized. The proportion of liability assumed by each subscriber is limited to an amount not more than the initial deposit on any casualty, but to provide against unusual losses a surplus fund is established, the attorney being authorized to use for that purpose the interest that accrues on the funds of the exchange, and one-half of one per cent. per month of the total basic premium. The exchange also has a blanket reinsurance policy for $30,000 in excess of $10,000 to cover in case of conflagration.

Upon acceptance of an application, the subscriber is required to make (for his own credit) an initial deposit with the attorney of not less than 25% of his total annual premium at the rate determined by the management, substantially board, and the subscriber is required to pay promptly thereafter bills rendered monthly by the attorney for an amount equal to 6¼% of his total annual premium. An individual account is kept with each policyholder and every month he is charged with his proportion of the losses and expenses. At the end of a policy year, or upon cancellation prior thereto, the account is adjusted upon the basis of actual cost. The losses are pro rated in the proportion that the total premium of each member bears to the total losses and expenses.

The attorney receives 2½% per month on the premium deposits, out of which it pays all expenses of administration, except taxes. The financial statement indicates that the amount paid the attorney-in-fact during 1920 and since organization was approximately 40% of the premiums. This appears excessive.

Policies may be canceled upon five days' notice, in which event the member receives the balance of his unearned premiums and his proportion of savings.

The officers are bonded for $100,000.

Financial statements are issued and furnished to members semi-annually.

The attorney-in-fact and the Insurance Commissioners of the States where the exchange is licensed are authorized to accept service of process binding upon all the members in the event of a dispute arising concerning any claim against the exchange.

The exchange is licensed in Cal., Ore., Texas, Utah and Washington.

Advisory Committee.—Motley H. Flint, vice-president Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank; Trigg Garner, vice-president Morris Bank; R. H. Raphael, president Raphael Glass Company; J. F. Rhodes, contractor and builder; E. B. Rivers, president Rivers Brothers Co., Inc., commission merchants, all of Los Angeles, Cal.

The original board was elected by subscribers. Vacancies are filled by the attorney-in-fact.

Income, 1921.—Premium deposits written, gross, $725,015.70; less return premium deposits, $24,588.75; less reinsurance, $625.03; net, $699,801.92; interest, etc., $16,840.41; guarantee fund, $20,115.14; other cash income, 917.94; total cash income, $737,675.41.

Disbursements, 1921.—Losses paid, gross, $396,136.02; less salvage, $15,355.01; net losses, $380,781.01; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $273,916.76; advisory committee expense, $40.00; taxes, licenses and fees, $20,945.54; other disbursements, $179.50; total cash disbursements, $675,862.81.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which received its certificate of authority during the latter part of December, 1914, and issued its first policies on January 2, 1915. We were not advised of the number of subscribers.

It was organized by Walter Moses, Horace N. Tuttle, Willard M. Rice and William E. Chapman (deceased).

The National Indemnity Exchange, of Philadelphia, Pa., was consolidated with this exchange April 1, 1922.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the Pennsylvania Indemnity Company, a Pennsylvania corporation. The management advises that the capital now outstanding is $10,000, common, par $50 with $5,000 preferred stock held in the treasury.

PENNSYLVANIA INDEMNITY EXCHANGE.— Continued.

The officers of the Pennsylvania Indemnity Company are: President, Walter Moses; vice-president, Horace N. Tuttle; second vice-president, L. H. Shrigley; general counsel, Francis Chapman; secretary, John A. Slemons, and treasurer, Willard M. Rice. All are active in the management. The organization is making good progress and is in excellent repute.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The policies issued cover automobile, fire, theft, collision, property damage and personal liability. The business of the exchange is restricted to insurance on automobiles.

The business is written at tariff rates, and the maximum liability assumed on any one risk is $5,000 for one accident and $10,000 for any number of persons in any one accident.

The remuneration of the attorney-in-fact is 25% of the premiums received. This compensation covers all expenses incident to the management of the exchange, except adjusting, legal and reinsurance expenses, and federal and state taxes.

The attorney is authorized to set aside a portion of the earnings to each subscriber's account for contribution to a general contingent fund. The amount of this deduction is determined at the discretion of the trustees. Subscribers upon retiring receive all earnings and unearned premiums, if any, credited to their account, but cannot withdraw their contributions to the general contingent fund. This fund is created for the purpose of paying unsettled and abnormal losses that might occur and is returnable to the subscribers only in event of the liquidation of the exchange.

In the financial statements published in connection with this report the premiums and unearned premium reserve are shown net, i. e., after deduction of the attorney-in-fact's remuneration of 25%.

Liability of Members.—The contingent liability of subscribers is limited to an amount equal to one additional premium.

The attorney states that excess reinsurance is carried for fire losses in excess of $15,000 in any one conflagration up to a total of $165,000, and for liability in excess of the limits noted to a total of $60,000 on account of injury to any one person and $100,000 on account of any one accident.

Savings.—The finances of the exchange are in charge of a board of trustees, selected from among the subscribers.

This exchange was examined by the Pennsylvania State Insurance Department in January, 1921, which commended the management upon the manner in which it is being conducted.

The dividends reported by the examiner as having been paid for the several years should have been as follows: 1916, 35%; 1917, 35%; 1918, 35%; 1919, 25%; 1920, 25%.

During 1921, the attorney-in-fact advises us, a dividend of 25% on earned premiums was paid to subscribers.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The lines of insurance to be transacted are automobile fire, theft, collision, property damage, and liability, on pleasure cars owned by a selected class of business or professional men. The maximum amount to be carried upon any single risk is—gross, not deducting reinsurance, $12,000. The amount to be carried net is not stated. No business is accepted through brokers. Members must be recommended. The underwriters are to use different rating agencies, such as banks, business references, etc., and each recommendation is to be followed up by a personal inspection.

Subscribers are not to be subject to assessments, as old line rates are to be charged, and the $125 paid for each member for stock, builds a reserve fund.

Premiums are credited to the individual accounts of subscribers, and the pro rata share of losses and operation expenses is to be figured each month. The account of every member insured before the 15th of the month is figured for the whole month, and the accounts of members after the 15th are carried over to the next month. Profits and savings are to be disbursed to members monthly.

There is no provision for the withholding of savings before the final determination of existing liabilities, and losses are to be considered as total until otherwise determined. The assets of the exchange are to be in the custody of the treasurer of the attorney-in-fact, who is bonded in the amount of $25,000.

Details of the operation of the exchange are to be reported to the subscribers yearly.

The Insurance Commissioners of the States in which the exchange will operate are to be designated as those upon whom service of legal process may be made.

The application for insurance is to be signed by the applicant, and designates certain powers of the attorney-in-fact. Although the application does not state the limitation of the administration expenses, President Whitney informs us that they are to be limited to 20% of the premium deposits. We quote from the application for insurance: "The Preferred Automobile Underwriters Company shall pay out of my fund my proportion of the cost of any and all operating expenses, claims, or demands, as adjusted, compromised or reduced to judgment, which arise or are incurred while this contract is in force." It will be seen that the information we have is very indefinite as to what expenses the 20% paid to the attorney-in-fact cover.

The insurance coverage may be cancelled, effective as of the last day of any calendar month, by either party giving the other five days prior notice in writing, at which time the subscriber's account is to be liquidated and any unused premium returned.

Financial Statement as of December 31, 1921.—The company did not send us any financial statement. The exchange is very young and the financial statement was probably omitted on that account.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which began writing business July 1, 1918, having been organized primarily for the handling of oil properties, refineries and storage tanks, but now writes some other classes.

Management.—This exchange is under the same management as the Manufacturing Lumbermen's Underwriters, which is in excellent repute and which has been in successful operation since 1898.

As of December 31, 1920, the exchange had 652 subscribers, insuring 1252 risks.

The attorney-in-fact is the Rankin-Benedict Company, the officers of which are as follows: President, G. M. Payne; vice-president, H. C. Alley; secretary, W. L. Gee.

It will be noted that the entire assets of the exchange consists of cash in banks and office and outstanding premium deposits.

The attorney states that the largest gross line written is $50,000, of which $10,000 is carried net. We are of the opinion that the practice of writing large gross lines and reinsuring the major portion is an unwise practice for an inter-insurance exchange. The losses of the exchange, thus far have been moderate, and its expenses not excessive.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange insures metal workers, hotel, and drug stores on the following plans: Each member makes a nominal deposit based upon the rate fixed, and underwrites a proportion of each policy issued during the period of his membership. Premium deposits are credited to the respective accounts of subscribers, and each policy in force is charged with such proportion of any loss as its premium bears to the total premiums in force at the time of fire. Surplus deposits or savings are returned to subscribers, except that the attorney is authorized to set aside such amount thereof as may be deemed advisable for the purpose of providing an adequte surplus or reserve. In the event of the termination of a contract, the balance remaining to the subscriber's credit as surplus or savings, after all outstanding claims or expenses have been apportioned, is returned.

Statement published below indicates the savings returned to members to be about 2½% of the net premium deposits since organization.

The assessment liability is an amount equal to one annual deposit but no assessment has ever been levied. We are advised by the attorney-in-fact that the exchange has a contract with a stock fire insurance company whereby the members are protected against assessment. The power of attorney provides for such a guaranty, and allows the attorney not to exceed 5% of all premium deposits to pay for such reinsurance.

We were not informed as to the terms of this excess reinsurance and cannot form an opinion of the character of the protection furnished thereby.

The remuneration of the attorney-in-fact is 25% of all premium deposits received for credit to the subscriber's accounts, out of which the attorney defrays all expenses, except license fees, taxes, legal and Advisory Committee expenses.

The exchange has an Advisory Committee consisting of five subscribers. All funds of subscribers are deposited in banks, or invested in securities approved by the Advisory Committee. Disbursements from funds of subscribers are required to be made by check, signed by the attorney-in-fact, and countersigned by a member of the Advisory Committee, or by a bank or trust company approved by said committee.

Any member may terminate his subscription upon giving ten days' notice in writing; the attorney-in-fact has the same privilege.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which began business November 1, 1906.

Management and Reputation.—Its attorney and manager is J. W. Garvey, who also acts in the same capacity for the Lumberman's Exchange and the Reciprocal Underwriters, similar organizations, the operations of which have been successful.

This exchange has enjoyed a favorable loss record and its accumulated resources, while not large, are adequate to meet ordinary losses. The lines written are conservative. It is returning substantial savings to subscribers.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—Only first class mercantile and lumber risks are written. Tariff rates are secured, and the largest amount written on one risk is $5,000. In addition to the premium deposit each subscriber deposits $25 for each risk of $5,000 which he wishes to insure, or a proportionately less deposit for a smaller amount of insurance. His account is then credited with his proportion of the premiums written daily. When these credits amount to twice the amount of his deposit (not including his deposit) the entire amount is set aside to his account as a reserve.

All amounts credited to his account thereafter are returned to him in dividends at the end of each fiscal year, less 20% and his proportion of losses and expenses.

Should a member withdraw, his deposit and unearned premium is returned to him, also the earned portion of all amounts credited to his account.

The management advises that the original liability of a member was limited to his subscription on a risk, which is $5 per thousand, but that owing to the increase in members the actual liability on a risk is now but fifty-six cents per thousand.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is a reciprocal insurance institution which was established, December 1, 1900, by Mr. Bruce Dodson. It writes fire insurance for Ice Manufacturers, Ice Cream Manufacturers, Dairies and Creameries, Bread and Cracker Bakers, Bottlers and Beverage Manufacturers, Newspaper Publishers and Launderers.

The management certifies to us that since its organization for a period of twenty-one years the exchange has shown an average yearly saving of 36.9%.

Management and Reputation.—Bruce Dodson, Ralph Dodson and Bruce Dodson, Jr., are attorneys-in-fact and managers of this exchange. They have had many years experience in this class of insurance and are in excellent repute.

Bruce Dodson, Ralph Dodson and Bruce Dodson, Jr., operate also the Casualty Reciprocal Exchange and the Equity Fire Insurance Company, of Kansas City, Mo., which were established by Mr. Bruce Dodson. The affairs of the exchange are under the supervision of an Advisory Committee consisting of fifteen members.

The Reciprocal Underwriting Company, which was established in 1912, is owned jointly by the managers and the policyholders, was formed to succeed the attorneys-in-fact in case of relinquishment of the management. The authorized capital of the company is $500,000, divided into $250,000 common and $250,000 preferred stock.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—We are advised that the largest amount written on a single risk is $150,000, which is reinsured down to $100,000. The proportion of liability assumed by each subscriber is determined by a premium deposit, which the managers state is equal to the regular tariff rate. The premium deposits are credited to the respective accounts of the subscribers by whom paid, and each subscriber participates in losses in the proportion that his premium deposit bears to the aggregate premium deposits participating.

The compensation of the management is 25% of the premium deposits. This compensation covers all expenses, except taxes, legal expenses and expenses of Advisory Committee.

We are advised by the management that the liability of members or subscribers to this exchange for excess losses and claims over and above the cash resources of the exchange is reinsured by several stock companies.

It should also be noted that the guarantee fund of $605,830, is included in the assets. We are advised by the management that this represents the amount subscribed by members to pay excess losses. This liability being assumed by the stock insurance companies just mentioned, the item is included as a cash asset.

The funds of this exchange are invested in high-class securities. We have not been furnished with full information showing the number of risks in force and income and disbursements in 1921, which information should be furnished as it is necessary to analyze the results of its operation. Attention is called to the fact that no liability has been set up for unearned premiums, but "surplus, reserve and guarantee fund," have been included in one item. The management points out that under the plan of this exchange, all of the premium deposits may be used, if necessary, to pay loss claims; and that, therefore, there is no unearned premium liability. In this connection, see our comment upon the question of unearned premium deposits in the article introducing the Reciprocal Insurance section of this volume.

Net Deposits Since Organization.—Net deposits credited to subscribers, $5,611,315.51; guarantee funds, $605,830; total income, $6,289,003.84; losses paid, $2,587,074.64; savings retained to policyholders, $2,061,070.41; total disbursement, $4,678,845.05.

History.— This is an inter-insurance organization which commenced business in 1897.

Management and Reputation.— It is under the management of J. W. Garvey & Co., which also manages and operates the Lumberman's Exchange and The Reciprocal Annex, two similar organizations which have been successful.

The exchange has made good progress and bears a favorable reputation. Its underwriting appears to be conservative and the size of lines accepted well within its resources. It is returning substantial savings to its subscribers.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).— When this exchange was organized it wrote only retail hardware and implement stores in small towns. Its business has been extended, and it now writes general mercantile lines, and also lumber risks. The management advises that full tariff rates are charged.

In addition to the annual premium each member deposits $30 for each risk of $6,000 which he wishes to insure, deposits on smaller amounts of insurance being proportionately less; his account is then credited with his proportion of the premiums written daily. When these credits amount to twice the amount of his deposit (not including his deposit) the entire amount is set aside to his account as a reserve.

All amounts credited to his account thereafter are returned to him in dividends at each annual statement, less 20% and his proportion of losses and expenses.

Should a member withdraw, his deposit and unearned premium is returned to him, also the earned portion of all amounts credited to his account.

The compensation of the attorney and manager is 20% of the premium deposits received.

The liability of members is limited to the amount of their subscription on any one risk; otherwise it is unlimited.

Advisory Committee.— H. J. Hodge, chairman, hardware and implement dealer, Abilene, Kan.; T. J. O'Neill, hardware dealer, Osage City, Kan.; L. I. General Review.

History.—The Reliance Automobile Indemnity Exchange, a reciprocal organization, was organized in Peoria, Illinois, on October 7, 1919, and began to secure the necessary initial subscriptions on that date. The original attorneys-in-fact were George A. McDonald and Arthur Marvin, both of Peoria, Illinois. On February 27, 1920, B. G. Moutier, of Peoria, became one of the attorneys-in-fact in place of George A. McDonald. On April 27, 1920, the Illinois Insurance Department granted their license.

Management.—On April 25, 1921, the Reliance Agency Corporation purchased the interest of Arthur Marvin and became attorney-in-fact for the exchange. The corporation is capitalized for $15,000, and the officers are: President,

B. G. Moutier; first vice-president, E. C. Leisy; secretary, C. A. Hurst; treasurer, John H. Bontjes.

In addition to these officers the Reliance Agency Corporation has a board of directors of four members, which with the officers makes nine directors. The Reliance Agency Corporation has also an advisory board consisting of the president and four members.

B. G. Moutier for eight years prior to his present connection was in the automobile garage business and gained his knowledge concerning automobile insurance in adjusting losses for various insurance companies as he was called upon to do from time to time.

The assets contain a certificate of deposit in the amount of $25,000. In answer to our inquiry the attorney-in-fact advises us that this money was put up in November, 1921, by the board of directors of the Reliance Agency Corporation for the one purpose of reserve, with no conditions or stipulations relative to its so remaining.

The statement of this exchange first rendered as of December 31, 1921, showed assets of $29,102.64, with reserve for losses of $1,854.13 and no reserve for unearned premiums. Under date of April 26, 1922, the management advised that the Reliance Agency Corporation had increased the assets approximately $10,000 and sent us the statement printed above.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management.)—The exchange confines its activities to the insurance of automobiles, covering the fire and theft, property damage, collision, tornado and cyclone, and public liability hazards.

Rates are calculated upon the exchange's experience and are below manual. The rates are collected in advance annually or semi-annually and are based on the age and cost of the automobiles and the populations of the towns. Two forms of liability coverage are written, namely, $2,500 for one person, $5,000 for more than one; and $5,000 for one person and $10,000 for more than one. Property damage in connection with the lower liability limit policy is for $500 and in connection with the higher limit policy, $1,000. Collision is written full coverage and $25 deductible.

The attorneys-in-fact are authorized to deduct 40% from the deposit premium for the payment of their office expenses, out of which they pay their agents. Losses, legal and adjustment expenses, insurance department fees and charges, taxes, premiums on surety bonds, stationery and postage for the collection of subscribers' deposits are chargeable against premium deposits. Business is solicited by district managers and local solicitors. Subscribers are admitted to membership by these district managers and local solicitors, who obtain information concerning physical and moral hazards.

Each subscriber has a separate account and policies are issued as the applications are received. The exchange will retain one-half of the annual premium deposit for the building up of a surplus fund which apparently is unlimited.

The policy contract may be canceled by either party upon giving five days' written notice to the other. Upon withdrawal the exchange retains one-half of the earned premium deposit and one-half of any contingent claims that may have happened while subscriber was member of this exchange.

The custody of the assets of the exchange are in the hands of the attorney-in-fact.

Process may be made upon the "Director of Trade and Commerce of Illinois," or attorney-in-fact.

The exchange appears to have taken as a pattern the Belt Automobile Indemnity Association of El Paso, Illinois, with which Arthur Marvin was formerly connected; but unlike the Belt, it does not charge membership nor transfer fees.

The exchange estimates that it saves its members 35%, as this is the per cent. below manual rates on liability, property damage and collision, at which such lines are written.

Reinsurance.—We are advised by the management that fire and theft is reinsured in excess of $750.

Territory.—The exchange operates in Illinois only.

Liability of Subscribers.—The attorneys-in-fact state that they are collecting sufficient premiums to carry the assured for the period of time designated in their policies.

Advisory Committee.—H. H. Moody, Peoria, Illinois; president, secretary-treasurer Johnson, Moody & Co.

Carl P. Slane, Peoria; general manager Peoria-Transcript Publishing Company.

Shelton F. McGrath, Peoria; attorney-at-law and general counsel for said exchange.

B. E. Coffey, Peoria; superintendent of agencies Reliance Agency Corporation.

R. N. Moutier, Peoria; manager Starlight Battery Branch.

General Review.

History.—This is a reciprocal association which was licensed by the Minnesota Insurance Department, and began business on January 3, 1917. It is under the same management as and allied with the Northwestern Lumbermen's Association and the Retail Lumbermen's Insurance Association, of Minneapolis.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney and manager of this exchange is Oscar D. Hauschild, with offices in the McKnight Building, Minneapolis, who for the past fourteen years has been manager of the Retail Lumbermen's Insurance Association, and who has had twenty-eight years' experience, ten years of which was in a local fire insurance agency and later with the Retail Lumbermen's Mutual. Mr. Hauschild is also vice-president and treasurer of the United Retail Merchants Underwriting Company, which manages the United Retail Merchants Underwriting Association, of Minneapolis, Minn.

During 1917 the fire business of the Retail Lumbermen's Insurance Association (a mutual company formed in 1894) was taken over in its entirety by this reciprocal association. The attorney advised us that on January 10, 1918, there was disbursed a dividend to the old policyholders of the mutual association of 10% of their deposit premiums, and that this was in addition to the amount credited to them on the books of the reciprocal for surplus account, which amounted to 80% of the deposit premiums.

The exchange has been successful and has accumulated a satisfactory surplus in proportion to the volume of business transacted. It is licensed in Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Missouri, Minnesota, Oklahoma and Wisconsin. At the close of 1921 the exchange had 2,200 subscribers and 4,700 risks insured.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange issues policies covering fire insurance on retail lumber yards only, the owners of which are members of the Northwestern Lumbermen's Association or other State associations of retail lumber dealers, the gross amount written being $20,000, which is reinsured down to $15,000 net. Not more than one limit is written in any single city block.

Each subscriber assumes his pro rata share of liability under all policies issued. The minimum rate charged by the exchange is 1%. Board rates are charged on risks rated higher than that.

Each subscriber assumes his pro rata share of liability under all policies issued. The minimum rate charged by the exchange is 1%. Board rates are charged on risks rated higher than that. Each subscriber is subject to an assessment equal to one original premium deposit.

The attorney receives 15% commission on the premium deposits, as compensation for paying all expenses of management, other than taxes and legal expenses.

Eighty per cent. of deposits are allowed to accumulate before savings are returned to subscribers. Any subscriber may retire upon ten days' notice, in which event the accumulated surplus, or unexpended premium deposit, is returned. No provision has been made to guarantee members against assessment.

The assets of the exchange are in charge of the attorney and members of the Advisory Committee. Cash in bank is subject to signature of the attorney and a member of the committee. The bonds and other securities are held in trust by the Minnesota Loan and Trust Co.

We are advised that the attorney is bonded to the amount of $50,000 for faithful performance of duties and the proper accounting of all assets in his possession.

Reports are made to members at least annually and at the annual meetings of the Northwestern Lumbermen's Association.

The attorney and the Insurance Commissioners of States where the company is authorized to transact business have authority to accept service of process, binding upon all the members in the event of dispute arising concerning a claim against the exchange.

Advisory Committee.—A. R. Rogers (chairman), president Rogers Lumber Co., Minneapolis, Minn.; F. H. Carpenter, president F. H. Carpenter Lumber Co., Minneapolis, Minn.; B. C. Bowman (vice-chairman), vice-president and general manager S. H. Bowman Lumber Co., Minneapolis, Minn.; John A. Bovey, president Bovey-Shute-Jackson, Inc., Minneapolis, Minn.; C. H. Ross, secretary and treasurer H. W. Ross Lumber Co., Minneapolis, Minn.; Charles Webster, president Consumers Independent Lumber Co., Waucoma, Iowa; O. D. Hauschild, Minneapolis, attorney-in-fact; Frank Ward, secretary and general manager Eclipse Lumber Co., Clinton, Iowa.

Income, 1921.—Premium deposits written, gross, $696,501.43; less return premium deposits, $140,876.40; less reinsurance, $38,292.89; net, $517,332.14; interest, etc., $42,688.51; adjustment book value bonds, $25,000; other cash income, $7,717.70; total cash income, $592,738.35.

ROYAL MOTOR CAR INSURANCE ASSOCIATION,

408 Missouri Ave., East St. Louis, Ill.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange, organized March 28, 1920, and began business the same day. The kinds of insurance written are automobile fire, theft, collision, property damage and liability.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is R. V. Gustin, who states that he has had ten years' experience with a local insurance agency.

This exchange has not responded to our requests for information to compile report for this volume, and we do not know what its status is at the time of going to press with this volume. The report printed herein was compiled from information furnished to us in the latter part of 1921. If our subscribers contemplate becoming interested they should require full and up-to-date information from the management.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The attorney-in-fact states that the maximum liability assumed upon any single risk is $10,000, which is reduced by reinsurance to a net amount of $2,500; although these limitations are not fixed by specific provisions in the power of attorney, but by resolutions adopted by the advisory board.

Applications for insurance are accepted from the agents of the association only; no commercial agency or other qualification is required for admission to membership, but personal investigation is made where applicants are not known. The attorney-in-fact states that the proportion of liability assumed by each subscriber is determined by his subscription; that all subscribers are subject to assessment, and that the liability is limited to a subscriber's pro rata share of actual losses. Each subscriber underwrites the proportion above described of each policy issued during his period of membership, and premium deposits are credited to the subscriber's individual accounts.

Losses are computed to the first day of each month, and pro rated among subscribers holding policies on that date.

In reply to our question as to the limitation of liability on the part of the subscribers, we were informed that the subscriber is liable "to pro rata share of actual losses while policy is in force." No provision has been made to guarantee subscribers against assessments.

The rates charged are not those of conference companies, but are said to be based on actual cost.

In order to obtain membership in the association, each subscriber pays the following membership fees: Fire, $4.00; theft, $4.00; collision, windstorm and cyclone, $4.00; liability for personal injuries or damage to property, $4.00. For all divisions taken at one time, the fees are commuted to be $12.50. In addition to this, the subscriber pays his premium assessment. The power of attorney provides that the attorney-in-fact may provide for the creation of a guarantee fund by deducting not to exceed 5% annually of premium deposits.

The compensation of the attorney-in-fact in addition to the membership fees is 30% of all deposits advanced by each subscriber. From the remaining 70% the association pays all losses, legal and adjustment expenses, premiums on reinsurance, premiums on bonds, taxes and postage, and the expense of levying and collecting assessments. The attorney-in-fact tells us that the membership fees charged subscribers with the first application are used in paying the agents of the association.

Policies may be cancelled by the attorney-in-fact or the subscriber upon five days' notice in writing, at which time any unused premium deposits are to be returned to the subscriber.

The assets of the exchange are in the custody of the attorney-in-fact, who is under bond for $10,000.

Details of the operations of the exchange are reported to the subscribers annually at the regular annual meetings of the association.

Service of process may be made upon the attorney-in-fact or the Director of Trade and Commerce of the State of Illinois. Loss adjustments are made by representatives of the association, and claim reserves are stated to be computed as fixed by the Illinois statute under the recent law.

The unearned premium liability is 50% of the premiums collected, after deducting the administration expenses fixed by law.

The number of subscribers and the names of the advisory board have not as yet been furnished us. The advisory board, however, is to consist of five members elected by subscribers at annual meetings.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact of this association is the Samson Company, incorporated January 7, 1919, under the laws of Illinois, with a paid-in capital of $2,500.

The officers of the attorney-in-fact are: President, C. T. Kiplinger; vice-president, John J. Commons; secretary and treasurer, M. R. Burt.

The Board of Directors are as follows: Chairman, I. J. Kiplinger, director of the Northern Steel & Construction Company, Freeport; H. H. Antrim, president State Bank of Freeport, Ill.; A. J. Stukenberg, president Stukenberg & Borchers, Inc.; A. J. Clarity, judge of Stephenson county, Chief Justice Illinois Court of Claims; M. R. Burt, secretary and treasurer Samson Company.

The active manager of the exchange is M. R. Burt, secretary, who was for three years in the legal department of the National Packing Company of Chicago, and subsequently was sales director for a period of seven years for the W. T. Rawleigh Company in charge of sales credits and collections in the United States and Canada. He has had no previous insurance experience.

C. T. Kiplinger, president of the attorney-in-fact, formerly was corresponding secretary in charge of the employment of salesmen for the W. T. Rawleigh Company for a period of six years. His connection with this exchange constitutes his sole insurance experience.

As this exchange is operated on a membership fee basis, and the subscribers being assessed for losses incurred, it is impossible to form an opinion as to the saving effected or the proportion which the management expense would bear to the normal premium income. The disbursements show for 1920, $83,966.25 paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expenses, while the amount paid for losses was only $13,646.40. In 1921 $70,531.53 was paid to the attorney-in-fact for administration expense, and $37,674.90 was paid for losses.

We were not advised as to the nature of the guarantee fund appearing in the income for 1920 in the amount of $25,096.73, and in 1921 of $26,199.87, nor the provisions affecting its withdrawal. This amount is shown as an asset in the statement, which is published as submitted.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The maximum liability assumed on any one risk in one permanent location is $2,250. We have been informed by the attorney-in-fact that there has been provided an excess cover of $15,000 over the first $2,500 and up to $17,500 to take care of excess losses. The assessment liability of the members is unlimited.

The association maintains individual accounts for the subscribers. A membership fee of $9 and a policy fee of $1 is collected in advance, which goes to the attorney-in-fact. Assessments are made every eight months to take care of losses and expenses incurred during that period.

The exchange is licensed in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Kansas and Minnesota.

The attorney advises that this exchange limits its operations to the rural districts and to cities having a population not over 50,000.

The funds of the association are in the custody of the attorney-in-fact, who gives no bond. A subscriber may withdraw from the exchange by paying assessments on losses incurred during the period of his membership. Service of process may be made upon the attorney-in-fact or the Insurance Superintendent of any of the States in which the exchange is licensed.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance organization which began business in July, 1907. On December 31, 1921, it had 1,009 subscribers.

Management.—The exchange was formerly under the management of Van A. Webster, who organized it, and who also operated the Automobile Underwriters of America, reported upon elsewhere herein. Upon his death in August, 1921, his brother, Mr. J. G. Webster, president of the Webster Grocer Company, of Dallas, Texas, was made attorney-in-fact. The underwriting is in charge of Mr. C. Perry, who was closely associated for several years with Mr. Van A. Webster in the management of this exchange. The production of business is in charge of Mr. Cassius Carter.

The exchange is under the supervision of an Advisory Board consisting of three subscribers.

The exchange was successful under the former management, and while it has not operated long enough to establish records under the new management, the underwriter was associated with the former manager, and has the benefit of an established plant and policy.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange writes fire and lightning insurance upon mercantile risks only. Full tariff rates are secured.

The maximum policy issued on any single risk is $12,500, which is reinsured down to $7,500. The attorney advises that the average amount carried is $5,000.

New members are admitted after careful investigation, and only select risks written.

The proportion of liability assumed by each subscriber is determined by the premium deposit. A separate individual account is kept with each subscriber, such account being always open for inspection by members.

The Advisory Committee is authorized to reserve not to exceed one-half of the average savings as net surplus, until such surplus shall equal the sum of the annual premium deposits on the policies in force, all other savings are returned to members in cash. For the purpose of paying excess losses incurred, members subscribe, subject to the call of the Advisory Committee, a sum equal to the amount of the annual premium deposits, on all policies in force at the time. In no case shall such call exceed this amount.

The management advises that the exchange has a direct treaty with Lloyd's London Underwriters enabling it to write lines up to $50,000, and that the exchange receives the benefit of commissions paid under Lloyd's policies.

The manager's remuneration is 15% of all moneys paid to the exchange, whether premium deposits or from other insurance effected through the exchange.

Its attorney and manager advises us that since organization the exchange has effected for its members a saving of from 30% to 35% as compared with tariff rates.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.—This is a reciprocal underwriters exchange, organized in April, 1907, and its operations have been uniformly successful. The management advises us that on December 31, 1921, it had 390 subscribers.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—Allen T. Rector, formerly associate manager, became attorney and manager December 13, 1918. Mr. Rector has had more than twenty years' experience in inter-insurance, is a competent underwriter, and is in excellent repute.

The exchange has made good progress and has returned substantial savings to the subscribers.

The premiums written reported herein represent the amount of premiums expressed in the policies, but an initial allowance of 25% is made and only 75% of same collected.

The exchange was examined by the Illinois Insurance Department as of December 31, 1921. The above statement was checked and found correct and the report stated that the affairs of the exchange are managed strictly in accordance with the contract with subscribers.

PLANS OF OPERATION (as reported to us by the management).—This exchange issues (to subscribers only) policies of insurance against loss by fire, use and occupancy, gross profits, and sprinkler leakage, on risks fully equipped with standard automatic sprinklers. The limit granted upon any risk or square is $200,000, which is carried net. All policies are written at tariff rates, less an initial allowance of twenty-five (25) per cent. Only firms having a financial rating of $100,000 or more, with highest credit, are eligible for subscribership.

New York standard form of policy is used.

No policies are issued in any city for a sum to exceed three times the total of all subscribers' subscriptions.

Each subscriber assumes a liability of $2,000 as an underwriter, no cash deposit being required. The premium deposit from each risk is evenly distributed to the accounts of the other underwriters, the subscriber receiving no credit for any portion of his own premium. While this method distributes the earnings equally as regards the liability assumed by each subscriber as an underwriter, it is inequitable unless all subscribers pay practically the same annual premium. The subscriber paying a small premium receives the same portion of all premiums as the one paying a much heavier premium.

On April 29, 1922, the Advisory Committee and Trustees proposed a new plan for apportionment of earnings, as follows:

(a) That the attorney-in-fact be directed to adopt, in place of the present uniform subscription, a unit basis of subscribership, based approximately on the amount of premium paid by the subscribers. Changes in respect of present subscribers are to be made at the discretion of the attorney-in-fact.

(b) That future subscriberships are authorized to be taken, subject to other provisions of the present subscribership agreement, in units of $500.00 for each $150.00 of bureau rate premiums on policies issued to the subscriber.

(c) That the method, long heretofore pursued, of writing policies at bureau rates, less an initial allowance of twenty-five (25) per cent, is approved and the continuation of this method is hereby authorized.

No disbursement of earnings is made to a subscriber until a reserve of $2,000 is accrued at his credit in the hands of the trustees, the excess of which amount is disbursed annually January 1st. Retiring subscribers draw out their net earnings when participation is terminated.

The management advises us that "The trustees hold a policy issued by Lloyd's London reinsuring subscribers' liability for fire losses in excess of $200,000 sustained, under policies underwritten by them, during any one year. That is, if the fire losses during the twelve months' period aggregate more than $200,000 (approximately the amount of bureau rate annual premiums under fire policies issued), under this excess loss reinsurance policy, subscribers will be reimbursed for the excess above that amount, up to $200,000, the amount of the reinsurance policy."

The compensation of the attorney and manager is limited to twenty (20) per cent. of the premiums received, out of which all expenses are paid, with the exception of taxes, legal expenses and committee fees.

The manager is under $50,000 fidelity bond to the trustees, covering the proper accounting for any money coming temporarily into his hands.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE AND TRUSTEES.—The funds of the exchanges are in the custody of an advisory committee and trustees, elected by and from among the subscribers. The following gentlemen were elected for the current year: Thomas Hunter, of Hunter, Tuppen Co., Syracuse, N. Y.; Geo. F. Van Slyck, of Finch, Van Slyck & McConville, St. Paul, Minn.; O. B. McGlasson, Wholesale Grocers Corporation; McNeil & Higgins Co., Chicago, Ill.; R. T. Langenberg of Langenberg Hat Co., St. Louis, Mo., and R. A. Graham, secretary-treasurer, J. H. Ashdown Hardware Co., Ltd., Winnipeg, Canada. The attorney and manager is also a member of this committee ex-officio.

No investment of funds was made prior to January 1, 1921, but since that time $210,000 has been invested in United States certificates. The attorney and manager is bonded in the sum of $50,000 to the trustees, the bond being in the custody of the chairman of the advisory committee. Funds coming into his hands are deposited with the trustees monthly. The trustees receive a nominal compensation for their services.

TERRITORY.—This exchange is authorized to transact business in Ala., Ark., Cal., Colo., Iowa, Ill., Kan., Ky., Me., Md., Mich., Minn., Mo., Neb., Ohio, Okla., Pa., Tenn., Texas, Utah and Wis. It has applied for license in the Dominion of Canada. The manager and superintendents of insurance of above States are authorized to accept service of process. The contingent liability of members is not limited.

INCOME, 1921.—Premium deposits written, gross, $253,192.90; less return premium deposits, $44,360.24; net, $208,832.66; interest, etc., $11,515.82; total cash income, $220,348.48. The premiums are figured at tariff rate and only 75% is collected in cash, the 25% allowance being an initial saving to subscribers.

DISBURSEMENTS, 1921.—Losses paid, gross, $25,959.05; less salvage, $264.22; net losses, $25,694.83; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $40,333.08; advisory committee expense, $1,835; taxes, licenses and fees, $3,658.85; adjusting expense, $524.45; rating bureau and excess loss reinsurance, $5,247.44; allowances and cash payments, $66,493.22; total cash disbursements, $143,786.87.

TRANSACTIONS SINCE ORGANIZATION.—Net premium deposits, $1,096,516.32; interest received on investments and bank deposits, $50,933.08; total cash income, $1,147,449.40; losses, net, $161,069.51; total expenses paid, $257,518.01; total cash disbursements, $418,587.52.

Estimated saving effected for members from organization as compared with tariff rates, $728,861.88.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This association was organized January 9, 1920, and was licensed by the Indiana Insurance Department and began business on the same date. At the time of latest report made to us it was licensed in Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky.

Management and Reputation—The attorney-in-fact is the Bainum-Phillipe Company and at the time of our latest advices the officers of that company were as follows: President, Charles A. Bainum; vice-president, H. M. Robbins; secretary, R. C. Phillipe.

No information has been furnished to us as to the previous insurance experience of the officers of the attorney-in-fact company.

This association had not, at the time of going to press with this volume, furnished us with information in regard to its operations for the year 1921, nor financial statement showing its condition at the close of that year.

The financial statement quoted below was taken from the report made by the association to the Indiana State Insurance Department and the general report made herein was prepared from information previously furnished to us by the association.

It will be noted in the statement taken from the report filed with the Indiana Insurance Department that the net cash resources of the exchange are quite small and that the unearned premium liability appears small compared to the annual premium deposits written.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—At the time or latest advices to us the association reported that it writes fire and theft insurance at practically the same as stock company rates and also that it writes a full coverage policy using different rates for various territories, estimating the cost each year in advance and further that the largest gross and net amount insured in any one risk is $3,500.

The statement of the association for the year 1920 showed in the income a guarantee fund of $25,000 but did not state upon what conditions it was placed with the association in regard to withdrawal or whether or not it was included in the assets of the association. Extracts from statement of the association filed with the Indiana State Insurance Department as of December 31, 1921, are as follows:

STATE AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE ASSOCIATION,

Des Moines, Iowa.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange, which was organized and commenced business under the laws of Iowa, May 19, 1919.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the Automobile Underwriters, of Des Moines, Iowa, incorporated January 29, 1919, with $100,000 capital, of which at June 21, 1920, $3,000 had been paid in. The officers are: President, S. J. Don Carlos; vice-president, L. N. Cleveland; secretary, A. B. Loranz; treasurer, C. S. McKee; agency manager, M. C. Waterman.

This exchange had not, at the time of going to press with these reports, reported to us its operations and financial statement for the year closing December 31, 1921. The report made herein is based upon advice previously received from it, and from report of examination made by the Iowa State Insurance Department as of September 30, 1920. The figures shown in the statement below are extracts from report made by the exchange to the Iowa State Insurance Department. In statement previously published the exchange included as an asset a "guarantee fund" of $50,000. We are not advised as to the conditions under which this may be withdrawn, or what securities compose the fund, so that we do not know to what extent it protects the policyholders.

If our subscribers are solicited to become interested they should insist upon full information from the exchange.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The association writes fire, theft, cyclone, liability, property damage, and collision insurance on automobiles, and membership is not limited to any particular line of industry.

Business is written at rates discretionary with the management, and is solicited through agents, subject to recommendation of the attorney-in-fact.

Each subscriber underwrites a portion of each policy issued during the period of his membership, determined by the amount of his premium deposit.

The compensation of the attorney-in-fact consists of the application fees, the amounts of which have not been given, and 10% of the premium deposits collected. The attorney-in-fact may take 10% of all premium deposits collected, no distinction being made between regular or excess premium deposits. The secretary informs us, "It is not likely they would do so in case of excess deposits." No contingent commision is allowed upon the profits or savings in addition to the compensation just referred to. The compensation of the attorney-in-fact does not include charges for loss expenses, legal expenses, taxes and licenses, interest, guarantee bonds, collections, or expense of the advisory committee.

The attorney-in-fact states that they use the following methods of charging losses and crediting savings: "Each subscriber assumes his proportion of losses, such proportion to be calculated monthly, commencing with calendar month in which his policy is issued, and to be such pro rata share of such losses as his deposit premiums for that month, under all his contracts, bear to the aggregate of all deposit premiums payable to the association under all policies in force during all, or a part, of such monthly period. There shall be returned to subscriber his unused deposits at end of policy period whether by cancellation or otherwise. Before any profits or savings will be returned a reasonable amount will be retained to cover existing unsettled claims."

The State examiner found that it had been the custom to make returns on a pro rata basis in cases of cancellation, and recommended that the accounts be liquidated and the unused deposits only be returned, as the former method is unfair to remaining members.

The liability of a subscriber is limited to once again the estimated six months' deposit.

Service of process may be made upon the attorney-in-fact.

Advisory Committee.—We have not been informed as to the members.

Territory.—Presumably Iowa only.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This association was organized April 18, 1917.

The management advises that at the close of 1921 it had 37,972 subscribers and 39,287 risks insured.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.—The attorney-in-fact is the Automobile Underwriters, Inc., a company with a capital stock of $50,000, one-half of which has been paid in cash. The officers of the Automobile Underwriters, Inc., are: President, J. M. Dalrymple; vice-president, A. W. Early; secretary. Arthur Wolf; treasurer, W. E. McKee.

The management of the association is under the supervision of the secretary of the attorney-in-fact, who has had insurance experience since 1902, having been special agent for the Globe & Rutgers Fire Insurance Company, of New York, and for the London Guarantee and Accident Company, of Chicago, and for five years manager for the Automobile Indemnity Exchange, at Indianapolis. The assistant manager, A. W. Early, has had a number of years' experience as special agent for the North American Accident Insurance Company, of Chicago, and with reciprocal associations.

As the association operates on a fee basis it is difficult to estimate the cost to subscribers. It makes its own rates. In order to estimate savings, if any, subscribers should compare the cost with the association to that of similar coverage with stock companies.

The association appears to be making progress.

The securities owned by the association are high class.

PLAN OF OPERATION (as reported to us by the management).— It writes fire, theft, liability, property damage, collision and cyclone insurance on automobiles.

Subscribers' contracts of insurance are written on three plans as follows: 3 year plan, 1 year plan, and limited liability plan.

The 3 year plan contemplates coverage for three years, and a membership fee of $7.50 is payable in advance on each class of coverage; that is, indemnity (which includes liability and property damage), collision, and fire and theft; and $3 for cyclone. The membership fees are retained by the attorney-in-fact as its compensation, out of which it pays all expenses, except losses, legal and adjustment expenses, insurance department fees and charges, federal, State, county and municipal taxes, premiums on surety bonds, and stationery and postage for collection of subscribers' deposits.

Deposit premiums are payable within 60 days subsequent to the acceptance of application, accompanied by the payment of membership fees, but are due from date of issue. Sixty days are allowed for payment of such before contracts are lapsed. Second and subsequent calls are issued at intervals of six months and multiples thereof after date of first call.

The one year plan is identical in its operation to the three year plan, except that the membership fee is $5 instead of $7.50, and is good for one year only.

The limited liability plan differs from the other two plans in that subscribers' liability is limited to one and one-half the amount of the deposit premiums, and in lieu of membership fees the attorney-in-fact is allowed 30% of the deposits for expenses.

The president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer of the attorney-in-fact are bonded in the sum of $10,000 each covering the faithful performance of his duties.

The attorney states that the association has a reinsurance contract whereby all fire losses in excess of $5,000 on one fire are covered up to a limit of $100,000.

LIABILITY OF SUBSCRIBERS.—The subscribers are liable to an amount which shall in no event exceed one full additional annual premium deposit on any risk during any one year, with the exception of the limited liability plan described above.

STATE MUTUAL INSURANCE EXCHANGE

GENERAL REVIEW.

This organization, we understand, is an interinsurance exchange. In response to our request for information, Vernet B. Larson, treasurer, advised that it was licensed by the Minnesota Insurance Department, August 25, 1921, and began business September 1, 1921, reporting also that $25,000 surplus was paid in in cash. No copies of power of attorney agreements, policies or other blanks have been supplied to us and no information about the management and plan of operation has been furnished.

The Advisory Board is reported as follows: Dr. E. W. Ostergren, John D. Anderson, Charles E. Carlson, A. A. Carlstrom, Walter Fosnes, Otto Hall, Vernet B. Larson, John A. Nyberg, C. F. Petterson, Lewis Swenson and Herman Thiede.

GENERAL REVIEW.

HISTORY.— This is an inter-insurance exchange which was organized early in 1920, was licensed by the Insurance Department of the State of Pennsylvania June 26, 1920, and began business July 1, 1920. It was organized for the purpose of writing fire and use and occupancy insurance on motion picture and legitimate theatres.

MANAGEMENT AND REPUTATION.— The attorney-in-fact is the Brown Inter-Insurance Managers, Inc. The officers of the attorney-in-fact are all experienced insurance men in excellent repute.

Mr. Henry I. Brown of Philadelphia is president. He is also president of Henry W. Brown & Company, of Philadelphia, the Independence Associates, the Independence Bureau and the Independence Insurance Company, all of Philadelphia, and is a partner in the firm of Wilcox, Peck, Brown & Crosby, New York City.

Everett U. Crosby, vice-president, is a partner and officer with Henry I. Brown in all the above companies.

Charles C. Perrin, secretary and treasurer of Brown Inter-Insurance Managers, Inc., is the managing underwriter. He is president of the American Insurers, Inc., attorney-in-fact for the U. S. Automobile Insurance Exchange, Kansas City, Mo., and is vice-president of the O'Brien, Hobart, Perrin Underwriting Agency of Kansas City, Mo. He has been the managing underwriter for the United States Automobile Insurance Exchange since it began business, March 1, 1917, and previous to that time was for five years half owner and manager of Peake & Perrin, an insurance agency company in Kansas City, Mo. The officers of the attorney-in-fact are in excellent repute and are experienced insurance men.

PLAN OF OPERATION (as reported to us by the management).— The exchange insures against fire, buildings, furniture and fixtures of motion picture houses and legitimate theatres, assuming a maximum line of $55,000 subject to one fire, of which $50,000 is reinsured under a blanket reinsurance contract.

The acceptance of large lines and reinsurance of the greater proportion thereof is not considered a good practice for an inter-insurance exchange. The management of this exchange claims that its reinsurers are such as are acceptable to high class stock insurance companies, and that the reinsurance will be maintained while these lines are outstanding.

A guarantee fund of $25,000 has been advanced by the attorney-in-fact, and this is included as an asset in the statement. This fund is held in escrow by the First National Bank, of Philadelphia, whereby it cannot be withdrawn except for the payment of losses, or after the surplus of the exchange exceeds $50,000, and then only for the excess of $50,000 and upon approval of the State Superintendent of Insurance.

The liability to assessment is limited to one premium equal and in addition to the cash premium deposited. The exchange writes at tariff rates. The attorney-in-fact receives as compensation 25% of all premium deposits received, out of which it defrays all expenses incidental to the operation of the exchange, except license fees, taxes, legal and advisory committee expenses, and cost of adjustment. Individual accounts are kept for each subscriber. The membership of any subscriber may be terminated by himself or by the attorney-in-fact upon five days' notice in writing.

The exchange has not been operating sufficiently long to establish a record, but in 1921 its losses were negligible and it made a fair return to subscribers.

Service of process may be made upon the attorney-in-fact or superintendent of insurance of the States in which it operates.

The power of attorney provides for an advisory committee consisting of three or more subscribers.

INCOME, 1921.— Premium deposits written, gross, $10,883.94; less return premium deposits, $1,083.11; less reinsurance, $1,234.80; net, $8,566.03; interest, etc., $189.04; guarantee fund, $4,146.10; total cash income, $12,901.17.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange licensed by the Insurance Department of the State of Minnesota, October 25, 1920. Its membership is limited to coal operators, and its principal business is tornado insurance on coal bridges.

Management.—The attorney-in-fact manager is James H. Harper, Le Baron L. Harper being assistant manager.

The Executive Committee is composed of the following members: Carnegie Dock & Fuel Company, Yonghiogheny & Ohio Coal Company, Milwaukee Western Fuel Company, North Western Fuel Company, Pittsburgh Coal Company and C. Reiss Coal Company.

In 1921 the subscribers donated $19,315 to the exchange, which the management advises us was completely released to the exchange, and was for the purpose of providing a surplus exceeding $50,000, which would enable it to qualify in other States.

The exchange has not operated long enough to have established records, but its operations thus far have been successful. It has had no losses, and the expenses, considering that one of its chief functions is stated to be an inspection service that would prevent losses, are moderate.

The lines written are large compared to its net cash resources and annual premium income.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—We are advised by the management that the exchange confines its lines entirely to tornado insurance on superstructures of coal and iron ore handling property and movable steel bridges, stating that the principal object of the exchange is to improve the risk involved. Further, that a signed power of attorney agreement is required in every case and that no agents or brokers are employed.

It will be noted that the liability assumed by the members is based upon the amount stated in the subscribers agreement, differing from the usual reciprocal plan, and being more upon the Lloyd's plan of assuming liability.

The power of attorney agreement limits the amount of liability to be assumed by any subscriber on any one bridge, structure or building to $10,000, and to not exceeding $20,000 on several bridges, structures or buildings on any one dock, but does not further limit the subscribers' contingent liability; it provides that the manager shall establish an inspection service to inspect all coal and iron ore handling properties insured in the exchange so that all members may approximate the same basis of safety, and for reinspection of same; that the compensation of the attorney-in-fact shall be 25% of the premium deposits, not including assessments, from which he is to pay all expenses incident to the exchange of indemnity except losses, loss expense, legal expense, taxes, insurance department licenses and fees, premiums on surety bonds or reinsurance and expenses of the executive committee; that the manager shall furnish a bond in an amount to be determined by the executive committee; that funds standing to the credit of subscribers shall be used to pay their proportion of any disbursements properly chargeable, also for all reserves required by law to be maintained and to accumulate an adequate surplus fund, returning to the subscribers all other money immediately upon the determination of the subscriber's liability; that the power of attorney agreement may be terminated at any time by the subscriber or manager by either giving the other ten days' notice in writing, and upon such termination the liability of the subscriber under outstanding contracts of the exchange shall simultaneously cease and determine except as to losses and expenses theretofore accrued. Upon termination of subscriber's liability under outstanding contracts he is to be paid any funds standing to his credit except such amounts as may be reasonably necessary to liquidate unadjusted losses and expenses, for which there shall be a final accounting in due course. In addition to the executive committee above noted, the membership consists of Northern Coal & Dock Company, Pittsburgh & Ashland Coal & Dock Company, Ft. William Coal Co., Ltd., Great Lakes Coal & Dock Co., and Thomas Furnace Co.

We are advised that the item in the assets of stocks and bonds consists of bonds, United States Treasury certificates.

The exchange further advises us that rates about 16% less than the regular stock company rates are charged and that the gross and net aggregate amount insured in any one hazard is $67,500.

The insurance in force, December 31, 1921, was $2,210.700.

The exchange is licensed in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois. It applied for admission to Michigan in February, 1922.

Tornado Income, Since Organization, October 20, 1920.—Premium deposits written, gross, $90,306.59; less return premium deposits, $19,048.75; less reinsurance, $4,500.00; net, $66,757.84; interest, etc., $1,533.58; donations by subscribers, $19,315.00; total cash income, $87,606.42.

General Review.

History.—This is an inter-insurance organization which began business in February, 1902, and has made excellent progress.

Management and Reputation.—The exchange is under the management of T. H. Mastin and Company, Attorneys, Kansas City, Mo., the title of the attorney-in-fact having been changed from the H. J. Straight Co., on April 1, 1921.

T. H. Mastin & Co., are attorneys for the Consolidated Underwriters of Kansas City, Mo., reported upon elsewhere in this volume.

T. H. Mastin & Company are in excellent repute and maintain offices in Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago, Minneapolis, Indianapolis, Memphis, Louisville, Kentucky; Beaumont, Texas; Ft. Worth, Texas; Mobile, Alabama, Asheville, N. C.; Wilmington, N. C.; Miami, Oklahoma; Tulsa, Oklahoma and Pittsburgh, Kansas. The firm is composed of T. H. Mastin, W. M. Drennon, F. W. Schafer, Henry Burr, Thomas Lonergan and H. E. Minty.

The exchange has accumulated a substantial surplus and appears to be operating on a sound basis. The maximum line written is large in proportion to premium income, but risks protected by automatic sprinklers only are written.

Until 1920 the attorney-in-fact was compensated by a commission of 15% on the gross premium deposits, out of which it paid all expenses except counsel fees, legal assessments, fire patrol charges, and expenses of advisory committee. The present plan of compensation appears to increase the cost of subscribers over that of the old plan.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange writes fire insurance, including use and occupancy and profits, on mercantile and manufacturing properties equipped with automatic sprinklers. The maximum policy issued is $600,000, no part of which is re-insured.

Members are admitted to the exchange upon the recommendation of the attorney-in-fact after a satisfactory inspection of the risk by competent inspectors subject to the approval of the Advisory Committee. Applicants for membership must be rated commercially at $100,000 or over and have high credit. The exchange had 467 subscribers at the close of the year 1921. Sprinklered risks only are written.

The subscriber's liability is limited to twice the amount of his annual premium in force on any one risk, and to five times his single risk liability in the event of a continuous fire destroyed several risks. In the event the losses in a conflagration exceed the gross amount collectible from subscribers as contingent liability, the subscribers suffering the loss accept a reduction of their claim in proportion to their premiums to the extent that the gross claim shall not exceed the total contingent premium collectible.

The deposits received are credited to the subscribers' own underwriting accounts. Out of these, subscribers are charged with their pro-rata proportion of expenses and losses which may occur, based upon the annual premiums in force. Subscribers' credits are allowed to accumulate until the credit balance is six times the amount of the average annual premium. Amounts in excess of this figure are paid annually as of January 1st, except that in years in which the savings are sufficient to justify returns prior to the accumulation, as above stated, returns may be made not to exceed 25% of the gross premiums in any one year.

Policies are issued at regular board rates. The fee of the attorney-in-fact is 10% on all moneys coming into his hands. The expenses are borne by the subscribers. The assets of the exchange are in the custody of the Advisory Committee and attorney-in-fact.

The power of attorney provides that it can be revoked on five days' notice. The accumulated surplus is returned to the retiring subscribers.

Territory.—Underwriters exchange is licensed in the following states: Alabama, Arkansas, California, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, Oklahoma, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Washington and Wisconsin.

The attorney-in-fact and the Insurance Commissioner in States where licensed, are authorized to accept service of process binding upon all the members in the event of a dispute arising concerning any claim against the exchange.

Advisory Committee.—Leon Smith, of Smith-McCord-Townsend Dry Goods Company, Kansas City, Mo.; John Gould of Kellogg Switchboard and Supply Company, Chicago, Ill.; H. A. Walker of Armour & Company, Chicago; Stanley Maxwell of Cupples Company, St. Louis, Mo., and N. H. F. McLeod of Parke-Davis & Company, Detroit, Michigan.

Income, 1921.—Premium deposits written, gross, $668,-777.16; less return premium deposits, $289,672.34; net, $379,104.82; interest, etc., $63,385.13; special deposits, $2,484.61; profit on bonds, $1,256.25; total cash income, $446,230.81.

UNDERWRITING AGREEMENT,

New York, N. Y.

This is a pool composed of twenty dry goods merchants who insure each other to a total of $10,000 on the property of each member. No policies are issued, the underwriting operations being carried on under an agreement signed by the various members. There are no formal headquarters, but at last advices the meetings were held at 404 Fourth avenue, New York.

The institution began business in 1905, and the members are all substantial and reputable business men.

The treasurer, under date of January 20, 1922, stated "that amounts about equal to the annual premiums have been returned to the underwriters for the past five years."

Three trustees and a secretary are elected annually. The trustees have entire charge of the receipts and disbursements and the adjustment of losses, one of their number being elected treasurer to receive and pay out the funds, subject to the approval of the trustees.

A. M. Cooper is the present treasurer.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is a reciprocal institution which was organized under the laws of the State of California and received its license to commence business during the latter part of October, 1918.

It is licensed in California only.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is J. L. Maritzen, who was for a number of years, connected with the California Insurance Department. He was also branch manager of the American Mutual Liability Company, of Boston.

The assets of the exchange are invested in United States Liberty Loan bonds, cash on deposit in banks and a reasonable amount for uncollected premium deposits.

The expenses of the exchange were above normal in 1921. The volume of annual premium deposits is quite large compared to the net cash surplus. The disbursements exceeded the income in 1921, further indicating the need of a better margin of surplus.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange writes automobile insurance only, covering against fire, theft, collision, property damage and public liability. It has an advisory board consisting of three members or subscribers, which has supervision of the funds of the exchange, its investments and bank depositories.

The management states that it writes a maximum line of $10,000 public liability subject to one hazard, no part of which is reinsured, and that it has never levied an assessment. Also that the exchange has an excess fire cover over $5,000 up to $20,000. (We have not been furnished with a copy of the contract and name of company covering this excess, that we might comment upon the protection afforded.)

The attorney-in-fact states that he is bonded in the sum of $25,000.

The compensation of the attorney-in-fact is 30% of the premiums received out of which he pays all expenses except losses, loss expenses, taxes, license fees, legal and Advisory Board expenses.

The manager states that the exchange writes business at manual or conference rates, less 25% where the premium is collected in full. If the premium is paid on the monthly plan, an initial deposit of 25% of the manual rates is collected, the balance being taken in equal monthly installments.

Losses are adjusted by an adjustor who is employed and paid a salary by the exchange.

Income, 1921.—Premium deposits written, gross, $474,899.19; less return premium deposits, $109,331.23; net, $365,567.96; interest, etc., $2,177.62; guarantee fund for losses, $4,103.75; initial deposits, $6,250.00; refund of reinsuring premiums, $137.50; policy fees, $206.50; total cash income, $378,443.33.

Disbursements, 1921.—Losses paid, gross, $204,396.40; less salvage, $7,240.41; net losses, $197,155.99; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $138,878.57; advisory committee expense, $225.00; legal expense, $31.00; taxes, licenses and fees, $8,573.41; expenses, adjustment and settlement losses, $17,621.11; other disbursements: insurance department fees, $530.00; miscellaneous expense, $697.55; policy fees, $203.80; initial deposits returned, $16,850.00; contingent losses repaid, $1,065.00; interest paid, $650.07; total cash disbursements, $382,481.50.

General Review.

History.— This is an inter-insurance exchange whose business is confined entirely to the members of the United Retail Merchants of America. It received its license from the Minnesota Insurance Department on March 1, 1919, and commenced business on that date with more than $1,500,000 insurance in force, and with $25,000 cash in banks, deposited by the attorney and manager.

The association is licensed in Minnesota, Illinois and Iowa.

Management and Reputation.— The exchange is under the management of the United Retail Merchants Underwriting Company, of which O. D. Hauschild is president and treasurer, and J. A. O. Preus, secretary.

Mr. Hauschild has been in the insurance business for over twenty-eight years and acts as attorney-in-fact for the Retail Lumbermen's Inter-Insurance Exchange, of Minneapolis, which commenced business in January, 1917. He was ten years in the fire insurance local agency business, and had been for a number of years manager of the Retail Lumbermen's Insurance Association.

Very substantial savings were returned to the subscribers in 1921.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).— We have not been furnished with copy of power of attorney agreement, but are advised by the management that the association reinsures its lines down to the maximum of $3,500 on brick buildings and $2,500 on frame risks, the gross lines being $10,000 on brick, and $5,000 on frame. Business is written at the stock company rates. Signed power of attorney agreements are required. No extra assessments have ever been levied.

The officers of this attorney-in-fact corporation hold similar offices in the Insurance Service Company, Inc., which is the attorney-in-fact of the Boot and Shoe Reciprocal Exchange, also of Kansas City, Mo.

George H. Bunting has been engaged actively about six years, and Paul Dillon about five years in the reciprocal insurance business. E. D. Briscoe has been engaged in the insurance business about fourteen years, with this exchange about one year, and previously with the American Inter-Insurance Exchange, and the Bankers Inter-Insurance Alliance, both of Kansas City, Mo.

While the membership of this exchange is composed of reliable business firms and the business confined to sprinklered risks the maximum lines accepted ($750,000), appear to be very large compared with the resources and volume of business. A total loss of a maximum line would be almost seven times the net surplus and more than eight times the annual premium deposits for 1921.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange writes fire insurance only, and limits its writings to sprinklered shoe factories and other sprinklered property in which the members of the exchange are interested.

The exchange assumed a maximum liability subject to one fire of $750,000, no part of which is reinsured.

The premium deposit of each subscriber is computed at the usual tariff rates charged by stock companies, in addition to which, each subscriber assumes contingent liability of $5,000 on each risk, with the maximum amount of liability of five times that amount. Each subscriber underwrites an equal proportion of the risks of all other members of the exchange, but underwrites no proportion of the insurance on his own risk, and participates equally in the earnings of the exchange.

All insurance exchanged is with persons, firms or corporations approved by the Advisory Committee. Only shoe manufacturers whose net worth is in excess of $100,000, and who have sprinklered risks, are accepted.

Each subscriber is furnished a quarterly statement showing the condition of his account.

The Advisory Committee is empowered to set aside not less than one-half of the annual savings as a net surplus and reserve fund until such surplus shall equal twice the sum originally subscribed, and all other savings are to be returned to the subscriber annually by check at the end of each year, less any outstanding or unsettled losses or charges, which will constitute a lien on such savings and will be first deducted therefrom.

If at any time the amount standing to the credit of any subscriber shall be smaller than the amount of claims against his account, he must meet such deficiency, and the attorney is authorized to enforce payment of said balance by suit brought in his own name, or in the name of the members of the Advisory Committee.

The attorney and manager is authorized to deduct 20% from all moneys collected, which is in full compensation for administration expenses of all kinds, except counsel fees, costs and expenses of losses, suits, taxes, legal assessments, expenses of fire patrol, fees of Advisory Committee, and all expenses incident to the investment and custody of funds and securities and to the adjustment of losses.

Any subscriber may terminate his liability as to future acceptances upon five day's notice in writing. The attorney also has the same privilege; and in the event of termination the attorney shall completely liquidate the account and return to the subscriber within thirty days thereafter any net surplus and reserve which has accumulated to the credit of the retiring member.

The assets of the exchange are in the joint custody of the attorney-in-fact and Advisory Committee of three persons, who shall either be a duly designated representative of the corporation, or a member of a firm or an individual who is a subscriber to the original power of attorney.

The attorney and the Insurance Commissioners of the States in which the exchange is licensed are authorized to accept service of process binding upon all members in the event of a dispute arising concerning any claim against the exchange.

Losses are adjusted under the direction of the attorney and manager.

Advisory Committee.—H. E. Slayton, president and treasurer of the F. M. Hoyt Shoe Co., Manchester, N. H.; Mark W. Selby, vice-president Selby Shoe Co., Portsmouth, Ohio; and Charles W. Smith, treasurer Sherwood Shoe Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Income, 1921.—Premium deposits written, gross, $94,626.47; less return premium deposits, $4,908.83; net, $89,717.64; interest, etc., $5,261.24; total cash income, $94,978.88.

Disbursements, 1921.—Losses paid, gross, $2,420.19; less salvage, $271.69; net losses, $2,148.50; paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expense, $20,870.50; advisory committee expense, $1,486.19; legal expense, $340.01; taxes, licenses and fees, $2,130.41; decrease in liabilities, attorney-in-fact, $1.300.96; loss account of adjustment expense, $47.15; unused premium deposit, returned to subscribers, $36,246.66; total cash disbursements, $64,570.38.

Transactions Since Organization.—Premium deposits received, gross, $321,535.10; less return premium deposits, $20,675.33; net premium deposits, $300,859.77; interest received on investments and bank deposits, $8,927.50; total cash income, $309,787.27; losses and adjustment expenses paid, net, $12,390.88; commissions paid to attorney-in-fact for administration expenses, $61,993.83; advisory committee, $3,653.00; taxes, license and fees, $5,323.52; returned in cash to members, as savings, $79,195.27; total cash disbursements, $162,556.50.

General Review.

History.—This is a reciprocal exchange which began business March 1, 1917, with E. E. Peake as attorney-in-fact.

Management and Reputation.—On July 1, 1918, W. J. Brace and Chas. C. Perrin purchased the interests in the attorneyship of this exchange and incorporated it under the laws of Missouri (authorized and paid-in capital of $5,000) as the American Insurers, Inc., which now acts as attorney-in-fact. Charles C. Perrin is managing underwriter of the Theatre Inter-Insurance Exchange of Philadelphia, Pa.

Norman Hobart and Paul G. O'Brien who have been operating a general agency under the firm name of O'Brien and Hobart, and John Alden Towers, were taken into the new corporation. We have been furnished the following information with reference to the managing committee:

"Chas. C. Perrin has been the managing underwriter of the attorney-in-fact for the United States Automobile Insurance Exchange since its inception. He was for five years partner in the firm of Peake and Perrin, handling automobile insurance before the exchange was organized. Previous to that time he was in the automobile manufacturing business, having been sales manager of the Regal Motor Car Company of Detroit for three years, and of the American Motors Co., at Indianapolis, for three years.

"John Alden Towers, another member of the managing committee, was formerly engaged in the practice of law, and has had seven years' experience in the handling of insurance claims. He formerly had supervision of the exchange claim department, and is now devoting most of his time to the underwriting department. He is treasurer of the American Insurers, Inc.

"Norman Hobart has had 12 years' experience in the insurance business. He was three years with the firm of R. B. Jones & Sons of Kansas City, Mo. He then formed a partnership with Paul G. O'Brien, under the firm name of O'Brien and Hobart, and conducted an automobile insurance business in Kansas City.

"Paul G. O'Brien has also had 12 year's experience, having been with the Travelers Insurance Company for three years before going into partnership with Mr. Hobart seven years ago."

J. H. Foresman, another member of the committee, is vice-president of the Long-Bell Lumber Company.

In 1921 the loss and expense ratios were about normal. There was a moderate return as savings to the subscribers.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange writes fire, theft, property damage, collision and public and employers' liability, and it reports to us that the maximum amount insured in any one hazard is $100,000, all over $5,000 being reinsured.

The attorney-in-fact is allowed to deduct for administration expenses 25% of all moneys received by it for credit to subscribers' accounts, but agree that in consideration of said commission it will defray all expenses incident to conducting the business of said exchange, except taxes, cost of adjustment, legal expenses, and the expenses of Advisory Board.

The Advisory Board, as provided for in the power of attorney, is composed of the following subscribers: R. C. Greenlease, president Greenlease Motor Car Co., Kansas City, Mo.; K. L. Day, president A-B-D Motor Co., Kansas City, Mo.; D. B. Houston, president Diamond Motor Co., St. Joseph, Mo.; W. H. Imes, president W. H. Imes Automobile Co., Topeka, Kan.; W. P. Winders, partner and manager, North Western Automobile Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

This board has charge of the funds of the subscribers, and deposits same in banks or invests them in securities. All disbursements from said funds are made by check signed by the attorney-in-fact and countersigned by a member of the Advisory Board.

The exchange makes its own rates, which are about the same as stock companies. An engineering department is maintained, and each risk written is inspected regularly.

Each subscriber makes a deposit to cover one annual premium and agrees to pay in addition thereto, subject to the call of the Advisory Board, a sum equal to his annual premium deposit to take care of excess losses, if any, occurring under his contract. The exchange has not found it necessary to call upon the subscribers for any additional deposits.

At least one-half of the annual net savings are to be returned to the subscribers at the end of the year, and the balance is set aside as a reserve fund until such time as said reserve fund equals the amount of the annual premium deposit made by said subscriber, after which time all net savings are to be returned to him annually.

This exchange was examined by the Insurance Department of Missouri during 1921.

Among the assets are certificates of deposit aggregating $69,500, which are held under escrow agreement with the Superintendent of Insurance of the State of Missouri, and the Superintendent of Insurance of the State of Iowa, for the benefit of subscribers when no other assets are available (note—this is very commendable.)

The attorney-in-fact advises us that the exchange has written at a reduction of from 10% to 20% under conference rates, and has made a return at the end of 1921 of 10% savings of the amount of premium charged.

Territory.—The exchange is licensed to transact business in Ala., Ark., Colo., Ill., Ia., Kan., Minn., Mo., Neb., Okla. and Pa.

UNIVERSAL UNDERWRITERS,

Chicago, Ill.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is a reciprocal exchange established November 25, 1921, received a preliminary license from the Illinois Insurance Department and began business on January 1, 1922. We were advised by the management under date of April 11, 1922, that it had approximately 350 subscribers. It is under the same management as the Indemnity Exchange of Chicago which began business in 1892.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is M. J. Dorsey & Company, an Illinois corporation with $200,000 authorized and $163,000 paid in capital. The officers of the attorney-in-fact company are:

President, M. J. Dorsey, who is also president of the Dorsey Land and Lumber Company, Texarkana, Arkansas, and prior to 1912 was an attorney at law in Denver, Colorado. Early in 1912 he organized the Western Indemnity Exchange, and in April 1913, became attorney for the Merchants Underwriters, an inter-insurance exchange of Kansas City; vice president and general manager, R. A. Wilson, who has had considerable experience in the insurance business and is in good standing. He was formerly connected with the Bankers Inter-Insurance Alliance and the Merchants Underwriters, both of Kansas City, and has also had a general brokerage and agency experience; vice-president and underwriter, S. R. Wells, formerly with the Lumbermens Underwriting Alliance. G. D. Dorsey, a director, is a retired capitalist of Columbia, Mo.

The Indemnity Exchange of Chicago, Illinois, among the oldest institutions of this kind and which is in excellent repute, is under the same management. As this is a new exchange just commencing business no comment can be made upon its record of treating loss claimants or savings to subscribers.

Plan of Operation. (as reported to us by the management).—The exchange was organized to write automobile insurance exclusively for Ford automobile policies. We are not advised as to the different classes of automobile coverages the exchange will write nor the maximum limits in each class. We are advised that it will write fire and lightning insurance and that the maximum policy on a single risk will be $30,000 and $5,000 net. The business is solicited direct by representatives of the attorney-in-fact.

The contingent liability of subscribers is one additional annual premium. The management advises that subscribers are guaranteed against assessment but we have not been furnished with copies of agreements and name of guarantor that we may judge as to the value of this protection. The power of attorney agreement provides that the attorney-in-fact shall give a surety bond for the faithful discharge of its trust as the Committee of Trustees may require, but not more than $100,000, the Committee to be the custodian of the bond.

The agreement also provides for a Committee of Trustees consisting of five or more members to be selected by the subscribers. "This Committee of Trustees may adopt such rules and regulations not inconsistent with the power of attorney agreement for the exchange of funds, the conduct of the exchange and the attorney-in-fact as they deem best." It also provides that the attorney is authorized to provide by insurance policy or guaranty for the payment of excess losses and in payment for such insurance or guaranty to deduct not to exceed 5% of the premium deposits received by them from the subscribers. The exchange will charge the same rates as the stock companies. The compensation of the attorney-in-fact is 25% of all moneys received, which is to cover cost of its services, deputies, clerks, office rents, printing, stationery, postage, telegrams, telephones and other customary office and business expenses. Adjustment expenses, taxes, inspections, legal expenses, expenses incident to the custody of the fund and the expenses of the Committee of Trustees is to be apportioned pro rata to the subscribers accounts. The membership agreement provides that the attorney-in-fact has authority to accept service of process for the members. The power of attorney agreement may be cancelled by either party upon five days' written notice.

Committee of Trustees.—P. C. Rude, president, Rude Auto Company, Cedar Rapids, Ia.; W. L. Johnson, president, Johnson Auto Company, St. Louis, Mo.; L. S. Snow, chairman, president, Snow Bros., Chicago, Ill.; E. M. Mackemer, president, Mackemer Motor Company, Peoria, Ill.; W. H. Williamson, president, Williamson Motor Company, Rockford, Ill.

HISTORY.—This is a reciprocal or inter-insurance exchange organized December, 1919, in Memphis, Tenn., and secured its license January 2, 1920. On December 31, 1921, the exchange had 400 subscribers and 409 risks insured.

of the attorney-in-fact corporation are: President, F. P. Carpenter; vice-president and attorney, D. B. Puryear; treasurer, R. H. Ghormley; secretary and general manager, Thomas Thompson. Mr. Thompson was for five years with the Provident Life & Accident Insurance Company, Chattanooga, Tenn., as solicitor and claim adjuster; and for four years was city manager at Birmingham, Ala., for this company. He was also city manager of Birmingham, Ala., for the Belt Automobile Indemnity Association of El Paso, Ill., from October, 1917, to February, 1918; and State manager for this association for the State of Tennessee from February, 1918, till January 1, 1920.

The financial statement shows a "guaranty fund" of $25,000 under assets. The management has supplied us with a copy of escrow agreement showing that this "guaranty fund" is deposited with the Security Bank and Trust Company, of Memphis, Tenn., under conditions that it cannot be withdrawn, except to pay claims against this exchange, or for reinvestment. In 1921 the losses and expenses were high and the disbursements exceeded the income by $8,257.15.

The advisory committee at present is composed of three members, selected by the attorney-in-fact from among the subscribers. The committee is: John W. Storms, R. F. Boggan and C. E. Chapleau.

PLAN OF OPERATION (as reported to us by the management).— It writes automobile, fire, theft, liability, collision, property damage, public liability, property damage on teams, plate glass, doctors' and dentists' liability. It also writes a dealers' liability and property damage policy on payroll basis, and a dealers' fire insurance policy on an open form. The policy limits are $5,000-$10,000 on liability and $1,000 on property damage, with a limit of $3,000 on theft insurance. The attorney advises that gross lines of $12,000 are written on automobile fleets and auto dealers risks, the excess over $2,000 being reinsured. The management advises that after examination by the Tennessee Insurance Department in August, 1921, that department permitted the exchange to write plate glass and doctors' and dentists' liability.

The power of attorney provides that the attorney-in-fact shall draw from subscribers' funds their "proportion of any disbursements properly chargeable to our account, and shall charge our account for all reserves required by law to be maintained and shall accumulate to our individual credit an adequate surplus fund, returning to us all other moneys immediately upon the determination of our liabilities."

We are informed by the attorney-in-fact that savings are disbursed to members at the end of annual policy period by returning half the savings in cash and placing the other half to credit of subscriber in surplus fund, after reserves for claims in process of adjustment and other necessary expenses have been taken care of.

The assets of the exchange are deposited in bank, in custody of advisory committee, and all disbursements are made therefrom by check and signed by the manager of the exchange and countersigned by a member of the advisory committee. We are advised that the manager of the attorney-in-fact is bonded.

A subscriber may retire from the exchange upon ten days' notice. Service of process can be made against the Insurance Commissioner of any State in which the exchange is licensed.

The power of attorney contains the following conditions: "to provide against excess losses, our attorneys hereby authorized whenever in their judgment it shall become necessary, to assess us to an amount not exceeding our annual deposit, and we hereby agree to pay such assessment;" and "but in no event shall our liability on any one risk exceed the amount annually deposited by us for current annual deposits." The manager of the attorney-in-fact tells us that they have no reinsurance against the assessment of members.

Accounts of members are kept individually. The rates of the exchange are 80% of the conference stock company rates on all classes of business.

The power of attorney provides that the compensation to the attorney-in-fact shall be 30% of all receipts for credit to the accounts of subscribers except deposits of surplus. This 30%, however, does not include taxes, government fees, expenses of the advisory committee and all reasonable expense of handling and investigating accidents and the adjustment and defense of claims therefor. The power of attorney also provides that the advisory committee may by unanimous vote, when in its opinion it is equitable and fair to the attorneys, reduce the percentage commission to not less than 25%.

TERRITORY.— Licensed in Alabama and Tennessee, having retired from Kentucky during the year.

INCOME, 1921.— Premium deposits written, gross, $27,633.27; less return premium deposits, $7,388.25; net, $20,245.02.

WASHINGTON HARDWARE AND IMPLEMENT UNDERWRITERS,

Hutton Bldg., Spokane, Wash.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is an inter-insurance exchange which began business January 1, 1917, and succeeded to the business, including the assets and liabilities, of the Washington Hardware and Implement Dealers Mutual Fire Insurance Association, a mutual company which commenced business in 1906.

Under the mutual plan the assets belonged to the policyholders collectively, so long as they continued to be policyholders, while under the plan adopted as of January 1, 1917, the surplus is owned by the subscribers individually. The assets on hand December 31, 1916, were divided pro-rata according to premiums in force and each policyholder's share was placed to his individual credit.

A close affiliation exists between this exchange and the Pacific Northwest Hardware and Implement Association, which facilitates the placing of business.

This exchange did not report to us its statement as of December 31, 1921. The report made herewith was prepared from information previously furnished to us. The financial statement printed herewith was taken from statement filed by the exchange with the Washington State Insurance Department.

Management and Reputation.—E. E. Lucas is secretary and treasurer of this exchange and is also designated as the attorney in the subscribers' agreement executed by each policyholder.

The officers and directors were as follows: President, John Raymer, Reaydon, Wash.; vice-president, A. L. Callow, Elma, Wash.; secretary and treasurer, E. E. Lucas, Spokane, Wash.; finance committee: J. N. Nankervis, Moscow, Idaho; D. P. Hayes, Waitsburg, Wash.; A. T. Holmes, St. John, Wash.

The association and its management are in good repute.

The operations of this exchange are not extensive but its affairs appear to be conservatively managed and a good loss ratio has been maintained.

We are advised that the exchange assumes $66,000 maximum liability subject to one fire, all of which is reinsured except $5,000. We do not look favorably upon the practice of inter-insurance exchanges writing large gross lines and reinsuring the major portion.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).—The assessment liability of each subscriber is limited to a sum equal to one annual premium deposit for the purpose of paying excess losses, and the attorney is authorized to provide for such insurance or guaranty for the payment of said excess losses, and in payment for such insurance or guaranty he is permitted to deduct 5% of all moneys received by him for credit to the account of the subscriber.

No premium is charged the subscribers for any contract of insurance authorized by the power of attorney, the consideration being the exchange of indemnity. The subscriber agrees to deposit with the attorney at the time each contract is issued to the subscriber such a sum as the attorney shall deem proper.

An individual account is kept with each subscriber who is charged with his pro rata share of losses and such expenses as are authorized by the subscription agreement.

The compensation of the attorney is limited to 15% of all moneys received by him for credit to the account of subscribers, out of which commission he pays all administration expenses except the cost of adjusting losses, taxes, legal expenses and expenses of the board of directors.

The board of directors, consisting of nine subscribers, is selected by the subscribers, and the said board may adopt such agreement for the conduct of the "Underwriters" as said committee and the attorney may deem advisable.

The assets of the exchange are in the custody of the board of directors, and the attorney and all employees handling funds are bonded.

The savings are credited to the respective accounts until an adequte surplus and reserve fund is accumulated, after which, at the expiration of policies, the savings are distributed pro rata to subscribers in cash.

History.—This is an inter-insurance organization, formed December 31, 1921, by the consolidation of an exchange of the same name, which began business March 1, 1908, and the Utilities Fire Exchange, of St. Louis, Mo., which began business August 1, 1916. The Western Reciprocal Underwriters was formerly located at Oklahoma City, but moved to Kansas City during 1915, and was originally under the management of J. M. Campbell, who retired on May 1, 1917, and was succeeded by the Campbell-Harvey Underwriting Company.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the Campbell-Harvey Underwriting Company, a corporation incorporated under the laws of Missouri, May, 1917, F. C. Harvey being its president and E. B. Bell its secretary. Its authorized capital stock being $100,000, fully paid. Mr. Harvey is also president of the American Merchants Fire Insurance Company, and treasurer of the American Underwriting Company, which is attorney-in-fact of the National Inter-Insurance Bureau, of Kansas City, Mo.

Plan of Operation.—(as reported to us by the management.) The exchange advises that it operates on the following plans: Writes fire and lightning insurance on mercantile buildings and stocks therein; the regular stock company rates are used.

The maximum line accepted on any one risk is $30,000, of which $20,000 is carried net on sprinklered properties and $15,000 on unsprinklered properties.

Members are admitted and risks accepted where the financial rating is high and the physical condition of the risks approved after personal inspection by experienced engineers in the employ of the exchange. No business is accepted through brokers.

The liability of subscriber is fixed and limited to an amount which shall in no event exceed one annual premium deposit on any risk during any one year. The management states that a contract has been made with an insurance corporation by which the payment of losses in excess of seventy per cent is guaranteed. (Copy of this contract has not been furnished that we might comment upon the protection afforded.)

Premium deposits are credited to the individual account of the subscribers by whom paid, and the profits and losses are credited or charged to individual account which is kept with each member.

Savings are disbursed at the anniversary of policy contracts. All savings in excess of 25% are retained as individual surplus.

The compensation of the attorney is fixed at 25%, out of which he pays all expenses, except taxes and legal expenses, and the expense of the advisory committee.

The power of attorney agreement between the subscriber and the attorney may be cancelled by either giving the other five days' notice in writing.

The assets of the exchange are in the custody of the attorney-in-fact, who is bonded for $50,000.

Reports to members are made annually and during the year when requested.

The attorney-in-fact is empowered to accept service of process binding upon all of the members in the event of a dispute arising concerning any claim against the exchange.

Losses are adjusted by public adjusters.

General Review.

History.— This is an inter-insurance bureau established in October, 1913, and has been successful. The bureau advises that at the end of 1921 it had 1,650 houses insured.

Management and Reputation.— The attorney is Lansing B. Warner, Inc., with offices at 155 East Superior Street, Chicago. The officers are: President and treasurer, Lansing B. Warner; vice-president and secretary, Clarence R. Leland; second vice-president, Martyn F. Warner. Lansing B. Warner, Inc., also operates the Canners Exchange Subscribers at Warner Inter-Insurance Bureau, which began issuing policies in 1907, and report on which is printed elsewhere herein. The bureau and its management are in excellent repute. The management advises that it has never levied an extra assessment except a small one in the first year of its operations, 1913.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).— Fire and lightning insurance is written on the property of wholesale grocers, grocery and canned goods jobbers and similar and allied interests.

All subscribers are required to sign powers of attorney.

The bureau has made good progress and its losses have been moderate. The management advises that it is returning about 35% as savings to subscribers.

The maximum amount accepted on any single risk is $100,000, which is carried net without reinsurance. The limit is fixed by the attorney-in-fact on approval of the advisory committee. The management advises that conservative lines are written and that it is careful of the conflagration hazards; also that new subscribers are accepted subject to approval of advisory committee and other subscribers if commercial rating is high, and physical hazard approved by inspectors in the employ of the attorney-in-fact. The largest gross, and net, line in any one hazard is $100,000.

No insurance is accepted through brokers. Insurance is written upon an initial deposit based on board rates. All subscribers are subject to assessment. No premium is charged for any policy of insurance, the consideration being the exchange of indemnity. Each subscriber deposits with the attorney for each policy issued to him such a sum as the attorney deems proper, usually based upon the usual tariff rates charged, which is designated "Guarantee Deposit."

In addition to such guarantee deposit, and simultaneously with the deposit thereof, each subscriber deposits with the attorney the sum designated as "Reserve Fund" equal to not less than 50% of such guarantee deposit. The reserve fund is maintained intact at all times, and the attorney is authorized to enforce the payment of any deficiency in the reserve fund of any subscriber.

Individual accounts are kept by the attorney with each subscriber. Each subscriber assumes a proportionate share of the liability under every policy issued during the time his policy is in force.

The liability of a subscriber under any policy of insurance issued is such proportion of the insurance granted by such policy as the guarantee deposit of the subscriber bears to the total of the guarantee deposits of all subscribers under all policies in force. No policy is issued by which the liability of a subscriber on any risk exceeds the total amount of the guarantee deposit and reserve fund. The assessment liability is therefore unlimited in the aggregate but limited under any one policy to an amount equal to the combined guarantee deposit and reserve fund. The liability of subscribers can be terminated by either party upon five days' written notice. The attorney is permitted to deduct 20% of the total guarantee deposits, out of which he pays administration expenses of every kind, except adjustment expenses, counsel fees, taxes, legal expenses, license fees, expenses of fire patrol, fees and expenses of the advisory committee, and expenses incident to the investment and custody of funds and securities.

The assets of the bureau are in the custody of the advisory committee and the attorney is bonded.

Reports to subscribers are made quarterly through the advisory committee.

The attorney and the Insurance Commissioners of the thirty-five States in which the bureau is licensed are authorized to accept service of process binding upon all the members in the event of dispute arising concerning any claim against the bureau.

The management advises that the expenses not paid by the attorney-in-fact have been more than offset by the interest earnings on deposits, which interest is credited to the subscribers.

Losses are adjusted by special representatives of the bureau.

Territory.—The bureau is licensed in the following States: Ala., Ark., Cal., Colo., Fla., Idaho, Ill., Ind., Iowa, Kan., Ky., Me., Md., Mich., Minn., Mo., Miss., Neb., N. C., Ohio, Okla., Pa., S. C., Tenn., Texas, Utah, Va., Wash., and Wis.

Advisory Committee.— Lansing B. Warner, secretary Lansing B. Warner, Inc., Chicago, Ill.; E. G. Koonz, chairman John Blaul's Sons Co., Burlington, Iowa; Tom Hale, chairman Hale-Halsell Grocery Co., McAlester, Okla.; A. D. Thomas, treasurer The Thomas Co., Youngstown, Ohio; J. W. WILLIAM PENN INSURANCE EXCHANGE, Standard Life Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa.

GENERAL REVIEW.

History.—This is a reciprocal association organized under the laws of Pennsylvania and began business March 1, 1919.

Management and Reputation.—The attorney-in-fact is the William Penn Underwriters, Inc., a corporation organized under the laws of Pennsylvania, with an authorized capital of $5,000.

The officers of the attorney-in-fact are: President, R. J. Palmer; vice-president and treasurer, G. W. Renyx; secretary and manager, R. F. Brzozowski.

The exchange was examined by the Pennsylvania State Insurance Department as of January 31, 1921, and the statement figures quoted herein are taken from the examiner's report. The exchange has not operated long enough to have established a record, but the report of the examiner was favorable, and states that the management is efficient and economical, with a strict interpretation of the trust. The examination also shows that the exchange has a reinsurance contract covering $20,000 in excess of $5,000 in any one catastrophe.

The exchange has not complied with our requests for information to prepare report for this volume, and report made herein was compiled from information previously received.

If our subscribers are solicited to become interested they should require full information from the management.

Plan of Operation (as reported to us by the management).— The exchange issues policies covering liability, property damage, collision, fire and theft insurance on pleasure automobiles and commercial trucks. The maximum liability assumed upon any risk is $10,000. Premium deposits are credited to the respective accounts of subscribers. Profits are disbursed to subscribers annually. The exchange charges $7.50 for each of the three coverages, that is, fire and theft, liability and property damage, and collision, which includes all administration and acquisition expense, and in addition requires a deposit of 60% of the stock company's rates, which is for the loss fund only. No part of this sum goes for administration expenses.

All subscribers are subject to assessment, limited to one additional annual premium. Any subscriber may cancel his contract of indemnity, also his underwriting liability at the end of any month by giving ten days' notice in writing, in which event the unearned premium deposits and contract fee are returned upon a pro rata basis, but if cancelation is at the request of the subscriber, no part of the contract fee is returnable. The vice-president, treasurer and the secretary-manager of the attorney-in-fact are bonded in the sum of $5,000. Statements are made to subscribers annually.

Insurance Commissioners of the various States in which the exchange is legally admitted to transact business are authorized to accept service of process binding upon all the members in the event of dispute arising concerning any claim against the exchange.

Attention is called to the $25,000 guarantee fund among the assets with no corresponding liability set up; this fund, however, is on deposit with the State Insurance Department.

The item of "Republic Acceptance Corporation share of expenses, losses, etc.," represents an amount receivable under a contract which is to return to the exchange every sixty days losses on "Republic" policies in excess of earned premiums.

Territory.—The exchange is licensed in Ill., Ind. and Pa.

Advisory Committee.—S. H. McKee, chairman, president of the Guaranty Title Company, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Howard V. Luce, manufacturer, Detroit, Mich.; A. Dietzel, secretary-treasurer Charles H. Lovsey Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.; H. G. Middleton, brick manufacturer, Chicago, Ill.; W. Bruce McCrory, attorney, Pittsburgh, Pa.

This Lloyds institution has been in process of organization for several months and just before going to press with this volume we were advised by the management that it was licensed by the Texas State Insurance Department to transact all classes of business except life. Full information was not furnished in time to include report in this volume, but will be included later in "Best's Insurance News" columns. The attorney-in-fact managers are J. E. Jarratt and R. A.
